Transfer of title for bona fide security reasons in accordance with regularly established business practices for the financing of transactions is not prohibited by War Production Board regulations and orders. For example, if a customer wants to have his purchase on a rated order financed by a finance company which is to take title for security reasons, the rated order may be placed in the name of the finance company calling for delivery to it in care of the customer. Likewise, a person who has obtained material with priorities assistance may execute a chattel mortgage on it or give a similar lien where this is done in good faith to finance his work in process. If the party financing the transaction forecloses and takes the material, he holds it subject to the restrictions of § 944.11 of Priorities Regulation 1 and other applicable orders and regulations (for example, in the case of textiles, M-328). If he cannot use it for the purpose for which it was acquired by the purchaser, he may use or dispose of it only as permitted by those restrictions.

PART 1226—GENERAL INDUSTRIAL EQUIPMENT

[Supplementary Order L-193-a, as Amended June 15, 1944]

SPROCKET CHAIN, SPROCKET CHAIN ATTACHMENT LINKS AND SPROCKET CHAIN WHEELS

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of sprocket chain, sprocket chain attachment links and sprocket chain wheels for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense.

§ 1226.53 Supplementary Limitation Order L-193-a—(a) Definitions. The definitions in General Limitation Order L-193 do not apply to this order. For the purpose of this order "sprocket chain" means any chain, except ladder chain, designed for the purpose of operating over toothed sprocket wheels.

(b) Inventory limitations. No person who, in the course of his business, purchases and incorporates sprocket chain, sprocket chain attachment links or sprocket chain wheels into machinery or equipment manufactured in whole or in part by him, or who purchases such chain, links or wheels for resale as such, shall accept delivery thereof if his total inventory will, after acceptance, exceed what he reasonably expects to use or resell during the succeeding 45 days. No person may deliver sprocket chain, sprocket chain attachment links, or sprocket chain wheels if he knows or has reason to believe that such delivery will increase the recipient's inventory above this 45 day limitation.

(c) Exemptions. The provisions of paragraph (b) do not apply to (1) Army maintenance depots, Navy yards, bases, stations and depots (2) minimum production runs,[1] or (3) automotive replacement parts, as defined in Order L-158, as amended.

(d) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or who wilfully furnishes false information to the War Production Board in connection with this order is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance by the War Production Board.

(e) Appeals. Any producer or purchaser of sprocket chain, sprocket chain attachment links or sprocket chain wheels who believes that the terms of this order result in undue hardship may appeal by letter stating the relief requested and the reasons it is necessary.

(f) Communications. All appeals and other communications concerning this order should be addressed to the General Industrial Equipment Division, War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: L-193-a.

PART 3216—MATERIAL ENTERING INTO THE OPERATION OF TRANSPORTATION SYSTEMS

[Preference Rating Order P-142, Direction 3, as Amended June 15, 1944]

ADVANCE AUTHORIZATION FOR SPECIAL ITEMS OF CAR MATERIALS

(a) This direction permits railroad operators to place advance orders for the following items of car materials listed in paragraph (b) (2) of Order P-142:

The following amended direction is issued pursuant to Preference Rating Order P-142:

Air Brakes—AB	Code No. CA
Hand Brakes—Power	Code No. CB
Brake Beams	Code No. CH
Couplers and Coupler Bodies	Code No. MA
Bolster Springs—Car	Code No. MC

subject to the following conditions:

(1) Advance orders for items under this direction may be placed for delivery during each of the three calendar quarters following the quarter in which the order is placed. Thus during the second quarter of 1944, advance orders may be placed for delivery in the third and fourth quarters of 1944 and the first quarter of 1945.

(2) The operator may order for delivery in each advance quarter up to 75% of the amount of each of the above items authorized for him under Order P-142 for the first quarter of 1944. With the exception of power hand brakes (Code CB), he may use the same preference ratings, to the same extent, as were authorized for the particular item for the first quarter of 1944. For power hand brakes, he may use only a rating of AA-3 for advance quarters, regardless of the ratings authorized for that item in the first quarter of 1944.

For example, if an operator was authorized in the first quarter of 1944 to buy 100 AB Air Brakes with AA-1 rating and 200 with AA-3 rating, he may, under this direction, place orders for each advance quarter for not more than 75 with AA-1 rating and 150 with AA-3 rating. Also, if he was authorized in the first quarter of 1944 to buy 10 power hand brakes with AA-1 rating and 50 with AA-3 rating, he may, under this direction, place advance orders each quarter for 45, all with AA-3 rating.

(b) Each operator must continue to apply each quarter on Form WPB-2585 for firm authorizations in accordance with paragraph (k) (3) of Order P-142. To the extent that the firm authorization on that form differs from the advance authorization for any item under this direction, orders must be cut back, or new orders may be placed, accordingly.

(c) This direction applies to railroad and private car line operators under Order P-142 (serial numbers below 1500), but not to transit operators.

Issued this 15th day of June 1944.

PART 3281 [1]—PULP AND PAPER

[Limitation Order L-11 as Amended June 15, 1944]

CHLORINE IN PULP, PAPER AND PAPERBOARD

Whereas the production of pulp, paper and paperboard consumes large quantities of chlorine; national defense requirements have created a shortage of chlorine; action has already been taken to conserve the supply and limit the use of chlorine in the production of pulp, paper and paperboard in order to insure its availability for essential defense and civilian requirements; increasing diversion of chlorine to defense uses requires further restrictions of its use in such production:

Now, therefore, it is hereby ordered, That:

§ 3281.63 [1] General Limitation Order L-11—(a) Definitions. For the purpose of this order:

(1) "Producer" means any individual, partnership, association, corporation or other form of business enterprise, engaged in the manufacture of pulp, paper or paperboard.

(2) "Brightness" means the degree of brightness determined by the General Electric Brightness Tester.

(3) "Semi-bleached grade" means that grade of pulp which prior to June 16, 1941, had a brightness of less than 70.

(4) "Unbleached kraft" (for the purposes of paragraph (e) of this order) means a grade of paper usually made in substantial part with unbleached kraft pulp, but in which at various times certain amounts of bleached pulp or semi-bleached pulp have been used.

NOTE: Paragraph (5), formerly (4), redesignated June 15, 1944.

(5) "Calendar quarterly period" means the quarterly period commencing on the first day of the second, fifth, eighth, and eleventh months of the calendar year and ending, respectively, on the last day of the fourth, seventh, tenth, and first months of the calendar year.

(b) General restrictions relating to pulp, paper and paperboard. (1) No producer subject to this order shall, after the effective dates of the applicable provisions hereof, use chlorine in a quantity in excess of that specifically authorized herein or increase the brightness of pulp, paper or paperboard in excess of the degrees of brightness established herein.

(2) No producer shall increase the brightness of any pulp, paper or paperboard to a degree greater than the brightness of like pulp, paper or paperboard produced by him on June 11, 1941.

(c) Specific restrictions relating to pulps, effective November 1, 1941. The following restrictions in the use of chlorine shall become effective November 1, 1941:

(1) No producer shall use in any calendar quarterly period for the treatment of rag stock an average amount of chlorine per ton of rag stock treated greater than 80% of the average amount of chlorine per ton of rag stock treated used by such producer for the treatment of rag stock during the calendar quarterly period ending July 31, 1941.

(2) Except as provided in (c) (4) and (c) (6) hereof the brightness of the following pulps shall not exceed 74.

(i) Bleached sulphite.

(ii) Bleached sulphate.

(iii) Waste paper when used for conversion into bleached papers.

The brightness ceiling established by this paragraph shall be determined in one of the two following ways: The brightness of any individual batch, where a batch system is used, or the average of any eight-hour period where a continuous system is used.

(3) Except as provided in (c) (4) and (c) (6) hereof the brightness of soda pulp shall not exceed 70. The brightness ceiling established by this paragraph shall be determined in one of the two following ways: The brightness of any individual batch, where a batch system is used, or the average of any eight-hour period where a continuous system is used.

(4) The brightness ceilings established in (c) (2) and (c) (3) hereof may be exceeded to the extent that the War Production Board may permit upon application accompanied by satisfactory proof that the applicant's process of achieving a higher brightness will further the program for the conservation of chlorine embodied in this order. Such applications should be addressed to the War Production Board, and marked Ref: L-11.

(6) Notwithstanding the limitations set forth in (c) (2) and (c) (3), any producer in any calendar quarterly period may use, per ton of pulp produced for the following purposes requiring the use of chlorine as a processing, rather than as a bleaching agent, an amount of chlorine necessary for such processing: Provided, That in no case shall he use more chlorine per ton of pulp produced than he used for similar purposes during the three-month period ending July 31, 1941:

(i) In the processing into paper stock of rope, jute, hemp, flax, Sunn fiber, Benares fiber or like fibers;

(ii) In the processing of pulp for use in the manufacture of sanitary pads, hospital wadding, or wadding for use in the filtering of dissolving and nitrating pulps.

(7) Except for (i), (j), (k), (l), (m), and (n) hereof, this order shall not apply to the following pulps:

(i) High alpha pulps (not less than 90% alpha cellulose content).

(ii) Dissolving pulps.

(iii) Nitrating pulps.

(iv) Pulps used in the manufacture of photographic base papers.

(d) Specific restrictions relating to paper and paperboard, effective November 10, 1941. (1) Except as provided in (d) (2) hereof, after November 10, 1941 the brightness of the following grades of paper and paperboard shall not exceed the brightness ceilings specified below;

PART 3293—CHEMICALS

[Allocation Order M-340, as Amended June 15, 1944]

MISCELLANEOUS CHEMICALS

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of the chemicals subject to this order for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 3293.491 Allocation Order M-340—(a) Definitions. (1) "Subject chemical" means any chemical listed in Appendix A, as therein defined.

(2) "Producer" means any person engaged in the production of any subject chemical and includes a person who imports any subject chemical or has it produced for him pursuant to toll agreement.

(3) "Distributor" means any person who buys any subject chemical for the purpose of resale without further processing and without changing the form thereof.

(4) "Supplier" means a producer or distributor.

(b) Restrictions on deliveries. (1) On and after the applicable effective date stated in Appendix A, no supplier shall deliver a subject chemical to any person except as specifically authorized or directed in writing by War Production Board. No person shall accept delivery of a subject chemical which he knows or has reason to believe is delivered in violation of this order.

(2) Authorization or directions as to deliveries to be made by suppliers in each calendar month will generally be issued by War Production Board prior to the beginning of such month, but may be issued at any time. They will normally be issued on Form WPB-2947 (formerly PD-602) which is to be filed by the supplier with War Production Board as explained in paragraph (g) below.

(3) If a supplier is authorized or directed by War Production Board to deliver a subject chemical to any specific customer or group of customers, but is unable to make the delivery either because of receipt of notice of cancellation or otherwise, the subject chemical shall revert to inventory, and shall not be delivered, or used, without further instructions.

(c) Exceptions for small deliveries. (1) Specific authorization in writing of War Production Board is not required for delivery by any supplier to any person in any calendar month of a subject chemical in a quantity not exceeding the quantity stated in Column 3 of Appendix B.

(2) The aggregate quantity of a subject chemical which any supplier may deliver in any calendar month pursuant to paragraph (c) (1), shall not exceed:

(i) The quantity which he has been specifically authorized, upon application pursuant to Appendix D, to deliver on small orders; or

(ii) If he is a distributor, the quantity which he acquired upon certification that it was required to fill small orders or the quantity which he acquired himself on such a small order, or

(iii) If he is a distributor who customarily delivers exclusively on small orders, any quantity.

(d) Exceptions for deliveries for other reasons. Specific authorization in writing of War Production Board is not required for delivery of a subject chemical by any supplier to any other person for a purpose stated in Column 4 of Appendix B.

(e) Restrictions on use. (1) On and after the applicable effective date stated in Appendix A, no supplier shall use a subject chemical except as specifically authorized or directed in writing by War Production Board.

(2) Each person who with an order for a subject chemical furnishes a certificate required by paragraph (f) shall use the subject chemical delivered on such order only as specified on such certificate except as otherwise specifically authorized or directed in writing by War Production Board.

(3) War Production Board may from time to time issue directions with respect to the use or uses which may or may not be made of a subject chemical to be delivered to, or then in inventory of the prospective user.

(f) Supplier to obtain from customer a certificate of use. No supplier shall in any calendar month (beginning in the case of each subject chemical with the calendar month in which the order becomes effective as to that chemical as stated in Appendix A) deliver to any person a greater quantity of such subject chemical than is stated in Column 3 of Appendix B, unless he shall have received from such person a certificate as to the use for which such person is ordering such subject chemical. Such certificate shall be substantially in the form and shall be subject to the instructions stated in Appendix C and shall be in the hands of the supplier not later than the 15th day of the month preceding the month in which delivery is to be made. It need not be filed with War Production Board. A supplier must not deliver a subject chemical where he knows or has reason to believe the purchaser's certificate is false, but in the absence of such knowledge or reason to believe he may rely on the certificate.

(g) Applications by suppliers for leave to deliver or use. (1) Each supplier requiring authorization to make delivery of, or to use, a subject chemical during any calendar month shall file application on or before the 20th day of the preceding month. FOOD RATIONING FOR INSTITUTIONAL USERS

A rationale accompanying this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

A new section 12.5 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 12.5 Petition for adjustment of refreshment multiplier. (a) An institutional user who has a refreshment base may apply to the Board to have his refreshment allotments computed by using different refreshment multipliers than the multiplier of 2 fixed in Supplement 3 to this order. No special form is needed for such an application. Upon such application, the Board shall compute his refreshment allotment for each allotment period beginning with the period in which he applies, by using as his refreshment multiplier for each such period the figure obtained under section 7.3 (b), (c) or (d) by which his base was multiplied in computing his allotment for the corresponding allotment period in the preceding year. However, for the May–June 1944 allotment period the Board shall use the figure used in computing the applicant's allotment for the September–October 1943 allotment period instead of the one used for the May–June 1943 period. For the March–April 1945 allotment period, the Board shall use the figure used in computing the applicant's allotment for the November–December 1943 allotment period instead of the one used for the March–April 1944 period. If an applicant was not in operation during a corresponding allotment period in the preceding year, the Board shall use the figure used in computing the allotment for the corresponding allotment period in the preceding year for a similar or comparable establishment.

This amendment shall become effective June 19, 1944.

NOTE: The reporting and record keeping requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

[Gen. RO 11,[1] Amdt. 16]

REPLACEMENT OF RATIONED FOODS USED IN PRODUCTS ACQUIRED BY DESIGNATED AGENCIES

A rationale for this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

General Ration Order 11 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1.2 (a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) The designated agencies are:

(1) The Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard of the United States;

(2) Army Exchanges, Army Exchange Service, Post Exchanges of the Marine Corps, and Ships' Service Activities of the Navy or Coast Guard;

(3) Other activities designated by the Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard;

(4) Office of Distribution of War Food Administration;

(5) The Training Organization, and Ships' Service Stores of the Training Organization, of the War Shipping Administration;

(6) The War Shipping Administration with respect to acquisitions of products for use as ships' or canteen stores on any ocean-going vessel of the United States or of any of the United Nations, or on any neutral vessel designated by the War Shipping Administration, which is engaged in the transportation of cargo or passengers in foreign, coastal, or intercoastal trade;

(7) The American National Red Cross, with respect to its acquisitions of products for consumption by members of the armed forces of the United States outside the United States and with respect to its acquisitions of medical supplies for use by allied prisoners of war;

(8) The United Service Organizations, Inc., with respect to its acquisitions of products for consumption by members of the armed forces of the United States outside the United States; and

(9) The United Seamen's Service, Inc., with respect to its acquisitions of products for consumption by merchant seamen outside the United States.

2. Section 2.1 (a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) Any industrial user may obtain replacement of rationed foods used by him in products which are acquired:

(1) On or after April 1, 1944, by the United Service Organizations, Inc. for consumption by members of the armed forces of the United States outside the United States;

(2) On or after June 1, 1944, by the United Seamen's Service, Inc. for consumption by merchant seamen outside the United States; and

(3) On or after July 1, 1943, by any of the other designated agencies, by a Naval vessel or Naval activity of the United Nations, by the Navy, Army and Air Force Institutes (of Great Britain), or for use as ships' or canteen stores on any ocean-going vessel of the United States or of any of the United Nations, or on any neutral vessel designated by the War Shipping Administration, which is engaged in the transportation of cargo or passengers in foreign, coastal, or intercoastal trade, or by the India Supply Mission.

3. Section 2.1 (b) is added to read as follows:

(b) However, if the rationed food was not completely used up in manufacturing the products, he may obtain replacement only of that portion of the rationed food which was used up. (For example, a potato chip manufacturer may use oil to make a batch of potato chips for a designated agency, and then reuse the remaining oil to make potato chips for his other customers. If he can use the oil for five batches of potato chips, he can get replacement only for one-fifth the oil, since that was the amount used up in making the potato chips for the designated agency.)

4. Section 2.4 (c) is amended by deleting the second sentence.

5. Section 3.3 (c) is amended by deleting the second sentence.

6. Section 4.1 (g) is added to read as follows:

SALES OF RUBBER HEELS AND SOLES IN THE SHOE FACTORY AND HOME REPLACEMENT TRADES

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Section 7 (b) (1) is amended to read as follows:

(1) Maximum prices. This paragraph is applicable to heels and soles not listed in Appendix A, which are not the same as a heel or sole delivered or offered for delivery in the shoe factory trade by a manufacturer during the period October 1, 1941, to March 31, 1942, inclusive. The phrase "the same as" is defined in subparagraph (5) of the preceding paragraph (a). The maximum manufacturer's price for a heel or sole covered by this paragraph shall be the maximum price established under paragraph (a) for the sale by the nearest competitive manufacturer to the same class of purchaser of a heel or sole made in approximately the same contour, iron, and size and to substantially the same physical specifications as the heel or sole being priced. For example, to price under this section, a men's non-fiber eight-nail reclaimed rubber half heel, size 12/13, made with a tensile strength of 800 and an abrasion of 18, it is necessary to take the maximum price of a competitor who during the base period of October 1, 1941, to March 31, 1942, delivered or offered for delivery a men's non-fiber, eight-nail reclaimed rubber half heel, size 12/13, with an approximate tensile strength of 800 and an abrasion of 18.

Issued this 15th day of June 1944.

WOODPULP

Maximum Price Regulation No. 114 is redesignated Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 114 and is revised and amended to read as set forth below.

In the judgment of the Price Administrator, it is necessary and proper to establish prices for sales of woodpulp by a specific maximum price regulation.

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this regulation has been issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

In the judgment of the Price Administrator, the maximum prices established by this regulation are and will be generally fair and equitable and will effectuate the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and Executive Orders Nos. 9250 and 9328.

So far as practicable, the Price Administrator has ascertained and given due consideration to the prices prevailing between October 1 and October 15, 1941 and to relevant factors of general applicability and has advised and consulted with members of the industry which will be affected by this regulation. Such specifications and standards as are used in this regulation were, prior to such use, in general use in the trade and industries affected.

§ 1347.221 Maximum prices for woodpulp. Under the authority vested in the Price Administrator by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and Executive Orders Nos. 9250 and 9328, Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 114 (Woodpulp), which is annexed hereto, and made a part hereof, is hereby issued.

SEC. 2. Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those established by this regulation may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.

SEC. 3. Geographical applicability. The provisions of this regulation shall be applicable to the forty-eight states and to the District of Columbia.

SEC. 4. Federal and state taxes. Any tax upon, or incident to, the sale, delivery, processing or use of woodpulp imposed by any statute of the United States or statute or ordinance of any state or any subdivision thereof, shall be treated as follows in determining the seller's maximum price for such woodpulp and in preparing records of such seller with respect thereto:

If, at the time the seller determines his maximum price, the statute or ordinance imposing such tax does not prohibit the seller from stating and collecting the tax separately from the purchase price, and the seller does state it separately, the seller may collect, in addition to the maximum price, the amount of the tax actually paid by him or an amount equal to the amount of tax paid by any prior vendor and separately stated and collected from the seller by the vendor from whom he purchased, and in such case the seller shall not include such amount in determining the maximum price under this regulation.

SEC. 5. Export sales. Maximum prices for export sales and sales for export shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of the Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation.[1] For the purposes of the said Export Price Regulation, the base domestic price shall be the maximum price established in paragraph (a) (1), (2) and (4) per short air dry ton, f. o. b. producers mill, or f. a. s. vessel producers mill dock. On sales to a merchant or exporter who intends to export woodpulp, the maximum price shall be the maximum price established in paragraph (a) (1), (2) and (4) per short air dry ton, f. o. b. producers mill, or f. a. s. vessel producers mill dock.

SEC. 6. Application to import transactions. This regulation applies to transactions in commodities to be imported into the continental United States.

SEC. 7. Evasion. The price limitations set forth in this regulation shall not be evaded, whether by direct or indirect methods, in connection with an offer, solicitation, agreement, sale, delivery, purchase or receipt of or relating to woodpulp, alone or in conjunction with any other commodity or by way of commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.

SEC. 8. Enforcement. Persons violating any provisions of this regulation are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, suits for treble damages and proceedings for suspension of license as provided by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

SEC. 9. Licensing. The provisions of Licensing Order No. 1,[2] licensing all persons who make sales under price control, are applicable to all sellers subject to this regulation or schedule. A seller's license may be suspended for violations of the license or of one or more applicable price schedules or regulations. A person whose license is suspended may not, during the period of suspension, make any sale for which his license has been suspended.

SEC. 10. Records and reports. (a) Every person making sales, purchases or exchanges of woodpulp shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for so long as Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect, complete and accurate records of every purchase, sale or exchange of woodpulp, showing the following:

SEC. 11. Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking an amendment of any provision of this regulation may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1.[3]

SEC. 12. Application for adjustments. (a) Any producer of woodpulp who is directed to deliver woodpulp to any consumer by the War Production Board by an allocation or other order or directive and who is prepared to show that his mill net realization is inadequate at ceiling prices in view of his high operating costs, may apply for adjustment of his maximum prices. The amount of adjustment which may be granted will be determined by the Office of Price Administration, and will in no case exceed an amount deemed reasonably necessary to insure the applicant's production of the woodpulp in question in the light of the applicant's costs of production and his overall financial condition.

(1) Applications for adjustment shall be filed in accordance with subpart B of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1 with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., and shall include the following data:

(i) Statement of the applicant's maximum price, the grade of woodpulp involved, and the proposed maximum price.

(ii) Statement of the applicant's actual costs involved in the manufacture and sale of the woodpulp on OPA Form 695–239 in accordance with the instructions on that form for a period of not less than one month prior to the filing of the application.

If the applicant has not been in production of the woodpulp in question, an estimate may be furnished on OPA Form 695–239.

(iii) Where required by the Administrator, statement of the applicant's overall financial condition on O. P. A. Forms A and/or B, for the accounting period or periods next preceding the filing of the application.

(iv) Statement listing the purchasers and the end-uses of the grade or grades, if known to the seller, for which the adjustment is requested.

(v) Statement of the reasons why the applicant feels the adjustment is required.

(vi) Such other information as the Administrator may require.

(2) If at the time of the filing of the application any of the information referred to is on file, it need not be resubmitted with the application and may be incorporated in the application by reference.

SEC. 13. Adjustable pricing. Any person may agree to sell at a price which can be increased up to the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery; but no person may, unless authorized by the Office of Price Administration, deliver, or agree to deliver at prices to be adjusted upward in accordance with action taken by the Office of Price Administration after delivery. Such authorization may be given when a request for a change in the applicable maximum price is pending, but only if the authorization is necessary to promote distribution or production and if it will not interfere with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. The authorization may be given by the Administrator or by any official of the Office of Price Administration to whom the authority to grant such authorization has been delegated. The authorization will be given by order except that it may be given by letter or telegram when the contemplated revision will be the granting of an individual application for adjustment.

Statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Maximum Price Regulation No. 449 is amended in the following respect:

1. Section 12 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 12. Petitions for amendment and applications for adjustment—(a) Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking an amendment of any provision of this regulation may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1.

(b) Applications for adjustment—(1) When adjustments may be granted. The Office of Price Administration may adjust the maximum price established by this regulation for any grade of groundwood specialty paper in any case in which it finds that the seller is unable to maintain his production of that grade at that price and that either:

(i) Continuance of the seller's production of that grade is required to meet a military or essential civilian need, or

(ii) Loss of the seller's production of that grade will force his customers to resort to higher priced sources of supply, and that no adequate substitute for that grade is available to his customers at a price equal to or lower than the adjusted maximum price which he requests.

(2) Amount of relief. The relief granted under this section shall be limited to the amount necessary to insure the maintenance of the manufacturer's production: Provided, however, That where an application is filed under paragraph (b) (2) above, the seller's maximum price will not be raised above the general level of prices prevailing for alternative sources of supply of the grade or an adequate substitute therefor.

(3) Form of application. Before filing an application for adjustment under the provisions of paragraph (b), it is suggested that each applicant obtain from the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., a statement of the specific information that will be necessary in order that his application may receive prompt action.

This amendment shall become effective June 20, 1944.

SEC. 2. What products are covered—(a) General. This regulation covers all Western pine and associated species of lumber, whether the grades, sizes and specifications are specifically named in the price tables or not.

(b) Species and area. The following species from the following areas are covered by this regulation:

(1) Incense cedar (libocedrus decurrens), Ponderosa pine (pinus ponderosa), Idaho White pine (pinus monticola), Sugar pine (pinus lambertiana), Lodgepole pine (pinus contorta), Mexican White pine (pinus strobiformis), Limber pine (pinus flexiles), Arizona pine (pinus arizonica), Apache pine (pinus apacheca), Chihuahua pine (pine chihuahuana), and any other pine commercially sold as Ponderosa, Western or Mexican pine, produced in Oregon, Washington, California, Idaho, Montana, South Dakota, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico, or in Canada or Mexico.

(2) Douglas fir (psuedotsuga taxifolia), West Coast hemlock (tsuga heterophylla, tsuga mertensiana), True fir (abies), and Inland Larch (larix occidentalis), produced in Idaho, Montana, South Dakota, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico, Mexico, and those portions of Washington, Oregon and Canada east of the crest of the Cascade Mountains. If a mill is located near the crest of the Cascade Mountains and has customarily graded and sold its lumber of these species under the West Coast Lumbermen's Association Standard Grading and Dressing Rules, it may apply to the Portland, Oregon office of the Office of Price Administration for special permission to use the maximum prices in Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 26, instead of the prices in this Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 94.

(3) Engelmann Spruce (picea), and Red Cedar (thuja plicata) produced in Idaho, Montana, South Dakota, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico, California, Alaska, Mexico, and in those portions of Oregon, Washington, and Canada east of the crest of the Cascade Mountains.

SEC. 3. What transactions are covered—(a) Direct mill shipments. This ceiling applies to all shipments originating at a mill, no matter who the seller is and no matter whether he usually is known as a mill, wholesaler, retailer, or anything else. It does not apply to sales out of distribution yard stock. (The prices for yard sales may be found either in Second Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 215[1] or in the General Maximum Price Regulation,[2] depending on the nature of the sale and the purchaser). A shipment is regarded as originating at a mill if the lumber reaches the purchaser without ever becoming an integral part of the stock of a distribution yard. A sale is considered a sale out of distribution yard stock only if the lumber was a part of regular yard stock at the time the sale was made. For example, if a retail yard takes an order for a defense housing project, and then brings the lumber from a mill, puts it in his yard, and delivers it as needed, the sale is subject to this regulation.

(b) How to tell a mill from a distribution yard. The term "mill" as used here, covers what are known in the trade as sawmills, planing mills, and concentration yards. Three types of establishment are described below: The first (1), a typical sawmill or planing mill; the second (2), a typical concentration yard; and the third, (3), a typical distribution yard. An establishment which resembles (1) or (2) more than it does (3) is considered a mill; and one which resembles (3) more than it does (1) and (2) is considered a distribution yard:

(1) "A typical sawmill or planing mill" is an establishment which is chiefly engaged in manufacturing lumber from logs or rough lumber by sawing or planing; which is located in or near a lumber producing area; which makes and sells chiefly Western pine and associated species of lumber;

(2) "A typical concentration yard" is an establishment which concentrates and prepares lumber for commercial shipment, which keeps in stock mostly Western pine and associated species of lumber, which has its lumber brought in chiefly in rough green form by truck from small local sawmills and sells chiefly for rail shipment, and which has been located at its particular site to be near the lumber producing area;

(3) "A typical distribution yard" is a wholesale or retail lumber yard which gets lumber from mills or other yards; unloads, sorts, stores, and resells or redistributes it; which regularly maintains a varied stock of lumber from different regions; which gets its lumber mostly by rail and sells mostly for truck shipment; which is equipped to make quick deliveries of many different items of lumber; and which has been located at its particular site in order to be near a lumber consuming area.

(c) New yards. In order to prevent violation of this regulation by unnecessary routing through yards, the Office of Price Administration will not recognize distribution yards set up after January 5, 1943, unless the new yard writes to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., and proves that it satisfies the requirements of the definition and that the purpose is not to get around this regulation by means of unnecessary yard business. Until approval is received, the new yard cannot consider itself a distribution yard for the purpose either of this regulation or any other regulation issued by the Office of Price Administration.

SEC. 4. What persons are covered. Any person who makes the kind of sale or purchase described above, for himself or others, is subject to this regulation. The term "person" includes an individual, corporation, partnership, association or any other organized group, their legal successors and representatives, the United States or any government or any of their political subdivisions or any agency of any of the foregoing.

ARTICLE II—MAXIMUM PRICES AND TERMS OF SALE

SEC. 5. Basic prices and cash discount—(a) Basic prices. The basic mill ceiling prices are set forth in Article V—Price Tables.

(b) Cash discount. If cash is paid the maximum price must be reduced by the seller's October 1941 cash discount. For example, if the October 1941 discount for cash was 2%, and the maximum price without discount according to this regulation is $30.00, the maximum price when cash is paid is $29.40. If the seller was not in business in October 1941 the discount for cash shall be 2%. In any case on specific written allocations issued by the Office of the Chief of Engineers, War Department, the terms 30 days net may be used regardless of former practices.

SEC. 6. Direct mill retail sales. An addition of $3.50 per thousand board feet may be made on a sale of less than 20,000 ft. BM (or less than carload if by rail), to any buyer who does not purchase for resale, where the shipment originates at a mill and the seller:

(a) Sees that the lumber is delivered to the job site at such time and in such manner as the buyer specifies. This does not mean that the seller must make free delivery. When delivery is made by private truck owned or controlled by the seller; delivery charge may be made as provided in section 7 (a) (2).

(b) Gives the buyer the privilege of exchanging the lumber and returning unused material; and

(c) Agrees to make good any shortage promptly from stocks kept on hand for that purpose.

The size of the sale is determined by the total quantity involved in the transaction without regard to whether it is broken up into smaller orders or deliveries.

SEC. 7. Sales on delivered basis—(a) Transportation addition. On sales on delivered basis transportation charges set forth below may be added to the maximum f. o. b. mill prices.

(1) Common or contract carrier. (i) When the estimated dry weights in Article VI are used, the rate times the estimated weight is the proper transportation charge even if the estimated dry weights are higher than actual weights. Estimated green weights may be used in calculating transportation charges only if the moisture content is greater than 19%. Higher estimated weights than those in Article VI may not be used. The estimated weight must be the weight for the exact kind of lumber actually shipped. For example, green weights cannot be used if dry lumber is shipped. The transportation charge may be evened out to the nearest quarter dollar per M.

(ii) When estimated weights are not used, the amount added for transportation must not be more than the amount actually paid to the common or contract carrier, evened out to the nearest quarter dollar per M.

(2) Private truck. (i) When shipment is by truck owned or controlled by the seller, the following amounts may be added for transportation: For distances up to and including 10 miles, $1.50 per M'; over 10 and up to and including 20 miles, $2.00 per M'; and over 20 and up to and including 30 miles, $2.50 per M'. Where the distance is greater than 30 miles the seller may charge the amount of the railroad charge at the carload rate for the most similar haul or $3.00 per M', whichever is greater. Distance, as used in this paragraph means the distance from the mill to the point of destination as measured by the speedometer. No addition may be made for the return trip.

(ii) The provisions of this section 7 (a) (2) and (3) shall not apply to sales and deliveries of mixed species, log run lumber from mills in the "fringe area." As to these transactions, the permitted additions for trucking by private truck and trucking to railhead are shown separately in footnotes (1) and (2), section 30.

(3) Trucking to railhead. When a truck haul precedes rail shipment, as when a mill located away from the railhead hauls lumber by truck to the railhead, no addition may be made for the truck haul. However, where a mill's rail connection has been abandoned since September 5, 1941, the mill may apply for special permission to make an addition.

The application should be made by letter to the Lumber Branch of the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., and may be acted upon by letter. The addition may not be made on quotations or sales until permission has been received.

(4) Truck delivery after rail haul. When truck delivery follows a rail haul, there may be added for the delivery an amount not greater than the addition permitted by subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph, whichever is applicable.

(5) All truck haul. When an all-truck haul ends in delivery to the job site, no special addition may be made above the charges provided in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph, since in this case delivery to the job site involves no extra expense.

(b) Susanville rate on delivered sales to California. Regardless of other provisions of this section, on delivered sales to purchasers in California, if shipment originates at a mill in California from which the railroad freight rate to the California destination is less than the rate from Susanville, California, to the same destination, the addition for transportation may be computed by multiplying the appropriate estimated weight as shown in Article VI by the applicable freight rate from Susanville, California to the California destination. This provision does not apply to f. o. b. mill sales nor to direct-mill retail sales.

(c) Government bill of lading. Where shipment is made on government bill of lading, the maximum price payable to the seller may be computed by determining what would be the maximum delivered price on the basis of estimated weights and commercial rates and subtracting therefrom the commercial rate times the actual weights.

SEC. 8. Maximum prices for Alaskan lumber. (a) The maximum f. o. b. mill prices for Engelmann Spruce, Red Cedar, and Incense Cedar lumber produced in Alaska and delivered to points outside the continental United States shall be the maximum f. o. b. mill prices set forth in Article V, plus an amount equal to freight under the Maritime Commission's published freight rate from Seattle, Washington, to the mill's shipping point, including surcharges, War Risk insurance, and wharfage and handling charges under the published Seattle Wharfage and Handling rate for comparable lumber.

(b) The maximum delivered prices for such lumber shall be the maximum f. o. b. mill price arrived at according to the foregoing, plus transportation charges permitted by section 7.

SEC. 9. Grades, services or extras not listed. (a) If a seller wishes to sell a grade which is not specifically priced in the price tables, or wishes to make an addition for special workings, specifications, services, or other extras for which additions are not specifically permitted, he must apply to the Lumber Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., for a maximum price. He must provide the following information:

(1) The requested price;

(2) A complete description of the item to be priced;

(3) The price differential between it and the most comparable item in the price tables, between October 1, 1941 and June 1, 1942, from the seller's own records, or if that is impossible, from the experience of the trade. If no established price differential existed, a detailed analysis of comparative value should be furnished.

(b) As soon as the request has been filed, quotations and deliveries may be made at the requested price, but the final payment may not be made until the price has been approved. Action on the request may be by letter or telegram.

(c) In all cases where special prices have been approved by the Lumber Branch of the Office of Price Administration under § 1381.507 (c) of the earlier regulation, Maximum Price Regulation 94, these special prices shall no longer apply if specific prices for the items are established by this regulation; but if no specific prices are established in the price tables, the price approved under the earlier regulation shall continue in effect.

ARTICLE III—SPECIFIC DUTIES AND PROHIBITED PRACTICES

SEC. 10. What the invoice must contain—(a) Sales f. o. b. mill. All invoices must contain a sufficiently complete description of the lumber to show whether the price is proper or not. Any working, specification, or extra which affects the maximum price must be mentioned in the description. The amount added for these does not have to be separately shown.

(b) Sales on delivered basis. In addition to information called for in paragraph (a) above, on all delivered sales, invoice must also show the:

(1) Point of origin of shipment;

(2) Destination;

(3) Rail rate, if estimated weights are used; otherwise actual amount added for transportation;

(4) The words "Direct-mill shipment."

(5) Any separate charge which the seller is permitted to make for truck delivery after rail haul, or for trucking to railhead, must be shown separately on the invoice.

(c) Direct-mill retail sales. If the "direct-mill retail sale" mark-up is permissible and is added, this must be separately indicated in the invoice.

SEC. 11. Averaging out—(a) Different grades, classes or sizes. Different grades, classes, or sizes of lumber may be sold and invoiced at an average price if all the following conditions are observed:

(1) The footage of each item must be shown separately, and a piece tally must be furnished for each shipment.

(2) The average price for the lumber actually shipped must not be higher than it would have been if all the individual grades, classes, and sizes shipped had been sold separately at the individual ceiling price.

(3) If the order is shipped in more than a single carload, truckload, or boat shipment, the following invoicing and charging practices must also be followed:

(i) The invoice must show that it is part of a larger order and identify the order. It must also show the individual ceiling prices for the various items of lumber actually contained in each shipment, and the average selling price agreed upon.

(ii) The charges which may be made and collected on account for each shipment must not exceed the average price agreed upon or the total for the items in the particular shipment, whichever is the lower. Thus, if an average price of $40.00 was quoted on items with ceiling prices ranging from $38.00 to $42.00, and if a car of items with ceiling price of $38.00 was shipped, only the $38.00 price can be charged and collected on the car. But if a car of items with ceiling price of $42.00 was shipped, only the average price of $40.00 could be charged on that car.

(iii) Upon completion of the order the seller must render a final invoice showing the quantity of each shipment or delivery, the freight charge for each if sold on a delivered basis, the amount received on account, the total amount due on the order at the agreed average price and a reconciliation of the total amount so computed with the maximum prices permitted by this regulation. Final payment and all necessary adjustments between the buyer and seller are to be made upon the final reconciliation.

(b) Different freight rates. When a single order, for which a single flat delivered price was quoted and accepted, is shipped from two or more mills to a single destination on varying freight rates, the seller may average out the transportation charges. For example, if a wholesaler bids $33.00 per MBM on a single order of a hundred thousand feet of lumber, the ceiling price being $30.00 per MBM and the estimated freight $3.00, he can ship half of it on a rate resulting in a $2.00 freight charge and half on a rate resulting in a $4.00 freight charge.

(1) Where this practice is adopted, the seller must observe all of the following conditions:

(i) Each invoice must state that the particular shipment is part of a larger order and identify the order. It must also show the individual rates for each shipment or delivery.

(ii) The transportation charges which may be made and collected for each shipment or delivery, on account, must not exceed the average transportation charge figured on the entire order or the actual transportation charge for the particular shipment based upon the permitted estimated weights, whichever is the lower.

(iii) Upon completion of the order the seller must render a final invoice showing the individual f. o. b. mill prices separately, the amount shipped from each mill, the freight charge for each shipment, and a reconciliation of the total amount so computed with the agreed delivered selling prices and also with the maximum prices permitted by this regulation. In the event that the sale was made at an average price for different grades, classes or sizes of lumber as well as an averaging-out of transportation charges, the provisions of (a) above shall also be observed. Final payment and all necessary adjustments between the buyer and seller are to be made upon the final reconciliation.

SEC. 12. What records must be kept. All sellers and all buyers who, in any one calendar month, sell or buy 20,000 board feet or more of any lumber covered by this regulation must keep records which will contain a complete description of the lumber involved, the name and address of the other party to the transaction, the date of the sale, and the prices. Such records must be retained for two years, for inspection by the Office of Price Administration.

SEC. 13. Prohibited practices—(a) General. Any practice which is a device to get the effect of a higher-than-ceiling price without actually raising the dollars-and-cents price is as much a violation of this regulation as an outright over-ceiling price. This applies to changes in credit practices and cash discounts and to devices making use of commissions, services, transportation arrangements, premiums, special privileges, tying-agreements, trade understandings and the like.

(b) Specific practices. The following are some of the specific practices prohibited:

(1) Getting the effect of a higher price by changing credit practices from what they were in October 1941. This includes decreasing credit periods or making greater charges for extension of credit.

(2) Refusing, without good reason, to ship except in specified or restricted random lengths or under other circumstances which bring the seller an extra return.

(3) Selling as specified lengths or widths, a specific lot or shipment of lumber which is substantially equivalent to random lengths or widths, or reselling intact as specified lengths or widths a specific lot or shipment bought by the seller as standard or random lengths or widths, unless specifically permitted in the price tables. This prohibition shall not apply to shipments or deliveries which have been sorted out as to widths and lengths and then resold.

(4) Grading as a special grade, lumber which can be graded as a standard grade; or wrongly or falsely grading or invoicing lumber. Selling lumber surfaced to standard dimension thickness as common board grade is considered to be false grading and invoicing.

(5) Making additions for special specifications, services, or other extras which are not specifically permitted.

(6) Refusing to sell on an f. o. b. mill basis, or refusing to sell on a delivered basis.

(7) Failing to invoice properly and in accordance with the requirements of this regulation.

(8) Unnecessarily routing lumber through a distribution yard.

(9) Quoting a gross price above the maximum price, even if accompanied by a discount the effect of which is to bring the net price below the maximum.

(10) Getting a higher price by charging the buyer for ripping or resawing, or charging on a basis of an original size larger than the item actually delivered (for example, charging the price of 8/4 x 8 resawn to 4/4 x 8 on a sale of 4/4 x 8) except where the items ordered and delivered are non-standard sizes not specifically priced in the tables. This prohibition has no application where the buyer specifies the larger size to be ripped or resawn into items of smaller size and the resulting items are priced higher in the tables than the original larger size; for example, the buyer may order 1 x 4 C Select, priced at $61.00 per MBM ripped to 1 x 2. By buying the larger size ripped the price to the buyer is lower ($62.00) than it would have been had he ordered the 1 x 2 as such ($64.00). In this example the maximum price is $62.00.

(11) Making the buyer take something he does not want; for example, making a buyer who orders No. 3 Common take all the upper and lower grades developing in running the No. 3.

(12) Breaking up an order or apportioning deliveries in order to get the $3.50 direct-mill retail sale addition.

(c) Adding commission to ceiling prohibited. It is unlawful for any person to charge, receive or pay a commission for the service of procuring (including buying, selling, or locating lumber, or for any related service such as "expediting") which does not involve actual physical handling of lumber, if the commission plus the purchase price results in a total payment by the buyer of lumber which is higher than the maximum price of the lumber. For the purpose of this regulation, a commission is any compensation, however designated, which is paid for the procurement of lumber. This prohibition has no application to the case of a bona fide employer-employee relationship where the employee serves only one employer, insofar as lumber procurement is concerned, and where the compensation paid by the employer is a fixed salary and not based directly on the quantity, price, or value of the lumber in connection with which the service is rendered.

(d) Combination grades. Lumber sold on combination grades may not be sold above the maximum price for the lowest priced grade actually named in the combination. For example, the maximum price for lumber sold as No. 3 Common and better is the maximum price fixed for No. 3 common lumber. It is permissible to quote with specified higher grades as developed but when the lumber is shipped, the quantities falling in each grade must be tallied separately on a board foot basis and either loaded separately or so marked that the buyer may easily identify each grade for the purpose of checking against invoice when unloading, and separately invoiced at prices not in excess of ceiling prices for the respective grades. The provision for separating or marking grades does not apply to shop grades when sold to millwork establishments.

SEC. 14. Adjustable pricing. Any person may agree to sell at a price which can be increased up to the maximum price in effect at the time of shipment; but no person may, unless authorized by the Office of Price Administration, deliver or agree to deliver at prices to be adjusted upward in accordance with action taken by the Office of Price Administration after shipment. Such authorization may be given when a request for a change in the applicable maximum price is pending, but only if the authorization is necessary to promote distribution or production and if it will not interfere with the purpose of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. The authorization may be given by the Administrator or by any official of the Office of Price Administration having authority to act upon the pending request for a change in price or to give the authorization.

The authorization will be given by order, except that it may be given by letter or telegram when the contemplated revision will be the granting of an individual application for adjustment.

SEC. 15. Special pricing rules. (a) Where the buyer specifies restricted lengths or restricted widths and the shipment fails to conform, the entire shipment must be priced at the random length or random width price (unless the agreed price is lower).

(b) Where the buyer orders a random length shipment, and the given percentages of lengths as specified in footnotes to some of the price tables are not met because there is too large a percentage of shorts, the excess shorts must be priced at the separate prices for the short lengths.

ARTICLE IV—MISCELLANEOUS

SEC. 16. Applications for adjustment or petitions for amendment—(a) Government contracts. See Procedural Regulation No. 6[3] for adjustment provisions on certain government contracts or subcontracts.

(b) Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking an amendment of any provisions of this regulation may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1[4] issued by the Office of Price Administration.

(c) In treating with petitions for amendment or adjustment, consideration will not be given to log costs which are higher than the applicable maximum purchase prices for logs established in Maximum Price Regulation 348, or any revision or amendment to that regulation. This rule shall be followed regardless of whether the petitioner gets logs by purchasing them, logging his own standing timber, contracting for the logging of his own standing timber, or any other means. All petitions in any way based on the cost of logs must show the actual cost to the petitioner of logs received at his plant during the three months immediately prior to filing the petition and the cost which would have been incurred by the petitioner if all of these logs had been purchased by him at ceiling prices.

SEC. 17. Enforcement. (a) Persons violating any provision of this regulation are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, suits for treble damages, and proceedings for suspension of licenses provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

(b) War Procurement agencies and their contracting or paying finance officers are not subject to any liability, civil or criminal, imposed by this regulation. Persons who make sales covered by this regulation to war procurement agencies and buyers to whom lumber has been allocated by any such agencies are, however, subject to all the liabilities imposed by this regulation. "War procurement agencies" include the War Department, the Navy Department, the United States Maritime Commission and the Lend-Lease Section in the Procurement Division of the Treasury Department or any of their agencies.

SEC. 18. Licensing. The provisions of Lincensing Order No. 1,[5] licensing all persons who make sales under price control, are applicable to all sellers subject to this regulation. A seller's license may be suspended for violations of the license or of one or more applicable price schedules or regulations. A person whose license is suspended may not, during the period of suspension, make any sale for which his license has been suspended.

SEC. 19. Grades. All grades and size terms appearing in this regulation refer to, and have the meaning given in current Grading and Dressing Rules issued by the Western Pine Association.

ARTICLE V—PRICE TABLES

SEC. 20. Ponderosa pine. For Ponderosa pine lumber (and other species commercially sold as Ponderosa, Western, or Mexican pine lumber, if not specifically priced in another section) the maximum prices f. o. b. mill per one thousand feet board measure, surfaced, and air dried or kiln dried (except where otherwise specified in price tables), in mixed or straight load shipments, shall be as follows:

14. Standard patterns, other than S2S and S4S, which are not provided for in item 12, above, add $2: but no such addition shall apply to the following:
(1) S2S and CM.
(2) D & M.
(3) Shiplap.
(4) Beaded shelving.
15. Cutting to specified exact length—add $1.
16. All stock shipped in inter-divisional stopover cars—add $1.
17. Random lengths are 6' and longer unless otherwise provided in list.
18. No extra charge for double end trimming.
19. All prices shown, except where otherwise specified (plank and timbers), are for dry lumber. For green lumber not specified green in tables; proper deductions are shown under each price table. Lumber shall be considered green if, when shipped, the moisture content is greater than 19 percent.
20. 7/4 lumber may be manufactured and sold at the price of corresponding width and grade of 6/4. Rough dry thickness for 7/4" shall be at least 80 percent to measure 1¾" with a tolerance of 1/32" permitted on not to exceed 20%. Surfaced dry thickness shall be surfaced full 1 13/32". If shipped surfaced and resawn the two resawn pieces shall measure 1½".
21. Any prices based on a percentage addition or deduction are to be figured to the nearest 25 cents.
22. When 8/4 is resawn for the purpose of procuring 4/4, the product must be regraded and sold at the grade price applying to the 4/4 size of the grade actually produced.

SEC. 29. Maximum prices for lumber produced in the "fringe area" and Canada and Mexico. (a) For lumber produced in the fringe area, in Canada, or in Mexico (except as covered by paragraph (c) of this section), which is separated as to species and sold on grade, the maximum prices shall be delivered prices consisting of the f. o. b. mill prices set forth in the appropriate price table plus an amount equal to estimated freight charges based on estimated weights from Article VI times the carload rate from the appropriate basing point shown below to destination. ("Destination" means the final point to which the lumber moves in "direct-mill shipment" as defined in section 7 (a) (1).) The basing points are:

(1) Fringe area (South Dakota, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Nevada, Arizona and New Mexico) Spokane, Washington; Klamath Falls, Oregon; or Susanville, California—whichever produces the lowest rate to destination.
(2) Canada: Spokane, Washington.
(3) Mexico: Susanville, California.

(b) Since the maximum prices established by paragraph (a) of this Section are delivered prices, no transportation additions other than "basing-point" freight to destination are permitted, and section 7 does not apply. In every case the maximum price must finally be determined according to paragraph (a) above as a delivered price at final destination. As to pricing "f. o. b. mill" note the following examples—

(1) In a sale to a distribution yard at the mill's shipping point, since shipping point and final destination are the same, the addition for basing-point freight may be made even though the sale has all the usual characteristics of a sale "f. o. b. mill".

(2) If either the mill or a wholesaler should make an "f. o. b. mill" sale for direct-mill shipment the maximum price is the price at final destination established under paragraph (a), and, therefore, the "f. o. b. mill" price would be less than the price receivable in example (1), depending upon the difference between the through rate from basing-point to destination and the combination of locals from basing-point to mill and mill to destination. For example, if estimated freight based on freight rate from basing-point direct to final destination were $10.00 per M ft., and freight on a combination of locals from basing-point to mill and mill to final destination were $12.00, "f. o. b. mill" price must be reduced by $2.00 so that price at final destination would be the same in either event.

(c) Government purchase; Mexican Pine Lumber. The maximum price for lumber produced in Mexico and imported for the account of or for direct sale to a United States Government agency or to a Government contractor to whom such lumber has been allocated by the Central Procurement Agency, shall be a price f. o. b. the port of entry consisting of the maximum f. o. b. mill price set forth in the appropriate price tables plus estimated railroad freight charges from Susanville, California to the port of entry computed on the carload rate and using estimated weights given in Article VI. Additions for further transportation beyond the port of entry may be made in accordance with section 7.

SEC. 30. Maximum prices for mixed species, log run. For Mixed Species (not separated as to species) Log Run (not separated as to grade), produced in the States of South Dakota, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Nevada, Arizona, and New Mexico, the maximum prices f. o. b. mill per thousand feet board measure, in any size load or shipment, shall be as follows:

MIXED SPECIES—LOG RUN

Green rough	$28.50
For surfaced stock	add $3.00
For dry	add $2.00
For specified lengths	add $1.00

Notes on mixed species—log run:

(1) Truck delivery by private truck. When shipment is by truck owned or controlled by the seller, the following amounts may be added for transportation: For distances up to and including 10 miles, $1.50 per M; over 10 miles and up to and including 20 miles, $2.00 per M; over 20 miles and up to and including 30 miles $2.50 per M; over 30 miles an addition of 5 cents per mile per M feet may be added to the $2.50 per M charge permitted for first 30 miles. Distance, as used in this paragraph, means the distance from the mill to the point of destination as measured, by the speedometer. No addition may be made for the return trip.

(2) Trucking to railhead. When a truck haul precedes rail shipment, as when a truck located away from a railhead hauls lumber by truck to the railhead, no addition may be made for the truck haul. However, where a mill's rail connection has been abandoned since September 5, 1941, the mill may apply for special permission to make an addition.

The application should be made by letter to the Lumber Branch of the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., and may be acted upon by letter. The addition may not be made on quotations or sales until permission has been received.

ARTICLE VI—PERMITTED ESTIMATED WEIGHTS

(2) Any increase in price resulting from the agreement under this section must be absorbed by the buying manufacturer and must not be reflected, directly or indirectly, in the resale price; nor may such increase be used as a basis for a request for an increase in price by way of an application for adjustment or petition for amendment under this regulation.

(b) Before any sale or delivery may be made at the price arrived at pursuant to paragraph (a) above, the buying manufacturer must submit a statement to the Office of Price Administration, Building Materials Price Branch, Washington 25, D. C., showing:

(1) The names of the selling and buying manufacturers; and

(2) A specific statement from the buyer that the increase in price will not be passed on in the resale of the commodity or commodities and that such increase resulting from the agreement will not be made the basis for an application for adjustment or petition for amendment under this regulation.

4. Section 4.8 is amended to read as follows:

All price or other differentials, whether published or unpublished, which were or would have been allowed in the sale of containers other than standard containers during July 1941 by any manufacturer to purchasers in contract or greater quantities, or to any other class of purchaser who resells the container as such, must be maintained and continue to be so allowed, except on sales between manufacturers made pursuant to the provisions of section 1.12 above. PART 1499—COMMODITIES AND SERVICES

[Rev. SR 14 to GMPR, Amdt. 142]

SALES OF STEAM DISTILLED TURPENTINE, DIPENTENE, SOLROS AND WOOD ROSIN SIZE

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Section 4.27 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 4.27 Sales of steam distilled turpentine, dipentene, solros, and wood rosin size—(a) Maximum prices. The maximum prices for sales of steam distilled turpentine, dipentene, wood rosin size, and processed wood rosin used in the manufacture of core oil known as solros shall be those established under any other provisions of the General Maximum Price Regulation, or those set forth below, whichever are higher:

(1) Sales by producers—(i) Steam distilled turpentine, dipentene, and solros—(a) Base maximum prices.

Steam distilled turpentine.	$0.66 per gallon in tank cars f. o. b. plant.
Dipentene	$0.49 per gallon in tank cars f. o. b. plant.
Processed wood rosin used in the manufacture of core oil known as solros.	$3.90 per hundred pounds in carload drums f. o. b. plant.

(b) Differentials. Maximum prices for sales in other containers and quantities shall be established by applying to the base prices set forth in (a) above the dollar and cent differentials, discounts and allowances established for such sales under any other provisions of the General Maximum Price Regulation.

(ii) Wood rosin size—(a) Maximum prices. The maximum price per hundred pounds shall be a figure equal to total costs per hundred pounds.

(b) Definition. "Total cost per hundred pounds" means the sum of the following:

(1) Direct material costs per hundred pounds during the first quarter of 1944, except as noted below with respect to purchased wood rosin. In computing the cost of the quantity of wood rosin contained in 100 pounds of the wood rosin size being priced, a weighted average, based on the percentage of wood rosin the manufacturer purchased and the percentage the manufacturer himself produced during the first quarter of 1944, shall be used. The cost per hundred pounds of the wood rosin purchased shall be the delivered price per hundred pounds in the customary quantities and containers the manufacturer is currently required to pay (not in excess of the supplier's maximum price plus freight costs, if any). The cost per hundred pounds of the wood rosin the manufacturer himself produced shall be the lowest price per hundred pounds f. o. b. plant he charged for such wood rosin during the first quarter of 1944 (not in excess of his maximum price), less his selling and administrative expense per hundred pounds during the first quarter of 1944.

(2) Direct labor cost per hundred pounds during the first quarter of 1944. Increases in labor costs since October 3, 1942, may be considered only if such increases were approved by the War Labor Board or War Labor Board approval was not necessary.

(3) Other manufacturing costs per hundred pounds during the first quarter of 1944, directly assignable to the production of the size being priced. This may include indirect labor, factory supplies, repairs and maintenance of building, machinery and equipment, insurance, property taxes, depreciation at normal rates on plant and equipment actually used in manufacture, purchased utilities services, and other items commonly associated with factory operation.

*Copies may be obtained from the Office of Price Administration.

(4) General selling and administrative expenses per hundred pounds during the first quarter of 1944. This includes executive and administrative salaries, office expense, commissions, advertising, and similar items but not including income or excess profit taxes, charges to war reserves, or reserves for contingencies.

(c) Reports. The maximum price determined for the wood rosin size being priced under (a) above and the following information shall, before such wood rosin size is offered for sale at the adjusted maximum price, be reported by the producer to the Chemicals and Drugs Price Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C.:

(1) Cost of grade of wood rosin used per hundred pounds of size being priced computed in accordance with (b) (1) above on the basis of the following: ------

(i) Amount used in size being priced during first quarter of 1944 broken down as follows:

(A) Amount purchased by manufacturer in pounds. ------

(B) Amount produced by manufacturer in pounds. ------

(ii) Amount used per hundred pounds of size being priced in pounds. ------

(iii) Current delivered purchase price per hundred pounds in customary quantities and containers. ------

(iv) Cost of that produced by manufacturer as follows:

(A) Lowest price per hundred pounds f. o. b. plant charged by manufacturer during first quarter of 1944. ------

(B) Less amount deducted for selling and administrative expense per hundred pounds during first quarter of 1944. ------

(2) Other material costs per hundred pounds of size being priced as defined in (b) (1) above. ------

(3) Direct labor cost per hundred pounds of size being priced as defined in (b) (2) above. ------

(4) Other manufacturing costs directly assignable to the production per hundred pounds of the size being priced as defined in (b) (3) above. ------

(5) General selling and administrative expenses per hundred pounds of the size being priced as defined in (b) (4) above. ------

(6) Total cost per hundred pounds of the size being priced (sum of items (1), (2), (3), (4), and (5)). ------

(2) Sales by resellers. A reseller of steam distilled turpentine, dipentene, processed wood rosin used in the manufacture of core oil known as solros, or wood rosin size, acquired under this section 4.27 at a cost higher than the supplier's maximum price established under any other provisions of the General Maximum Price Regulation, may add to his maximum price per unit established under any other provisions of the General Maximum Price Relation for the higher cost product being priced, the increase (in dollars and cents) in the price to him per unit over his supplier's maximum price per unit established under any other provisions of the General Maximum Price Regulation as determined from the invoice required to be furnished him by paragraph (b) below. The resulting figure is the reseller's maximum price per unit under this subparagraph (2).

(b) Invoices. The producer or reseller shall show as separate items on all invoices for steam distilled turpentine, dipentene, processed wood rosin used in the manufacture of core oil known as solros, or wood rosin size for which maximum prices are established under paragraph (a) above:

(1) The maximum price established for a sale of such product under any other provisions of the General Maximum Price Regulation.

(2) The adjusted selling price (not in excess of the maximum price under this section 4.27).

An invoice containing the above required information shall be furnished the buyer prior to payment by him.

This amendment shall become effective June 20, 1944.

NOTE: All reporting requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Bureau of Mines.

G. H. HARDIN AND CO.

PROCEEDINGS FOR REVOCATION OF LICENSES

Order revoking licenses, directing surrender of licenses, and requiring records to be furnished.

To: G. H. Hardin and Company, Rector, Clay County, Arkansas.

Based upon the records in this matter, including your answer, I make the following findings of fact:

1. On May 11, 1944, a specification of charges against you, setting forth violations of the Federal Explosives Act (55

Stat. 863), as amended, and the regulations pursuant thereto, of which you were accused, was mailed to you giving you notice to mail an answer within 15 days from May 11, 1944, answering the charges against you and requesting an oral hearing if you wished.

2. More than 25 days have elapsed since May 11, 1944. The length of time required for mail to be delivered to the Bureau of Mines, Washington, D. C., from Rector, Arkansas, does not exceed four days. The only communication received from you is your answer dated May 24, 1944. You have not requested an oral hearing.

3. You have admitted that you sold explosives to E. M. Crowson and to other persons who at the times of such sales were not licensed under the Federal Explosives Act, and that you thereby violated section 2 of the act.

4. You have admitted that you sold explosives without requiring the purchasers to exhibit licenses issued to them under the act and without having copies of such licenses in your files, and that you thereby violated section 15 of the regulations.

5. You have admitted that you failed to keep a full, detailed, and tabulated record of your transactions in explosives, and that you thereby violated section 5 of the act and section 14 (d) of the regulations.

6. You have admitted that on or about April 11, 1944, you stored high explosives in an amount exceeding 125 pounds otherwise than in a permanent magazine complying with the standards set forth in section 25 (a) of the regulations, and that you thereby violated sections 24 and 25 (a) of the regulations.

7. You have admitted that on or about April 11, 1944, you stored high explosives in an amount exceeding 125 pounds on premises not marked with a sign containing the words "Explosives—Keep Off," and that you thereby violated section 12 of the act and section 25 (a) (2) of the regulations.

8. You have admitted that on or about April 11, 1944, you stored detonators in an amount less than 5,000 otherwise than in a permanent magazine complying with the standards set forth in section 25 (a) of the regulations or in a box-type magazine complying with the standards set forth in section 25 (b) of the regulations, and that you thereby violated sections 24 and 27 (c) of the regulations.

9. You have admitted that on or about April 11, 1944, you stored detonators in an amount less than 5,000 in a box which was not painted red or another distinctive color and which was not clearly and conspicuously marked "explosives," and that you thereby violated section 27 (c) of the regulations.

10. You have admitted that on or about April 11, 1944, you permitted Amzie McCord, a person not individually licensed under the act, to have in his possession a key to the building in which your explosives were stored and to enter that building unaccompanied by a person so licensed, and that you thereby violated section 24 (c) of the regulations.

11. You have violated the act and the regulations in the particulars set out in findings numbered 3 through 10.

Now, therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Federal Explosives Act and the regulations thereunder, I hereby order:

1. That all licenses issued to you under the Federal Explosives Act be and they are hereby revoked as of midnight, June 30, 1944.

2. That prior to midnight June 30, 1944, you shall sell or otherwise dispose of, to properly licensed persons, or destroy, all explosives and ingredients of explosives owned or possessed by you or consigned to you or which are in your custody.

3. OFFICE OF PRICE ADMINISTRATION.

[SO 5C, Administrative Exception Order 9]

DEFENSE SUPPLIES CORPORATION

EXCEPTIONS FOR CERTAIN TRANSACTIONS

1. Defense Supplies Corporation, acting by and through War Emergency Pipelines, Inc., is currently engaged in purchasing rationed gasoline in the Texas-Louisiana Gulf Coast refining area and transporting such gasoline by pipe line to the New York area where such gasoline is sold and delivered to the United States Navy or to licensed distributors, as that term is defined in Ration Order No. 5C, and from time to time in the future may desire to purchase quantities of gasoline from licensed distributors and to sell such quantities of gasoline to the United States Navy and licensed distributors. The petroleum products which Defense Supplies Corporation, acting by and through War Emergency Pipelines, Inc., is now purchasing and selling and proposes to purchase and sell are "gasoline" within the meaning of Ration Order No. 5C and are, therefore, subject to rationing. All purchases, transportation and deliveries of gasoline are effected under directives issued by the Petroleum Administrator for War.

2. Defense Supplies Corporation, acting by and through War Emergency Pipelines, Inc., is not required to account for State motor fuel taxes imposed thereon directly to the motor fuel tax administration of the State or States where it desires to purchase and sell gasoline for the reason that it is engaged primarily in the business of transporting such gasoline by pipe line from the Texas-Louisiana Gulf Coast refining area to the New York area, and, therefore, is not a licensed distributor as that term is defined in Ration Order No. 5C.

Defense Supplies Corporation, acting by and through War Emergency Pipelines, Inc., would not be able to carry out the proposed gasoline transactions by qualifying as an intermediate distributor for the reason that it does not have any fixed storage capacity and its method of operation is not adaptable to the requirements of Ration Order No. 5C that ration evidences must be surrendered in exchange for transfers of gasoline.

The effectiveness of the gasoline rationing program would not be impaired if purchases and sales of gasoline in the manner described were permitted without requiring a surrender of ration coupons or other evidences: Provided, That War Emergency Pipelines, Inc., acting for and on behalf of Defense Supplies Corporation, shall prepare in triplicate a Reconciliation Statement (Form OPA R–550) for operations for each calendar month and file the original and one copy thereof with the Office of Price Administration on or before the 20th day of the month following the month for which the report is made; that upon the sale of gasoline to the United States Navy shall require the surrender of a properly executed Acknowledgment of Delivery (Form OPA R–544) in exchange therefor which shall be deposited in a ration bank account to be opened by Defense Supplies Corporation, acting by and through War Emergency Pipelines, Inc.; and, that a certified check shall be made payable to the Office of Price Administration for the gallonage of gasoline represented by the Acknowledgments of Delivery and submitted to the Office of Price Administration on or before the 20th day of the calendar month following the month in which the transfers were made.

Only a limited number of persons and transactions would be affected by the granting of an Administrative Exception Order, and the relief thus granted would in no way affect eligibility, use or need of any person. Defense Supplies Corporation, acting by and through War Emergency Pipelines, Inc., would be treated in the same manner in which licensed distributors are now treated by Ration Order No. 5C except that it would make no monthly report to a State motor fuel tax administration but would instead make a similar monthly report to the Office of Price Administration.

Upon the foregoing statement of circumstances, It is hereby ordered, That, subject to the conditions in this order, the following transactions be excepted from the requirements of Ration Order No. 5C as set forth below:

1. A licensed distributor may transfer to Defense Supplies Corporation, acting by and through War Emergency Pipelines, Inc., and Defense Supplies Corporation, acting by and through War Emergency Pipelines, Inc., may accept a transfer of gasoline without an exchange of coupons or other evidences as required by § 1394.8207 of Ration Order No. 5C for the purpose of transporting such gasoline from the Texas-Louisiana Gulf Coast refining area by pipe line to the New York area.

2. Defense Supplies Corporation, acting by and through War Emergency Pipelines, Inc., may transfer to a licensed distributor, and a licensed distributor may accept a transfer of gasoline from War Emergency Pipelines, Inc., acting for and on behalf of Defense Supplies Corporation, without an exchange of coupons or other ration evidences as required by § 1394.8207 of Ration Order No. 5C.

3. Defense Supplies Corporation, acting by and through War Emergency Pipelines, Inc., may accept transfers and may make transfers of gasoline without registering as a dealer or distributor as required by § 1394.8220 of Ration Order No. 5C.

4. Defense Supplies Corporation, acting by and through War Emergency Pipelines, Inc., may make transfers of gasoline pursuant to this order, provided it shall comply with the following conditions:

(a) Submit monthly to the National Office of the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., in duplicate, a Reconciliation Statement (Form OPA R–550) for operations for each calendar month containing the information called for;

(b) File said report on or before the 20th day of the month following the month for which the report is made;

(c) Require the surrender of Acknowledgments of Delivery (Form OPA R–544) in exchange for transfers of gasoline to the United States Navy which shall be deposited in a ration bank account;

(d) Submit a certified check, made payable to the Office of Price Administration, for the gallonage of gasoline represented by Acknowledgments of Delivery received. Such check is to be submitted to the National Office of the Office of Price Administration on or before the 20th day of the month following the month in which the gasoline was transferred.

If you are a manufacturer of frames for upholstered furniture, you may, upon filing the report required by subparagraph (5) below collect the 5% adjustment charge mentioned in paragraph (d) (1) above on all deliveries of frames for upholstered furniture made after May 9, 1944, Provided, That you have billed and stated the adjustment charge separately. An opinion accompanying Amendment No. 40 to Order No. A-1 has been issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

Order No. A-1 is amended by adding a new paragraph (a) (31) to read as follows:

(31) Modification of maximum prices on sales between manufacturers of commercial glass bottles and glass containers. Any manufacturer of commercial glass bottles or containers, as defined herein, may, subject to the filing provisions of subdivision (iii) below, offer to sell, sell, and deliver any such products to any other manufacturer, as defined herein, at a price agreed upon, by the selling and buying manufacturers, when the price so agreed upon is in excess of the maximum price for the seller under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188, under the following conditions:

(i) Both the seller and the buyer must be "Manufacturers" as that term is defined herein;

(ii) Any increase in price resulting from the agreement under this subparagraph (31) must be absorbed by the buying manufacturer and may not be reflected, directly or indirectly, in the resale price nor may such increase be used as a basis for a request for an increase in price by way of an application for adjustment or petition for amendment under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

(iii) Before any sale or delivery may be made upon the basis of the price arrived at pursuant to this subparagraph (31), the buying manufacturer must submit a statement to the Office of Price Administration, Building Materials Price Branch, Washington 25, D. C., showing:

(a) The names of the selling and buying manufacturers;

(b) A specific statement from the buyer that the increase in price will not be passed on in the resale of the commodity and that such increase resulting from the agreement will not be made the basis for an application for adjustment or petition for amendment under Maximum Price Regulation No. 188.

(iv) As used in this subparagraph (31), the term:

"Manufacturer" means any person operating one or more factories or plants which produce commercial glass bottles or containers and includes any sales subsidiary or commission salesman or affiliate of such person. [File No. 54-98]

WASHINGTON RAILWAY AND ELECTRIC CO.

NOTICE OF FILING AND ORDER FOR HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 14th day of June 1944.

Notice is hereby given that Washington Railway and Electric Company, a registered holding company and a subsidiary of The North American Company, also a registered holding company, has filed a plan pursuant to section 11 (e) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 for the simplification of its holding company system. The North American Company owns 51,827.8 shares (1,630$\frac{33}{40}$ shares of which are represented by participating units) of the 65,000 shares of the common stock of Washington Railway and Electric Company. Washington Railway and Electric Company owns: (a) all, 90,000 shares, of the common stock of Potomac Electric Power Company, an electric utility company operating in the District of Columbia and adjacent areas, (b) 120,000 shares of the 240,000 shares of the capital stock of Capital Transit Company, a street railway and bus company operating in the District of Columbia and adjacent areas, (c) all of the capital stock and all of the bonds of The Washington and Rockville Railway Company of Montgomery County, a registered holding company, (d) 50,000 shares of the 69,250 shares of the capital stock of Braddock Light & Power Company, Incorporated, a small electric utility company operating in Virginia, and (e) 3,334 shares of the 5,000 shares of the capital stock of Great Falls Power Company, a land company. Capital Transit Company owns: (a) all of the common stock and indebtedness of Montgomery Bus Lines, Incorporated, a bus company operating in Maryland, and (b) all of the capital stock of The Glen Echo Park Company, a company operating an amusement park in Maryland. The Washington and Rockville Railway Company of Montgomery County owns: (a) the remaining 19,250 shares of the capital stock of Braddock Light & Power Company, Incorporated, and (b) the remaining 1,666 shares of the capital stock of Great Falls Power Company. With the exception of serial notes of Braddock Light & Power Company, Incorporated, in the principal amount of approximately $20,000 held by certain individuals, Washington Railway and Electric Company, Potomac Electric Power Company, and Capital Transit Company are the only system companies which have publicly-held securities. If the proposed plan is consummated the following changes will occur in the structure of Washington Railway and Electric Company's system: (a) Washington Railway and Electric Company, The Washington and Rockville Railway Company of Montgomery County, and Great Falls Power Company will be liquidated and dissolved; (b) Braddock Light & Power Company, Incorporated, will become a wholly-owned subsidiary of Potomac Electric Power Company; and (c) Potomac Electric Power Company and Capital Transit Company will become direct subsidiaries of The North American Company.

All interested persons are referred to the plan which is on file in the office of this Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed which may be summarized as follows:

1. Washington Railway and Electric Company (Washington Railway) proposes to call for redemption its Consolidated Mortgage 4% Bonds, due December 1, 1951 (of which $3,720,500 have been assumed by Capital Transit Company), in the aggregate principal amount of $6,858,900;

2. Washington Railway proposes to cause Potomac Electric Power Company (Potomac Electric) to call for redemption all of the presently outstanding preferred stock of Potomac Electric consisting of 6% cumulative preferred stock having an aggregate par value of $2,000,000 and 5½% cumulative preferred stock having an aggregate par value of $5,000,000;

3. Washington Railway proposes to cause Potomac Electric to issue 85,000 shares of new 5% cumulative preferred stock, having a par value of $100 per share, to Washington Railway as a dividend; this proposal will result in a transfer of $8,500,000 from the earned surplus account of Potomac Electric to its capital stock account. Dividends on the new preferred stock will be cumulative from the effective date of the plan. The new preferred stock will have a call price of $120 per share during the first five years from the dividend payment date next succeeding the date of initial issue, of $115 during the next succeeding five years, of $110 during the next succeeding five years, and of $105 thereafter; will be entitled to ten votes per share; and will have a liquidating preference of $100 per share plus cumulative and unpaid dividends in the event of voluntary or involuntary liquidation.

4. Washington Railway proposes to retire the 85,000 shares of its own 5% cumulative, non-callable preferred stock having a par value of $100 per share by delivering to the holders thereof for each share of such stock (a) one share of the new 5% cumulative preferred stock of Potomac Electric, or (b) at the option of the holder, if such option is exercised within 30 days after the effective date of the plan, the sum of $100 in cash; plus, in either case, (c) accrued dividends to the effective date of the plan;

5. Washington Railway proposes to cause Potomac Electric to convert the 90,000 shares of its presently outstanding common stock having a par value of $100 per share into 900,000 shares of new common stock having a par value of $10 per share;

6. Washington Railway proposes to cause Potomac Electric to issue 1,700,000 shares of new common stock having a par value of $10 per share to Washington Railway as a dividend; this proposal will result in a transfer of $17,000,000 from the earned surplus account of Potomac Electric to its capital stock account;

7. Washington Railway proposes to retire its common stock by giving the holders thereof the opportunity, during a period of 18 months beginning on the effective date of the plan to withdraw 40 shares of the new common stock of Potomac Electric and 1.846 shares of the capital stock of Capital Transit Company upon the surrender of one share of the common stock of Washington Railway and the payment of $50 in cash if such payment is made within 15 days after the effective date of the plan; if such payment is not made during such 15-day period, the cash payment shall be the sum of $50 plus $1.20 per share for each month which has expired between the effective date of the plan and the date of the surrender, less dividends applicable to the shares of Potomac Electric and Capital Transit Company to be delivered upon the surrender of the common stock of Washington Railway. The North American Company will surrender the common stock of Washington Railway owned by it before the expiration of the aforesaid 15-day period and will pay to Washington Railway the sum of $50 in cash for each share surrendered. Upon the expiration of the 18-month period, the public holders of the common stock of Washington Railway who have not exercised the aforesaid withdrawal privilege will receive in lieu of their holdings their proportionate share of the net proceeds from the sale by Washington Railway of the remaining shares of the common stock of Potomac Electric and Capital Transit Company then owned by Washington Railway, less the sum of $71.60 for each share of the common stock of Washington Railway owned by them, plus their proportionate share of the dividends received during said period upon the shares of common stock of Potomac Electric and Capital Transit Company so sold. (Each Participating Unit which represents 1/40 interest in a share of the common stock of Washington Railway will be accorded the same treatment as though it were 1/40 of a share of common stock of Washington Railway.)

8. Washington Railway proposes not to pay any dividends on its common stock after the effective date of the plan;

9. Washington Railway proposes to cause Potomac Electric to buy all of the capital stock of Braddock Light & Power Company, Incorporated, from Washington Railway for $632,500 in cash;

10. Washington Railway proposes to cause the transfer of the real property of Great Falls Power Company to Potomac Electric in fulfilment of existing contractual obligations to Potomac Electric;

11. Washington Railway proposes to cause The Washington and Rockville Railway Company of Montgomery County and Great Falls Power Company to dissolve and in connection therewith Washington Railway will receive all the remaining assets of these companies and assume all of their remaining liabilities;

12. Washington Railway proposes to obtain the funds for the redemption of its Consolidated Mortgage 4% Bonds, due December 1, 1951, by a bank loan of approximately $7,200,000 which loan will be reduced, as of the effective date of the plan, to about $3,250,000 by the use of (1) treasury cash, (2) the proceeds from the sale of the capital stock of Braddock Light & Power Company, Incorporated, and (3) cash in the approximate amount of $3,720,500 to be received either from Capital Transit Company in satisfaction of its obligation with respect to $3,720,500 principal amount of the last mentioned bonds which have been assumed by Capital Transit Company, or from the sale of new bonds which may be issued by Capital Transit Company in fulfilment of its obligation and in lieu of a cash payment. The remainder of the bank loan will be paid, after the effective date of the plan, by the application of the proceeds from the contributions of the common stockholders of Washington Railway or from part of the proceeds from the sale of the common stocks of Potomac Electric and Capital Transit Company as set forth in paragraph numbered 7 above;

13. Washington Railway proposes to cause Potomac Electric to obtain the funds necessary to redeem its presently outstanding 6% and 5½% cumulative preferred stock ($7,490,000) and to purchase the capital stock of Braddock Light & Power Company, Incorporated, ($632,500) by (1) a temporary bank loan of not to exceed $4,500,000, (2) the use of treasury cash, and (3) the issuance and sale of unsecured notes in a principal amount not to exceed $3,000,000 maturing in equal annual installments over a period of not more than six years. Within six months after the effective date of the plan, the aforesaid temporary bank loan will be liquidated by the issuance and sale by Potomac Electric of additional shares of its common stock.

14. Washington Railway proposes thereafter to transfer its then remaining assets (anticipated to consist of cash in an amount between $260,000 and $700,000) to Potomac Electric in consideration of the latter company assuming all of the remaining liabilities, if any, of Washington Railway. (The plan recites that the only known liabilities to be covered by such assumption will be the contingent liability of Washington Railway as guarantor on approximately $3,574,000 principal amount of underlying bonds of Capital Transit Company, in the event such bonds are not refunded by Capital Transit Company prior to their assumption by Potomac Electric.)

15. Washington Railway proposes to dissolve upon the completion of the above transactions.

If this Commission should approve the proposed plan for the simplification of the holding company system of Washington Railway and Electric Company, that company will request this Commission to apply to a United States District Court pursuant to sections 11 (e) and 18 (f) of said act to enforce and carry out the terms and provisions of the plan. The plan states that its consummation is also dependent upon the enactment of legislation by the Congress of the United States authorizing certain of the proposed transactions which are not permitted by existing laws and, as to certain aspects, is subject to the approval of the Public Utilities Commission for the District of Columbia.

The Commission being required by the provisions of section 11 (e) of said act, before approving any plan thereunder, to find, after notice and opportunity for hearing, that the plan of Washington Railway and Electric Company, as submitted or as modified, is necessary to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) and is fair and equitable to the persons affected by such plan;

It is hereby ordered, That a hearing on the plan of Washington Railway and Electric Company for the simplification of its holding company system be held on the 18th day of July 1944, at 10:00 a. m., e. w. t., at the offices of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania, in such room as may be designated on such date by the hearing room clerk in Room 318. All persons desiring to be heard or otherwise wishing to participate in the proceedings should notify the Commission in the manner provided by its rules of practice, Rule XVII, on or before the 12th day of July 1944.

It is further ordered, That Allen MacCullen or any other officer or officers of the Commission designated by it for that purpose shall preside at the hearings in such matter. The officer so designated to preside at any such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of said act and to a trial examiner under the Commission's rules of practice.

It is further ordered, That notice of this hearing be given to Washington Railway and Electric Company, The North American Company, Potomac Electric Power Company, The Washington and Rockville Railway Company of Montgomery County, Capital Transit Company, Braddock Light & Power Company, Incorporated, Great Falls Power Company, the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia, the Public Service Commission of Maryland, the State Corporation Commission of Virginia and to all other persons; such notice to be given to Washington Railway and Electric Company, The North American Company, Potomac Electric Power Company, The Washington and Rockville Railway Company of Montgomery County, Capital Transit Company, Bradgock Light & Power Company, Incorporated, Great Falls Power Company, the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia, the Public Service Commission of Maryland, and the State Corporation Commission of Virginia by registered mail, and to all other persons by publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER and by general release of this Commission which shall be distributed to the press and mailed to the mailing list for releases issued under said act; and

It is further ordered, That Washington Railway and Electric Company mail a copy of the plan for the simplification of its holding company system, together with a copy of this notice and order, to each of its stockholders at his last known address at least 20 days prior to the 18th day of July, 1944.

It is further ordered, That without limiting the scope of the issues presented by the plan, particular attention will be directed at said hearing to the following matters and questions:

1. Whether the plan of Washington Railway and Electric Company, as proposed or as modified, is necessary to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the act; is fair and equitable to the persons affected thereby; and is necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors or consumers;

2. Whether all of the provisions for the consummation of the plan are fair and equitable and in accordance with the act and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder;

3. Whether the proposed accounting entries are proper and in accordance with sound accounting principles and practice and in accordance with the standards of the act;

4. Whether the acquisition by Potomac Electric Power Company of all of the capital stock of Braddock Light & Power Company, Incorporated, and of the real property of Great Falls Power Company complies with all of the provisions of section 10 of the act;

5. Generally, whether the proposed transactions are in all respects in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers and consistent with all applicable requirements of the act and the rules thereunder, and, if not, what modification should be required to be made therein and what terms and conditions should be imposed to satisfy the statutory standards.

By the Commission.

PART 81—PROCUREMENT OF MILITARY SUPPLIES AND ANIMALS

GENERAL PURCHASE POLICIES

Section 81.225 is amended as follows:

§ 81.225 Smaller war plants policy—(a) Smaller War Plants Act. (1) Public Law 603—77th Congress (approved June 11, 1942) creates the "Smaller War Plants Corporation" (hereinafter referred to as "SWPC") and gives the Chairman of the War Production Board certain powers and responsibilities incident to placement of Government contracts with smaller plants. The majority of such powers have been delegated by the Chairman of the War Production Board to the Chairman of SWPC.

(2) The act gives SWPC power to enter into prime contracts with the War Department for articles, equipment, supplies or materials, or parts thereof, or work in connection therewith, and to subcontract the production of these items to small business concerns. If the Chairman of the War Production Board certifies that SWPC is competent to perform any specific Government procurement contract, the contract must be let to it on such terms and conditions as the Chairman may specify.

(3) The act also authorizes SWPC, by delegation from the Chairman of the War Production Board, to certify small business concerns or groups of such concerns to the Secretary of War with respect to capacity and credit as to a specific Government procurement contract. The War Department is directed to accept such certification as conclusive and is authorized to place the contract with the concern or group of concerns without requiring the meeting of any other requirements with respect to capacity and credit.

(4) The act recognizes that small plants are frequently unable to produce at as low a per unit cost as larger plants and that, as a consequence, it may be necessary for the Government to pay a higher per unit price for articles when obtaining them from small plants than it pays to business concerns operating large plants. War Department policy in respect to this will be prescribed by further instructions from time to time.

(b) General policy. (1) The established policy of the War Department is to place the greatest practicable volume of prime contracts and to encourage subcontracts with small business concerns or groups of such concerns without the necessity of plant certification or the taking of prime contracts by SWPC. To implement this policy, the basic program covered in paragraphs (c) to (i) of this section is established in order to assist the smaller plants to participate to the greatest practicable extent in War Department contracts.

(2) It is recognized that procurement procedures vary as between technical services, and it is the policy of the War Department that procedures to be established between each technical service and SWPC will coordinate closely with the normal operations of the technical service. It is the responsibility of the chief of each technical service to establish operating procedures within his technical service with SWPC in conformity with the policies stated in this § 81.225. Such procedures shall be established by mutual agreement between SWPC and each technical service, and shall be in writing. A copy of such agreement shall be provided the Small War Plants Branch, Purchases Division, Army Service Forces, which office is available for any assistance requested in connection with preparing the agreement.

(c) Designations by, and representatives of, SWPC. (1) To date no certifications as referred to in paragraph (a) (3) have been made to the Secretary of War by SWPC. However, a program has been and will continue to be in effect whereby small concerns are recommended by SWPC to each contracting office of the War Department as being capable of performing contracts under particular procurements. Such recommendations are called designations, and firms so designated are known as SWPC designees.

(2) SWPC has appointed a representative to each contracting office of the War Department. Such representative is known as a SWPC Procurement Specialist, and one of his duties is to present designations to the contracting office as set forth in paragraph (f).

(3) SWPC has appointed a representative to the office of each technical service issuing procurement directives, and this representative is also known as a SWPC Procurement Specialist. Among his duties are those set forth in paragraph (e).

(d) Basic program. (1) The following points of policy are established with respect to actions by the War Department in connection with SWPC, and have been agreed upon between SWPC and the War Department:

(i) This program will be undertaken on all procurements, except that procurements of secret or confidential items and those of an emergency nature may be excluded at the discretion of the chief of a technical service. "Emergency nature" relates to those situations where military necessity will not permit the processing of the procurements as outlined herein.

(ii) The War Department's general definition of a small concern is an independently-owned concern employing less than 500 wage earners. Nevertheless, it is within the discretion of a contracting office, independently or upon the request of SWPC, to consider the relative size of a firm within its industry and treat it as large or small accordingly.

(iii) All decisions with respect to the degree of participation of and the desired geographical location of small concerns, and to the choice of particular small concerns to participate in War Department procurements, will be reached at the contracting offices of each technical service (or at whatever office in the technical service decisions are reached regarding the use of specific facilities).

(iv) Since small concerns considered by the contracting office as suitable to bid for a procurement will normally be reviewed by SWPC to determine whether or not such firms will become SWPC designees for such procurement, it is anticipated that the final list of concerns so designated by SWPC will normally be reviewed by SWPC to determine whether or not such firms will become SWPC designees for such procurement, it is anticipated that the final list of concerns so designated by SWPC will include many of the small concerns acceptable to the contracting office.

(2) Chiefs of technical services will designate Small War Plants officers at the contracting offices, and also at either the headquarters of the technical services or at the offices issuing procurement directives. Such officers will be charged with administering War Department policy in respect to small concerns, with working in cooperation with SWPC Procurement Specialists at such offices and with acting as specific contacts for representatives of small concerns calling at such offices. Each technical service will conduct staff supervision of contracting office procedures in connection with the small plant program.

(e) Action at the office issuing procurement directives. Opportunity will be afforded the SWPC Procurement Specialist at the office issuing procurement directives (1) to review with the proper personnel of the technical service the related parts of the Army Supply Program for the purpose of selecting products which will be generally suitable for small concerns, and (2) to examine all procurement directives (except those for secret and confidential items and those of an emergency nature, unless authorized to do so by the chief of the technical service). Where a technical service buys through district offices whose purchasing responsibility is confined to limted geographical areas, suggestions from the SWPC Procurement Specialist as to distribution to districts will be received and considered. When the SWPC Procurement Specialist indicates an interest in further action by SWPC on a procurement, this interest will be noted on the procurement directive that is sent to the contracting office. Lack of such notation of interest will not eliminate a procurement from further consideration under paragraph (f) (1) of this section. Copies of procurement directives which have been examined (except those for secret and confidential items) will be supplied by the office issuing them to the SWPC Procurement Specialist at that office, to the extent desired by SWPC.

(f) Action at the contracting office. (1) The contracting office and the SWPC Procurement Specialist at that office will mutually decide, on all procurements (secret and confidential procurements are excluded, except where specifically authorized under paragraph (e) (2)):

(i) Whether a particular procurement is suitable for manufacture by small concerns.

(ii) The minimum portions of procurements found suitable under (i) which the contracting office will endeavor to place with designees of SWPC in compliance with paragraphs (a) to (h).

(iii) In cases found suitable under (i) and (ii), how many SWPC designations will be sought, from which SWPC regions they will be sought, and by what date such designations will be submitted to the contracting office.

(iv) While emergency procurements are normally excluded under paragraph (d) (1) (i) from further processing through SWPC, the contracting office may in its discretion allow the SWPC Procurement Specialist, if time permits, to suggest sources, when such action does not delay the procurement.

(2) Other action to be taken by the contracting office includes:

(i) A set of drawings, specifications and prints will be made available to the SWPC Procurement Specialist as soon as practicable after the SWPC Procurement Specialist requests them in connection with a particular procurement. Additional sets will be furnished, if available; and if not available, full descriptive information to the extent available will be given the SWPC Procurement Specialist.

(ii) The contracting office will make available to the SWPC Procurement Specialist the names of small plant sources considered suitable by the contracting office for a particular procurement. SWPC will, under its procedures, designate or indicate reasons for refusing to designate such sources.

(iii) Small concerns designated by SWPC in accordance with (1) (ii) above will normally be given an opportunity to bid or negotiate. If a contracting office does not consider that a SWPC designee should receive this opportunity, the SWPC Procurement Specialist shall be given the reasons therefor.

(iv) On the date established under (1) (iii) the contracting office will consider not only SWPC designations that have been submitted for the particular procurement by that date but also any other sources of the contracting office's choice, and will determine which of such firms will be given an opportunity to bid or negotiate.

(v) Opportunity will be given the SWPC for the procurement involved representations to the contracting office in behalf of concerns designated by SWPC for the procurement involved after final bid prices have been received but before final choice of contract placement is made. Copies of abstracts of bids, if available, on procurements in which SWPC participates under (1) (iii) will be furnished at this time to the SWPC Procurement Specialist; if a copy is not available, information will be made available so that the SWPC Procurement Specialist may make his own copy.

(vi) Negotiation and placement of awards will be governed by the factors enumerated in § 81.223 (a) to (h). While the contracting office will endeavor to fulfill the percentage allotment for SWPC designees, and to place contracts with such designees for as great a percentage as is practicable, first consideration shall be, in all cases, that of securing performance or deliveries at the time, in the quantity, and of the quality required by the war program, and nothing in paragraphs (a) to (i) of this section shall detract from that consideration. In considerating the factor referred to in § 81.223 (g) with respect to small business concerns, the contracting office may determine that the "most effective utilization of the small plants of the nation" will be accomplished, in a particular instance, by the payment of a higher price (when such price is proved to result from a justifiably higher cost) to a capable small plant in need of business as against a lower price bid by another small plant with an ample workload.

(vii) The SWPC copy of the abstract or information indicated in subdivision (v) of this paragraph will be noted as to awards made and signed by the contracting office.

(3) In the event the SWPC Procurement Specialist does not agree with the position taken by a contracting officer on the points enumerated in subparagraphs (1) and (2), or if small firms chosen by the contracting office to receive awards are considered by SWPC as not suitable to receive award under the procurement and the reasons given by SWPC for this decision are not acceptable to the contracting office, reasonable opportunity will be given SWPC, if military urgency permits, to submit the difference of opinion to the chief of procurement of the contracting office for final decision.

(g) Encouraging subcontracting to small concerns. (1) In order to promote subcontracting to small concerns, the chief of each technical service will instruct contracting personnel at all levels to bring to the attention of prospective contractors the policy of the War Department to encourage subcontracting to the greatest practicable degree. The attention of such prospective contractors will be called to the contract clauses set forth in §§ 81.367 and 81.368.

(2) Additional subcontracting to small concerns by existing contractors will be fostered to the degree practicable. When the chief of a technical service or his duly authorized representative determines that increased costs under such additional subcontracts are justifiable, he is authorized to enter into and approve supplemental agreements amending or modifying such existing contracts to provide for the payment of an increased price to the prime contractor to cover the increased costs of such subcontracting. Any such agreement will be made pursuant to the First War Powers Act, 1941, and Executive Order 9001, and may be made without consideration to the Government other than the promotion of the policies stated in Public Law 603, 77th Congress and in subparagraphs (2) and (3) of this paragraph.

(3) The procedures described in subparagraph (2) above will be applied to subcontracts where it appears to be practicable to get a subcontractor to spread his load among more subcontractors.

(h) Limitations—(1) Standardization. While the SWPC Procurement Specialists will be afforded every practicable assistance in bringing about the further spread of work to smaller plants, consistent with the factors enumerated in §§ 81.223 (a) to (h), inclusive, standardization programs on items where a flow of replacement parts is a factor will also be taken into account in connection with applying the Small War Plants policy.

(2) Preventing abuses. In carrying out the policy of spreading the work to smaller war plants, contracting officers must take precautions to prevent abuse of the preferred position of such plants. For instance, a smaller war plant contractor should not be allowed to subcontract substantially the entire work to a large plant at a lower price and thereby to operate virtually as a contract broker.

(i) Policy matters in connection with the Smaller War Plants Act. Matters of procedural disagreement will be referred to the headquarters of the technical service involved for settlement with the SWPC Procurement Specialist at that headquarters. If such disagreements cannot be settled at that level, reference will be made by the technical service to the Small War Plants Branch, Purchases Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces. All matters of basic policy relating to prime contracting and subcontracting with smaller plants will be dealt with for SWPC by its Washington headquarters and for the War Department by the Small War Plants Branch, Purchases Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces. On such matters, contact will be between these offices.

(2) The duplicate signed number will be filed with the contracting officer or as directed by the chief of the technical service concerned.

(3) The triplicate signed number will be forwarded to the contractor.

(4) An authenticated copy will be forwarded to the disbursing officer for his use.

(5) Additional authenticated copies or unauthenticated copies will be distributed as directed by the chief of the technical service concerned.

Section 81.360a is added.

§ 81.360a Price adjustment article based on optional periodic adjustment of price—(a) Where contractor has had previous experience in production of item. The following article is for use only in contracts where the contractor has had previous experience in producing the same or substantially the same item. Where the contractor has had no such experience, this article will include the changes set forth in paragraph (b) of this section. Deviations in the form of this article will be made only with the written approval of the Director, Purchases Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, or his authorized representative. The principles set forth in § 81.1235a are applicable to the use of this article. Paragraph (h) of the article may be included where the contracting officer deems it appropriate. If this paragraph is omitted, the references to paragraph (h) shown in italics will also be omitted and the letter designations of paragraph (i) and following paragraphs will be appropriately changed.

Article ____. (a) The Contractor and the Government have agreed upon the prices fixed in Article ____ hereof, for the items to be delivered hereunder, which prices shall remain in effect unless and until changed in accordance with this article or some other provision of this contract.

(b) Either party may, at any time specified in this article, deliver to the other party a written demand to negotiate to adjust the prices under this contract. The right herein given to demand such negotiation may be exercised by either party at any time and from time to time; Provided, however, (1) That no such demand shall be made by either party within ninety days after the date of this contract or the effective date of a previous demand by either party, regardless of the outcome of negotiations under such a previous demand; and (2) that except as provided in paragraph (h), no such demand shall be made within ninety days of the anticipated completion (as determined by the Contracting Officer), of the Contractor's deliveries of items covered by this contract.

(c) Every demand under this article shall specify the date (which, except as provided in paragraph (h) of this article, shall not be earlier than the delivery of the demand) after which the adjusted prices shall be effective, which date is herein referred to as "the effective date of the demand". Any demand under this article shall state briefly the ground or grounds therefor and in the case of a demand by the Contractor shall be accompanied by the data required to be furnished in accordance with paragraph (d) of this article. In the case of a demand by the Government the Contractor shall file such data within fifteen days after the delivery of such demand (or at such other time as the parties may agree on) provided that upon written request of the Contractor, the Contractor shall in any event be allowed 15 additional days to prepare such data.

(d) In connection with any such demand, the Contractor will promptly submit to the Contracting Officer the following data:

1. Statements showing—

(A) the experienced cost of producing each item covered by this contract and completed during the Contractor's most recent accounting period of _____ (specify as month, fiscal quarter) ending no earlier than sixty days before the effective date of the demand.

(B) the experienced cost of performance under this contract, broken down in reasonable detail by periods and items, from (1) the inception of the contract or the effective date of the next prior demand, whichever is later, to (2) the beginning of the accounting period referred to in subparagraph 1 (A) above.

2. An estimate of the costs of producing the items to be delivered after the effective date of the demand, itemized in the same manner as in the estimates of costs stated in the War Department Standard Procurement Form. (Alternate wording: Itemized as follows:) Such estimates in general should be arrived at on the basis of the Contractor's planned method of manufacture and should be made in the light of experienced costs shown in the statements submitted pursuant to paragraph 1 of this paragraph (d). All provisions for contingency charges will be shown separately and identified, together with concise but adequate explanations of differences, if any, between each major element of estimated cost and the costs experienced from the inception of the contract or from the effective date of the next prior demand, whichever is the later.

3. Proposed prices for each item covered by the contract to be delivered following the effective date of such demand.

(e) After the filing of the data required by paragraph (d) hereof, the Contractor and the Contracting Officer will negotiate in good faith to agree upon adjusted prices for items to be delivered following the effective date of the demand.

(f) Prices so negotiated and agreed upon may be in excess of, less than, or the same as, the prices stated in Article ____ hereof. There shall be given appropriate consideration in the negotiations, (1) increases or decreases in the Contractor's cost of direct or indirect labor on account of increases or decreases in labor rates ordered or authorized by a duly constituted Government agency, (2) increases or decreases in the Contractor's cost of materials or supplies, or both, used or to be used in the manufacture of the items to be delivered under this contract, resulting from increases or decreases in prices paid or to be paid by the contractor to the suppliers, (3) present and prospective changes in the volume of production in the Contractor's plant, (4) any factors indicating that increases in particular costs of the Contractor have been or will be off-set by reductions in other costs during the performance of the contract below such costs as estimated originally or at the time of any prior demand under this article, (5) the extent to which any increases in cost were or will be beyond the control of the Contractor, and (6) any other relevant factors. The extent to which the Contractor, by skillful management, careful buying, or efficiency in production, has reduced costs experienced during the periods preceding the delivery of the demand below the estimated amount thereof, so that the Government will benefit thereby in connection with prices for the remainder of the contract (or until another demand shall be made), or has failed to operate efficiently, shall be taken into account in fixing the adjusted prices and appropriate increases in estimated profit allowances shall be made to reward efficient performance and appropriate decreases in such profit allowances may be made in the case of inefficient performance. During the course of such negotiations the Contractor and the Contracting Officer may also consider other data which they may deem pertinent, including (1) prices paid to others for the same or similar items, (2) trends of prices of the same or similar items, (3) indexes of average hourly earnings, and (4) trends of prices of the raw materials going into the product. The prices of items to be delivered following the effective date of the demand shall not be adjusted to absorb any retroactive increases in the cost of items delivered prior to the effective date of the demand.

(g) After each negotiation, the agreement reached will be evidenced by a supplemental agreement to this contract stating the prices to be effective with respect to deliveries after the effective date of the demand or for any period prior thereto to the extent permitted by paragraph (h).

(h) (Optional—see above). The Contractor and the Contracting Officer will negotiate to agree upon adjusted prices for items which were delivered prior to the delivery of the demand in the event that the Contractor is ordered by a duly authorized agency of the Government, or is authorized by such an agency to pay retroactive wage increases affecting the cost of such deliveries. In such negotiations the Contractor and the Contracting Officer will attempt in good faith to estimate the effect of such retroactive wage increases on the cost of items delivered prior to the delivery of the demand and the prices payable for the items so delivered will then be adjusted to reflect, to the extent deemed reasonable under all the circumstances, such estimated effect on cost so agreed upon. In making any adjustment under this paragraph (h) consideration shall be given to the extent to which increases in costs caused by such retroactive wage increases have been offset by reduction in other costs of the Contractor below such costs as estimated originally or at the time of any earlier demand. Any agreement reached under this provision will be evidenced by a supplemental agreement to this contract which shall be subject to the approval of the Director, Purchases Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces [in AAF contracts substitute: "the Under Secretary of War or his duly authorized representative"] stating the revised prices to be effective with respect to deliveries during a specified past period. As a condition precedent to such adjustments the Contractor shall submit to the Contracting Officer, not later than twenty days after the order for or authorization of such retroactive wage increases and in any event prior to final payment under the contract, the following:—

(1) A written demand that the parties negotiate to adjust the contract prices on the items delivered during a stated period. That period shall, in no event, commence at a date earlier than the first day specified in the order or authorization for the retroactive wage increase and shall take into account the extent to which work was done on such items prior to the date of such order or authorization. Such a demand may be incorporated in a demand relating also to a proposed adjustment of future prices.

(2) Estimates of the probable effects of such wage increases on past costs. Such estimates shall be accompanied by estimates of the effect of the wage increase on direct and indirect labor costs and estimates of the inventories of work in process and finished goods at the beginning of the stated period which were incorporated in the deliveries during such period.

(3) Proposed prices for each item covered by the contract which were delivered during the stated period.

(4) A true copy of the order or authorization for such retroactive wage increases. Any disagreement as to any adjustment of price under this paragraph (h) will be disposed of as a question of fact under Article ---- (Disputes), but that article shall not be applicable to any adjustment of price upon any demand other than one under this paragraph (h).

(i) If the Contracting Officer and the Contractor fail to agree as to adjusted prices under a negotiation pursuant to any demand made in accordance with this article, other than a demand made under paragraph (h), within thirty days after the effective date of the demand (or such further period as may be fixed by agreement), the Contractor, if not substantially in default under the contract and if it has substantially complied with paragraph (d) hereof (or, in the case of a demand by the Government, has made reasonable efforts to do so), may give written notice to the Contracting Officer that this contract will terminate on a date to be specified in such notice, (which date shall in no event be earlier than thirty days after the date of the delivery of such notice to the Contracting Officer). Such notice shall take effect upon the date so specified, unless on or prior to such date there shall be served upon the Contractor an order pursuant to Section 801 of the Revenue Act of 1943 fixing the price to be paid for articles and services to be delivered under this contract from and after the date of the order for the balance of the contract or until a date specified in such order. Such an order may reserve the right to issue a further order or orders under said section 801 and may contain any other terms and conditions permitted by Section 801. The Contractor agrees that the delivery of a notice of termination pursuant to this paragraph (i) shall constitute (1) a refusal, within the meaning of Section 801, to agree to a price for the articles and services to be furnished under this contract, which the Secretary considers fair and reasonable, (2) a waiver and release of any right (under said Section 801 or otherwise) of the Contractor to further negotiation with any representative of the War Department as to a fair and reasonable price and (3) a consent by the Contractor that an order may be made pursuant to Section 801 without other or further notice to the Contractor than the service of such order. Upon the service of such an order, the Contractor agrees to continue diligently to perform this contract in accordance with its terms except as modified by said order. The Contractor, however, reserves any and all rights which it may have (in the event of the issuance of such an order) under paragraph (c) of said Section 801 to sue the United States and to recover under said Section. If no such order pursuant to Section 801 is served upon the Contractor on or prior to the date specified in such notice of termination, such notice shall take effect upon the date so specified and the rights and obligations of the parties shall be governed by the provisions of Article ---- hereof (Termination at the Option of the Government). The Contractor shall have no right to terminate this contract in the event of failure to agree with the Contracting Officer upon any adjustment of price pursuant to a demand made under paragraph (h) hereof.

(j) In the case of any demand, except under paragraph (h), until adjusted prices have been determined by agreement or fixed in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (i) above, the Contractor shall be paid for all deliveries (including any deliveries of completed items made in the event of termination of this contract pursuant to paragraph (i) hereof) the prices in effect immediately prior to the effective date of the demand, but if the prices are changed by agreement or pursuant to paragraph (i) above, an amount equal to the difference between the prices paid on the items delivered after the effective date of such demand and such adjusted prices will be added to or deducted from payments for subsequent deliveries under this contract or will be paid by or returned to the Government, as the Contracting Officer may direct. In the case of any demand under paragraph (h) the prices, in effect prior to any such demand and applicable to the delivered items affected by such demand, will be paid for such delivered items until adjusted prices have been agreed upon or determined pursuant to paragraph (h), and thereupon any appropriate adjustments will be made.

(k) Each of the items of information called for under paragraph (a) above shall be certified by an Officer of the Contractor or an independent public accountant. Such certifications shall be in substantially the following form:

"---------- certify that the foregoing statements and other items of information are in substantial compliance with Article ---- of Contract No. ------- and particularly paragraph (d) of said article ---- further certify that past production costs of the subject item as set forth in the foregoing are the costs revealed in the normal operation of Contractor's cost accounting system; that the charges shown therein are consistent with the Contractor's usual treatment of direct and indirect costs; that indirect costs included therein are based upon allocations made in good faith pursuant to Contractor's usual method of allocation; and that said costs, direct and indirect, are based upon inventory data derived from

(strike out inapplicable clause)

in accordance with Contractor's usual inventory practice. ---------- further certify that the foregoing statements and other items of information are fair and reasonable for the purposes for which they are to be used."

(l) The Contracting Officer may make or cause to be made whatever examination of the Contractor's books, records, and accounts he deems necessary to satisfy himself with respect to the data submitted by the Contractor pursuant to any provision of this article.

(m) Any adjustment of price under any provision of this article shall be without prejudice to (1) the determination of any excessive profits of the Contractor under the Renegotiation Act; (2) to any order fixing the price of articles to be furnished or services to be rendered hereunder made under Section 801 of the Revenue Act of 1943; and (3) to any right of the Government to terminate this contract under any provision of this contract.[1]

(n) For the purposes of paragraph (d) of Article ---- hereof, (Termination at the Option of the Government), the following provision shall govern:

1. The prices payable for completed items under paragraph (d) (1) of that Article shall be (i) for all items delivered prior to the effective date of the last demand under this article, the contract prices in effect as of the date of delivery of such items, unless adjusted pursuant to paragraph (h) of this article, in which event such adjusted prices shall be payable; and (ii) for items delivered after the effective date of the last demand under this Article, (A) the prices agreed upon or determined for such completed items if such prices have been agreed upon or determined, or (B) if such prices have not been agreed upon or determined such estimated prices as the contracting officer deems reasonable under all the circumstances.

2. The "total contract price" shall be computed on the basis of the prices (as adjusted in accordance with this article) actually paid or payable for completed items delivered prior to the effective date of the last prior demand under this article and, for the remaining items covered by the contract, shall be based on (i) the prices determined by agreement or otherwise in accordance with this article for items delivered or to be delivered after the effective date of such last demand, if such prices have been agreed upon or determined, or (ii) such estimated prices for such items as the contracting officer deems reasonable under all the circumstances, if adjusted prices for such items have not been agreed upon or determined. The "contract price of work not terminated" shall also be computed on the basis of (i) and (ii) above.[2]

(b) Where contractor has had no prior experience in production of item. The changes set forth in this paragraph (b) will be made in the article found in paragraph (a) of this section, in those cases where it is desired to include that article in a contract with a contractor who has had no adequate experience in the type of production called for by the contract. The principles discussed in §§1.-1235a inclusive, will be applicable to the use of the article in these instances subject to the additional provisions set forth in § 81.1235a (d). The above mentioned changes in the article set out in paragraph (a) of this section are:

(1) Add to paragraph (a) of the article set out in paragraph (a) of this section:

The Government and the Contractor recognize that the costs of performing this contract cannot be accurately estimated at the time of its execution and that the contract price fixed may therefore be either too high or too low. They, therefore, agree that the contract price may be revised upward or downward in accordance with this article and to the extent thereby permitted upon demand of either party as herein provided.

(2) Substitute for the first sentence of paragraph (c) of the article set out in paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) Every demand under this article shall specify the date (which, except as provided in the next sentence of this paragraph (c) and in paragraph (h), shall not be earlier than the delivery of the demand) after which the adjusted prices shall be effective, which date is herein referred to as "the effective date of the demand". In the case of the first demand made pursuant to this article by either party, if made prior to the delivery of thirty percent of the (here specify principal items to be furnished under the contract) to be furnished under the contract, the effective date of the demand may be the day before the first delivery of items actually made under this contract.

(3) Add to paragraph (d) 1 (B) of the article set out in paragraph (a) of this section the following:

In the case of a first demand by either party pursuant to this article, which demand requests a revision of the price of items delivered under this contract prior to the delivery of such demand, the contractor shall also furnish statements showing, as far as is reasonably practicable, the experienced costs of performance under this contract from its inception to a date within 10 days of the delivery of the demand. Such costs shall be broken down in reasonable detail and itemized, so far as practicable, in the same manner as in the estimates of costs stated in the War Department Standard Procurement Form.

[Procurement Reg. 7]

PART 83—DISPOSITION OF SURPLUS AND UNSERVICEABLE PROPERTY

DISPOSITION OF PROPERTY

Sections 83.701 to 83.785 are rescinded and the following §§ 83.7–100 to 83.7–909 are substituted therefor:

General

§ 83.7–100 Rescission of instructions. This regulation and the regulations, manuals and other instructions to which it makes reference, include all outstanding instructions of the War Department on the subject of the disposition of personal property, title to which is in the Government, or to which the Government has the contractual right to acquire title. All other instructions are hereby rescinded. Instructions of the technical services are not affected hereby, but will be promptly conformed to this regulation.

§ 83.7–101 Subjects not covered. This regulation does not rescind or otherwise affect TM 38–220 or other publications concerning Stock Control for military property. It does not relate to the disposition of real property, which is governed by War Department Circular No. 8, 1944, and section II ASF Circular No. 28, 1944. It does not relate to the repair or reclamation of personal property, which is governed by War Department Circular No. 7, 1944. It does not relate to the disposition of the proceeds of sales of property, as to which see AR 35–780 and AR 35–6900. It does not relate to the redistribution or disposition of any property located outside of the continental limits of the United States. The policies and procedures governing the disposition of property which has been turned over to a salvage officer or salvage organization, are covered by AR 700–25 and TM 38–505.

§ 83.7–102 Definitions. The following terms, when used in this regulation, have the meanings indicated:

"Military property" consists of all supplies and equipment held for issue or issued, to or for troops, military posts within the United States, and theaters of operation; and includes tactical supplies and equipment, subsistence items and property required by tables of allowances, tables of basic allowances, and tables of equipment.

"Non-military property" is all property other than military property.

"Serviceable property" is property other than scrap or waste which is suitable for use in its existing condition.

"Non-repairable property" is unserviceable property which cannot in the best interests of the Government be mended or restored to serviceability, and scrap and waste; and includes, but is not limited to, any obsolete non-military items, and industrial materials, industrial equipment, components, and assemblies (whether partially or completely fabricated, processed or assembled and whether new, used or deteriorated), which have no reasonable use except as scrap.

"Excess property" in the case of military property, is any property in excess of the maximum stock level authorized for a particular organization, supply point or technical service; and, in the case of non-military property, is any property in excess of the immediate and definitely foreseeable needs of a particular industrial installation or other function, activity, project or industrial operation in connection with which the property was acquired.

"Surplus property" is property declared by competent authority to be, or deemed to be, in accordance with the provisions of this regulation, in excess of the immediate or definitely foreseeable needs of the entire War Department.

"Termination inventory" means all personal property (including a proper part of any common materials) properly allocable to a terminated war contract or subcontract of any tier, property excess to the requirements of a cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contractor, and any property in the possession of a fixed-price contractor or subcontractor which the War Department is obligated to take over as the result of a design modification or change order, except any machinery or equipment subject to a separate contract or contract article specifically governing the use or disposition thereof. "Termination inventory" includes contractor-owned property in the hands of a fixed-price contractor or subcontractor, Government owned property in the hands of a cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contractor or subcontractor and Government owned property furnished to any contractor.

"Negotiation" means any method of reaching an agreement on the terms of sale, except the formal sealed bid procedure contemplated by section 3709, R. S. with respect to purchases. (There is no statutory requirement for the formal sealed bid procedure in the case of sales of government property. See opinions of The Judge Advocate General, dated March 19, 1941, SPJGC 1941, and March 30, 1943, SPJGC 1943, 3449).

§ 83.7–103 Statement of War Department policy. The demands of the war production program require that the material resources of the nation be used with the utmost efficiency. This can only be accomplished if the accumulation of excess property is avoided and if idle property is put to productive use at the earliest possible moment. Accordingly, it is the policy of the War Department to prevent the acquisition or retention of excess property by the War Department. It is likewise the policy of the War Department to effect the prompt return of temporarily idle non-military property to productive use. In furtherance of the policy of effecting prompt clearance of the plants of contractors whose contracts have been terminated (see § 88.15–851) every effort will be made to effect prompt disposition of termination inventories. In this connection, attention is called to the letter of the Under Secretary of War set forth in § 88.15–350 (b) and to the statement of the Surplus War Property Administrator set forth in § 83.7–205. The guiding policy of the War Department is to employ all the material resources at its command in the manner which will most effectively facilitate the prosecution of the war. To this end property will be freely redistributed under the authority granted in section III of this regulation. In any event, excess property will be redistributed as promptly as possible. Accordingly, the chiefs of technical services will comply with existing provisions for the review of military property. All affected thereby will strictly observe the requirements of section II, Army Service Forces Circular No. 67, 1944. In addition, chiefs of technical services will maintain constant and active review of all non-military property on hand or in the process of manufacture, to determine the essentiality of such property for the prosecution of approved functions, activities, projects or industrial operations.

[1] Paragraph (m) may be suitably modified if exemption from renegotiation is granted at the time of any price adjustment.

[2] Paragraph (n) is to be included in the article whenever the contract contains the uniform termination article (§ 81.324).

§ 83.7–104 Designation of Redistribution and Salvage Officer. The chief of each technical service will designate a Redistribution and Salvage Officer in his office who will have responsibility for coordinating the activities of the technical service as to salvage activities; as to the determination of what items of non-military property are excess within the technical service; as to the determination of what items of military property should be processed for declaration by competent authority as surplus; and as to the acquisition and use by the technical service of military and non-military items available from other technical services. The Director, Readjustment Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, will be promptly notified of the appointment, or change in the appointment of such officer.

§ 83.7–105 Establishment of Disposal Boards. (a) The chiefs of the technical services will establish in their field installations, Disposal Boards for reviewing and taking appropriate action with respect to proposed transactions required to be reviewed by this regulation.

(b) Disposal Boards will consist of not less than three members. The members thereof may perform other functions, provided the prompt review of property disposal matters is not hindered and the personnel are qualified by training and experience to afford adequate review with respect to such matters.

(c) Records of the proceedings of Disposal Boards will be maintained by the offices or installations in which they are established. Cases submitted for review will be accompanied by information pertinent to the transaction, particularly as to the following: number of offers or bids solicited and reviewed, and the amounts thereof; condition of the property; status of the buyer with respect to the use to be made of the property, and any other information necessary to show that the market has been adequately tested and that the sale should be made at the price in the quantities stated.

§ 83.7–106 Disposal Board at chief of service level. Disposal Boards may be established in the offices of the chiefs of technical services to review and take appropriate action with respect to property transactions as to which review at that level is authorized by this regulation (see §§ 83.7–208 (b) and 83.7–409).

§ 83.7–107 Extraordinary cases. Proposed sales or scrapping determinations involving unusual problems or difficulties may be presented for the consideration and advice of the Director, Readjustment Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces.

§ 83.7–108 Reports. The monthly property redistribution reports required by ASF Circular No. 26, 1944, and letter dated 24 January 1944, from the Special Representative of the Under Secretary of War to the Commanding General, Army Air Forces, will continue to be submitted on the forms therein prescribed. Revised forms of reports are in preparation and will be prescribed by amendment to this regulation at an early date.

§ 83.7–109 Direct correspondence authorized. Direct correspondence is authorized among all levels of the technical services and representatives of other government agencies in respect of redistribution of available property under this regulation.

§ 83.7–110 Methods of sale. All sales of property under this regulation, including sales made by cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contractors pursuant to § 83.7–306, will be made by negotiation in a manner to assure such competition (by taking written bids, making oral inquiry, or otherwise) as is practicable in the circumstances, and consistent with economy, efficiency and the expeditious completion of the proposed sale. The negotiating officer will make every effort to effect the sale in such manner and for such further uses as will most effectively facilitate the prosecution of the war. Sales at ceiling or established market prices and sales under § 83.7–301, need not be delayed for the purpose of soliciting competitive bids.

§ 83.7–111 Compliance with OPA and WPB regulations. All sales or other transfers (except transfers within the Government) of property made under the authority of this regulation or otherwise shall conform to applicable orders and regulations of the War Production Board and the Office of Price Administration. Officers responsible for disposal of War Department property may rely upon a representation by the buyer to the effect that the purchase is being made in compliance with all War Production Board regulations affecting the buyer, unless they have knowledge or reason to believe that such representation is false. Such a representation should be incorporated in each written contract of sale. War Department representatives are not responsible, however, for compliance with such regulations in the case of sales by a contractor.

§ 83.7–112 Federal excise taxes on property sold. Where property which is subject to Federal excise tax is sold, provisions governing the collection of such taxes found in §§ 81.816 to 81.817 of Procurement Regulation No. 8 will be observed.

§ 83.7–113 Contract formalities including numbering and distribution. (a) All contracts for the sale of property made under the authority of §§ 83.7–300 to 83.7–315 of this regulation, all contracts for an amount in excess of $1,000 and all contracts for an amount in excess of $500 which are not to be performed within sixty days shall be evidenced by a written contract prepared in substantially the form set forth in § 81.1326, or in such other form as may be approved by the Director, Readjustment Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, or, in the case of sales by salvage officers, in the form authorized or required by applicable regulations. All other sales shall be evidenced on accounting forms now or hereafter prescribed by the chiefs of technical services concerned, subject to the approval of the Fiscal Director, Headquarters, Army Service Forces.

(b) The provisions of §§ 81.309 (a), (b), and (c) and 81. 318b (e) relating to the numbering of contracts are applicable to contracts for the sale of property except that in connection with such contracts a separate series of numbers will be used in which the letter "s" will be added immediately after the letters representing the technical service concerned.

(3) Contracts for the sale of property will be distributed in the same manner as other contracts (see §§ 81.315 to 81.318 of Procurement Regulation No. 3) except that (i) when a sale of War Department property is made under a contract or agreement the officer or agent of the War Department by whom funds are received as a result thereof will, in turning the funds over to a disbursing officer, accompany such remittance with a copy of the contract or agreement covering the terms of the sale; and (ii) the original signed number of each unnumbered contract of sale will be forwarded to the General Accounting Office instead of being sent to the disbursing officer, as in the case of unnumbered contracts of purchase.

(4) A copy of each contract of sale of military property, the original cost of which exceeded $2,000 will be distributed to the Chairmen of the Military Affairs Committees of the House and Senate within twenty-four hours after a contract has been made.

§ 83.7–114 Coordination with Property Officer. All transfers or sales of property under authority herein contained must be coordinated with the Property Officer involved for compliance with applicable property accountability regulations.

§ 83.7–115 Information as to sales of War Department property. It is the policy of the War Department to have the facts on all public sales of War Department property kept available at the point of sale for public inspection during normal business hours for any proper purpose. The facts on sales to war contractors will likewise be kept available for inspection by the interested parties; but it is not intended that there should be general publicity as to such sales.

(a) Furnishing information to periodicals. When sales are made on written invitations to bid, copies of invitations and information as to awards may be transmitted to periodicals for publicity purposes, or to persons who request invitations for the purpose of advising their clients. In any event, copies of written invitations to bid and information as to awards will be kept available at the point of sale for inspection by representatives of periodicals or other interested parties during normal business hours for any proper purpose.

§ 83.7–116 Sales to War Department personnel. Except as authorized by §§ 83.7–300 to 83.7–315 of this regulation, or by AR 30–2290, AR 700–25, TM 38–505, or other War Department publication, no sales of Government-owned property will be made to any official or employee of the War Department nor any officer, enlisted man, or civilian employee of the Army.

Disposition of Termination Inventories

§ 83.7–200 Scope of section. This section provides authority and procedures for the disposition of termination inventories.

(a) Circularization not required. The policy of the War Department is stated in § 83.7–103. The objectives of that policy can best be obtained by vigorous action of the contracting officer and his local aids in redistribution of termination inventories, prior to reporting such property to a Disposal Agency as surplus, with the fullest cooperation of the district organization and any industry organization involved (such as the Ordnance Industry Integrating Committees), and the assistance of the Redistribution Offices of the War Production Board. The greatest freedom of action is therefore accorded these local agencies of the War Department and circularization of termination inventories is not required.

§ 83.7–202 Disposition by contracting agency. The following methods of disposition will be employed to effect the redistribution of termination inventories prior to reporting the property as surplus in accordance with § 83.7–209.

(a) Any property which is used or damaged beyond economical repair or is of such a nature that it has no reasonable use except as scrap will be classified as nonrepairable and disposed of in accordance with the provisions of §§ 83.7–400 to 83.7–419 of this regulation. The Under Secretary of War has pointed out that "in many instances work in process must and should be sold as scrap for scrap prices." (See § 88.15–350(b)).

(b) Any serviceable Government-owned property may be used to meet authorized requirements for military supply or industrial purposes and any contractor-owned property may be acquired for such purposes in accordance with the provisions of the contract.

(c) The contractor may be permitted to retain any property at a price agreed upon in accordance with the provisions of §§ 83.7–206, 83.7–207, and 83.7–208.

(d) Any Government-owned property may be transferred to the Navy Department, the Civil Aeronautics Administration, or other governmental agency in accordance with the provisions of §§ 83.7–300 to 83.7–315 of this regulation.

(e) The sale of any property to any purchaser may be made or approved in accordance with the provisions of §§ 83.7–306, 83.7–207 and 83.7–208.

§ 83.7–203 Redistribution assistance at chief of service level. Although chiefs of technical services will assist the local agencies under their jurisdiction in the redistribution of termination inventories, it is intended that the local agencies be given the greatest possible freedom of disposition in accordance with § 83.7–202. Accordingly, local agencies responsible for property disposition will refer significant items included in termination inventories to the chiefs of their respective technical services promptly upon receipt of property lists from the contractor. Such reference will not, however, be permitted to delay local disposition, nor will it limit local disposition authorty, except as may be specifically directed by the chief of the technical service concerned. Chiefs of technical services will give prompt consideration to the utilization of such items for military supply or industrial purposes within their own service, and may informally bring selected items to the attention of other technical services which might be expected to have an interest therein.

§ 83.7–204 Redistribution assistance by War Production Board. In order that the availability of industrial property may be broadly published to manufacturers and other prospective users, significant items included in termination inventories submitted to War Department representatives (other than items for which special disposition arrangements have been made) will be listed with the Regional Offices of the War Production Board. The War Production Board will maintain in its Regional Offices an inventory file of items so reported and will advertise items of general use in the "Redistributor", a weekly bulletin published by its Regional Offices, which is distributed to a large list of manufacturers and dealers. The War Production Board will refer inquiries of prospective purchasers to the contractor or to a War Department representative, as requested. Listing of termination inventories with War Production Board imposes no additional restrictions upon the movement of the property that are not applicable to property not so listed and the reference of prospective buyers by War Production Board imposes no obligations to sell the property to such persons or to accord them any favored treatment whatever.

(a) Procedure for listing. The local authority responsible for disposition of termination inventory will transmit, or cause the contractor to transmit, to the Regional Office of the War Production Board for the region in which the property is located (see § 83.7–903 for the addresses of these offices and the territories within their jurisdiction) a listing of the significant items of raw materials, purchased parts and supplies including in termination inventory lists (Schedule C–1) as soon as practicable after the submission of such lists by the contractor. The listing so transmitted may be either in the form of (1) a copy of the complete list of raw materials, purchased parts and supplies (Schedule C–1, § 88.15–939 (a)) submitted by the contractor, or (2) a transcript of all items (i. e., any quantity of like products, materials, etc.—usually indicated by a single entry in the termination inventory list) for which the cost or estimated cost is $1,000 or more. In either case, the listing transmitted to the War Production Board should contain the following information:

General information:
- Name of contractor
- Location of property
- Name and address of person with whom negotiations for purchase can be conducted.

Specific information for each item:
- Adequate description in commercial terms
- Quantity available
- Cost per unit (as indicated by contractor)
- Condition, if other than new and excellent.

This information will generally be contained in the termination lists submitted by the contractor. Each listing transmitted to the War Production Board should be dated and assigned an identifying number by the transmitting contractor or establishment.

Although not required, significant items of jigs, tools, dies and fixtures (Schedule C–3, § 88.15–939 (c)) that have general use, may be listed with War Production Board under the procedure stated above. Items of work-in-process (Schedule C–2, § 88.15–939 (b)) will not be so listed.

(b) Advice of disposal. For each item that it regards as significant, War Production Board will prepare an inventory slip (WPB Form 2306) and return a copy to the contractor or War Department representative who transmitted the listing. When items for which an inventory slip has been returned by the War Production Board are disposed of or otherwise withdrawn from availability, the inventory slip will be promptly sent to the Regional Office of the War Production Board with appropriate notation in accordance with the instructions printed thereon. If a part only of the item has been disposed of, that fact will be noted on the inventory slip and the War Production Board will return a new inventory slip for the remainder. When the items remaining undisposed of are reported to a Disposal Agency as surplus (see § 83.7–702) the remaining inventory slips will be returned to the Regional Office of the War Production Board under cover of a memorandum stating the name and address of the Regional Office of the Disposal Agency to which reported, and the date and serial number of the report.

§ 83.7–205 Pricing policies. The following statement of general policy applicable to the sale of termination inventories has been issued by the Surplus War Property Administrator:

> There is one matter of great urgency • • • with respect to which an immediate declaration of policy is believed to be required. This concerned the disposal by or under the authority of a contracting agency of the government, of property becoming available as the result of the termination of a war contract by that agency.
> Such termination inventories are becoming available for sale in considerable quantities at the present time. The opportunity to dispose of much of this property is certainly more favorable now than it will be later, and the public interest will be served if it can be sold now and directly from the plant of the contractor where it is located.
> I understand that these termination inventories are not now being sold as rapidly or in as large quantities as is desirable, and that this stems in large part from a feeling on the part of contracting and termination officers in the field that they lack a definable policy for making such sales and that they may be criticised for the exercise of boldness and initiative in turning over the property, which results in unwillingness to authorise sales except at prices so high as to be often unobtainable.
> Being satisfied that the Government and the public should give the fullest measure of support and encouragement to the disposal of termination inventories at this time, so that they will not both occupy valuable storage space and complicate the future surplus problem at a time when the supply will be greater and the demand smaller, I have issued a statement of policy which I enclose. It is designed to give the strongest impetus to prompt sales of termination inventories to or by contractors consistent with intelligent protection of the public interest. It presupposes a reasonable effort to ascertain and obtain going market values, but makes it clear that where the circumstances preclude this, as they very often will, contracting officers are not subject to criticism for selling, subject to the reasonable requirements set forth in the policy statement, at the best prices reasonably obtainable, even though this may sometimes require going far below cost or nominal market.

The regulations pertaining to sales of termination inventories other than scrap prescribed by the Surplus War Property Administrator are set forth in § 83.7–206. The pricing and review regulations set forth in §§ 83.7–206, 83.7–207 and 83.7–208 apply to the approval of retention of property by the contractor, as well as to sales.

§ 83.7–206 Specific price regulations—(a) Sale of termination inventories where total amount in settlement is less than $10,000. Sales of any property included in termination inventories, in any case where the entire amount involved in the contract settlement before disposal credits is less than $10,000, will be made or approved at the best price obtainable in the judgment of the officer approving the sale, or, in the case of subcontracts as to which the power of approving the termination settlement has been delegated to a contractor of a higher tier, in the judgment of such contractor.

(b) Sales of nominal quantities. Sales of any items or groups of items may be made or approved at the best price obtainable when the estimated cost of all substantially similar items so sold at any one location at any one time does not exceed $1,000.

(c) Other sales of termination inventories—(1) Crude or simple raw materials. Sales of crude or simple raw materials (such as raw cotton, pig iron, electrolytic copper or sulphur) which are freely traded in, and for which there is a recognizable market price, will not be made or approved at less than the going market price, as nearly as it can be determined by reasonable effort within a reasonable time, taking in account packing, handling, and transportation costs. A list of such materials is being prepared by the Surplus War Property Administration and will be published in this regulation when available.

(2) Other property. Sales of property other than crude or simple raw materials, may be made or approved to any buyer at the best price obtainable in excess of 75 percent of (i) cost, estimated if not known or (ii) the price which the buyer would have to pay for an equivalent quantity from a normal source of supply, whichever is lower.

(3) Sales or property, other than crude or simple raw materials, which cannot be disposed of within a reasonable time on the terms stated in subparagraph (2) above, may be made or approved at the best price obtainable to any buyer who will use or consume the property in the United States for manufacturing, construction, maintenance or repair purposes, and who will agree that if he does not use or consume it, he will not resell it at a profit. Written contracts of sale made under the authority of this subparagraph will contain such an agreement.

§ 83.7–207 General pricing regulations. To the extent authorized by the foregoing regulations of the Surplus War Property Administrator, termination inventories will be disposed of at fair and reasonable prices within the ceiling prices established by the Office of Price Administration and consistent with the expeditious disposal of property. In determining whether a price is fair and reasonable, the officer making or approving the sale should consider all pertinent factors, including such of the following as he deems relevant in the particular case:

(a) Physical condition of the property.

(b) Obsolescence.

(c) Freight necessary to be absorbed by purchaser to permit resale or use of the property, over amount which would be paid in normal commercial purchase.

(d) Value of the property for a converted use.

(e) Distributing commissions, handling charges, or profit allowances necessary to effect disposition through dealers or distributors.

(f) In case of sales to original suppliers, allowances to cover profit and cost of handling and resale.

(g) Cost of storage and amount of depreciation or deterioration if property is not sold.

(h) Market prices and price trends.

(i) Volume of similar property offered at the time.

(j) Effect of purchases from the Government upon prices which buyer must pay to other suppliers for the balance of his requirements.

(k) Value of post-sale services or guarantees offered by commercial suppliers and not obtainable from the Government.

(l) Inventory hazards and carrying charges of the purchaser.

In determining whether to make or approve a sale, consideration will be given to the present value, resale value, and probable demand for the property in all the circumstances, rather than to cost. Officers making or approving sales must be realistic about values and should recognise that disposal prices will, in many instances, bear little if any relationship to cost to the Government.

Officers making and approving sales and Disposal Boards will be supported by higher authority in the exercise of their honest judgment.

§ 83.7–208 Review and approval of sales. Sales made or approved under this section will be subject to prior review and approval by a Disposal Board established in accordance with § 83.7–106 of this regulation, in all cases where:

(a) The cost (estimated if not known) of the property to be disposed of in the sale exceeds $100,000 and it is proposed to sell such property below such cost or estimated cost, less freight and handling charges.

(b) The cost (estimated if not known) of the property to be disposed of in the sale exceeds $10,000 and it is proposed to sell at more than 25% below such cost, or estimated cost, less freight and handling charges.

For the purposes of determining whether or not a sale shall be submitted for the review and approval of a Disposal Board, sales of a single item and simultaneously negotiated sales of different items to a single buyer or of the same item to several buyers shall be considered as a single sale.

(a) Sales and transfers which need not be reviewed. The review and approval required by § 83.7–208 applies only to sales of serviceable property. The following transfers and sales may be made or approved without review:

(1) Sales made at specific prices established by, or with the approval of the Surplus War Property Administrator;

(2) Sales to a cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contractor for the account of the Government;

(3) Sales of termination inventories to a Government agency;

(4) Transfers between War Department components or to the Navy Department, the Civil Aeronautics Administration or other Government agency, whether or not the transfer of funds is required.

(5) Transfers of surplus property to a Disposal Agency for purposes of disposal;

(6) Sales of nonrepairable property or salvage under applicable War Department regulations.

(b) Review at chief of service level. Chiefs of technical services may require or permit review by Disposal Boards established in their offices pursuant to § 83.7–106 where the cost (estimated, if not known) of the property to be disposed of exceeds $500,000 and it is proposed to sell at more than 25% below such cost.

§ 83.7–209 Disposition of surplus. Any termination inventory transferred to the Government or for which the Government assumes storage responsibility pursuant to §§ 80.15–950 to 80.15–968 of Procurement Regulation 15, which has not been disposed of under § 83.7–202 at the time of such transfer or assumption of storage responsibility will be deemed surplus, and, with the exception of stock pile items, will be promptly disposed of in accordance with §§ 83.7–700 to 83.7–710 of this regulation.

§ 83.7–210 Action to be taken on stock pile items—(a) Report of stock pile items. When any of the items listed in § 83.7–909 are included in termination inventories in quantities equal to or in excess of the "minimum quantities" therein indicated and are not disposed of prior to transfer to the Government or assumption of storage responsibility by the Government, they will be reported to the chief of service having jurisdiction over the termination proceedings, for disposition instructions.

(b) Action by chief of service. Upon receipt of a report of stockpile items, the chief of a technical service will promptly determine what items should be retained for stockpile, will make the necessary arrangements for the storage thereof, and will issue disposition instructions to the office originating the report, all in accordance with instructions of the Commanding General, Army Service Forces (Production Division), or the Commanding General, Army Air Forces, as to property of Army Air Forces. The chief of a technical service will also notify the office originating the report as to what items are not desired for stockpile; and upon receipt of such notification such items will be promptly disposed of in accordance with §§ 83.7–700 to 83.7–710.

(c) Action to be expedited. It is imperative that action under (a) and (b) of this section be expedited in all echelons in order that double handling of stockpile items may be avoided.

Disposition of Property for Purposes Directly Related to the Prosecution of the War

§ 83.7–300 Scope of section. This section relates to the disposition of property for the purpose of enabling it to be used directly in the prosecution of the war. Such disposition may be made of both military and non-military property, without regard to its serviceability or state of supply. The authority herein granted may be exercised without first obtaining from the Chief of Staff a certificate under the Act of June 28, 1940, Title I, section 14–a (54 Stat. 681, 10 U.S.C. 1262a). The authority to dispose of property under this section is subject to the provisions of §§ 83.7–700 to 83.7–710 which limit the disposition of property after reporting to a disposal agency as surplus.

§ 83.7–301 Sale to war contractors. The chiefs of the technical services are authorised, when it is determined by them that such action will facilitate the prosecution of the war, to make contracts by negotiation for the sale of, and to sell to manufacturers and suppliers having war contracts, including employees and suppliers of war contractors, and to employees of the Government engaged in war production, any machine tool equipment, processing equipment, uniforms, safety clothing and equipment, plant protective clothing and other special articles necessary to persons employed in or otherwise connected with war industries or establishments, manufacturing aids, raw materials, manufactured materials or other materials or facilities presently owned or hereafter acquired by the Government. Such sales shall, however, be made only for the purpose of facilitating the performance of such war contracts or war production. All such contracts will recite that they are entered into pursuant to the First War Powers Act and Executive Order No. 9001.

(a) Pricing policies. Any sale made under § 83.7–301 shall be made in compliance with the provisions of §§ 83.7–206 and 83.7–207.

(b) Review of sale. Any sale made under § 83.7–301 shall be made in compliance with the provisions of § 83.7–208.

§ 83.7–302 Sales to Red Cross and U. S. O. The chiefs of the technical services are authorized to make contracts by negotiation and to sell to the Red Cross and the United Service Organization any military, subsistence, or other supplies or property which the chief of the technical service finds is needed by such institution in connection with its activities with the Army: Provided, That no such sale of military property will be made without the prior approval of the Commanding General, Army Service Forces (Stock Control Division), or in the case of the Army Air Forces property, the Commanding General, Army Air Forces, or his delegate or delegates. All such contracts will recite that they are entered into pursuant to the First War Powers Act and Executive Order No. 9001.

§ 83.7–303 Other sales. Sales for purposes directly related to the prosecution of the war, other than those authorized by §§ 83.7–301 and 83.7–302, may be made by the chiefs of the technical services Provided, That the approval of the Director, Readjustment Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, is first obtained.

(a) To include in supply contracts the Government-Owned Facilities article prescribed in § 81.332, subject to the regulations set forth as notes to § 81.332 and to other applicable paragraphs of these procurement regulations (see Procurement Regulation 10 (§§ 81.1001 to 81.1020) for approvals of higher authority which must be obtained in certain cases);

(b) To enter into separate lease agreements (i. e., agreements not made part of supply contracts), as authorized by Procurement Regulation 10 (§§ 81.1001 to 81.1020).

§ 83.7–305 Leases under other statutes. Authority for the execution of lease agreements may be found in certain statutes other than those mentioned in § 83.7–304. See AR 850–30 for the terms of those statutes.

§ 83.7–306 Disposition by contractors. The chiefs of the technical services are authorized, when it is determined by them that insertion of such provision will facilitate the prosecution of the war or is necessary to carry out the purposes specified in section 1 of the Act of July 2, 1940 (Public Law 703, 76th Congress, 54 Stat. 712), to insert in cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contracts and subcontracts heretofore or hereafter executed, the clause set forth in § 81.363, and any property may be disposed of by contractors pursuant to such clause.

§ 83.7–307 Transfer to other Federal agencies. Any property not declared or deemed surplus, may upon the requisition of another Federal agency made pursuant to section 7 (a) of the Act of May 21, 1920 (41 Stat. 613) as amended by section 601 of the Act of June 30, 1932 (47 Stat. 417) and by the Act of June 20, 1942, (Public Law 670, 77th Congress, 56 Stat. 661, 31 U.S.C. 686), be transferred to such agency in accordance with said section: Provided, That military property will be transferred only with the approval or pursuant to regulations of the Commanding General, Army Service Forces (Stock Control Division), or, in the case of the Army Air Forces, the Commanding General, Army Air Forces, or his delegate or delegates.

Air Forces, or his delegate or delegates. Regulations prescribed by the Commanding General, Army Service Forces, governing the transfer of military property of Army Service Forces between War Department components are set forth in ASF AG Letter SPX 300.8 (13 November 1943) OB-P-SPDDP-MB-A, 18 November 1943, Subject: Policy Governing Transfer of Military Property between Technical Services.

§ 83.7–309 Transfers to and from Navy. Upon request from the Navy, any property may be transferred to the Navy with the approval of the chief of the technical service concerned and any property requested by the chief of the technical service concerned may be accepted from the Navy. § 83.7–310 Transfers to Civil Aeronautics Administration. Any property may, by direction of the chief of the technical service having control thereof, be loaned or transferred to the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics upon written request from him stating that the property will be used in carrying out the purposes of the Civilian Pilot Training Act of 1939 as amended (49 U.S.C. sec. 756). Such transfers will be made only with the approval or pursuant to regulations of the Commanding General, Army Service Forces (Stock Control Division), as to military property of Army Service Forces, and the Commanding General, Army Air Forces, or his delegate or delegates, as to military property of the Army Air Forces.

Transfers of property permitted under §§ 83.7–308 and 83.7–309 will be effected with reimbursement of, or transfer or allotment of funds to, the transferor by the transferee,

(a) Where property is transferred to any War Department agency for use in connection with civil functions administered by the War Department, or,

(b) In any case where the property is procured by the transferor for the transferee:

(1) By assignment of sole purchase responsibility;

(2) Under procurement pooling arrangements;

(3) Under any arrangement for procurement by the transferor expressly upon the prior requisition of the transferee.

§ 83.7–312 Transfers without reimbursement. Transfers of property permitted under §§ 83.7–308 and 83.7–309 under circumstances other than those specified under § 83.7–311, and transfers of property permitted under § 83.7–310, will be effected without any reimbursement of, or transfer or allotment of funds to, the transferor by the transferee, for either the cost of the property or of packing, handling, or transportation.

§ 83.7–313 Procedure for transfers without reimbursement. Officers authorized to transfer or direct the transfer of property without reimbursement under § 83.7–312 will prepare written orders, listing in detail the property to be transferred, copies of which will be furnished to the Accountable Property Officer and the receiving officers. Such orders will contain a request that the authority directing the transfer be advised of any discrepancies between the order and the property shipped or received. A copy of such orders will be used as a valid debit or credit voucher to property accounts. It will not be necessary to list for fiscal or property accounting purposes dollar values of property transferred without reimbursement.

§ 83.7–314 Gifts and loans of drawings and other property. (a) The chiefs of the technical services are authorized, without further approval, to give or lend drawings, manufacturing and other information and samples of supplies and equipment to be manufactured or furnished, to contractors and private firms which are or may likely be manufacturers or furnishers of supplies and equipment for the use of the War Department under approved production plans.

(b) Whenever they determine that such action will facilitate the prosecution of the war, the chiefs to technical services are authorized to give or lend, by appropriate written agreement reciting such determination, to organizations engaged in experimental research, testing, or developing, such items and any other material, supplies or equipments for use in connection therewith: Provided, That if in the case of a gift the estimated value of the property in question exceeds $1,000, or, in the case of a loan, $50,000, the approval of the Director, Readjustment Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, will first be obtained.

(c) The Commanding General, Army Air Forces, whenever he determines that such action will facilitate the prosecution of the war, may authorize the transfer, loan, bailment or lease, by appropriate written agreement reciting such determination, of aircraft, aircraft engines, or aircraft equipment or material, without limitation as to the value thereof, to Army Air Forces contractors for the purpose of experimental research, testing or development, training of contractor's personnel, or urgent transportation requirements of such contractors in connection with the performance of their war contracts.

Any other exchanges will be submitted for the approval of the Director, Readjustment Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces.

Disposition of Non-Repairable Property

§ 83.7–400 Scope of section. This section provides the authority and procedures for disposing of non-repairable property. It is of special importance in connection with the disposition of termination inventories as it covers the disposal of property classified as scrap. The memorandum of the Under Secretary of War set forth in § 83.15–350 (b) and the provisions of § 83.15–385 state the policy of the War Department with respect to the scrapping of termination inventory.

§ 83.7–401 Non-military property other than current production scrap. (a) Government-owned non-military property other than current production scrap may be classified as non-repairable by the submission of a list of the property involved to an authorized officer and the execution thereon by such officer of the following certificate:

It is my opinion that the property listed hereon is (include (1) or (2), whichever is appropriate)

(1) Used or damaged beyond economic repair

(2) Obsolete or so specialized in design or otherwise of such a nature that it has no reasonable use except as scrap and is therefor properly classified as non-repairable, non-military property in accordance with the provisions of Procurement Regulation No. 7 (§§ 83.7–700 to 83.7–710) and that its condition is not due to fault or neglect.

Where the property is new but nevertheless properly classified as non-repairable, as will be the case with many obsolete items and items of work in process, the phrase following the last comma may be omitted.

The certifying officer will inspect the property or require the submission of such statement of fact and report of inspection as he deems necessary as a basis for the execution of the certificate.

(b) A copy of such list with the certificate will be furnished to the accountable property officer, and will operate as a credit voucher discharging accountability.

(c) Property so certified, except property in the possession of a contractor which is to be disposed of under § 83.7–403, will be turned over to a salvage officer with a copy of the list and certificate.

(d) Non-repairable property in the possession of a cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contractor may be either (1) sold to or by the contractor in accordance with the provisions of § 83.7–403 below, or (2) turned over to a salvage officer for disposal. In either case the certificate prescribed in sub-paragraph (1) above will not be required. In such cases, the credit voucher to the property account will consist of a copy of the list of property turned over to a salvage officer or approved by the contracting officer for sale by the contractor, supported by the contracting officer's written advice to the accountable property officer as prescribed in paragraph 1004 (a) of the War Department Industrial Property Accounting Manual, or, if there is no question as to the responsibility of the contractor for the condition of the property, supported by written order of the contracting officer directing transfer to the salvage officer or approving the sale by the contractor.

§ 83.7–402 Current production scrap. Current production scrap, which is industrial scrap resulting from the fabricating or processing of raw materials such as chips, cuttings, borings, and short ends of ferrous and non-ferrous metals, clippings and cuttings from wool and cotton fabric, residues from chemicals and plastics, rubber and treated fabric offal, glass, paper and lumber offal, damaged and unsuitable packing materials and containers), other than that disposed of by a cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contractor under contract provisions, will be turned over to a salvage officer, without the certification required under § 83.7–401.

§ 83.7–403 Sale of non-repairable property by or to contractors. Any non-military property in the possession of a cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contractor, which has been classified as non-repairable pursuant to § 83.7–401 above, and any contractor-owned property included in termination inventory as to which a determination to scrap has been made, may be sold by the contracting officer to the contractor, or retained or sold by the contractor with the approval of the contracting officer.

§ 83.7–404 Military property, and non-military property not certified under § 83.7–401. Military property, and non-military property which cannot be certified under § 83.7–401, may be classified as non-repairable and turned over to a salvage officer in accordance with the provisions of AR 35–6640, and War Department Circular No. 7, 1944.

§ 83.7–405 Designation of salvage officer. Chiefs of technical services may designate the salvage officer to receive and dispose of non-repairable non-military property.

§ 83.7–406 Disposition by salvage officers. All property turned over to a salvage officer in accordance with this section will be disposed of in accordance with AR 700–25, TM–38–505, and any other applicable regulations.

§ 83.7–407 Special procedure. Non-repairable property included in termination inventory may be disposed of by contracting officers under regulations prescribed by the chief of the technical service concerned, in lieu of being turned over to a salvage officer, provided the approval of the Director, Readjustment Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, is first obtained.

§ 83.7–408 Review and approval of scrapping. Government-owned non-military property (other than that worn out through fair wear and tear) will not be certified as non-repairable property under § 83.7–401 of this regulation, nor will a determination to scrap contractor-owned property included in termination inventory be made, without the prior review and approval of a local Disposal Board if the cost (estimated if not known) of the property covered by the certificate or determination exceeds $50,000. Property will not be subdivided for the purpose of avoiding this limitation.

§ 83.7–409 Review at chief of service level. Disposal Boards established in the office of a chief of a technical service pursuant to § 83.7–106 may review certification of Government-owned non-repairable property under § 83.7–401, or determination to scrap contractor-owned property included in termination inventory, where the cost of the property involved (estimated if not known) exceeds $500,000.

§ 83.7–410 Pricing policies on sales of non-repairable property included in termination inventory. The following pricing policies prescribed by the Surplus War Property Administrator will apply to (1) the retention or sale by the contractor of non-repairable property included in termination inventory, and (2) the sale by contracting officers of such property when approval for such procedure has been obtained under § 83.7–407.

(a) Where total amount in settlement is less than $10,000. Sales of any non-repairable property included in termination inventories, in any case where the entire amount involved in the contract settlement before disposal credits is less than $10,000, will be made or approved at the best price obtainable in the judgment of the officer approving the sale, or in the case of subcontracts as to which the power of approving the termination settlement has been delegated to a contractor of a higher tier, in the judgment of such contractor.

(b) Large termination inventories. Sales of non-repairable property included in termination inventories where the entire amount involved in the contract settlement before disposal credits is $10,000 or more will be made in accordance with the following policies:

(1) The officer making or approving the sale or his representative shall determine, as nearly as may be possible by reasonable effort within a reasonable time, the going price of the type of scrap in question by reference to published trade indicators or inquiry among Government agencies, dealers, or other informed sources, taking into account transportation cost and sundry other charges.

(2) If it is possible to realize this price without competitive bidding the contracting officer may approve the sale.

(3) If it is not possible to obtain this price the contracting officer will arrange for sale of the property after competitive bids, reserving the right to reject all bids if in his judgment an adequate price is not offered.

(4) All sales of scrap, whatever method of sale is adopted, shall be subject to the following warranty:

The purchaser represents and warrants to the United States that the property covered by this agreement was offered as scrap, purchased by him as scrap, and that he will sell or ship or use it as scrap either in its existing condition or after further preparation and only in conformity with all applicable regulations and orders of the Office of Price Administration and the War Production Board.

In the case of a contractor sales, the phrase "to the United States" shall be omitted.

Disposition of Serviceable Military Property

§ 83.7–500 Scope of section. This section provides authority and procedures in addition to those in §§ 83.7–300 to 83.7–315 and 83.7–400 to 83.7–410 for the disposition of military property. In this connection, attention is called to the policy of the War Department requiring prompt disposition of excess property as stated in § 83.7–103.

§ 83.7–501 Declaration of surplus. The chiefs of the technical services are authorized to declare serviceable military property surplus with the approval of, or subject to regulations prescribed by, the Commanding General, Army Service Forces (Requirements Division), or the Commanding General, Army Air Forces, or his delegate or delegates, as to property of the Army Air Forces, and to dispose of such property in the manner provided in this section V notwithstanding the provisions of section 14a, Chapter 440, of Title 1 of the Act of June 28, 1940 (54 Stat. 681, 10 U. S. C. 1262a). The regulations prescribed by the Commanding General, Army Service Forces, governing the declaration of military property as surplus are set forth in ASF Circulars Nos. 67 (section I) and 101 (section II), 1944.

§ 83.7–502 Mutilation and disposition of certain military property that is unsuitable for civilian use. Because of their peculiarly military characteristics, certain items such as lethal weapons, ammunition, certain aeronautical equipment, classified articles (see AR 380–5), and distinctive articles of the uniform, cannot be released for civilian use when they are declared surplus, but must be mutilated and scrapped, disarmed, stripped of their military characteristics, altered and declassified, or otherwise made suitable for non-military use before they are disposed of. When such items are declared surplus, the authority declaring them surplus will give specific directions for the mutilation, alteration, disarming, stripping, cannibalization or other action to be accomplished before disposal; and will give further specific directions as follows:

(a) If, in his judgment, the items, or the residue thereof, will have no reasonable use except as scrap after such mutilation, etc., he will direct that the items, or the residue thereof, be turned over to the local salvage officer for disposal as scrap in accordance with applicable salvage regulations. (See AR 35–6520, Par. 5b. (5), for accounting procedure.)

(b) If, in his judgment, the items or any part thereof will have value for civilian use after such mutilation, etc., he will direct that they be disposed of as surplus after the accomplishment of such mutilation, etc.

§ 83.7–503 Disposition of surplus. Military property declared surplus and not directed to be disposed of as scrap will be disposed of in accordance with §§ 83.7–700 to 83.7–710. (See AR 35–6520, Par. 5b. (4) for accounting procedure.)

Disposition of Serviceable Non-Military Property Other Than Termination Inventory

§ 83.7–600 Scope of section. This section provides authority and procedures for disposing of non-military property other than termination inventories, in addition to those set forth in §§ 83.7–300 to 83.7–315 and §§ 83.7–400 to 83.7–411. In this connection attention is called to the policy of the War Department set forth in § 83.7–103 requiring constant and active review of non-military property on hand and in the process of manufacture and prompt disposition of excess property.

§ 83.7–601 Circularization. When it has been determined that items of non-military property are not required for an immediately or definitely foreseeable need at the point of use, action will be immediately taken to redistribute such items within the technical service concerned or to return the property to a direct war use in accordance with §§ 83.7–300 to 83.7–315. When such items cannot be so redistributed promptly to fill known requirements or requirements that can be ascertained by informal inquiry (which should be localized and expedited to the greatest extent practicable), the circularization procedures established in §§ 83.7–600 to 83.7–605 will be promptly instituted and vigorously pursued. It is intended that circularization will be effected contemporaneously within the technical service of origin and among other technical services, to the fullest extent practicable. The chiefs of the technical services will designate the offices within their respective services which will originate circularization lists and the intervals of time at which circularization lists will be originated. In no event will any item of production or utility equipment (see paragraph (b)) be withheld from circularization for a period in excess of 60 days after it becomes idle, unless (1) it is comprised in a complete industrial installation that has been reported as excess under War Department Circular No. 8, 1944, (see paragraph (e) of this section) or that has been authorized to be held as standby, or (2) it has been placed on a schedule of items authorized to be held as War Reserve, or (3) the Director, Readjustment Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, has been advised that the equipment is being withheld from circularization for a stated future use, or for other stated reasons.

(a) Circularization lists. Circularization lists will be divided into Part 1, Part 2, Part 3, Part 4, and Part X. Property listed under the respective subdivisions will be referred to as "part 1 property", "part 2 property", and so forth.

(1) Part 1 will include all items of production equipment and utility equipment.

(i) Production equipment includes the following:

Machine tools.
Metal working machinery.
Cleaning and spraying equipment.
Compressors and vacuum pumps.
Industrial pumps.
Industrial conveying machinery.
Engines and turbines, general purpose.
Heat exchangers.
Optical machinery.
Industrial cranes and hoists.
Thermal driers and dehydraters.
Fans, blowers and exhausters, industrial types.
Pressure and vacuum filters.
Pressure vessels (other than boilers).
Electric motors, integral horsepower, and electric motor controls.
Power conversion equipment.
Foundry equipment.
Heat treating equipment.
Welding and cutting equipment, industrial types.
Crushing, pulverizing, screening and mixing equipment and machinery, industrial types.
Special industry machinery (specialized machinery for food products, pulp and paper, printing trades, rubber working, petroleum, ceramics, glass, shoemaking, textile, tanning, pharmaceutical, chemical and other special industries).

(ii) Utility equipment includes major items of equipment used in the generating, processing, transmission or distribution of electricity, gas and water, and in the disposal of sewage.

(2) Part 2 will include all construction equipment of a standard type not so restricted in design as to render it unsuitable for nonmilitary use of a recurring nature. Such construction equipment includes, but is not limited to, drilling and boring equipment, earth and rock, including core drills, rock drills, churn drills, earth borers and horizontal augers; power cranes and shovels, drag lines, buckets, stiff-leg derricks, and dredges; scrapers, maintainers, and graders; tractors, track-laying and wheel types; tractor-mounted construction equipment including angledozers, bulldozers, and power control units; winches and hoists, contractors elevating, road brooms, concrete buggies and carts, bins, centerline marking equipment, road discs, ditchers, aggregate dryers, joint and crack filling machinery, road forms, form tamping machines, mud jacks, portable snow loaders, tamping rollers, scarifiers, concrete towers, contractors' crawler wagons, and similar equipment; construction material mixers, spreaders, pavers, surfacers, finishers, tampers, vibrators, and related construction machinery; construction material processing equipment, including asphalt plants and portable crushers.

(3) Part 3 will include all items not included in Parts 1, 2, or 4, which, in the judgment of the technical service concerned, have a reasonably foreseeable use for industrial or military purposes or for civilian supply and which cannot practicably and expeditiously be redistributed without wide circularization.

(4) Part 4 will include controlled materials in the forms and shapes and in the minimum quantities set forth in § 83.7–901. Part 4 will be subdivided into: Part 4A, consisting of steel; Part 4B, consisting of copper and copper base alloy; and Part 4C, consisting of aluminum. Circularization lists of Part 4 property will be prepared substantially in the form set forth in § 83.7–901 (a), (b) and (c).

(5) Part X will include all items not included in Parts 1, 2, 3, and 4.

(b) Description and coding. (1) Circularization lists will be on 8 x 10½ paper and will contain the following information:

(i) Name of issuing office together with the station identification number and appropriate letter symbol of the technical service concerned.

(ii) Serial number of list. Each issuing office will serially number each list circularized beginning with the number 1.

(iii) Date of circularization, which will be the date of transmittal required under paragraph (c) of this section.

(iv) Serial number of items or lots. Items or lots will be serially numbered under each part of each list.

(v) Description of items or lots. Descriptions will comprise such information as would be required by the controlling technical service if it were procuring the property, including, when pertinent, name of manufacturer, manufacturer's catalog number if available, identification numbers, location, age, condition, quantity and cost per unit if available.

(vi) Specific instructions by which an interested agency may be guided in negotiating sale or transfer of property reported. Names, mail and telephone addresses of officers authorized to carry on negotiations, may be either included in each list circularized or published in bulletin form by the technical service concerned to all recipients of the lists.

(2) For the purpose of convenient abbreviation in communications regarding property circularized, items may be identified by code, which will include in sequence, the station identification number and the letter symbol of the issuing office, serial number of list, part of list, serial number of item. For example a particular heat exchanger listed as the second item of Part 1 of the third list circularized by an office of Ordnance Department, having station identification number "12345" would be identified as "12345–Ord–3–1–2."

(c) Transmittal of lists. Circularization will be accomplished by transmitting copies of Circularization Lists as follows:

(1) Parts 1 and 3 to the offices listed in § 83.7–902.

(2) Part 2 to the Redistribution and Salvage Officer, Office of the Chief of Engineers (3 copies) and to Readjustment Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces (3 copies).

(3) Part 4 to Readjustment Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, (3 copies) and to the Regional Office of War Production Board for the Region in which the property is located. The addresses of such Regional Offices and the territories within their jurisdiction are set forth in § 83.7–903.

(4) Part X to Readjustment Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, to procurements offices of other technical services at such levels and within such geographical areas as the technical service concerned deems desirable, and to the Regional Office of War Production Board for the region in which the property is located.

(5) Transmittal of Circularization Lists to War Production Board is required for the sole purpose of advertising the availability of excess property to military agencies, war contractors and others to whom disposition is permitted under §§ 83.7–300 to 83.7–315 of this regulation. Such transmittal does not impose any restrictions upon the movement of the property included therein that are not otherwise imposed by applicable regulations of War Production Board, nor does it impose any obligation to sell or transfer to any prospective purchaser or transferee referred by the War Production Board to the War Department representative responsible for disposal or to accord them any favored treatment whatever.

(d) Certain items as to which circularization may be limited or eliminated. The following types of non-military property (in addition to termination inventories) may be omitted from general circularization lists:

(1) Items that are peculiar to a technical service and which, in the judgment of the chief of the technical service concerned, have no value to other technical services or their contractors. Such items, when determined, by means of limited circularization or otherwise, to be excess to the technical service concerned, will be deemed surplus without further action and disposed of in accordance with §§ 83.7–700 to 83.7–710.

(2) Single items or groups of items, where the cost, estimated if not known, of all substantially similar items in excess at any one time and at any one place does not exceed $100. Such items will be deemed surplus without further action and disposed of in accordance with § 83.7–701.

(e) Certain equipment not to be circularized without prior approval. Part 1 property comprised in a complete industrial installation reported as excess under War Department Circular No. 8, 1944, will not be circularized under §§ 83.7–600 to 83.7–605 unless such circularization has been approved or directed by the Director, Readjustment Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces.

(f) Certain equipment that may be turned over to another technical service for redistribution. Production equipment may be turned over to Ordnance Department, and utility equipment and construction equipment may be turned over to the Corps of Engineers, when such equipment is determined, by means of limited circularization or otherwise, to be excess to the technical service concerned. The Chief of Ordnance and the Chief of Engineers, respectively, will accept physical delivery, accountability and responsibility for utilization, storage as necessary, redistribution and disposal of equipment so turned over. If general circularization under § 83.7–601 has been initiated by the technical service of origin prior to turning over the property, the action required by §§ 83.7–600 to 83.7–605 will be completed by the Chief of Ordnance or the Chief of Engineers, as the case may be. If general circularization under § 83.7–601 has not been initiated by the technical service of origin prior to turning over the property, the action required by §§ 83.7–600 to 83.7–605 will be promptly initiated by the Chief of Ordnance as to items turned over to Ordnance Department for which requirements cannot be promptly ascertained, and by the Chief of Engineers as to items turned over to the Corps of Engineers for which requirements cannot be promptly ascertained. The procedure for turning over such equipment to Ordnance Department is set forth in section VIII, ASF Circular No. 4, 1944, and to the Corps of Engineers in section III, ASF Circular No. 26, 1944.

(g) Circularization period. The period of 60 days after transmittal of Circularization Lists is established as the circularization period for Part 1 property, and the period of 30 days after the transmittal of Circularization Lists is established as the circularization period for Parts 2, 3 and 4, and X property.

§ 83.7–602 Disposition during circularization period. Before the termination of the circularization period, the technical service concerned will determine what property included in Circularization Lists should be retained for present or definitely foreseeable needs within such service for military or industrial purposes, or for authorized stockpile or War Reserve, and will withdraw such property from availability. Property which is not so withdrawn may be disposed of during the circularization period in accordance with the provisions of §§ 83.7–300 to 83.7–315 of this regulation. The Chief of Engineers is specifically charged with acquiring items of Part 2 property not withdrawn under the first sentence of this paragraph which are suitable for troop use or tactical operations.

§ 83.7–603 Disposition after circularization period. Upon the termination of the circularization period industrial property which has not been withdrawn or disposed of under § 83.7–602 will be deemed surplus, without further action, and disposed of in accordance with §§ 83.7–700 to 83.7–710.

§ 83.7–604 Deviation from regulations in exceptional cases. When adherence to the regulations prescribed in these §§ 83.7–600 to 83.7–605 would impede the expeditious return of unneeded industrial property to use in the war effort, the Director, Readjustment Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, is authorized to permit deviation therefrom with respect to the disposition of classes or particular items of industrial property. Applications under this paragraph will include the following:

(a) A description of the class of items, or in the case of particular items, a reference to the list in which the items have been listed, or a description of the items in accordance with paragraph (b) (1) (v) if they have not been listed.

(b) A statement of the circumstances indicating the desirability of deviation from the procedures established in §§ 83.7–600 to 83.7–605.

§ 83.7–605 Non-military property peculiar to Army Air Forces. Sections 83.7–600 to 83.7–605 does not apply to non-military property peculiar to aircraft production to the extent that any of the provisions hereof may be inconsistent with procedures established for the redistribution of such property by or under the direction of the Aircraft Resources Control Office of the Aircraft Production Board or the Surplus War Property Administration.

Disposal of Surplus Property

§ 83.7–700 General. Under its Regulation No. 1, effective 15 May 1944, the Surplus War Property Administration has assigned responsibility for disposal of surplus property among Disposal Agencies as indicated in § 83.7–904 and has established procedures for reporting surplus property to these Disposal Agencies. When property has been determined to be surplus under the procedures established under §§ 83.7–200 to 83.7–210, §§ 83.7–500 to 83.7–503 and §§ 83.7–600 to 83.7–605 of this regulation, action will be promptly taken to dispose of nominal quantities of property in accordance with § 83.7–701 and to report the remaining surplus property to the appropriate Disposal Agencies in accordance with § 83.7–702.

Sales of such property by the local salvage officer will be made in accordance with regulations applicable to the sale of salvage, except that all documents relating to such sales will be clearly marked to indicate sale of surplus property. Sales of such property by the contracting officer will be made in accordance with regulations prescribed by the chief of the technical service concerned.

Immediately upon the withdrawal of property under this paragraph, a withdrawal report will be transmitted to the Disposal Agency to which the property was originally reported as surplus. § 83.7-904 Assignment of property to Disposal Agencies. Assignment of property to Disposal Agencies is set forth in this paragraph as published in Exhibit I to Regulation No. 1 of the Surplus War Property Administration under the following prefatory notes:

The assignments herein contained are based on the classifications contained in the Standard Commodity Classification (Government Printing Office, May 1943 and February 1944). That Classification contains a number of so-called major groups, which are designated by two digits only (such as 01—Live Animals; 65—Drugs and Medicines). These major groups in turn are broken down into classes of property represented by the two digits of the major group plus additional digits (such as 65 48—Marine Liver oil, etc.). All of the major groups now being assigned are listed in this Exhibit, but only such of the lesser groups are listed as are necessary to carve out of a major group assigned to one agency types of property included therein which are assigned to another. For a complete breakdown of each major group, reference must be made to the Standard Commodity Classification itself.

It should further be noted that for reporting purposes, while reference to this Exhibit is necessary to ascertain the proper disposal agency, one report may include all property in a major group (two digits) at one location which is assigned to a single disposal agency.

PART 81—PROCUREMENT OF MILITARY SUPPLIES AND ANIMALS

LABOR, WAGE AND SALARY STABILIZATION

In § 81.979 paragraphs (b) (2), (m), (n), (o) and (r) are amended as follows:

§ 81.979 Jurisdiction and procedure of Regional War Labor Boards. • • •

(b) Procedure in dispute cases not including wages or salaries. • • •

(2) Upon receipt of the certification, the case will be considered by a New Case Committee of the regional war labor board, composed of the chairman or vice-chairman, one industry, and one labor member, and the disputes director. The New Case Committee, in determining what action to take, will consult with the regional representative of the conciliation service. If the committee does not consider the case ready for a hearing, it may refer the case back to the parties for further negotiation or to the regional representative of the Conciliation Service for further information or further investigation or conciliation. If the case is deemed ready for a hearing, the committee will designate a tripartite panel to hear the case. The labor representative on the panel shall be of the same affiliation (AFL or CIO) as the union involved. If an independent union is involved, the labor representative on the panel shall be associated with another independent union. If the parties agree to have the case heard by a single person, the regional war labor board will designate one of the public panel members or some other suitable person to hear the case. Wherever the term "panel" is hereafter used, it will be deemed to include a single hearing officer in the cases just mentioned.

(m) Directive orders in dispute cases. (1) Regional War Labor Boards are authorized to issue directive orders in dispute cases in conformity with the policy of the National War Labor Board. Each such directive order shall bear the date of its actual issue and shall be issued to the parties when made. The issuance of any provision of a directive order, however, which relates to a wage or salary adjustment, may be stayed if two or more public members of the Regional Board dissent from the provision and request that its issuance be stayed. In such event a copy of the directive order and the request for the stay, together with a statement of the reasons for such request, shall be immediately transmitted to the National War Labor Board. The provisions so sought to be stayed shall not be issued to the parties until the expiration of ten days after receipt in Washington of the request for the stay, unless (i) the issuance of such provision is earlier approved by the National War Labor Board or (ii) within such ten day period the National War Labor Board sets the case down for review. In the latter event, the Executive Assistant to the National War Labor Board shall communicate the Board's action to the Regional Board, and the stay shall continue in effect until the case is finally disposed of.

(2) If after the issuance of a directive order no timely petition for review is filed, (as provided in paragraph (n) of this section) and if the National War Labor Board within such a period does not review the order on its own motion, the order shall on the day following the last day for filing such a petition stand confirmed as the order of the National War Labor Board and shall immediately be effective according to its terms: Provided, That the National War Labor Board may at any time prior to the expiration of the time for the filing a petition for review make such an order, or any part thereof, immediately effective pending any further proceedings. If a timely petition for review of a directive order of a Regional Board is filed by a party, or if the National War Labor Board reviews such an order on its own motion, the entire order shall be suspended, unless and until the National War Labor Board directs, or has directed, otherwise, or unless the parties otherwise agree. However, the date of expiration of the escape period fixed in a directive order of a Regional Board granting a maintenance of membership provision shall not be affected by the filing of a petition for review of this or any other provision of the order. If only a part of the order is sought to be reviewed, any party may petition the National War Labor Board to make the rest of the order immediately effective according to its terms. The parties may in any case mutually agree upon the date when the order, or any part thereof, shall take effect, except that where a wage or salary adjustment is made subject to the approval of the Economic Stabilization Director, the parties may not by their agreement make such adjustment effective prior to the date of such approval.

(3) Copies of all directive orders and of any accompanying opinions (together with such other material as the Wage Stabilization Division may require) shall, when issued, be filed with the National War Labor Board.

(n) Petitions for review. Within fourteen days after a regional board mails to a party a directive order in a dispute case, or a ruling denying or modifying an application for approval of a voluntary wage or salary adjustment, such party may mail to the Regional Board an original and four copies of a petition, including supporting documents, seeking review by the National War Labor Board of such ruling or directive order. The petition shall (1) state the petitioner's reasons for believing that one or more of the criteria set forth below is satisfied, (2) set forth fully and in detail the contentions of the petitioner with respect to the merits of each issue raised by the petition, with specific references to any pertinent portions of the record in the case, and (3) state that a copy of the petition has been served upon the other parties to the case and the date of such service. No such petition seeking review by the National War Labor Board of a ruling or directive order of a Regional Board shall be granted unless the petitioner has demonstrated by substantial proof that (1) the ruling or order exceeds the National War Labor Board's justification, or (2) the ruling or order contravenes the established policies of the National War Labor Board, or (3) a novel question is involved of such importance as to warrant national action, or (4) the procedure resulting in the ruling or order was unfair to the petitioner and has caused substantial hardship. The party filing a petition shall at the same time serve a copy thereof, together with any supporting documents, upon each of the other parties to the proceeding.

(o) The answer. Within fourteen days after a copy of such a petition for review is mailed by the petitioning party to any other party to the case, such other party may mail an answer to the petition to the Regional Board which issued the directive order or ruling. An original and five copies of the answer shall be transmitted to the Regional Board and a copy shall at the same time be served upon each of the other parties to the case. Such an answer shall include a statement that a copy thereof has been served as required above, and shall show the date of such service. An answer may not contain a request for review of an order or any part thereof; such a request must be filed, if at all, in the form of a petition for review in the manner and within the time limit provided in paragraph (n) of this section. Each answer should state fully but concisely the respondent's reasons for believing (1) that the petition ought not to be entertained, and (2) that, if the National War Labor Board decides to entertain the petition, the petition should be denied on the merits.

(r) Reconsideration of Directive orders and rulings. (1) Regional War Labor Boards may reconsider directive orders or rulings on their own motion or on petition, except, while the case is under consideration by the National Board following the granting of a petition for review, or the taking of review by the National Board on its own motion.

(2) The party petitioning for reconsideration shall serve a copy of the petition on all other parties at the same time that it is filed with the Regional Board. The filing of such petition does not preclude the filing of a petition for review, but shall not extend the time for filing a petition for review nor change the date when the directive order takes effect.

(3) The Regional Board shall not act on any petition for reconsideration of a directive order or ruling unless (i) the petition is mailed to the Regional Board within fourteen days after the mailing by the Regional Board of the order or ruling in question and sets forth with particularity the grounds upon which the petition is based, or, (ii) the petition is filed promptly upon the petitioner's discovering material and substantial evidence which the petitioner was unable, despite due diligence, to discover in time to present to the Regional Board before it issued its order or ruling, and sets forth with particularity such evidence, or (iii) the petition is filed promptly upon the occurrence of events after the date of the order or ruling which make the order or ruling harsh or unfair, and set forth with particularity such events. If a petition for reconsideration is filed under subdivision (ii) or (iii) of this subparagraph, and the Regional Board deems that the evidence submitted warrants reconsideration of the directive order or ruling, it shall provide the parties a hearing on such new matters.

(4) Regional Boards may adopt rules further restricting reconsideration. Refusal of reconsideration by a Regional Board shall have no bearing on the validity of a petition for review.

(5) If the ruling or directive order issued by the Regional Board is modified by the Regional Board in response to a petition for reconsideration or upon its own motion, the Regional Board shall issue to the parties such ruling or order, as modified, in the same manner and with the same effect as is provided in paragraphs (i) and (m) of this section. The order or ruling as modified shall be subject to review in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (n), except that the period prescribed therein for filing a petition for review or answer thereto shall be seven instead of fourteen days.

In § 81.980d, paragraph (d) (18) is added as follows:

§ 81.980d General Order No. 4. * * *

(d) * * *

(18) All employees engaged in the automotive repair industry in the Tenth Region of the National War Labor Board, embracing the states of California, Nevada and Arizona, other than gasoline stations, tire and vulcanizing services.

[Procurement Reg. 12]

PART 81—PROCUREMENT OF MILITARY SUPPLIES AND ANIMALS

RENEGOTIATION AND PRICE ADJUSTMENT

Section 81.1235a is added as follows:

§ 81.1235a Article for optional periodic adjustment of price—(a) Purpose of article. The purpose of the article (see § 81.360a) is much the same as in the case of the article for negotiated price revision set out in § 81.360 (a), except that no fixed periods for negotiated price revision are included in the article set out in § 81.360a, and negotiations for price revision takes place under the article only when one party or the other requests such negotiations.

(b) Nature of article. Under this article (see § 81.360a) the original price is set out in the contract. At any time after the expiration of 90 days from the date of the contract or from the effective date of a previous demand by either party, and not later than 90 days before the anticipated completion of the contractor's deliveries of items covered by the contract, the price on subsequent deliveries of items may be revised by negotiation. The article is intended to make it unnecessary for either the contractor or the contracting officer to request a price revision unless one or the other is of the opinion that substantial changes in conditions have taken place making negotiations desirable. Like the article set out in § 81.360 (a), the article set out in § 81.360a assumes that the original price can be fairly fixed for a reasonable period but that future conditions cannot be adequately predicted. However, by including the changes in and additions to the article set out in § 81.360a (a), the article may be adapted to use in cases where the original price cannot be fairly fixed for a reasonable period, because of lack of experience in the particular production called for by the contract or for other reasons.

(c) Use and operation of the article. In using this article (see § 81.360a) the following principles will be observed:

(1) The contracting officer should satisfy himself that the contractor can and will supply reliable data on which to negotiate any requested price revisions. This involves, among other things, assurance that the contractor's cost accounting methods are reasonably satisfactory and accurate and adapted to developing the type of data appropriate to the use of the article.

(2) In appropriate cases the required interval of 90 days between demands for price revision may be increased or decreased, if the chief of the technical service is of the opinion that a period other than 90 days is appropriate in the case.

(3) In return for the use of this article, the contractor will be required (i) to make cost estimates on a basis sufficiently low to give incentive to the contractor to perform the contract economically and efficiently, (ii) to eliminate from his original price substantially all allowance for contingencies and (iii) to keep estimated allowances for profit at a moderate level which reflects the reduced risks incurred by the contractor when this article is used.

(4) Negotiations to revise the price will be carried on promptly after each demand for such revision, allowing only sufficient time to obtain adequate information from the contractor and other sources to permit a proper negotiation. If necessary, the contracting officer may examine the books and records of the contractor. He will conduct negotiations on much the same principles as in the case of the original negotiations and will give full weight to the principles discussed in § 81.1224 (b) (5) and in ASF Manual M-601. In the event of delay in reaching an agreement as to a revised price that will be determined promptly by order as provided in paragraph (i) of the article.

(5) In negotiating a price revision under the article the contracting officer ordinarily should not agree to revise any price upward by more than the excess of (i) any increases in costs beyond the contractor's control, over (ii) any offsetting unanticipated reductions in the contractor's costs. However, this rule should not be applied to deprive a contractor of a reasonable reward, in the form of an increased estimated allowance for profit, for especially efficient and economical production.

(6) In negotiating a price revision the contracting officer and the contractor should recognize that wage increases and increases in the prices of materials will not necessarily immediately increase the costs of items to be delivered by the contractor. For example, some of the labor on work in process at the time of a wage increase may have been performed while lower rates of wages were in effect. Similarly, a contractor may have an inventory on hand or materials on order at prices on a basis which does not reflect current increases in the price of such materials.

(7) Any agreed revised price will be set forth promptly in a supplemental agreement as provided in the article.

(8) Except as provided in paragraph (h), the contract article does not obligate the Government to increase the price on the basis of actual costs or of any other formula or to do more than to negotiate in good faith to revise the price.

(d) Where the contractor has had no adequate experience in the production of the items called for by the contract. The article set forth in § 81.360a may be modified by the changes and additions set out in paragraph (b) of § 81.360a to make it appropriate for use in contracts where the contractor has had no adequate prior experience in the production of the item called for by the contract. The article set out in § 81.360a as modified by the changes and additions set out in paragraph (b) of § 81.360a permits the revision of the whole price for all deliveries, both past and future, on demand of either party at any time prior to the delivery of 30% of the principal items to be furnished under the contract. Such a revision does not prevent a later revision of the price for deliveries after the effective date of the demand for such later revision, if such a later revision shall in fact be requested by either party.

The article (§ 81.360a) as so modified (see § 81.360a (b)) will be used only in those cases where the developmental or experimental nature of the item, the lack of previous production experience with the item on the part of the contractor or other causes, prevent the making of reliable estimates of cost when the contract is executed and make it desirable to provide in the contract for later revision of the initial price, to be applicable to deliveries during the early stages of the contract, in the light of actual production experience.

New sections, designated §§ 81.1270 to 81.1283, are inserted as follows:

Mandatory Pricing and Repricing of Articles and Services

§ 81.1270 Statutory basis for mandatory pricing and repricing. Section 801 of Title VIII of the Revenue Act of 1943 ("Repricing of War Contracts") provides as follows:

(a) As used in this section the terms "Department," "Secretary," and "article" shall have the same meanings as in subsection (a) of the Renegotiation Act. [See Revenue Act of 1943, sec. 701; see § 81.1201.]

(b) When the Secretary of a Department deems that the price of any article or service of any kind, which is required by his Department or directly or indirectly required, furnished, or offered in connection with, or as a part of, the performance or procurement of any contract with his Department or of any subcontract thereunder, is unreasonable or unfair, the Secretary may require the person furnishing or offering to furnish such article or service to negotiate to fix a fair and reasonable price therefor. If such person refuses to agree to a price for such article or service which the Secretary considers fair and reasonable, the Secretary by order may fix the price payable to such person for furnishing such article or service after the effective date of the order, whether under existing agreements or otherwise. The order may prescribe the period during which the price so fixed shall be effective and such other terms and conditions as the Secretary deems appropriate.

(c) Any person aggrieved by an order fixing a price under this section may sue the United States in any appropriate court. In such suit, such person shall be entitled to recover from the United States the amount of any difference between (1) fair and just compensation for the articles and services furnished under the terms of the order and (2) the price fixed for such articles and services by the order; but if the prices so fixed by the order are found to exceed fair and just compensation for such articles and services, such person shall be liable to the United States in such suit for the amount of this excess. Any such suit shall be brought within six months after the order by the Secretary on which it is based, or after the expiration of the period or periods specified in such order, whichever last occurs. Such a suit shall not stay the order involved.

(d) Whenever any person wilfully refuses or wilfully fails to furnish any such articles or services at the price fixed by an order of the Secretary in accordance with this section, the President shall have power to take immediate possession of the plant or plants of such person and to operate them in accordance with Section 9 of the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940 as amended.

(e) The authority and discretion herein conferred upon the Secretary of each Department may be delegated in whole or in part by him to such individuals or agencies as he may designate in his Department, or in any other Department with the consent of the Secretary of that Department, and he may authorize such individuals or agencies to make further delegations of such authority and discretion.

(f) Every purchase order or agreement, or contract to make or furnish any article or service of any kind, which is required by a Department or directly or indirectly required, furnished, or offered in connection with, or as a part of, the performance or procurement of any contract with such Department or of any subcontract thereunder, shall, if made thirty days or more after the date of the enactment of this Act, be deemed to contain a provision under which the person making or furnishing such article or service agrees that notwithstanding other provisions of the purchase order, agreement, or contract, he shall be entitled to receive for such article or service only the fair and just compensation provided for in subsection (c)

§ 81.1271 Delegations of authority. The Secretary of War has assigned and delegated all of the powers, functions, duties and discretion conferred upon him by section 801 to the Under Secretary of War.

4. Any person acting at any time as Director, Purchases Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, may exercise all the powers, functions, duties and discretion hereby delegated, and act as my Special Representative.

ROBERT P. PATTERSON,
Under Secretary of War.

(b) Authority delegated by these Procurement Regulations. Subject to any restrictions provided by these Procurement Regulations (see paragraph (c) of this section) or by manuals, rules or regulations issued pursuant to paragraph 3 of the memorandum for the Commanding General, Army Service Forces, dated 17 May 1944 (see paragraph (a) (1) of this section) upon the exercise of the authority delegated in this paragraph, there are hereby delegated to each of the chiefs of the technical services the powers, functions, duties, and discretion heretofore delegated by paragraph 2 of the memorandum set forth in paragraph (a) of this section from the Under Secretary of War to the Commanding General, Army Service

Forces and to his Special Representative. The powers, functions, duties and discretion herein delegated may be exercised by the chiefs of the technical services through such officers, civilian employees or agencies under their supervision as may be designated in writing by them, or by any person authorized by them to make such designation, with such powers of delegation or redelegation as they deem appropriate.

(c) Limitation upon redelegation of authority. All redelegations of the authority delegated by paragraph (b) of this section made by the chiefs of the technical services will be subject to the prior written approval of the Director, Purchases Division, or whomsoever he may designate, except,

(1) Redelegations to persons in the headquarters offices of the Army Air Forces,

(2) Redelegations to persons in the headquarters offices of the major commands within the Army Air Forces, and

(3) Redelegations to persons in the headquarters offices of the chiefs of the technical services of the Army Service Forces.

§ 81.1272 Definition. When used in §§ 81.1270 to 81.1290 of this Procurement Regulation:

(a) The term "section 801" means Title VIII, section 801 of the Revenue Act of 1943.

(b) The term "article" means "article and service" or "article or service" as may be appropriate.

(c) The term "deems that a price is unfair or unreasonable" means is of the opinion of tentative judgment, in the light of available and pertinent information, that the price is unfair or unreasonable.

(d) The term "subcontract" means any contract, purchase order or other agreement to make or furnish any article or to perform any service required for the performance, directly or indirectly, for, or in connection with, the performance of any contract with the War Department.

(e) The term "Director, Purchases Division" means the Director, Purchases Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, acting as such or, in respect of Army Air Force matters, as the Special Representative of the Under Secretary of War, or any person whom he may have authorized to act for him.

(f) The term "chief of a technical service" has the meaning set out in §§ 81.107 (i), 81.108 (d) and (e), except that delegations of the authority conferred by section 801 shall be subject to the limitations and restrictions stated in §§ 81.1271 (b) and (c) and shall include any person to whom he has delegated, with the approval provided for in § 81.1271 (c), the authority delegated to him under section 801; and the term "technical service" shall be deemed to include the plural as well as the singular when consistent with the context.

§ 81.1273 Scope of statute. (a) Section 801 authorizes the Secretary of War, in any case in which he deems the price of any article or service which is directly or indirectly required by the War Department to be unreasonable or unfair (1) to require the person furnishing or offering to furnish such article or service to negotiate to fix a fair and reasonable price therefor and (2), in the event such person refuses to agree to a price which the Secretary of War considers fair and reasonable, to fix by order the price payable to such person for furnishing such article or service after the effective date of the order.

(b) Section 801 authorizes such action with respect to prices of specific articles (which are defined by the statute as "any material, part, assembly, machinery, equipment, or other personal property") and services (which include among others, engineering and other services furnished by a licensor in connection with a patent license) rather than with respect to total contract values or profits which may be realized under the contract. The authority conferred is exercisable with respect to the prices of such articles or services (1) generally; or (2) under the terms or circumstances of a particular contract, subcontract or procurement; or (3) of a particular type of quality or in a particular quantity; or (4) under other particular circumstances.

(c) The authority conferred by the section may be exercised to obtain fair and reasonable prices for any article of service required by the War Department, either directly from a prime contractor or indirectly from a subcontractor of any tier; and whether being furnished under a prime contract or subcontract entered into either before or after the enactment of the section (25 February 1944) or being offered in connection with or as a part of the performance or procurement of any such prime contract or subcontract. There is no need to include in contracts or subcontracts heretofore or hereafter executed any special contract article making reference to section 801. Exercise of the authority conferred by the section is not dependent upon the presence of any such contract article. As an additional support to action under the section, however, subsection (f) thereof provides that contracts and subcontracts made after 25 March 1944 shall be deemed to contain a provision under which the person making or furnishing such article or service agrees that, notwithstanding other provisions of the purchase order, agreement, or contract, he shall be entitled to receive for such article or service only the fair and just compensation provided for in subsection (c).

(d) The authority conferred by the section may be exercised with respect to articles or services being furnished under or in connection with fixed price prime contracts or subcontracts or cost-plus-a-fixed-fee prime contracts or subcontracts.

(e) An exercise of any authority conferred by the section with respect to any article or service does not preclude a later and further exercise of such authority in respect of the same article of service.

(f) The statutory requirement that a person so furnishing or offering to furnish such article or service negotiate to fix a fair and reasonable price therefor upon notice from the Secretary of War so to do also requires, by necessary implication, that such person furnish such data and information within his possession as may be pertinent to the determination of such fair and reasonable price. The obligation of the contractor in this respect also may be enforced in appropriate situations by action under Title XIII of the Second War Powers Act (see § 81.1260).

(g) Any order of the Secretary of War fixing a fair and reasonable price for any article or service may prescribe the period during which the price so fixed shall be effective and, in addition, may prescribe such other terms and conditions in connection therewith as the Secretary of War deems appropriate. The price fixed by any such order is effective only with respect to such articles or services (1) as are furnished after the effective date of the order and (2) as to which the order is stated to be applicable.

(h) The authority and discretion conferred by the Section upon the Secretary of War may be delegated in whole or in part to such individuals or agencies in the War Department or, with the consent of the Secretary of that Department, in any other Department, and he may authorize such individuals or agencies to make further delegation of such authority and discretion. The Secretary of War has delegated such authority and discretion as provided in § 81.1271.

§ 81.1274 General application of the statute. (a) Section 801 gives support to the War Department's established policy of obtaining fair and reasonable prices from its contractors and permits the extension of that policy to subcontractors of any tier. The enactment of section 801 will in no way modify the War Department's policy of endeavoring to obtain fair and reasonable prices through voluntary negotiation based upon all available and pertinent information and conducted in accordance with any applicable principles set forth in these Procurement regulations and Army Service Forces Manual M-601. The authority conferred by the Section will be invoked only after every reasonable effort to obtain fair and reasonable prices by voluntary negotiation has been exhausted. In cases where voluntary negotiation is unavailing, however, the authority conferred by the section will be exercised without delay.

(b) The authority of the section when invoked will be exercised in such manner as to promote, rather than impair, existing and prospective cooperative and mutually beneficial relations between the War Department and its contractors and subcontractors. To this end, contract prices which were fair and reasonable at the time they were negotiated will not be made the subject of renegotiation or repricing pursuant to section 801 so long as the conditions which indicate such price then to be fair and reasonable remain substantially unchanged. Further, all reasonable efforts consistent with accomplishment of the objectives of the section will be made to minimize the occasions upon which any contractor or subcontractor will be required, pursuant to the provisions of the section, to negotiate with respect to the price of any article or service being directly or indirectly furnished by him to any of the technical services of the War Department and the other Departments of the Government. In order to establish reasonable control in this respect all proposed Requirements to Negotiate under the section for the time being will be required to be cleared with the Director, Purchases Division, before service.

(c) Accomplishment of the objectives of the section do not require a review of all existing contracts and subcontracts to ascertain the fairness and reasonableness of the prices included therein. Such a review would not be feasible with the available manpower nor is it necessary in many instances. However, such prices will be reviewed whenever it is believed that they may no longer be fair and reasonable on the basis of indications from:

(1) Further information as to comparative or individual prices or costs, or prices or cost trends;

(2) The results of statutory renegotiation of the contractor or subcontractor;

(3) A review of prices as result of voluntary repricing of a contract;

(4) Information received as to subcontractors' prices upon negotiation of prime contracts; and

(5) Other appropriate occasions.

It is the responsibility of the individual technical services to maintain and improve general procedures for reviewing and analyzing prices to the extent necessary to carry out the War Department's pricing policy.

(d) Since the price which the section authorizes the Secretary of War to fix by order is one which he considers to be fair and reasonable under the circumstances of the procurement, or the terms and conditions of the order, no such order will be issued in any case in which there is insufficient information available or obtainable to permit of the fixing of a price which reasonably can be justified as being a fair and reasonable price at the time fixed.

(e) The fair and reasonable price which will be incorporated in any section 801 order which may be issued will be one arrived at through proper application of appropriate pricing principles (see e. g. Army Service Forces Manual M-601) and one deemed to be fair, both to the contractor and the Government, under all the terms and circumstances of the particular procurement. In general it should be a price which a buyer, ready and willing to buy, but under no compulsion to buy, would pay by voluntary agreement to a seller ready and willing to sell, but under no compulsion to sell. It should give appropriate consideration to any risks to be assumed by the Government and the contractor, respectively, in the particular case. It should be high enough to constitute reasonable compensation under all the circumstances for the benefits to be received by the Government, Provided, The contractor performs the contract with prudence and in accordance with good production practice. It should be low enough to give the contractor reasonable incentive to efficient and economical performance.

§ 81.1275 Voluntary negotiation with respect to prices deemed to be unfair or unreasonable. Whenever a technical service deems that the price of any article or service under an existing prime contract with the technical service is unfair or unreasonable to the Government, the contractor will be asked voluntarily to negotiate for a fair and reasonable price therefor; and whenever a technical service deems that the price of any article or service being furnished by a subcontractor for use in the performance of a prime contract with such technical service, or a subcontract thereunder, is unfair or unreasonable, the technical service will urge and assist the prime contractor or subcontractor voluntarily to negotiate with such subcontractor an appropriate reduction in such price.

§ 81.1276 Mandatorily requiring negotiation—(a) By prime contractors. (1) Whenever a technical service deems that the price of any article or service under an existing prime contract with the technical service is unfair or unreasonable to the Government and the contractor refuses to enter into, or promptly to continue to conclusion, voluntary negotiation of a fair and reasonable price therefor, the technical service will prepare a Requirement to Negotiate Fair and Reasonable Prices substantially in the form set forth in § 81.1282, and will transmit to the Director, Purchases Division, a copy thereof together with a memorandum of the chief of the technical service setting forth in reasonable detail (i) the reasons why the existing price is deemed to be unfair or unreasonable for future deliveries; (ii) the extent of the efforts made voluntarily to negotiate a fair and reasonable price therefor; (iii) so far as the technical service has information in this respect, a statement as to the extent to which the contractor is furnishing the article or service or other articles or services to other technical services and other Departments of the Government; (iv) why it is believed, if such is the case, that negotiation should be conducted solely with respect to the article and service sought to be repriced by the technical service rather than with respect to all the articles or services being furnished by the contractor to the War Department. No such Requirement to Negotiate will be served upon the contractor until the Director, Purchases Division, shall have approved such service.

(2) In the event it is determined, after consultation with other technical services and, in appropriate cases, other Departments, that the negotiation should be conducted also with respect to articles or services being furnished by the contractor to other technical services or Departments, the Director, Purchases Division, will so advise the technical service transmitting the Requirement to Negotiate. He also will advise whether representatives of such other technical services or Departments will participate in the negotiation or whether the technical service alone will conduct the negotiation. In such latter event, the Director, Purchases Division, will obtain and transmit to the technical service such delegation of authority as may be necessary or appropriate to permit it to act for such other Departments.

(3) Service of the Requirement to Negotiate, when approved by the Director, Purchases Division will be made in the manner provided in § 81.1281.

(4) Negotiations with the contractor pursuant to any such Requirement to Negotiate will be conducted in accordance with any applicable principles set forth in these Procurement Regulations, in Army Service Forces Manual M 601 and any instructions of the Director, Purchases Division, as to the particular case. The contractor will be given reasonable opportunity to furnish such data and information in his possession as may be pertinent to the fixing of a fair and reasonable price as defined in § 81.1274 (e).

(b) By subcontractors. (1) Whenever a technical service deems that the price of any article or service being furnished by a subcontractor for use in the performance of a prime contract with such technical service, or a subcontract thereunder, is unfair or unreasonable and the subcontractor refuses to enter into, or promptly to continue to conclusion, voluntary negotiation of a fair and reasonable price, the technical service will prepare a Requirement to Negotiate Fair and Reasonable Prices, substantially in the form set forth in § 81.1282, and will transmit to the Director, Purchases Division, a copy thereof. This will be accompanied by a memorandum of the chief of the technical service setting forth the information mentioned in § 81.1276 (a), unless the technical service, before entering into, or during the course of, voluntary negotiation with the subcontractor concludes that other articles and services which the subcontractor is furnishing directly or indirectly to the War Department should also be repriced, in which event the chief of the technical service setting forth the information men-belief and will list the other technical services or Departments of the Government which he believes may be interested in such repricing. No such Requirement to Negotiate will be served upon the subcontractor until the Director, Purchases Division, shall have approved such service.

(2) Service of the Requirement to Negotiate, when approved by the Director, Purchases Division, will be made as provided in § 81.1281 and negotiation for a fair and reasonable price will be conducted in accordance with § 81.1276 (a) (4).

(3) In the event it is determined, after consultation with other technical services and, in appropriate cases, other Departments, that the negotiation should be conducted with respect to articles or services being furnished to other technical services or Departments, the Director, Purchases Division, will advise the technical service to this effect and to the extent other technical services and Departments will participate in such negotiation. In the event it is determined that the repricing should be on an overall basis, the Director, Purchases Division, may assign the subcontractor to any of the technical services for such over-all repricing and will advise such technical service of the scope and conduct of the negotiation.

(c) In connection with placement of prime contracts and subcontracts. Persons with whom a technical service seeks to place a prime contract for any article or service who refuse to negotiate or agree to a price therefor which the technical service deems to be fair and reasonable normally will not be served with Requirement to Negotiate a fair and reasonable price, nor will the price of the article or service normally be fixed by a section 801 order. In such cases resort usually will be had to a mandatory order under section 9 of the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940 (see § 81.1450), even where the contractor refuses to accept a contract solely because of disagreement as to price. However, if a prime contractor or subcontractor (1) should desire and be willing to agree to all the other desired terms of the procurement, and (2) be further willing to agree in writing that the price shall be fixed by a section 801 order and (3) that the price so fixed shall be applicable to all deliveries under the contract, the chief of the technical service may execute or approve the execution of such an agreement. In that event the technical service promptly will prepare an appropriate order fixing fair and reasonable prices, substantially in the form set forth in § 81.1283 and will trahsmit a copy thereof together with a memorandum of the chief of the technical service setting forth the information provided for in § 81.1278 (a) and, in addition, a statement as to why such procedure was believed desirable. Service of such order, when authorized by the Director, Purchases Division, will be made as provided in § 81.1281.

§ 81.1277 Agreements resulting from voluntary or mandatory negotiation. If negotiation conducted voluntarily or pursuant to any such Requirement to Negotiate with any prime contractor or subcontractor results in agreement as to a reduced price which the technical service participating in the negotiation (and, in the case of negotiations with a subcontractor, the prime contractor or subcontractor to whom the article or service is being furnished) considers to be fair and reasonable, such agreement as to reduced price will be incorporated in such supplemental agreement or agreements with the prime contractor and, in the case of a reduction in a subcontractor's price, such agreement or agreements with the subcontractor, the prime contractor or subcontractor to whom the article or service is being furnished and the technical service, as shall be appropriate to effect such reduction. Such agreement or agreements shall provide such direct or indirect benefit to the United States of the reduction as the technical service shall deem appropriate under the circumstances of the particular case. It is recognized that in some cases it will be neither practicable nor to the interest of the Government to attempt to carry the reduction through to a reduction in price under the affected prime contract or contracts with the War Department and in such cases other appropriate arrangements should be made to secure to the United States, so far as reasonably feasible, the benefits of such price reduction. The technical service may consult with the Director, Purchases Division, as to the nature and terms of any such proposed agreement and will so consult with him before making an agreement with a subcontractor which provided for rebates or preferential discounts on articles or services furnished indirectly by him for war use. In any case in which the technical service ascertains or is advised that the article or service repriced also is being furnished by the prime contractor or subcontractor directly or indirectly to any other technical service not participating in the negotiation and the reduction is effective with respect to the articles or services being furnished to such other technical service, such other technical service will be advised of the reductions effected and, to the extent practicable in the particular case, the nature and terms of any proposed agreement between the technical service and a subcontractor will be discussed with such other technical service before the agreement is executed. Direct communication with other technical services is authorized for this purpose. Copies of all such agreements between the technical service and a subcontractor will be transmitted to the Director, Purchases Division, for purposes of record.

§ 81.1278 Issuance of order fixing fair and reasonable price. (a) If (1) voluntary negotiation conducted in accordance with § 81.1275 clearly indicates a reduced price for the article or service being repriced to be fair and reasonable and the prime contractor or subcontractor refuses to enter into, or unreasonably delays the execution of, an appropriate agreement or agreements affecting such reduction in price, or (2) a prime contractor or any subcontractor refuses to enter into, or to continue to conclusion, negotiation under section 801 for a fair and reasonable price, or unreasonably or unnecessarily delays the beginning or conclusion of such negotiations, or refuses to enter into or unreasonably delays the execution of an appropriate agreement effecting the reduction in prices which the technical service considers to be fair and reasonable, then an appropriate order or appropriate orders fixing fair and reasonable prices, substantially in the form set forth in § 81.1283 will be prepared and transmitted to the Director, Purchases Division, together with a memorandum of the chief of the technical service setting forth in reasonable detail (i) the nature and extent of the negotiation had with the contractor or subcontractor, (ii) a summary statement and analysis of the data considered in arriving at the price so proposed to be fixed by order; (iii) the price which the contractor or subcontractor demands and the basis of his objections to the price which the technical service deems to be fair and reasonable and (iv) such considerations as he believes justify the price desired to be fixed by order, with such discussion of the terms and conditions of the contract or of the proposed order as may be pertinent thereto. No such order will be served until such service is approved by the Director, Purchases Division.

(b) The price to be fixed by any such order will be one which is fair and reasonable in view of all the terms and conditions of the existing contract or contracts under which it is being furnished (if the price is being fixed with relation to such contract or contracts) and the terms and conditions to be included in the order. The order will fix the price for the longest period for which a fair and reasonable price reasonably can be projected under the applicable terms and conditions and circumstances and, where feasible, for the remaining period of any contract or contracts under which the article or service is being furnished and with relation to which the price is being fixed. Articles and services customarily furnished under short term contracts or purchase orders normally will not be repriced with respect to any particular contract or order but will be repriced generally in view of the terms and conditions upon which they are usually procured, which terms and conditions will be incorporated as terms and conditions of the order.

(c) All section 801 orders will reserve to the Secretary of War the right at any time to refix the price under section 801 as to future deliveries, either upon his own initiative or upon request of the contractor or subcontractor supported by data indicating that, because of changed circumstances since the effective date of the order, the price fixed is no longer fair and reasonable.

(d) Service of each such order, when approved by the Director, Purchases Division, will be made as provided in § 81.1281.

(e) In any case in which a price was fixed by a section 801 order with respect to a particular contract and the terms and conditions of such contract are subsequently so changed as equitably to require an adjustment in the fixed price, the chief of the technical service may make an equitable adjustment of the price fixed by the order either (1) by a change order in accordance with the "Changes" article of the contract if any (see e. g., §§ 81.329a and 81.1301 (b)), (2) by the service of an amended section 801 order on the contractor refixing the price to effect such equitable adjustment, or (3) by supplemental agreement, as shall be appropriate in the particular case. Such amended section 801 orders need not be submitted to the Director, Purchases Division, before service so long as they merely make adjustments in the price necessitated by changes in the specifications, quantities, delivery schedules and similar terms of the contract and so long as the adjustment in the price is clearly related only to such changes. In any other case in which a technical service believes that the price fixed by a section 801 order is too high or too low and is therefore no longer fair and reasonable and in any case in which a contractor or subcontractor upon whom such an order has been served requests a refixing of the price in view of changed circumstances, the chief of the technical service will so advise the Director, Purchases Division, with recommendation as to the action to be taken. The Director, Purchases Division may authorize such upward or downward revision of the price fixed by the order as may be appropriate.

§ 81.1279 Notification of technical services of service of Order. The Director, Purchases Division, promptly will notify the technical services of the fact that he has approved service of a section 801 order which may affect procurements being made or which may be made by them. Such technical services promptly will effect such modifications in their outstanding prime contracts as may be appropriate by reason of such ord

§ 81.1280 Preservation of data upon which orders are based. In each case in which a fair and reasonable price is fixed by order the technical service will maintain a complete file of the data and information and the various factors considered in arriving at such fair and reasonable price in order that all such matters will be readily available in the event that the contractor institutes court action to contest the fairness of the price fixed.

§ 81.1281 Method of service. (a) Where practicable, each Requirement to Negotiate an order will be served by hand by a commissioned officer or a United States Marshal or Deputy Marshal upon the contractor or subcontractor. [Procurement Reg. 15]

PART 88—TERMINATION OF CONTRACTS

TERMINATION OF CONTRACTS FOR THE CONVENIENCE OF THE GOVERNMENT

Sections 88.15–101 to 88.15–103, inclusive, are amended as follows:

§ 88.15–101 Necessity for terminations and other cutbacks. Adjustment of the Army Supply Program takes place as the supply requirements of the armed forces change. These changes normally occur because of strategic changes, development of new projects, invention of new items of war material, reallocation of scarce raw materials and other similar factors arising under the changing circumstances of modern war. In the case of curtailment of procurement schedules, resulting cutbacks in production will involve either termination of outstanding contracts or reduction in purchases under outstanding contracts, or both.

§ 88.15–102 Importance of manner of effecting cutbacks. Cutbacks in production resulting from curtailment of procurement schedules will be distributed in such manner as to facilitate the attainment of essential war production. Careful consideration of how reduction in procurement schedules and termination of contracts are to be achieved is essential in order to prevent dislocation of the national economy and to minimize disruption of living conditions and employment in particular areas. Complete records must be maintained to indicate that careful, formal and serious consideration has in fact entered into such decisions.

§ 88.15–103 General policies as to distribution of cutbacks. In selecting contracts to accomplish any necessary readjustment or curtailment of production, the following general policies will, to the extent feasible, be followed until there is a major change in the war situation such as the cessation of hostilities in a major theater:

(a) Wherever practicable, priority of retention in a program will be given to plants not located in Group I or Group II Areas (see § 81.223 (b)) inasmuch as displaced labor in Group I and II Areas can be most readily absorbed in other war production.

(b) The intent of the Smaller War Plants Act (see § 81.225 (a)) will be carried out by retaining in a program, wherever practicable, smaller war plants (i. e., independent concerns with 500 wage earners or less). Likewise, large contractors whose volume is reduced in a curtailment program will be urged not to cut their subcontracting volume to smaller war plants by an amount greater proportionately than their own reductions.

(c) In order to cause a minimum disturbance to the national economy and in the interest of resuming production as promptly as possible if required by future changes in program, consideration will be given to making as large a portion of the cutback in government-owned facilities as is consistent with cost and future requirements. An exception to this is the case where a cutback of a privately-owned facility which is having difficulty fulfilling its schedules will enable such facility to improve its performance on the remaining contracts. The wishes of private contractors in this regard should be given due consideration.

(d) Government-owned facilities in which production is materially curtailed or terminated will be kept in standby until their productive capacity is clearly no longer required for military needs.

(e) In scheduling the release of plants or industries due consideration will be given to:

(1) Security considerations.

(2) The effect on public transportation; that is, accessibility to the source of raw materials, components, depots or storage facilities, and ultimate destination.

(3) The relative unit cost of production to the Government.

(f) As requirements change, prompt action is necessary to cutback contracts in order to avoid the accumulation of excesses. Therefore, prescribed procedures must be performed with a minimum of delay at each echelon so that appropriate adjustments in production schedules may be made at the earliest possible moment.

(g) In connection with all cutbacks, records will be maintained in the files of the technical services evidencing the application in the administration of each case, of the appropriate procedures, with special reference to the general policies outlined above.

Sections 88.15–201 to 88.15–203, inclusive, are amended as follows:

§ 88.15–201 Policy with respect to terminations. The duty of formulating policy with respect to terminations has been placed by the Under Secretary of War in the Director, Readjustment Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, acting under the supervision of the Director of Materiel in matters relating to the Army Service Forces, and as the Special Representative of the Under Secretary of War in matters relating to the Army Air Forces.

§ 88.15–202 Staff supervision. Staff supervision of terminations in the Army Service Forces is assigned to the Director of Materiel who will coordinate the activities of all headquarters staff divisions relating to this subject through the Readjustment Division. With respect to the Army Air Forces, staff supervision of terminations is vested in the Commanding General, Army Air Forces who acts with respect to such matters through the Assistant Chief of Air Staff, Materiel, Maintenance and Distribution.

§ 88.15–203 Policy of decentralization. It is the policy of the War Department to decentralize to the chiefs of the several technical services administration of contract terminations as fully as possible. The extent to which they in turn will decentralize such administration is left to each chief of a technical service (see § 88.15–150 (a)) for his determination subject to the provisions of this regulation as from time to time in force. The chief of each technical service will make periodic checks of the progress of terminations and the settlement thereof, to insure that no unreasonable delays occur.

§ 88.15–222 Records to support final settlement. It is the responsibility of the chiefs of the technical service to assure that adequate records will be kept in accordance with the standards of prudent business judgment to substantiate settlements made by contracting officers. Such records will be kept for at least five years subsequent to the final settlement of the terminated contract.

(a) Chiefs of technical services will prescribe the manner in which termination settlement records are to be kept and the location where the records will be kept. Normally and whenever practicable termination settlement records for each settlement should be maintained in a single file.

(b) Unnecessarily voluminous files should not be accumulated, particularly in the case of small settlements. In determining the specific records to be maintained in each case consideration will be given to the need for prompt settlement. Below are indicated records or information which should be kept in each case to the extent applicable. Certain of this information will be included in the Standard Forms filed by the Contractor (see § 88.15–937), making separate records of such information unnecessary.

(1) Copy of prime contract.

(2) Copies of supplemental agreements which are material to the termination settlement or which add or change the termination article.

(3) Copy of the notice of termination.

(4) Proposals for settlement submitted by the prime contractor, including related certificates, statements of charges and inventory schedules.

(5) Copy or record of subcontract settlement agreements expressly approved or ratified by the contracting officer, and copy of any report of investigation made pursuant to § 88.15–437 by Government personnel of settlements with subcontractors.

(6) Record of partial payments or other interim financing.

(7) Copies of authorizations to contractors for final settlement of subcontractors' claims, and for disposal of property.

(8) Reports of audit or office reviews.

(9) Records of disposal credits.

(10) Memorandum or other pertinent information concerning important conferences with contractor at which decisions were made affecting the settlement.

(11) Memorandum setting forth the factors considered by the contracting officer in reaching the conclusion that the settlement is fair and reasonable to the Government and to the contractor.

(12) Record of any actions by settlement advisory boards, property disposal boards, review boards, and appeal boards.

(13) Additional records in the case of formula settlements as required. (See § 88.15–560.)

(14) Any other records necessary in particular cases.

Section 88.15–324 is rescinded and the following substituted therefor:

§ 88.15–324 Preparation and release of information concerning cutbacks. When production is to be substantially decreased through cutbacks, resulting from reduction of a procurement schedules or termination of contracts, the procedures set forth in paragraphs (b) to (c), inclusive, will be carried out.

(a) Coordinated release of publicity; information to War Production Board and War Manpower Commission. Adequate provision must be made for the coordinated release of publicity and the furnishing of information to the War Production Board and the War Manpower Commission. Such data will be made available at the earliest possible moment after final decision to decrease production in a given facility has been reached, so that those agencies can assist in arranging for the prompt reemployment of released workers and facilities in other production which is essential to the war effort.

(b) Notice to contractors and workers; cooperation by contractors with War Manpower Commission and United States Employment Service. The matters provided in this paragraph are to be observed in order to avoid impairment of management and labor morale, and to avoid any mistaken public impression that curtailments are due to inefficient management or unsatisfactory work by the employees displaced. Notice of the proposed cutback will be given, as far in advance as possible, to each contractor whose production is to be substantially decreased. Particular care will be taken to include in this notice as detailed a statement of the reasons as appears advisable. The technical service concerned will urge the contractor to include a statement of the reasons for the cutback in a notification to the workers and their union representative, and to request his subcontractors and suppliers to take similar action. The contractor also will be urged to cooperate with the War Manpower Commission by making known his new net labor requirements and allowing the United States Employment Service representative to conduct job interviews at the plant if sufficiently large numbers of workers are to be displaced.

(c) Preparation of official statements. When, in the opinion of the chief of the technical service concerned, the case is of sufficient public interest, the office of the chief of the technical service will prepare an official statement to serve as the basis for a press release announcing the curtailment and the reasons for it. This statement will include the name of the municipality in which the plant or facility is located, the name of the plant or plants affected, the effective date of the curtailment, the end items or items effected, and the probable effect on future employment. At an appropriate time, copies of this statement will be furnished to the following:

(1) The Bureau of Public Relations, War Department.

(2) The Legislative and Liaison Division, War Department Special Staff.

(3) The Industrial Personnel Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces.

(4) The Director of Materiel, Headquarters, Army Service Forces.

(5) The appropriate field office of the technical service concerned for preparation of the press release and its release in the affected locality.

Copies of this statement will also be furnished to such other offices as may be prescribed by an appropriate headquarters.

Section 88.15–326 is rescinded.

§ 88.15–326 Notification to War Production Board required in connection with termination of contracts and cutbacks in production. [Rescinded]

In § 88.15–560 paragraps (k) and (l) are added as follows:

§ 88.15.560 Where settlement by negotiation proves impossible: Formula settlement. • • •

(k) (1) Within 30 days after delivering to the contractor the findings and determination referred to in paragraph (d) above the contracting officer, upon the execution of a supplemental agreement similar in form to that set forth in § 88.15–922, but with modifications as hereinafter provided, will authorize a partial payment to the contractor of 75% of the amount determined by him to be due, after deducting from said 75% the amount of any outstanding interim financing applicable to the contract in process of termination, including any previous partial payments. The contracting officer before approving such a partial payment, may require a statement by the contractor that the payment requested has not been assigned, and if it has been assigned, will require the written consent of the assignee to the making of the payment, so provided under §88.15–501 (d).

(2) In preparing a supplemental agreement for the purposes of a partial payment under this paragraph (k), the third and fourth recitals of the form of supplemental agreement set forth in § 88.15–922 will be revised to read as follows:

Whereas, under the terms of the said Contract, under the First War Powers Act, 1941, and Executive Orders Numbers 9001 and 9112, payments may be made to the contractor pending final payment of the amount to which the contractor will be entitled by reason of such termination, and

Whereas, the contractor hereby represents to the Government that at least the sum of $_____ is due the contractor by reason of the termination of said contract and the Government desires to make a payment to the contractor pending final settlement of such contract.

The first two sentences of Article III of such form of supplemental agreement will be revised to read as follows:

Article III. Said payments shall be applied against the amount finally payable by the Government to the contractor in connection with such termination. If such payments exceed the amount finally payable to the contractor in connection with such termination, the contractor agrees to repay the excess to the Government on demand together with interest thereon at the rate of 6% per annum from the date of receipt of such excess payment by the contractor to the date of the repayment of such excess • • •.

(l) After a final determination of the amount due to the contractor has been made by the War Department in accordance with paragraphs (f) or (g), if the contractor is prepared to accept that determination, a voucher should be prepared in the usual manner, covering such portion of the determined amount as remains unpaid and will be presented to the finance officer. Normally, this unpaid amount will be the 25% remaining after the 75% partial payment authorized by paragraph (k). The finance officer will forward to the Office of the Fiscal Director, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, the voucher, together with the findings of fact, determination and supporting papers referred to in paragraph (d), and also any finding on appeal which may have been made (see paragraph (g) above). The Office of the Fiscal Director will review the file and take such steps as are necessary to establish the sufficiency of supporting papers. When this has been done, the file will be returned by the Office of the Fiscal Director to the finance officer with appropriate instructions, and any amount due will be paid to the contractor after the execution of a supplemental agreement which will constitute a release by the contractor of all further charges under the contract.

[General Preference Order M–11–a, as Amended June 16, 1944]

ZINC OXIDE

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of zinc oxide for defense, for private account, and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 937.2 General Preference Order M–11–a—(a) Scope of this order. This order controls deliveries of lead-free zinc oxide from a producer or dealer. No producer or dealer shall deliver lead-free zinc oxide to any person, and no person shall accept delivery of lead-free zinc oxide from any producer or dealer, except as provided in this order. The order also restricts the use which may be made of the lead-free zinc oxide after it is received. The permitted uses will be found listed below in paragraph (e). Production of zinc oxide under toll agreement is restricted.

(b) Definitions. For the purposes of this order:

(1) "Zinc oxide" means all grades of zinc oxide, including lead-free and leaded, produced from ores, concentrates, metallic zinc, or other primary material and from scrap, dross, ashes, skimmings, or other secondary material.

(2) "Lead-free zinc oxide" means all grades of zinc oxide containing 98 per cent or more of zinc as ZnO.

(3) "Producer" means any person producing zinc oxide and any person who has zinc oxide produced for him under a toll agreement.

(4) "Toll agreement" means any agreement by which title to material remains vested in a person other than the one processing the material.

(5) "Dealer" means any person who regularly receives physical delivery of zinc oxide and sells or holds the same for resale without change in form.

(6) "Production" means a producer's total production of zinc oxide as packed for sale.

(c) Deliveries of lead-free zinc oxide. Producers and dealers may deliver lead-free zinc oxide, and persons may accept delivery of lead-free zinc oxide from a producer or deale. in the following cases only:

(1) Small order delivery. Deliveries from a producer or dealer may be accepted without the necessity of obtaining any specific authorization from the War Production Board if (i) The delivery in question, combined with all other deliveries of lead-free zinc oxide to the purchaser during that calendar month, from whatever source, will not aggregate more than two tons; (ii) The purchaser has not requested from the War Production Board authorization for that particular month to accept delivery of lead-free zinc oxide in any quantity—see paragraph (c) (5) below (a request to the War Production Board shall be deemed a request within the meaning of this paragraph, regardless of whether it has been granted or denied); (iii) The lead-free zinc oxide purchased will be used in the manufacture of the items or for the purposes specified in paragraph (e) of this order and not for resale; and (iv) The inventory of the purchaser is not, and will not upon acceptance of the delivery become, in excess of a forty-five day supply on the basis of his current method and rate of operation. The producer or dealer may make delfveries without any specific authorization from the War Production Board unless he knows or has reason to believe, that the delivery will be in violation of the provisions of this paragraph (c) (1) or that the lead-free zinc oxide delivered is to be used in violation of the restrictions of this or other applicable orders of the War Production Board.

(2) Deliveries to dealers. Deliveries may be made to and accepted by dealers.

(3) Deliveries to Metals Reserve Company. Deliveries may be made to and accepted by Metals Reserve Company for the sole purpose of stockpiling or redistribution.

(4) Lead-free zinc oxide for export. Deliveries may be made to and accepted by a person for export without change in the form of the lead-free zinc oxide provided the delivery is accepted pursuant to an export license from the Foreign Economic Administration.

(5) WPB authorization. Other deliveries may be made only on specific authorization of the War Production Board and in accordance with an authorization certificate issued by the War Production Board on Form WPB–410. Deliveries so specifically authorized shall take precedence over any preference rating which may be assigned to deliveries on other contracts or orders. Authorization certificates will be issued on or about the first of each month for this purpose. An authorization certificate will authorize the holder to accept from a producer or dealer deliveries of specified amounts of lead-free zinc oxide shipped during the month for which the certificate is issued. The producer or dealer may ship on notification from the purchaser of the date and serial number of the authorization certificate. Any person wishing to apply for an authorization certificate should file an application on Form WPB–410 not later than the fifteenth day of the month preceding the month in which the authorization to purchase is desired. A producer need not accept a new order (other than a new order bearing a AAA, preference rating) although supported by a preference rating or an authorization certificate, if his entire production for the month is committed and he has reason to believe that other purchase orders will be presented during the month by the person or persons to whom his production is committed in amounts at least equal to his production.

(d) Restriction on toll agreements. Unless specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board, no person shall produce any zinc oxide under any existing or future toll agreement.

(e) Use of lead-free zinc oxide. No person shall use any lead-free zinc oxide except for the manufacture of the items, or for one or more of the purposes, following:

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATIONS OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

[Priorities Reg. 1, Direction 3]

CONCENTRATION OR TRANSFER OF PRODUCTION BY WAR, NAVY, MARITIME COMMISSION, WAR SHIPPING ADMINISTRATION, ARMY AIR FORCES OR BUREAU OF AERONAUTICS

The following direction is issued pursuant to Priorities Regulation 1:

(a) In cases where several contractors are producing similar products, assemblies, subassemblies or parts in a program for one of the above procuring agencies and the procuring agency terminates or modifies the contract with one or more of these contractors either directly or through a prime contractor or where the production is transferred from one contractor to another, a contractor continuing the production may receive for use in the same major program from such other contractors whose contracts have been terminated or modified or from their suppliers or from the procuring agency non-controlled materials, work in process, assemblies, sub-assemblies or parts idle as a result of the termination or modification action, subject to the following conditions:

(1) Special items which are not readily usable in the manufacture of other products, assemblies or sub-assemblies and which would in the opinion of the procuring agency have only a scrap value if not so used may be received from a contractor or his suppliers or the procuring agency if:

(i) The procuring agency so authorizes in writing, and

(ii) The amounts of any items so received do not exceed the contractor's contract requirements after taking into consideration amounts of the item presently on hand plus the amount on order which cannot be cancelled.

(2) Standard materials and products. Materials and products which are not special to this particular production may be received from another manufacturer or from his suppliers br from the procuring agency providing the procuring agency so authorizes in writing and the amount of any item so received is not in excess of four months' requirements for the particular program and the total on hand after receipt will not exceed his succeeding six months' requirements.

(3) This direction applies in cases where the procuring agency authorizes in writing a contractor whose contract has been cancelled or modified to deliver idle materials either direct or through the procuring agency to another contractor who is producing a product in the same major program for the same procuring agency.

(4) The manufacturer is required after determination of availability and usability of the materials so received, to promptly cancel, reduce or postpone further deliveries from his suppliers so that his inventory of the particular items is reduced as quickly as possible to a practicable minimum working level.

(b) This direction constitutes the authority for the sale or exchange of these materials under the provisions of paragraph (c) (3) of Priorities Regulation No. 13.

Inventory Direction 17 under CMP Regulation 2 states similar rules for controlled materials.

PART 3175—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE CONTROLLED MATERIALS PLAN

[CMP Reg. 9A, Direction 3]

ALASKAN AIRCRAFT REPAIR SHOPS

The following direction is issued pursuant to CMP Reg. 9A:

Repair shops located in Alaska whose principal business is the repair of civilian or military aircraft may use the preference rating AA–1 and the allotment symbol S–1 in ordering controlled materials and other materials and products needed for the maintenance and repair of aircraft. No material so ordered may be accepted if, in the case of controlled materials, the repair shop's inventory will exceed the amounts permitted by CMP Regulation No. 2 or, in the case of other materials and products, its inventory will exceed the amounts permitted by § 944.14 of Priorities Regulation No. 1. Material so ordered may be used only for purposes permitted by paragraph (e) of CMP Regulation 9A.

PART 3290—TEXTILE, CLOTHING AND LEATHER

COTTON TEXTILE PRODUCTION

§ 3290.46 Limitation Order L–99—(a) Operations of spinning machinery and looms producing cotton textiles. No person shall, regardless of the presentation of rated orders, operate spinning machinery or looms contrary to the provisions in the schedules of this order. These restrictions shall not prohibit, after written notification to the War Production Board, the manufacture of any construction in any group in the schedules of lower pick than the lowest pick specified in Column IV as to such group, unless the War Production Board by a specific direction prohibits that manufacture.

NOTE: Paragraphs (b), (c), (d), (e), (f) and (g) formerly (d), (f), (g), (a), (h) and (i), redesignated June 16, 1944.

(b) Further restrictions. (1) No producer or converter of cotton textiles shall produce, convert or deliver cotton textiles and no person shall accept delivery of cotton textiles from a producer or converter, contrary to any specific direction which may be issued from time to time by the War Production Board.

(2) General Conservation Order M–317 provides that each producer must make cotton sale yarn, there defined, available for distribution in accordance with the Cotton Yarns, Cordage and Twine Distribution Schedule annexed to that order. This order (L–99) requires each producer to make at least as much sale yarn as he produced in his base period. His base period is the calendar quarter in 1943 in which he delivered to purchasers the largest percentage of his cotton yarn production.

Accordingly, each producer must in the calendar quarter beginning April 1, 1944 and in each subsequent calendar quarter produce at least the same poundage of sale yarn, by Schedule E groups, as he produced in these groups in the base period.

(3) Each producer must in the week beginning May 21, 1944 and in each subsequent week deliver duck yarns of at least the same poundage as he delivered in the week in 1944 in which he delivered the largest quantity of duck yarns.

Producers who have facilities which can produce additional quantities of duck yarns may receive special directions from the War Production Board to deliver specific amounts to designated weavers.

(4) No spinner shall use or dispose of roving except for spinning or on rated orders, unless specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board. An authorization to use roving for other purposes may be granted if the War Production Board finds that the roving produced by spinners, who do not have spinning spindles, is not needed to fill rated orders, or in cases where spinners show that their spinning spindles are operating at maximum capacity. To secure such authorization an application must be made by letter to the War Production Board also stating the quantity of roving which the applicant wishes to use or dispose of for other than spinning or the filling of rated orders; and the hours per week which each spinning machine is being operated.

(5) No person shall operate in the period from June 1, 1944, through August 31, 1944, at a rate which will result in the production of less Army tent twill (U. S. Army specification JQD–48) than the aggregate lineal yardage of the drills, twills and sateens listed below, delivered by him on unrated orders in the period from January 1, 1944 through March 31, 1944, viz:

All drills 30" to 36" inclusive (6 oz. sq. yd. or heavier).
All four leaf twills 29" to 36" inclusive.
All sateens 30" to 36" inclusive.

This requirement shall not prevent the production of any cotton textile for orders rated AA–2X or higher which were accepted before May 10, 1944.

(6) Each loom which on April 1, 1944, produced or was assigned to the production of bed ticking and which is now required (Schedule D Group 1) to produce Army tent twill shall be operated at least as many hours per week as the loom which is operated the most hours per week at the same plant.

(7) Army tent twill (excepting cuts shorter than 25 yards produced in the normal course of manufacture) may be delivered only to the Army or Navy of the U. S., unless it has been rejected in writing after having been offered in the gray state to the Office of the Quartermaster General, Procurement Division, Washington, D. C.

(c) Reports and records. All persons operating spindles or looms for the production of cotton textiles of any kind shall file at the times specified in the reporting form with the War Production Board reports on Form WPB 658–A, B, C, D and E, giving the information therein required. All persons affected by this order shall keep and preserve for a period of not less than two years, accurate and complete records concerning inventories, production and sales. The reporting requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget under the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(d) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be made by filing a letter in triplicate, referring to the particular provision appealed from and stating fully the grounds of the appeal.

An appeal for suspension of the requirement of paragraph (b) may be made on the ground that compliance will result in production at a loss, provided that an application for price relief on that ground is first filed with the Secretary of the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., and a copy is filed with the WPB appeal. If the WPB appeal is granted, the requirement of that paragraph for increases above current production will be suspended until the decision by the Office of Price Administration upon the application for price relief. This paragraph does not indicate or limit the extent or kind of price relief, if any, which may be granted by the Office of Price Administration.

(e) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

(f) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(g) Communications to the War Production Board. All reports required to be filed hereunder, and all communications concerning this order, shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: War Production Board, Textile, Clothing and Leather Bureau, Washington 25, D. C., Ref., L-99.

(d) Production of both groups is restricted. A person may produce the equipment listed in paragraph (b) and (c) only to the extent authorized by this order or by written instructions from the War Production Board.

(e) Production is permitted to fill U. S. Army and Navy orders. A person may produce equipment if he builds it according to United States Army or Navy specifications in order to fill a specific United States Army or Navy order. This includes orders placed by prime contractors or subcontractors of the Army or Navy for equipment which will eventually be delivered to the Army or Navy and will be installed under Army or Navy supervision.

(f) Production of equipment in first group is permitted to fill approved orders. A person may produce equipment listed in paragraph (b) to fill orders approved for delivery under paragraph (k), and in addition to maintain an inventory of new equipment listed in paragraph (b) worth up to 5 per cent of the total value of new equipment listed in paragraph (b) which he billed to his customers during the calendar years 1939, 1940 and 1941. His total billings during that period and the value of his current inventory are to be calculated at his established prices f. o. b. shipping point. Production of equipment listed in paragraph (b) which was specifically authorized by the War Production Board, through the granting of appeals or otherwise, before May 22, 1944, may take place after that date only to the extent permitted by this paragraph.

In approving orders, and in processing applications for priorities assistance on Form CMP-4B, the War Production Board will be guided by the policy that the total production of the entire industry must not exceed the approved War Production Board program for the equipment listed in paragraph (b), and that the production in any one plant, or labor requirements therefor, must not interfere with war production in that plant or in any other plant located in the same area.

(g) Production of equipment in second group is permitted to fill certain kinds of approved orders. A person may assemble equipment listed in paragraph (c) to fill a specific order approved for delivery under paragraph (k), by assembling the equipment from parts completely fabricated before July 1, 1942. He may not make any parts for this purpose. Also, a person may produce equipment listed in paragraph (c) to fill a specific order approved for delivery under paragraph (k) for any of the following persons:

(1) The armed forces and maritime agencies of any foreign government friendly to the United States.

(2) The United States Maritime Commission.

(3) The War Shipping Administration.

(4) Privately owned ordnance plants.

(h) Production of repair parts is permitted. A person may make parts to use or sell for repairing, rebuilding or maintaining equipment.

(i) Delivery of new equipment in first group is restricted. A person may deliver new equipment listed in paragraph (b) only in those cases specified in the following paragraphs. There is no restriction on the delivery of secondhand equipment, including rebuilt equipment listed in paragraph (b). The delivery of both new and secondhand equipment listed in paragraph (c) is unrestricted.

(j) Delivery to the United States Army and Navy is permitted. A person may deliver new equipment listed in paragraph (b) to the United States Army or the United States Navy. A person may also deliver this equipment to a prime contractor or subcontractor of the Army or Navy, if the equipment will eventually be delivered to the Army or Navy and will be installed under Army or Navy supervision.

(k) Approved deliveries are permitted. A person may deliver new equipment listed in paragraph (b) to anyone whose order has been approved for delivery on Form WPB-924, issued before July 1, 1944, or a Form WPB-1319, or a Form GA-1456.

Form GA-1456 will be used to approve delivery to persons who request such approval when applying for authority to begin construction, and for priority assistance in obtaining materials for construction. Orders approved for delivery on Form GA-1456 should be accompanied by the following certification (in addition to the certification in Priorities Regulation 7):

Delivery approved on Form GA-1456.

Those who want to get their orders approved when construction is not involved should send an application to the War Production Board, Service Equipment Division, Washington 25, D. C.: Ref. L-91. Applications submitted before June 1, 1944, should be on Form WPB-924. Applications submitted after that date should be on Form WPB-1319. If the War Production Board approves an order for delivery on either of those forms, the approved form must be given to the person making the delivery before the equipment may be delivered. Moreover, if the form is not given to this person within thirty days after the date of official approval, the War Production Board's permission to deliver the equipment automatically expires.

(l) Deliveries for resale are permitted. A person may deliver new equipment listed in paragraph (b) to anyone who needs the equipment to fill an order or part of an order approved for delivery under paragraph (k). A person may also deliver this equipment to anyone who is acquiring the equipment only for resale within the United States (48 States and the District of Columbia). In the latter case the person delivering the equipment must continue to count it as part of his inventory under paragraph (f) until the equipment is redelivered to the United States Army, the United States Navy, or a person whose order has been approved for delivery under paragraph (k).

(m) Use of equipment by manufacturers or dealers is restricted. No person who produces equipment for sale or acquires new equipment listed in paragraph (b) for resale may put that equipment into use, unless the War Production Board gives him written permission to do so.

(n) Emergency repair loans are sometimes permitted. The War Production Board will consider written or telegraphic requests for permission to lend equipment listed in paragraph (b) to someone whose own equipment is undergoing emergency repairs. If the War Production Board gives permission in writing, a person may deliver equipment to another person for use while the latter's equipment is being repaired. When the repairs are finished, the borrowed equipment must be returned to the person who lent it. Equipment listed in paragraph (b) is still considered new equipment even though it has been used for repair loans of the sort contemplated by this paragraph, and is still subject to the restrictions of paragraph (i) after it has been returned to the person who lent it.

(o) Use of metal parts for rebuilding equipment is restricted. A person may use metal parts, including cast iron, for rebuilding equipment listed in paragraph (b) or paragraph (c) only to the following extent:

A person rebuilding equipment for the United States Army, the United States Navy, the United States Maritime Commission, or the War Shipping Administration, may use metal parts to the extent necessary to meet their specifications.

A person may also use metal parts in rebuilding a piece of equipment if their total weight will be less than 40 per cent of the total weight of the piece of equipment rebuilt, after the job is finished. A person may use additional metal parts for rebuilding a piece of equipment to the extent specifically authorized by the War Production Board in writing.

(p) Reports on Form WPB-923 are required monthly. Before the fifteenth of each month every person in the business of producing equipment listed in paragraph (b) or (c), and every person in the business of selling new equipment listed in paragraph (b) must send to the War Production Board a report on Form WPB-923. This reporting requirement has the approval of the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(q) Miscellaneous reports. Subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942, each person affected by this order must execute and file with the War Production Board whatever reports, information, and answers to questionnaires the War Production Board from time to time requests.

(r) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable provisions of the regulations of the War Production Board as amended from time to time.

(s) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provisions of this order, or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using material under priority control, and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(t) Appeals. Any appeal from this order shall be made by filing a letter, referring to the particular provision appealed from and stating fully the grounds of the appeal.

INTERPRETATION 1

LAUNDRY, DRY CLEANING AND TAILORS' PRESSES

General Limitation Order L-91 restricts the production and distribution of certain kinds of laundry equipment, dry cleaning equipment, and tailors' pressing equipment. The first group of such equipment listed in paragraph (b) includes "presses". All presses of the types commonly known as laundry, dry cleaning or tailors' presses are controlled by Order L-91, including those produced or delivered for purposes other than laundering, dry cleaning or tailoring. For example, all pants top presses, pants leg presses, off pressing machines with bucks 38 inches long or longer, and 38 inch to 45 inch utility presses, are restricted by Order L-91 regardless of whether they are being produced and delivered to dry cleaning plants or to clothing manufacturers. On the other hand, Order L-91 is inapplicable to the following types of presses, since they are not commonly known as laundry, dry cleaning, or tailors' presses:

Back and blade presses.
Canvas front presses.
Coat front presses.
Collar presses.
Double bosom presses of the type used by shirt manufacturers.
Edge presses.
Fuse ply presses of the type used by shirt manufacturers.
Knit goods presses.
Off pressing machines, except those with bucks 38 inches long or longer.
Pocket presses.
Seam opening and under pressing presses.
Shoulder presses.
Side and back presses.
Sleeve and shrinking presses.
Vest presses.
Vest back presses.
Vest front presses.
Vest, neck and shoulder presses.

PART 3175—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE CONTROLLED-MATERIALS PLAN

[CMP Reg. 2, Inventory Direction 17]

CONCENTRATION OR TRANSFER OF PRODUCTION BY WAR, NAVY, MARITIME COMMISSION, WAR SHIPPING ADMINISTRATION, ARMY AIR FORCES OR BUREAU OF AERONAUTICS

§ 3175.117 Inventory Direction No. 17. Pursuant to paragraph (b) (2) of CMP Regulation 2, and notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (b) (1) of that regulation, It is hereby ordered, That:

(a) In cases where several users of controlled materials are producing similar products, assemblies, sub-assemblies or parts in a program for one of the above procuring agencies and the procuring agency terminates or modifies the contract with one or more of these users either directly or through a prime contractor or where the production is transferred from one user to another, a user continuing the production may receive for use in the same major program from such other users whose contracts have been terminated or modified, or from their suppliers, or from the procuring agency, controlled materials idle as a result of the termination or modification action, subject to the following conditions and limitations:

(1) Special items (as defined in Interpretation #2 to CMP Regulation 2) which are not readily usable in the manufacture of other products, assemblies, or sub-assemblies and which would, in the opinion of the procuring agency, have only a scrap value if not so used may be received from a user or his suppliers or the procuring agency if:

(i) The procuring agency so authorizes in writing, and

(ii) The amounts of any item so received do not exceed the user's contract requirements after taking into consideration amounts of the item presently on hand plus the amount on order which cannot be cancelled.

(2) Standard materials. Controlled materials which are not special items and which may be used in the production of other products, may be received from another user or from his suppliers or from the procuring agency providing the procuring agency so authorizes in writing and the amount of any item so received is not in excess of four months' requirements for the particular program and the total on hand after receipt will not exceed his succeeding six months' requirements.

(3) This direction applies in cases where the procuring agency authorizes in writing a user whose contract has been cancelled or modified, to deliver idle materials either direct or through the procuring agency to another user who is producing a product in the same major program for the same procuring agency.

(4) The user is required after determination of availability and usability of the materials so received, to promptly cancel, reduce or postpone further deliveries from his suppliers so that his inventory of the particular items is reduced as quickly as possible to a practicable minimum working level.

(5) The user shall return any allotments unused as a result of receiving these materials.

(b) This direction constitutes the authority for the sale or exchange of these materials under the provisions of paragraph (c) (3) of Priorities Regulation No. 13.

Direction 2 to Priorities Regulation 1 states similar rules for non-controlled materials.

Issued this 16th day of June 1944.

PART 1396—FINE CHEMICALS, DRUGS AND COSMETICS

[MPR 472,[1] Amdt. 8]

CERTAIN ESSENTIAL OILS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Maximum Price Regulation No. 472 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1 is amended by adding the following oil to the commodities listed therein:

Imported oil of lemon.

2. Section 7 is amended by substituting "Appendices A, B and C," for Appendices A and B" wherever it appears.

3. Section 11 (a) (6) is amended by the addition of the following definition:

(v) In the case of imported oil of lemon, any seller thereof except the United States or any agency thereof, a drug wholesaler, or a seller at retail.

4. Section 11 (a) is amended by the addition of the following definition:

(11) "Imported oil of lemon" means oil of lemon U. S. F. imported into the United States and all other types and grades of oil of lemon imported into the United States.

5. Appendix C is added to read as follows:

APPENDIX C—MAXIMUM PRICES FOR IMPORTED OIL OF LEMON

(a) Sales by any person to industrial users or drug wholesalers. The maximum prices per pound, f. o. b. seller's shipping point, for sales by any person to industrial users or drug wholesalers of imported oil of lemon are as follows:

Quantity per container:	Price per pound
25 lbs. and over	$3.25
10 lbs	3.31
5 lbs	3.33
1 lb	3.40
8 ozs	3.50
4 ozs	3.57
1 oz	3.80

The quantities specified above refer to the quantity contained in a single container. It shall be an evasion of the regulation however for a seller to require a buyer to purchase a given quantity in a number of small containers in order to obtain a higher price.

Where the container in which the oil is sold contains a quantity not specifically listed, the price which is applicable is the price for a sale in the next larger quantity which is specifically listed.

(b) Sales by drug wholesalers. The maximum prices for sales of imported oil of lemon by a drug wholesaler shall be the same as his maximum prices for sales of domestic oil of lemon as determined under the provisions of the General Maximum Price Regulation.

(c) Sales by the United States or any agency thereof to dealers. The maximum price for sales by the United States or any agency thereof of imported oil of lemon to dealers shall be $3.936 per pound, f. o. b. seller's shipping point.

This amendment shall become effective June 15, 1944.

Maximum Price Regulation No. 450 is amended in the following respect:

1. Appendix E is added to read as follows:

APPENDIX E—MAXIMUM PRICES FOR WRITING PAPERS AND OTHER FINE PAPERS WHICH CANNOT BE PRICED UNDER ANY OF THE FOREGOING APPENDICES

Any maximum price which cannot be determined under the Appendices of this regulation shall be determined by the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C., by order upon receipt of an application from the manufacturer setting forth a description of the grade and the reasons why it cannot be priced under any other provision of this regulation and including a completed Form 695:720 with respect to the costs of such grade. In computing the price per cwt. in rolls for such intermediate weights, the cwt. price shall be multiplied by 16 and divided by the substance ordered, figured to the nearest cent per cwt. for all grades except register bond, fanform, and salesbook bond in rolls. For register bond, fanform and salesbook bond in rolls substance weights, 10 pound up to 16 pound, a differential not in excess of 25¢ per cwt. for each pound below 16 pound may be added to the price for substance weight 16 pound.

3. Appendix B, paragraph (g) (1) is amended to read as follows:

EXPLANATION OF THE REGULATION

The purpose of this regulation is to gather into a single document the provisions most commonly used in fixing maximum prices for certain food products in sales by processors, repackers, primary distributors and intermediate sellers (but not wholesalers or retailers).

Taken by itself, the regulation names no maximum prices. These are printed in separate documents which are issued as "supplements" to the regulation. For example, the basic maximum prices for canned grapefruit juice are set forth in a separate supplement which contains the provisions which apply only to packed citrus products. It is only the more general provisions, applicable to a number of commodities, which are collected here. Compliance with maximum prices, it is expected, will be made easier by this standardization of generally applicable provisions and by including them in a single document rather than in many separate regulations.

Moreover, the provisions of this regulation apply to particular food products only as they become parts of these supplements. Thus, for example, whether or not section 1.5 (meaning of "primary distributor") becomes a part of a particular supplement depends upon whether section 1.5 is stated in that supplement to be part of it. Not all the sections of this regulation will apply to every supplement, and when particular sections are not listed in a supplement, they are to be disregarded for the purposes of that supplement.

NOTE: In many sections of this regulation, reference is made to "the effective date of the applicable supplement". Because food products may be added from time to time to a given supplement, "effective date of the applicable supplement" shall mean the date when the item being priced is first included in it.

ARTICLE I—GENERAL DEFINITIONS

NOTE: A seller is sometimes in doubt as to how to determine his maximum price because he is not certain what kind of seller he is under the regulation. This happens most frequently in those cases where the seller manufactures some of the products he sells, and buys the rest. For example, he may manufacture and sell catsup, but only distribute the spaghetti sauce, salad dressing, and other products he sells. When pricing his catsup, he may be in doubt whether to price it as a "distributor" (since that is his general business) or as a "processor" (since he is a manufacturer of catsup). It is desirable, therefore, to explain how the names used in this regulation and its supplements apply to various kinds of sellers.

When classifying a seller, this regulation is concerned only with the way he handles the particular kind and brand (if any) of product which he is pricing. For example, if he is pricing "Atlas" brand canned corn, the only question is how he handles "Atlas" brand corn. How he sells "Atlas" brand peas or "Jones" brand corn makes no difference. Thus, even if the seller is in the general business of wholesaling, and therefore ordinarily thinks of himself as merely a "wholesaler", he is a "processor" when pricing the "Atlas" canned corn he sells if he manufactures that brand of canned corn.

Moreover, the seller is a "processor", with a processor's maximum price, with respect to all the "Atlas" brand canned corn which he sells, even though he makes only a part of it. The reason for this rule is that if in each transaction the seller were to have more than one maximum price for the same product, the buyer would have no way of knowing which price was applicable and the lower ceiling would be unenforceable.

In other words, the important thing is whether the seller manufactures the particular kind and brand of product being priced and not how he carried on his general food business.

SECTION 1.1 Meaning of "person". "Person" means an individual, corporation, partnership, association, any other organized group of persons, and their legal successors or representatives. The term includes the United States, its agencies, other governments, their political subdivisions and their agencies.

SEC. 1.2 Meaning of "processor". "Processor" means a person who processes any part of what he sells of the kind and brand of product being priced. The term includes a person who has the goods "custom-packed" or "toll-packed" by another.

Example: (See note above to Article I)

SEC. 1.3 Meaning of "distributor". "Distributor" means a person who purchases all he sells (for his own account) of the kind and brand of product being priced and resells it without processing any part of it. However, the term does not include such a seller when he is reselling particular goods which he has repackaged (see section 1.4).

Example: (See note above to Article I)

SEC. 1.4 Meaning of "repacker". "Repacker" means a person, other than a processor, wholesaler or retailer, who purchases the particular goods being priced and resells them after repackaging.

Example: Smith buys maraschino cherries in barrels and without further processing packs them in consumer-size bottles for resale to wholesalers. Smith is a "repacker" as to the goods which he handles in this way.

SEC. 1.5 Meaning of "primary distributor". "Primary distributor" means a distributor, other than a wholesaler or retailer, who purchases all he sells (for his own account) of the kind and brand of product being priced and who customarily makes at least 50% of his purchases from the processor in carload quantities delivered for storage into a warehouse not owned or controlled by any of his customers, for resale by him in less-than-carload quantities.

In this section, "carload quantity" means any quantity of the kind of product being priced which equals or exceeds the carload minimum weight specified for the product in Consolidated Freight Classification No. 16, and amendments, issued by Agents Greenly (I. C. C.—O. C. No. 60), Dulaney (I. C. C. No. 92), Fyfe (I. C. C. No. 29), and Raasch (I. C. C. No. 566).

Example: The minimum carload quantity of canned grapefruit juice is 36,000 pounds (see Consolidated Freight Classification No. 16, p. 266, Item 18690). This is the minimum carload quantity even though lesser quantities sometimes take a carload rate.

SEC. 1.6 Meaning of "wholesaler" and "retailer".

NOTE: These definitions of "wholesaler" and "retailer" are derived from Maximum Price Regulations Nos. 421,[1] 422,[2] and 423,[3] the regulations which apply generally to sales of food products at wholesale and retail. At these levels of distribution, unlike those covered by this regulation and its supplements, sellers are classified on the basis of their overall food operations, and not according to the way they handle any particular product.

"Wholesaler" means a person the larger volume of whose food business is the purchase and resale of food products, without materially changing their form, for distribution out of warehouses to independent retail stores, or to commercial, industrial or institutional users.

"Retailer" means a person the larger volume of whose food business is the purchase and resale of food products, without materially changing their form, to ultimate consumers other than commercial, industrial and institutional users.

SEC. 1.7 Meaning of "ultimate consumer". "Ultimate consumer" means a person who buys the kind and brand of product being priced for direct consumption. The term includes commercial, industrial and institutional users.

SEC. 1.8 Meaning of "item." "Item" means a kind, variety, grade, brand, style of pack, container type and size of product.

SEC. 1.9 Meaning of "container type". "Container type" refers to the composition or style of the container used (a separate price must be figured for each container type).

Examples: Tin, glass and paper containers are all different container types. Likewise, a glass container of one design is a different container type from a glass container of a substantially different design.

SEC. 1.10 Meaning of "sale". "Sale" includes sales, dispositions, exchanges, leases and other transfers, and contracts and offers to do any of those things. The terms "sell", "seller", "buy", "buyer", "purchase" and "purchaser" shall be construed accordingly.

SEC. 1.11 Meaning of "price". "Price" means the consideration requested or received in connection with the sale of a commodity or the supplying of a service.

SEC. 1.12 Meaning of "net delivered cost". "Net delivered cost" means the lawful amount the seller pays for the item (in a purchase which is customary, for him, in quantity, type of supplier, receiving point and means of transportation), less all discounts allowed him, except the discount for prompt payment. However, except in the case of raw agricultural commodities, the expense of local trucking or unloading may not be included in figuring "net delivered cost".

SEC. 1.13 Meaning of "delivered to the customary receiving point". "Delivered to the customary receiving point" means delivered to the place where the particular buyer has customarily received the product. In any case where the buyer has no customary receiving point, "delivered to the customary receiving point" means delivered to that point where it is customary in the industry to receive the product. (Maximum prices named at the customary receiving point include all transportation to that point. Any amount the buyer himself pays to get the goods to that point must be subtracted from the maximum price named. Any amount the seller pays to move the goods beyond that point may be added to the maximum price.)

SEC. 1.14 Meaning of "records". "Records" means written evidences of transactions and includes books of account, sales lists, sales slips, orders, vouchers, contracts, receipts, invoices, bills of lading, and other papers and documents.

ARTICLE II—PRICING PROVISIONS

SECTION 2.1 Processors who have two seasonal packs. This section applies only to processors.

Any processor who has two seasonal packs of a food product during the calendar year may, if he wishes, figure maximum prices for it as if each pack were a separate commodity. If the maximum prices so figured for the two packs are different, the processor shall plainly indicate on the invoice in each case, and on each consumer package, whether the product is the "spring pack" or the "fall pack."

SEC. 2.2 Maximum prices for products in new container types or sizes. This section applied to processors and repackers.

The maximum price per unit for any item which is packed in a new container type or size for which no maximum price is otherwise provided and which meets the requirements of paragraph (a), below, shall be figured under the following pricing method.

"New container type or size", in the case of products for which maximum prices are established on the basis of sales which the seller made during a base period named in the applicable supplement, means a container type or size which the seller did not sell during that period. In the case of products for which dollars-and-cents maximum prices are named, it means a container type or size for which no maximum price is named.

For each such item, the seller shall:

(a) Determine the base container. If the seller has sold the same product (that is, the same kind, variety, grade, brand, and style of pack), but only in other container types or sizes, he shall first determine the most similar container type for which he is able to figure a maximum price for that product (even though he no longer sells that container type). From that container type he shall choose the nearest size which is 50% or less larger than the new size, or if there is no such size, 50% or less smaller (even though he no longer sells those sizes). This will be the base container. If there is no such smaller size, he shall go to the next most similar container type and proceed in the same manner to determine the base container. However, no container type and size which has been priced under this section shall be used as a base container.

NOTE: In most cases "the most similar container type" will be merely the container type which the seller is adding to or replacing, like the tin which he may be replacing with glass. Where there has been only a size change, "the most similar container type" will, of course, be the same container type. This is also true in the reverse situation; where there has been a change only in container type, the "nearest size" will be the same size.

(b) Find the base price. The seller shall take as the "base price" his maximum price under the applicable supplement for the product when packed in the base container. However, if this maximum price is a price delivered to the purchaser or to any point other than the seller's shipping point, the seller shall first convert it to a base price f. o. b. shipping point by deducting whatever transportation charges were included in it.

(c) Deduct the container cost. Taking his base price f. o. b. shipping point, the seller shall then subtract the direct cost of the base container. "Direct cost of the container" means the net cost, at the seller's plant, of the container, cap, label, and proportionate part of the outgoing shipping carton, but it does not include cost of filling, closing, labeling or packing.

(d) Adjust for any difference in contents. The figure obtained by this deduction shall then be adjusted, in the case of a size change, by dividing it by the number of units in the base container and multiplying the result by the number of the same units in the new container.

(f) Convert to a maximum delivered price, if the maximum price for the base container is on a delivered basis. If the seller's maximum price for the product in the base container is a delivered price, he shall figure transportation charges to be added as follows: The seller shall take the transportation charges which he first deducted to get his base price and adjust them in exact proportion to the difference in shipping weight. If for any reason the product in the new container will move under a different freight tariff classification, the seller shall figure his transportation charges (by the same means of transportation and to the same destination) on the basis of the new shipping weight, but at the rate in effect for that freight tariff classification on March 17, 1942. Changes in tariff rates or transportation taxes made since March 17, 1942, shall not be taken into account. (Similar principles shall apply where shipping volume is the measure of the transportation charge.) The seller shall then add these transportation charges to his f. o. b. shipping point price for the commodity in the new container. The resulting figure is the processor's or repacker's maximum delivered price.

Examples: Case 1. The maximum price f. o. b. factory is the same in size as the new container but different in type. Assume the base container is a 16 oz. tin and the new container is a 16 oz. glass.

Maximum price per doz. f. o. b. factory in base container ("base price")	$0.55
Subtract "direct cost" of base container	−.20
	.35
Add "direct cost" of new container	+.34
New maximum price (f. o. b. factory)	$0.69

Case 2. The maximum price f. o. b. factory if the base container is different in size from the new container and either the same or different in type. Assume the base container is a 10½ oz. tin and the new container is an 8 oz. tin or glass.

Maximum price per doz. f. o. b. factory in base container ("base price")	$1.20
Subtract "direct cost" of base container	−.15
	1.05
Adjust to new container:
Divide by number of ounces of commodity in base container	$1.05 ÷ 10½
	.10

Adjust to new container—Con.
Multiply by number of ounces of commodity in new container	× 8
	$0.80
Add "direct cost" of new container (glass)	.26
New maximum price (f. o. b. factory)	$1.06

Case 3. The maximum delivered price if the base container is the same in size as the new container but different in type. Assume the base container is a 16 oz. tin and the new container is a 16 oz. glass.

Maximum delivered price per doz. in base container (figured carload)	$0.60
Subtract transportation charges	−.05
Price f. o. b. factory ("base price")	.55
Subtract "direct cost" of container	−.20
	.35
Add "direct cost" of new container	+.34
Add new transportation charges: $0.05 (old transportation charges) × 40 lb. (new shipping weight/case) ÷ 34 lb. (old shipping weight/case)	= .058
New maximum delivered price	$0.75

Case 4. Same except that the new container type puts the commodity in a different freight tariff classification. Assume the base container is a 16 oz. tin and the new container is a 16 oz. glass.

Maximum delivered price per doz. in base container (figured less than carload)	$0.60
Subtract transportation charges	−.05
Price f. o. b. factory ("base price")	.55
Subtract "direct cost" of container	−.20
	.35
Add "direct cost" of new container	+.34
Add new transportation charges: 40 lb. (new shipping weight) ÷ 100 × $0.185 (rate per cwt. under new classification)	= .074
New maximum delivered price (doz.)	$0.76

SEC. 2.3 Adjustment of dollars-and-cents maximum prices for processors who perform the wholesale or retail function. This section applies only to processors. Moreover, the adjustments provided by it apply only to dollars-and-cents maximum prices and not to maximum prices figured on a formula basis.

(a) Sales by processors from branch warehouses. Any processor who sells the item being priced, from a branch warehouse owned or controlled by him, to retailers or to commercial, industrial or institutional users, shall figure his maximum prices for these sales, f. o. b. branch warehouse, as follows: He shall add to his dollars-and-cents maximum price, f. o. b. factory, the freight, if any, incurred from factory to branch warehouse, and multiply the resulting figure by the markup named in Maximum Price Regulation No. 421 for cash-and-carry wholesalers or for service wholesalers, depending on whether delivery is made in the particular sale to the buyer's place of business. These markups shall be used only when the particular goods have been warehoused at the branch warehouse and are being sold in less-than-carload quantities. (A processor who has more than one factory or branch warehouse may, if he wishes, figure freight on a weighted average basis from factory to branch warehouse, in the manner provided in section 2.8 of Food Products Regulation No. 1.)

"Branch warehouse" means a plant or warehouse (1) which is physically apart from the seller's factory and is separately operated for the principal purpose of selling (in contrast to storing) food products manufactured by him, (2) from which he sells a larger volume of the product to independent retail stores or commercial, industrial or institutional users than he sells to other classes of purchasers, and (3) at which he maintains a sales organization separate from the factory sales organization.

(b) Sales by processors to ultimate consumers. Processors who sell the items they manufacture to ultimate consumers, other than commercial, industrial and institutional users, are normally persons whose general business is selling at retail items manufactured by others. Retailers are covered by Maximum Price Regulations Nos. 422 and 423, which also provide special pricing methods for items that a retailer may happen to manufacture himself (see section 25 of MPR 422). Manufacturing retailers, therefore, shall figure their maximum prices under those regulations.

SEC. 2.4 Elective pricing method for processors. This section applies only to processors.

If the processor cannot otherwise determine his maximum price for an item under the pricing methods of the applicable supplement, he may, if he wishes, figure his maximum price under the pricing method of this section. However, if any ingredient is a raw agricultural commodity, he may use this pricing method only if each of the raw agricultural commodities actually used in the item is either subject to maximum prices, or is covered by announced prices (including support prices) recommended by the Department of Agriculture for payment to growers, or is covered by the Commodity Credit Corporation's purchase and resale program.

(a) Pricing method for sales to purchasers other than government procurement agencies. Under this section, the processor's maximum price per dozen or other unit for sales to purchasers other than government procurement agencies shall be figured as follows. He shall:

(1) Figure the "direct cost" of the item. The processor's "direct cost" per dozen or other unit of the item shall be figured by adding together the following:

(i) His actual cost per unit of all ingredients (other than raw agricultural commodities) and of packaging materials, for which maximum prices have been established, figured at no more than the current maximum prices applying to the class of purchasers to which he belongs;

(ii) His actual cost per unit of all other ingredients (other than raw agricultural commodities) and of packaging materials, for which no maximum prices have been established, figured at no more than their current market prices;

(iii) His actual cost per unit of all raw agricultural ingredients included in the Commodity Credit Corporation's purchase and resale program, figured at no more than the Commodity Credit Corporation's resale price for the area in which his factory is located;

(iv) His actual cost per unit of all other raw agricultural ingredients, for which maximum prices have been established, figured at no more than the current maximum prices applying to the class of purchasers to which he belongs;

(v) His actual cost per unit of all other raw agricultural ingredients, for which no maximum prices have been established but for which the Department of Agriculture has announced prices recommended for payment to growers, figured at no more than these prices;

(vi) His current direct labor cost per unit; and

(vii) Transportation charges per unit by the usual mode of transportation from his customary supply point to his customary receiving point, if the cost factors used in subdivisions (i), (ii), (iii), (iv) and (v), above, are not delivered costs and if these charges are customarily incurred.

(2) Multiply by the "markup percentage." The processor shall multiply his "direct cost" per dozen or other unit of the item by a "markup percentage," figured by dividing:

(i) The current maximum price per unit for sales of the most closely comparable commodity then being produced by him, to purchasers other than government procurement agencies, by:

(ii) The current cost per unit of ingredients, packaging materials and direct labor of that commodity, figured in the same manner as he figures his "direct cost" under subparagraph (1), above, for the item being priced.

The resulting figure is the processor's unadjusted price for sales of the item to purchasers other than government procurement agencies.

(3) Adjust for any applicable subsidy payment. The processor shall finally adjust the maximum price by deducting any direct subsidy payment, payable per unit of the finished product, the amount of which has previously been announced by the Commodity Credit Corporation or other agency responsible for the administration of the subsidy and which is applicable to the particular goods being sold.

(b) Meaning of "most closely comparable commodity." As used in this section, "most closely comparable commodity" means a food product, covered by the same supplement, (1) whose maximum price does not exceed the percentage of its "direct cost" named in the applicable supplement; (2) whose current "direct cost" is closest to but not less than two-thirds of the "direct cost" of the item being priced; and (3) for which the methods employed in its sale and merchandising are similar to those which will be used in the sale and merchandising of the item being priced. As between two or more such commodities having the same "direct cost", the one whose maximum price represents the smallest percentage of its own "direct cost" shall be used.

(c) Meaning of "current." As used in this section, "current" means at the time of figuring the new maximum price.

(d) Meaning of "actual cost per unit of all other raw agricultural ingredients." "Actual cost per unit of all other raw agricultural ingredients" means net cost per dozen or other unit after the deduction of any direct subsidy payment, payable per unit of ingredients, the amount of which has previously been announced by the Commodity Credit Corporation or other agency responsible for the administration of the subsidy, and which is applicable to the ingredients used in the particular goods being sold.

(e) Direct labor cost. In deciding whether items of labor cost are to be treated as direct cost in figuring the price or are to be treated as overhead, the processor shall follow his customary practice. Thus, if a processor has treated cleaning labor as an item of overhead with respect to the comparable commodity used in determining the markup percentage, he shall continue to treat it in this way when figuring the maximum price.

(f) Other cost factors. The processor shall employ no cost factors, direct or indirect, in addition to those entering into the cost of the comparable commodity used in determining the markup percentage and he shall make no changes in the method of application of those factors which would result in a higher price.

(g) Examples illustrating the method of selecting the "most closely comparable commodity".

Example 1: Pricing of a new item of pancake mix. The processor is pricing Commodity A, for which the direct cost is $1.48, as itemized below. He also produces Commodities B and C, listed below, for which he has established maximum prices, under the applicable supplement, for sales to wholesalers. The maximum markup percentage named in the supplement is 165%. The sales unit is twenty-four 20-ounce packages, and sales of the new item are to be made to wholesalers only. All maximum prices are on an f. o. b. shipping point basis.

	Commodity A (being priced)	Commodity B	Commodity C
Ingredients	$1.13	$1.26	$0.97
Packaging materials	.24	.24	.24
Direct labor	.11	.13	.10
Total direct cost	1.48	1.63	1.31
Maximum price		2.53	2.16
Markup percentage		155%	165%

The maximum price of neither Commodity B nor Commodity C exceeds 165% of direct cost; the direct cost of each is not less than two-thirds of Commodity A; and both are sold to wholesalers. However, the direct cost of Commodity B is closer than that of Commodity C to the direct cost of Commodity A. Hence, Commodity B must be used. Application of its markup percentage of 155% ($2.53÷1.63) to the $1.48 direct cost of the new item results in a maximum price of $2.29 per twenty-four 20-ounce packages of the new pancake mix, f. o. b. shipping point, for sales to wholesalers.

Example 2: Pricing of a new item of blackberry preserves, made from fresh blackberries. In 1944 the Department of Agriculture announced that 12 cents per pound was recommended to be a proper payment to growers for fresh blackberries. Hence, ingredient cost for fresh blackberries may not exceed that figure. The preserver packs the additional commodities listed below, for which he has established maximum prices under the same applicable supplement, for sales to wholesalers. The maximum markup percentage named in the supplement is 150%. The sales unit is one dozen 1-pound jars, and sales of the new item are to be made to wholesalers only. All maximum prices are on an f. o. b. factory basis.

	Blackberry preserves (commodity being priced)	Apple jelly, Commodity A	Apricot preserves, Commodity B	Peach preserves, Commodity C	Boysenberry preserves, Commodity D	Loganberry preserves, Commodity E
Ingredients	$2.20	$0.65	$1.60	$1.80	$2.05	$2.10
Packaging materials	.30	.30	.30	.30	.30	.30
Direct labor	.20	.15	.15	.15	.25	.20
Total direct cost	2.70	1.30	2.05	2.25	2.60	2.60
Maximum price (to wholesalers)		1.65	3.20	3.00	3.38	3.25
Markup percentage		127%	156%	133%	130%	125%

The preserver also packs grape jelly, which he sells to retailers only. He may not use this commodity, regardless of other circumstances, since the methods employed in its sale and merchandising are not similar to those which will be used with respect to the new commodity.

Commodity A cannot be used because its direct cost is less than two-thirds of the direct cost of the new item.

Commodity B cannot be used because its maximum price exceeds 150% of its direct cost ($3.20÷$2.05=156%).

Commodity C cannot be used because Commodities D and E have a direct cost closer than that of Commodity C to the direct cost of the new item.

Commodity E must be used instead of Commodity D, although each has the same direct cost, because the maximum price of Commodity E represents a smaller percentage of its direct cost than the percentage of direct cost represented by the maximum price of Commodity D. Thus, since the other necessary conditions are present, loganberry preserves must be used as the comparable commodity. Application of its markup percentage of 125% ($3.25÷$2.60) to the $2.70 direct cost of the new item results in a maximum price of $3.375 per dozen one-pound jars of blackberry preserves, f. o. b. factory, for sales to wholesalers.

(h) Refiguring the maximum price. The processor shall refigure his maximum price under paragraph (a), for sales to purchasers other than government procurement agencies, in any case where the amount of any direct subsidy payment, applicable to the particular goods being sold, is announced by the Commodity Credit Corporation, or other agency responsible for the administration of the subsidy, after he has established his price. The refigured maximum price shall apply to sales of such goods made after the date of the announcement.

(i) Pricing method for sales to government procurement agencies. The processor's maximum price for sales of the item to government procurement agencies shall be determined as provided in section 2.12 of Food Products Regulation No. 1, which for this purpose shall be considered part of this section. However, if any other pricing method is provided in the applicable supplement for sales of the item to government procurement agencies, that pricing method shall be used.

(j) Discounts and allowances. The maximum price figured under this section shall be subject to discounts, transportation and other allowances and price differentials no less favorable than those given with respect to the comparable commodity used in determining the "markup percentage." However, the processor is not required to give a discount for prompt payment in the case of sales to government procurement agencies.

(k) Reporting and approval of prices. Before delivering the item to any purchaser, the processor shall file with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., a report setting forth the following:

(1) A description of the item for which he has figured a maximum price under this section and the reasons why the price cannot be otherwise determined by him;

(2) The maximum price so figured, together with a true copy of the calculations showing his determination of the price, and, for the purposes of comparison, itemized cost breakdowns of both the item being priced and the comparable commodity used in determining the markup percentage, showing separately, according to his own system of accounts or regularly prepared operating statements, all major component cost factors (e. g., direct costs, such as raw materials, packaging materials and direct labor; indirect costs, such as indirect labor, factory overhead and selling, advertising and administrative cost, together with an explanation showing the method of allocation of the indirect cost factors; and freight if sold on a delivered basis) indicating whether each cost item is an actual or estimated cost;

(3) The method of distribution to be employed by the processor in marketing the item (i. e., whether it is to be sold to wholesalers, retailers, ultimate consumers or other classes of purchasers);

(4) A list of his customary discounts, transportation and other allowances and price differentials; and

(5) The volume of the item which he has on hand and which he expects to produce during the following twelve months.

Upon receipt of the report, the Office of Price Administration will either approve the maximum price or disapprove it and authorize a maximum price. The maximum price approved or authorized will be one which bears a proper relationship to those for comparable commodities and sellers.

After filing the report, the processor may deliver the item, but he may not receive payment for it until a maximum price has been approved or authorized.

Where any cost factor set forth in the report is an estimated amount, the processor shall file with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., not earlier than three months nor later than six months after a maximum price has been approved or authorized, a statement showing the actual cost of that factor in his production of the item since the maximum price was approved or authorized.

Whenever a processor refigures a maximum price under paragraph (h), above, he shall file with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., within two weeks after the date of the announcement of the direct subsidy payment, a report stating his new maximum price and the amount of the subsidy.

Any maximum price established under this section shall be subject to revision at any time by the Office of Price Administration.

SEC. 2.5 Individual authorization of maximum prices. This section applies to processors and repackers.

If the processor or repacker cannot otherwise determine his maximum price for an item under the pricing methods of the applicable supplement and he cannot or elects not to price under section 2.4 of Food Products Regulation No. 1, before delivering the item to any purchaser he shall apply to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., for a maximum price. His application shall set forth:

(a) A description in detail of the item for which a maximum price is sought, including its grade and brand name (if any) to be used, the number of packages in each shipping case, and a statement of the facts which make it different from the most similar item for which he has determined a maximum price, identifying the similar item and stating its maximum price;

(b) An itemized current cost breakdown of the item to be priced, showing separately, according to his own system of accounts or regularly prepared operating statements, all major component cost factors (e. g., direct costs, such as raw materials, packaging materials and direct labor; indirect costs, such as indirect labor, factory overhead and selling, advertising and administrative cost, together with an explanation showing the method of allocation of the indirect cost factors; and freight if sold on a delivered basis) indicating whether each cost item is an actual or an estimated cost, and the identical current cost breakdown of the most closely comparable food product which contributes substantially to his total volume of business;

(c) The proposed maximum price for the item, including a statement showing the necessity for that price, any discounts or allowances which should be made applicable to the proposed price, and (for comparison) the maximum price for the second product included in paragraph (b) of this section, including a list of his customary discounts, transportation and other allowances and price differentials;

(d) The method of distribution to be employed by the seller in marketing the item (i. e., whether it is to be sold to wholesalers, retailers, consumers or other classes of purchasers); and

(e) The volume of the item which he has on hand and which he expects to produce during the following twelve months.

Upon receipt of the application, the Office of Price Administration will authorize a maximum price, or a method of determining a maximum price, for the applicant or for the sellers of the item generally, including purchasers for resale or for a class of such resellers. The maximum price authorized will be one which bears a proper relationship to those for comparable commodities and sellers. Separate maximum prices will be authorized for sales to government procurement agencies.

After filing the application, the seller may deliver the item, but he may not receive payment for it until a maximum price is authorized.

Where any cost factor set forth in the application is an estimated amount, the processor shall file with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., not earlier than three months nor later than six months after a maximum price has been authorized, a statement showing the actual cost of that factor in his production of the item since the maximum price was authorized.

If the seller fails to apply for a maximum price under this section, when required to do so, the Office of Price Administration may authorize a maximum price for his sales of the item bearing a proper relationship to those for comparable commodities and sellers. This will not relieve the seller of his obligation to comply with this section or with any other provision of the applicable supplement, nor will it relieve him of any penalty for failure to do so.

Any maximum price established under this section shall be subject to revision at any time by the Office of Price Administration.

SEC. 2.6 When the seller must figure a delivered price. When this section applies to a supplement, it applies to all sellers covered by the supplement. However, it applies only to maximum prices based on sales which the seller made during a base period named in the supplement.

Any seller who regularly sold a purchaser the item being priced on a delivered basis during the base period named in the applicable supplement shall figure a maximum delivered price by adding to the maximum price for the item, figured f. o. b. shipping point, the amount of the transportation charge, per unit of that item, which he added to his f. o. b. shipping point price during that period (but only before March 18, 1942). The resulting price is the seller's maximum delivered price to that purchaser.

The seller, of course, is free to sell his goods on an f. o. b. shipping point basis. However, in that event, the f. o. b. price charged plus the actual transportation charges incurred by the buyer shall not exceed the seller's maximum price figured on a delivered basis.

SEC. 2.7 Uniform prices where the processor or repacker has more than one factory. This section applies to processors and repackers.

Any processor or repacker who processes or repacks the item being priced at more than one factory and whose maximum prices for the item vary by factory may, if he wishes, establish a uniform maximum price for the item for any group of factories by figuring a weighted average of their separate maximum prices.

For any two or more factories selected by the seller, this "weighted average maximum price" shall be figured by him as follows: He shall (a) determine the total estimated receipts which would have been obtained if his production of the item at those factories during the one-year period immediately preceding the date of calculation had been sold at the separate maximum prices which are in effect under the applicable supplement on the date of calculation, and (b) divide that figure by the total number of units of the item (like pounds, dozens, etc.) included in that production.

The seller shall refigure his weighted average maximum price at the end of each subsequent three-months' period on the basis of sales made during the one-year period immediately preceding the date of recalculation.

SEC. 2.8 Uniform delivered prices where the seller has customarily been selling on an f. o. b. shipping point basis. When this section applies to a supplement, it applies to all sellers covered by the supplement. However, it applies only to maximum prices based on sales which the seller made during a base period named in the supplement.

A seller whose maximum price for an item is on an f. o. b. shipping point basis may, if he wishes, establish a uniform maximum delivered price for the item, by zone or area, by adding to his f. o. b. shipping point price his weighted average transportation charge from shipping point to purchasers' receiving points.

For any zone or area, this "weighted average transportation charge" shall be figured by him as follows: He shall (a) determine the total estimated transportation charges which would have been incurred if the shipments of the item which he made during the one-year period immediately preceding the date of calculation, to purchasers in that zone or area, had been at rates in effect on that date, and (b) divide that figure by the total number of pounds or other units of the item included in those shipments. (Where more than one means of transportation is used, averages may be taken separately for each.)

The seller shall refigure his weighted average transportation charge at the end of each three-months' period on the basis of shipments made during the one-year period immediately preceding the date of recalculation and at rates in effect on that date.

SEC. 2.9 Maximum prices for sales by primary distributors. There are two pricing methods for primary distributors.

(a) Pricing Method No. 1. A primary distributor may use the following pricing method only if he sold the kind and variety of product being priced (as a primary distributor) before April 28, 1942, and he may use this pricing method only when he is selling, in less-than-carload quantities, merchandise which he has actually warehoused. (In normal situations the pricing method will give him the same dollars-and-cents margin that he previously had.)

If the processor's maximum price for the item under the applicable supplement is greater than the processor's maximum price under the maximum price regulation previously applicable to the processor, the primary distributor shall add the difference to the maximum price which he had immediately prior to the effective date of the applicable supplement. If the processor's maximum price for it under the applicable supplement is less than the processor's maximum price under the maximum price regulation previously applicable, the primary distributor shall subtract the difference from the maximum price which he had immediately prior to the effective date of the applicable supplement. However, in no event may the primary distributor's maximum price be greater than his net delivered cost (based upon purchases directly from the processor) plus the markup named in the applicable supplement. The resulting figure is the primary distributor's maximum price for the item when warehoused by him and sold in less-than-carload quantities.

If the primary distributor sold the kind and variety of product being priced, before April 28, 1942, but did not sell the particular grade, brand, style of pack, container type or size being priced before the effective date of the applicable supplement, his maximum price for the new item shall be his net delivered cost (based on his first purchase of the item after that date direct from the processor) multiplied by a markup factor. This markup factor shall be figured by dividing his maximum price (as figured under this section) for the most closely comparable item of that kind and variety of product already handled by him by the current net delivered cost to him of that item. He may apply this markup factor only when he is selling, in less-than-carload quantities, goods which he has actually warehoused.

(b) Pricing Method No. 2. For all items, and for sales of such items, which are not covered by Pricing Method No. 1, the primary distributor's maximum price, f. o. b. shipping point, shall be the maximum price of his supplier, f. o. b. shipping point, plus incoming freight paid by him.

Examples: The processor's ceiling price for grapefruit juice under MPR 509 and under the applicable supplement are the same. Therefore, the primary distributor's maximum price remains the same under the applicable supplement as it was under MPR 509.

The processor's ceiling price under MPR 306 for asparagus (all green spears) in No. 2 size cans was $3.55 per dozen for colossal size, A-fancy grade. Under the applicable supplement it is now $3.85 per dozen. The primary distributor therefore adds the increase of 30 cents to his own ceiling price under MPR 306, provided that the maximum price so determined does not exceed his net delivered cost plus the markup named in the supplement.

The primary distributor handled packed grapefruit juice as a primary distributor before April 28, 1942. He added packed orange juice to his line in October 1942. Although he may use Pricing Method No. 1 for packed grapefruit juice, he must use Pricing Method No. 2 for packed orange juice because he did not sell it as a primary distributor before April 28, 1942.

Before April 28, 1942, the primary distributor handled "X" brand fancy sweetened grapefruit juice in No. 2 size cans, for which his maximum price under MPR 509 and the applicable supplement is $1.24 per dozen and his current net delivered cost is $1.15 per dozen. He now adds to his line "X" brand fancy sweetened grapefruit juice in No. 3 cyl. cans, for which the net delivered cost of his first purchase from the processor is $2.60 per dozen. Because the No. 2 can size is the most closely comparable item of the same kind and variety, he divides $1.24 by $1.15 and obtains a markup factor of 108%. Application of 108% to $2.60 results in a figure of $2.81, which is his maximum price for the new item when he sells, in less-than-carload quantities, goods which he has actually warehoused.

SEC. 2.10 Maximum prices for sales by distributors who are not primary distributors, wholesalers or retailers. The maximum price, f. o. b. shipping point, of a distributor who is not a primary distributor, wholesaler, or retailer shall be the maximum price of his supplier, f. o. b. shipping point, plus incoming freight paid by him.

SEC. 2.11 Payment of brokers. When this section applies to a supplement, it applies to all sellers covered by the supplement.

In accordance with trade custom, every broker shall be considered as the agent of the seller and not the agent of the buyer. In each case, the amount paid by the buyer to the seller plus any amount paid by the buyer to the broker shall not exceed the seller's maximum price, including allowable transportation actually paid by the seller or by the broker. In other words, the seller may not collect from the buyer any more than the maximum price, including allowable transportation so paid, less any amount which the buyer pays the broker.

The term "broker" includes a "finder."

SEC. 2.12 Maximum prices for sales to government procurement agencies in certain cases. When this section applies to a supplement, it applies to all sellers covered by the supplement. However, it applies only where no maximum price is specifically provided by the applicable supplement for sales of an item to government procurement agencies.

(a) The seller's maximum price, f. o. b. shipping point, for sales to government procurement agencies shall be 96% of his maximum price, f. o. b. shipping point, to purchasers other than government procurement agencies (for processors and repackers, "f. o. b. shipping point" means "f. o. b. factory"), after that maximum price has been adjusted, where necessary, as follows:

(1) If the seller is a processor and if any raw agricultural ingredient used in the commodity is covered by the Commodity Credit Corporation's purchase and resale program, the processor shall first increase the maximum price per dozen or other unit, f. o. b. factory, by the difference, per dozen or other unit, between the Commodity Credit Corporation's purchase price for the area in which he received delivery of the raw materials and its resale price for the area in which his factory is located.

(2) If the seller is a processor, he shall increase the maximum price per dozen or other unit, f. o. b. factory, by the amount of any direct subsidy payment the amount of which has previously been announced by the Commodity Credit Corporation or other agency responsible for the administration of the subsidy and which is applicable to the particular goods being sold or their ingredients.

(b) If a processor or repacker has no maximum price for sales f. o. b. factory to persons other than government procurement agencies, he shall apply to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., for a maximum price for sales to government procurement agencies.

SEC. 2.13 Special packing expenses which may be reflected in maximum prices for sales to government procurement agencies.

NOTE: This section is derived from, and for the purposes of the applicable supplement supersedes, Supplementary Order No. 34,[1] issued by the Office of Price Administration.

When this section applies to a supplement, it applies to all sellers covered by the supplement.

(a) Conditions under which special packing expenses may be reflected in maximum prices. Special packing expenses are a basis for increasing maximum prices for sales to government procurement agencies only if all the following conditions are satisfied:

(1) The buyer must specifically require that the commodity be packed, or unpacked and repacked, to the buyer's specifications.

(2) The seller must show separately in his contract of sale, or on the invoice furnished to the buyer, the net charge being made for the packing (and any unpacking and repacking) specified by the buyer.

(3) In addition to the records required by the applicable supplement, the seller must prepare and keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect, accurate records showing the total additional cost required by the special packing (and any unpacking and repacking) specified by the buyer, and the value of materials salvaged in the process.

(b) Maximum prices for sales which meet the conditions of paragraph (a). For sales to a government procurement agency which meet the conditions of paragraph (a), the maximum prices of the seller and of any subcontractor under the seller's contract of sale with the government procurement agency shall be the maximum prices otherwise applicable, increased by the following amounts:

(1) If the packing specified by the buyer differs from standard packing, the difference between the total cost of packing to the specifications of the buyer and the total cost of standard packing, or

(2) If the commodity has already been packed in standard packing and if repacking to the specifications of the buyer is required, the total cost incurred in unpacking and repacking, less the reasonable value of salvaged materials, or

(3) If the commodity has initially been packed to the specifications of the buyer in accordance with subparagraph (1) and if repacking to new specifications of the buyer is required, the amount permitted by subparagraph (1) plus the total cost of unpacking and repacking less the reasonable value of salvaged materials.

(c) Meaning of "total cost." "Total cost" means the direct material costs, direct labor costs, factory overhead, and other expenses actually incurred in performing the operations described above. However, where these operations are performed for the seller or subcontractor by an independent contractor (not affiliated with the seller) who does not process or sell the commodity, but only packs it or prepares it for packing, the amount actually paid to the independent contractor shall be considered to be the "total cost" of such operations.

(d) Meaning of "packing" and "standard packing." "Packing" means the providing of wrappings, inner containers, or outer containers; the placing of commodities in such wrappings or containers; and the application of any special coverings or coatings.

"Standard packing" means that packing the cost of which was included in figuring the maximum price established by the applicable supplement, or any other type of packing expressly referred to and expressly priced in the applicable supplement.

SEC. 2.14 Treatment of federal and state taxes. When this section applies to a supplement, it applies to all sellers covered by the supplement. However, paragraph (b) applies only to maximum prices based on sales which the seller made during a base period named in the supplement.

(a) As to the tax on transportation of property imposed by section 620 of the Revenue Act of 1942. The tax on transportation of property imposed by section 620 of the Revenue Act of 1942 shall, for the purposes of determining the maximum price of any item, be treated as if it were an increase of 3% in the amount charged by persons engaged in the business of transporting property for hire. It shall not be treated as a tax for which a charge may be made in addition to the maximum price. (This provision is derived from, and for the purposes of the applicable supplement supersedes, Supplementary Order No. 31,[1] issued by the Office of Price Administration.)

(b) As to taxes other than the tax on transportation of property imposed by section 620 of the Revenue Act of 1942. Any tax incident to the sale, delivery, processing, or use of an item, imposed by any statute or ordinance (other than the tax on transportation of property imposed by section 620 of the Revenue Act of 1942), shall be treated as follows in determining the seller's maximum price for the item, and in preparing the records required by the applicable supplement:

(1) As to a tax in effect during the base period. (i) If the seller paid the tax or if the tax was paid by any prior seller, irrespective of whether the amount was separately stated and collected from the seller, but during the base period named in the applicable supplement he did not customarily state and collect, separately from the purchase price, the amount of tax paid by him (or tax reimbursement collected from him by his supplier), the seller may not collect the amount in addition to the maximum price under the applicable supplement.

(ii) In all other cases, if at the time the seller determines his maximum price the statute or ordinance imposing the tax does not prohibit him from stating and collecting the tax separately from the purchase price, and he does state it separately, he may collect, in addition to the maximum price, the amount of the tax actually paid by him (or an amount equal to the amount of tax paid by any prior seller and separately stated and collected from the seller by his supplier). In this case the seller shall not include the amount in determining his maximum price under the applicable supplement.

(2) As to a tax or tax increase which becomes effective after the base period. If the statute or ordinance imposing a tax or tax increase effective after the base period named in the applicable supplement does not prohibit the seller from stating and collecting the tax or increase separately from the purchase price, and he does separately state it, he may collect, in addition to the maximum price, the amount of the tax or increase actually paid by him (or an amount equal to the amount of tax paid by any prior seller and separately stated and collected from the seller by his supplier).

SEC. 2.15 Units of sale and fractions of a cent. When this section applies to a supplement, it applies to all sellers covered by the supplement.

(a) Maximum prices shall be stated in terms of the same general units (like pounds, dozens, etc.) in which the seller has customarily quoted prices for the product, except when the applicable pricing method shows that another unit shall be used.

(b) Amounts computed in the process of figuring a maximum price (other than the maximum price itself) shall be carried to four decimal places (hundredths of a cent). For sales to government procurement agencies, the maximum price itself shall be carried to four decimal places. If any figured maximum price (other than for sales to government procurement agencies) includes a fraction of a cent, the seller shall adjust the maximum price to the nearest fractional unit of a cent (like 1¢, ½¢, etc.) in which he has customarily quoted prices for the product.

SEC. 2.16 Maintenance of customary discounts and allowances. When this section applies to a supplement, it applies to all sellers covered by the supplement.

No person shall change any customary allowance, discount or other price differential to a purchaser or class of purchasers, if the change results in a higher net price to that purchaser or class. However, in the case of sales to government procurement agencies, the seller is not required to give a discount for prompt payment.

ARTICLE III—MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

SECTION 3.1 Restrictions on sales to primary distributors. For sales of the 1943 and 1944 production of any item, made after the effective date of the applicable supplement, no processor shall sell to primary distributors a greater percentage (by volume) than he sold to primary distributors during the one-year period ending April 28, 1942.

SEC. 3.2 Weights. Where label weights are used, prices figured by weight shall be based on the weights named on the label and not on actual fill.

SEC. 3.3 Storage. Storage costs incurred by the seller on goods owned by him shall not be added to his maximum prices. Storage by the seller of goods owned by the buyer may be charged for in accordance with the maximum price regulation applicable to such services.

SEC. 3.4 Export sales. The maximum price at which a person may export any item covered by the applicable supplement shall be determined in accordance with the Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation,[2] and amendments.

SEC. 3.5 Notification of new maximum price. With the first delivery of an item after the effective date of any provision changing the seller's maximum price, he shall:

(a) Supply each wholesaler and retailer who purchases from him with written notice, reading as follows:

NOTICE TO WHOLESALERS AND RETAILERS

Our OPA ceiling price for (describe item by kind, variety, grade, brand, style of pack, and container type and size) has been changed by the Office of Price Administration. We are authorized to inform you that if you are a wholesaler or retailer pricing this item under Maximum Price Regulation No. 421, 422 or 423, you must refigure your ceiling price for this item on the first delivery of it to you from your customary type of supplier with this notification after (insert effective date of the applicable supplement, amendment or order). You must refigure your ceiling price following the Rules in section 6 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 421, 422 or 423, whichever is applicable to you.

For a period of 60 days after determining the new maximum price for the item, and with the first shipment after the 60-day period to each person who has not made a purchase within that time, each processor or repacker shall include in each case, carton, or other receptacle containing the item, the written notice set forth above, or securely attach it to the outside. However, for sales direct to any retailer, the seller may supply the notice by attaching it to, or stating it on, the invoice covering the shipment, instead of providing it with the goods.

(b) Supply each purchaser of the item who is a distributor other than a wholesaler and retailer with written notice of the establishment of the new maximum price. The notice, which shall be attached to, or stated on, the invoice covering the first delivery to such purchaser after the effective date of the provision changing the maximum price, shall read as follows:

NOTICE TO DISTRIBUTORS OTHER THAN WHOLESALERS AND RETAILERS

Our O. P. A. ceiling price for (describe item by kind, variety, grade, brand, style of pack, and container type and size) has been changed from $---- to $---- under the provisions of Supplement No. ---- to Food Products Regulation No. 1. You are required to notify all wholesalers and retailers for whom you are the customary type of supplier purchasing the item from you after (insert effective date of the applicable supplement, amendment or order) of any change in your maximum price. This notice must be made in the manner prescribed in section 3.5 of Food Products Regulation No. 1.

SEC. 3.6 Records which must be kept. Every person who makes sales covered by the applicable supplement shall:

(a) Make and preserve for examination by the Office of Price Administration, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, shall remain in effect, all records of the same kind as he has customarily kept, relating to the prices which he charged in those sales, and

(b) Preserve for examination by the Office of Price Administration, for the same period, all his existing records which were the basis of figuring his maximum prices in the manner directed by the applicable supplement, showing the method used in figuring the maximum prices.

SEC. 3.7 Authority of regional and district offices to audit reports. Any Regional Administrator of the Office of Price Administration, or any District Director authorized by his Regional Administrator, may (a) approve or disapprove reports filed with his office under the reporting provisions of this regulation and its supplements, and (b) require any seller filing a report with it which does not comply with the reporting provisions to correct and re-submit his report.

SEC. 3.8 Sales slips and receipts. Any seller who has customarily given a purchaser a sales slip, receipt, or similar evidence of purchase, shall continue to do so. Upon request, any seller, regardless of previous custom, shall give the purchaser a receipt showing the date, the name and address of the seller, the name and quantity of each item sold, and the price received for it.

SEC. 3.9 Transfers of business or stock in trade. If the business, assets or stock in trade of a seller subject to the applicable supplement are sold or otherwise transferred on or after April 28, 1942, and the transferee carries on the business, or continues to deal in the same type of food product, in an establishment separate from any other establishment previously owned or operated by him, the maximum prices of the transferee shall be the same as those to which his transferor would have been subject if no such transfer had taken place, and his obligation to keep records sufficient to verify such prices shall be the same. The transferor shall either preserve and make available, or turn over, to the transferee all records of transactions prior to the transfer which are necessary to enable the transferee to comply with the record provisions of the applicable supplement.

SEC. 3.10 How a figured maximum price is established and how an established maximum price may be changed. On and after the effective date of the applicable supplement, a price figured for any item becomes established (that is, fixed) as the seller's maximum price as soon as he has either filed the price or disclosed it to any prospective customer, whether by sale, delivery, offer, or notice of any kind, provided that the figured price is not higher than the applicable pricing method allows. A maximum price for any item may be established only once, and it may not be changed by the seller except (a) with the written permission of the District Director of the Office of Price Administration for the area in which he is located in cases where the seller has figured his maximum price lower than the applicable pricing method allows, (b) in cases where a change in this regulation or the applicable supplement changes the seller's applicable pricing method, and (c) in cases where a provision of this regulation or the applicable supplement directs the seller to refigure his price. District Directors are authorized to give this permission.

If the seller wishes to disclose a price lower than the one he figured, he may establish the higher (figured) price as his maximum price at the time of disclosure only by recording it and naming it as such, in ink on his books, before he discloses the lower price. A seller who has not figured a price for an item may deliver the item, but he may not receive payment for it until he has established a maximum price in accordance with the rules of this section.

Exception: This section does not apply to prices figured under section 2.5 of Food Products Regulation No. 1 (elective pricing method for processors).

SEC. 3.11 Adjustable pricing. Any person may agree to sell at a price which can be increased up to the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery. But no person may, unless authorized by the Office of Price Administration, deliver or agree to deliver at prices to be adjusted upward in accordance with action taken by the Office of Price Administration after delivery. Such authorization may be given when a request for a change in the applicable maximum price is pending, but only if the authorization is necessary to promote distribution or production and if it will not interfere with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. The authorization may be given by the Administrator or by any official of the Office of Price Administration having authority to act upon a pending request for a change in price or to give the authorization. The authorization will be given by order, except that it may be given by letter or telegram when the contemplated revision will be the granting of an individual application for adjustment.

SEC. 3.12 Compliance with the applicable supplement.—(a) No selling or buying above maximum prices. Regardless of any contract or obligation no person shall sell or deliver, or buy or receive in the course of trade, any item at a price higher than the maximum price established for it by the applicable supplement. However, prices lower than the maximum price may be charged and paid.

However, the prohibition of this paragraph does not apply to (1) any war procurement agency of the United States, or its contracting or paying finance officers, or (2) the government (or its agencies) of any country the defense of which the President of the United States deems vital to the defense of the United States under the terms of the Act of March 11, 1941, entitled "An Act to Promote the Defense of the United States." No such purchaser or person shall be subject to the liabilities otherwise imposed by this section or by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942. "War procurement agency" includes the War Department, the Department of the Navy, the United States Maritime Commission, the Lend-Lease Section of the Procurement Division of the Treasury Department, and the following subsidiaries of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation: the Defense Plant Corporation, the Rubber Reserve Corporation, the Metals Reserve Corporation, and the Defense Supplies Corporation, or any of their agencies. (This exception is derived from, and for the purpose of the applicable supplement supersedes, Supplementary Order No. 7,[3] issued by the Office of Price Administration.)

(b) Evasion. Nor shall any person evade a maximum price, directly or indirectly, whether by commission, service, transportation, or other charge or discount, premium or other privilege; by tying-requirement or other trade understanding; by any change of style of pack; by a business practice relating to grading, labeling, or packaging, or in any other way.

(c) Enforcement. Any person violating a provision of the applicable supplement is subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, license suspension provision, and suits for treble damages provided by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

(d) Licensing. The provisions of Licensing Order No. 1,[4] licensing all persons who make sales under price control, are applicable to all sellers subject to the applicable supplement. A seller's license may be suspended for violations of the license or one or more applicable price schedules or regulations. A person whose license is suspended may not, during the period of suspension, make any sale for which his license has been suspended.

SEC. 3.13 Adjustment of maximum prices of food products under "Government contracts" or subcontracts.

NOTE: This section is derived from, and for the purposes of the applicable supplement supersedes, Supplementary Order No. 9,[5] issued by the Office of Price Administration.

(a) The Office of Price Administration, either on its own motion or on application for adjustment in accordance with Procedural Regulation No. 6,[6] and amendments, may adjust the maximum price of any seller who has entered into or proposes to enter into a Government contract (or subcontract) for the sale of an item of a food product essential to the war program, whenever it appears that the maximum price impedes or threatens to impede its production, manufacture, or distribution. (The applicant's over-all profits will be an important consideration in determining the action to be taken.)

(b) From 5 days prior to the filing of an application for adjustment until its final disposition, contracts may be entered into or proposed and bids submitted at the price requested in the application, and deliveries may be made under such contracts. However, no amount by which the price exceeds the maximum price may be paid or received until an order granting a higher price has been issued. In each sale, contract to sell, or offer to sell, at a price requested in the application, the seller shall furnish the buyer with a statement showing the following:

(1) The maximum price for the item; and

(2) The filing of an appropriate application with the Office of Price Administration, or the intention to file it within five days.

(c) Any government agency may appear as an interested party in connection with the application.

(d) "Food product essential to the war program" means any food product purchased (1) for the ultimate use of the Army, the Navy, the Maritime Commission, or the War Shipping Administration of the United States, or the Lend-Lease Section of the Procurement Division of the Treasury Department, or (2) by the government (or its agencies) of any country whose defense the President deems vital to the defense of the United States under the terms of the SEC. 3.14 Applications for adjustment by sellers who have been found to have violated the Robinson-Patman Act.

NOTE: This section is derived from, and for the purposes of the applicable supplement supersedes, Supplementary Order No. 41,[11] issued by the Office of Price Administration.

(a) The Office of Price Administration may adjust the maximum price established for any seller in any case in which he shows:

(1) That he has been found by the Federal Trade Commission, or any court of competent jurisdiction, to have discriminated in price between different purchasers of commodities in violation of the provisions of the Robinson-Patman Act (49 Stat. 1526) or of any state statute prohibiting price discriminations; and

(2) That the elimination of the discrimination by lowering his price to the purchasers against whom he has been found to have discriminated would cause him substantial hardship; and

(3) That the elimination of the discrimination by increasing his price to the purchasers in whose favor he has been found to have discriminated is prohibited by the applicable supplement.

(b) Applications for adjustment under this provision shall be filed with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1.[12]

SEC. 3.15 Applications for adjustment and petitions for amendment based on wage or salary increases requiring approval of the National War Labor Board. Any seller may file an application for adjustment of his maximum prices, or a petition for amendment of the applicable supplement, based on a wage or salary increase requiring the approval of the National War Labor Board before any such increase becomes effective, in accordance with Supplementary Order No. 28,[13] issued by the Office of Price Administration.

SEC. 3.16 Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking a general modification of this regulation or the applicable supplement may file a petition for amendment in accordance with Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1, issued by the Office of Price Administration.

Effective date. This regulation shall become effective June 21, 1944.

NOTE: All record-keeping and reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget, in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 16th day of June 1944.

SECTION 1. Explanation of the supplement. (a) This supplement establishes maximum prices for sales of macaroni products and noodle products by all persons except wholesalers and retailers (wagon wholesalers, however, are included).

(b) This supplement applies in the forty-eight states of the United States and the District of Columbia.

(c) This supplement supersedes the General Maximum Price Regulation[1] and Maximum Price Regulations Nos. 262[2] and 326[3] as to the commodities and sellers covered. All orders issued under Maximum Price Regulation No. 326 shall remain in effect as orders under this supplement.

(d) This supplement becomes effective on June 21, 1944.

SEC. 2. Applicability of Food Products Regulation No. 1. Important: Not all of the provisions affecting the maximum prices of macaroni products and noodle products are stated in this supplement. Those which are not specifically set forth here are stated in Food Products Regulation No. 1, and they are just as much a part of this supplement as if they were printed here. The "Explanation of the regulation" is also a part of this supplement.

The particular sections of Food Products Regulation No. 1 which are applicable to this supplement are listed at appropriate places in the following provisions (in each case, the section number set forth in parenthesis is the appropriate section number of Food Products Regulation No. 1). When any applicable section of the regulation is amended, the amendment also is applicable to this supplement.

SEC. 3. Definitions. (a) When used in this supplement, the term:

"Macaroni products" means the class of food prepared by drying formed units of dough made from semolina, durum flour, farina, flour, or any combination of two or more of these, with water and with or without one or more of certain optional ingredients such as milk, whole wheat, soy flour, vegetables and salt, and as further defined in the proposed order of the Food and Drug Administration for Definitions or Standards of Identity of macaroni products, as printed in the Federal Register on December 22, 1942, 7 F.R. 10728 to 10734, inclusive. Plain noodles (but not chow mein noodles) shall be considered a macaroni product for the purposes of this supplement.

"Noodle products" means the class of food prepared by drying formed units of dough made from semolina, durum flour, farina, flour, or any combination of two or more of these, with liquid eggs, dried eggs, egg yolks, frozen yolks, or any combination of two or more of these, with or without water and with or without one or more of certain optional ingredients such as milk, whole wheat, soy flour, vegetables and salt, and as further defined in the proposed order of the Food and Drug Administration for Definitions or Standards of Identity of noodle products, as printed in the Federal Register on December 22, 1942, 7 F.R. 10728 to 10734, inclusive. The term "noodle products" does not include chow mein noodles.

"Farinaceous ingredient" means semolina, durum flour, farina, or wheat flour.

"Most closely competitive processor" means the processor who:

(1) Sells to the same class of buyer;

(2) Processes the same or similar quality range of the product;

(3) Has sold in the past the same kind of macaroni product or noodle product at approximately the same prices as the processor figuring a maximum price;

(4) Has used the same marketing methods; and

(5) Is located in the same general area, or, if there is no other such processor in the same general area, is located in the nearest area.

"Comparable commodity" means a macaroni product or noodle product of equal weight and quantity offering fairly equivalent utility and differing in ingredients or packaging materials from the macaroni product or noodle product processed in March 1942 by the seller or his most closely competitive processor only by changes to the best possible feasible substitutes for ingredients or packaging materials. A macaroni product shall not be considered comparable to a noodle product.

(b) The definitions of the following terms, set forth in the designated sections of Food Products Regulation No. 1, are applicable to this supplement:

"Person" (Section 1.1 of FPR 1).
"Processor" (Section 1.2 of FPR 1).

ARTICLE II—PRICING PROVISIONS

SEC. 4. Maximum prices for sales of macaroni products and noodle products by processors. (a) The processor's maximum price per dozen or other unit to any class of purchasers for an item of macaroni products or noodle products shall be his maximum price under the General Maximum Price Regulation plus the increase per dozen or other unit in his cost of the farinaceous and egg ingredients and packaging materials, determined by:

(1) Figuring his cost per dozen or other unit as of February 20, 1943, of the farinaceous and egg ingredients and packaging materials, in each case at the maximum price of his principal supplier to the class of purchasers to which he belongs, and

(2) Subtracting from that amount the sum of his weighted average actual costs per dozen or other unit of each farinaceous ingredient, egg ingredient and packaging material used to process the same item during March 1942.

"Cost," as used in subparagraph (1), above, if the maximum price of the processor's supplier is not a delivered price, means the maximum price plus cost of delivery of purchases in a usual amount to the processor's customary receiving point, from the customary shipping point by the usual mode of transportation.

"Weighted average actual cost," as used in subparagraph (2), above, means the total cost of the farinaceous ingredient, egg ingredient or packaging material figured on a delivered basis at his factory, divided by the number of units he used in processing all his macaroni products and noodle products.

SEC. 5. Maximum prices for sales of macaroni products and noodle products by wagon wholesalers. Wagon wholesalers shall figure their maximum prices per dozen or other unit for each item of macaroni products or noodle products by adding to their net delivered cost a markup of 25% of such cost. These maximum prices shall be refigured on receipt of an item whenever there is any change in the net delivered cost.

A "wagon wholesaler" is one who purchases the item being priced and distributes it to retailers or to commercial, industrial or institutional users from an inventory stocked in trucks or other conveyances which are under the supervision of driver salesmen who make delivery at the time and place of sale. Such a wholesaler is a wagon wholesaler only for sales made in this manner.

SEC. 2. Applicability of Food Products Regulation No. 1. Important: Not all of the provisions affecting the maximum prices of processed beans, processed macaroni products and processed noodle products are stated in this supplement. Those which are not specifically set forth here are stated in Food Products Regulation No. 1, and they are just as much a part of this supplement as if they were printed here. The "explanation of the regulation" is also a part of this supplement.

The particular sections of Food Products Regulation No. 1 which are applicable to this supplement are listed at appropriate places in the following provisions (in each case, the section number set forth in parenthesis is the appropriate section number of Food Products Regulation No. 1). "Macaroni products" means the class of food prepared by drying formed units of dough made from semolina, durum flour, farina, flour, or any combination of two or more of these, with water and with or without one or more of certain optional ingredients such as milk, whole wheat, soy flour, vegetables and salt and as further defined in the proposed order for Definitions or Standards of Identity of macaroni products of the Food and Drug Administration, as printed in the FEDERAL REGISTER on December 22, 1942, 7 F.R. 10728 to 10734, inclusive. ARTICLE II—PRICING PROVISIONS

SEC. 4. Maximum prices for sales of processed beans, processed macaroni products and processed noodle products by processors. (a) The processor's maximum price per sales unit, f. o. b. shipping point, to any class of purchasers for an item of processed beans, processed macaroni products or processed noodle products which he made and sold at any time during the period October 1, 1941 to March 31, 1942, inclusive (this is the "base period"), shall be:

(i) The weighted average price per sales unit, f. o. b. shipping point, charged the same class of purchasers by the processor for such item during the base period, plus

(2) The increase in the cost per sales unit of all the ingredients determined as follows:

(i) The cost per sales unit of the ingredients figured in each case at the maximum price as of July 20, 1943, of the processor's principal supplier to the class of purchasers to which the processor belongs, or, if there is no maximum price, the March 1942 market price; minus

(ii) The sum of the weighted average actual costs per sales unit of the ingredients used to produce the same item during the base period.

"Weighted average price," as used in subparagraph (1), above, means the total gross sales dollars charged a particular class of purchasers for the item being priced, f. o. b. shipping point, divided by the number of sales units of the item sold to that class of purchasers. All sales contracts made in the regular course of business during the base period shall be included, regardless of date of delivery. Sales contracts made before this period shall not be included, even though delivery was made during the period.

"Cost," as used in subparagraph (2), above, if the price of the processor's supplier is not a delivered price, means the price (maximum or March 1942 market, as the case may be) plus cost of delivery of purchases in a usual amount to the processor's customary receiving point, from the customary shipping point by the usual mode of transportation.

"Weighted average actual cost," as used in subparagraph (2) (ii), above, means the processor's total cost of each ingredient, figured on a delivered basis at his plant, for the quantity used in producing all his processed beans, processed macaroni products or processed noodle products, divided by the number of units produced.

(b) The processor's maximum price per sales unit for an item of processed beans, processed macaroni products or processed noodle products for which his maximum price originally was established under § 1499.3 (b) of the General Maximum Price Regulation shall be:

(1) The processor's maximum price per sales unit authorized by the Office of Price Administration by order under § 1499.3 (b) of the General Maximum Price Regulation for such item, plus

(2) The increase in the cost per sales unit of the ingredients thereof determined as follows:

(i) The cost per sales unit of the ingredients, figured in each case at the maximum price as of July 20, 1943, of the processor's principal supplier to the class of purchasers to which the processor belongs, or, if there is no maximum price, the March 1942 market price; minus

(ii) The ingredients cost per sales unit submitted to the Office of Price Administration in the application upon which the maximum price was established under § 1499.3 (b) of the General Maximum Price Regulation.

"Cost" as used in subparagraph (2) (i), above, if the price of the processor's supplier is not a delivered price, means the price (maximum or March 1942 market, as the case may be), plus cost of delivery of purchases in a usual amount to the processor's customary receiving point, from the customary shipping point by the usual mode of transportation.

SEC. 5. Maximum prices for sales of processed beans, processed macaroni products and processed noodle products by wagon wholesalers. Wagon wholesalers shall figure their maximum prices per sales unit for each item of processed beans, processed macaroni products or processed noodle products by adding to their net delivered cost a markup of 25 percent of such cost. These maximum prices shall be refigured upon receipt of an item whenever there is any change in the net delivered cost.

A "wagon wholesaler" is one who purchases the item being priced and distributes it to retailers or to commercial, industrial or institutional users from an inventory stocked in trucks or other conveyances which are under the supervision of driver salesmen who make delivery at the time and place of sale. Such a wholesalers is a wagon wholesaler only for sales made in this manner.

SEC. 6. Provisions of Article II of Food Products Regulation No. 1 applicable to this supplement. The following provisions of Food Products Regulation No. 1 are applicable to this supplement:

(a) Maximum prices for products in new container types or sizes (section 2.2 of FPR 1). In those cases only where the processor has made a change in his container type from tin to glass, he shall add ⅔ cent per pound label weight of his finished product, after adding the "direct cost" of the container in the new type and size as provided by section 2.2(e) of Food Products Regulation No. 1.
(b) Elective pricing method (section 2.4 of FPR 1). The "markup percentage" figure is 150%.
(c) Individual authorization of maximum prices (section 2.5 of FPR 1.)

However, when figuring a delivered price, any processor whose transportation charge during the period October 1, 1941 to March 17, 1942 was based on the use of his own trucks and who is now compelled to use a common or contract carrier, may add transportation charges figured by the new means of transportation, to the same destination and under the same freight tariff classification, but at the rate in effect during that period.
(e) Uniform prices where the processor or repacker has more than one factory (section 2.7 of FPR 1).
(f) Uniform delivered prices where the seller has customarily been selling on an f. o. b. shipping point basis (section 2.8 of FPR 1).

(e) This supplement becomes effective on June 21, 1944.

SEC. 2. Applicability of Food Products Regulation No. 1. Important: Not all of the provisions affecting the maximum prices of the designated prepared flour mixes are stated in this supplement. Those which are not specifically set forth here are stated in Food Products Regulation No. 1, and they are just as much a part of this supplement as if they were printed here. The "explanation of the regulation" is also a part of this supplement.

The particular sections of Food Products Regulation No. 1 which are applicable to this supplement are listed at appropriate places in the following provisions (in each case, the section number set forth in parenthesis is the appropriate section number of Food Products Regulation No. 1). The terms include mixes containing buckwheat flour.

"Prepared flour mix" means any combination of not less than 30% by weight of flour or flours with ingredients other than those used to make the flour. This percentage is based on the total weight of the finished mix. The term includes, but is not limited to, pancake mix, waffle mix, doughnut mix, muffin mix, biscuit mix, pie crust mix, ginger bread mix, coffee-cake mix, spice-cake mix, devil food cake mix, angel food cake mix, and yellow cake mix.

ARTICLE II—PRICING PROVISIONS

SEC. 4. Maximum prices for sales of pancake mix and waffle mix by processors. The pricing method of this section applies to all of the processor's sales of pancake mix or waffle mix, except those in which he is selling branded pancake mix or branded waffle mix no part of which he processes himself.

(a) General pricing method. The processor shall figure his maximum price per sales unit for each item of pancake mix or waffle mix, f. o. b. shipping point, to each class of purchasers, by adding together (1) the weighted average price, figured f. o. b. shipping point, which he charged for that item to the particular class of purchasers during the base period June 1, 1941, through August 31, 1941, and (2) the increase in cost of ingredients and packaging materials provided for in paragraph (c), below.

(b) Meaning of "weighted average price." The processor's "weighted average price" shall be figured by dividing the total gross sales dollars charged a particular class of purchasers for the item being priced by the number of sales units of the item sold to that class of purchasers. All sales contracts made in the regular course of business during the period June 1, 1941, through August 31, 1941, shall be included, regardless of date of delivery. Sales contracts made before this period shall not be included even though delivery was made during the period.

(c) Increase in cost of ingredients and packaging materials. The processor shall determine his increase in cost of ingredients and packaging materials (subject to the limitations in paragraph (d), below) by—

(1) Adding together (i) the cost per sales unit on September 8, 1943, at the processor's plant, of the ingredients and packaging materials subject to maximum prices established by the Office of Price Administration, figured at the maximum prices then applying to the class of purchasers to which he belongs, and (ii) the cost per sales unit, at the processor's plant, of the ingredients and packaging materials for which no maximum prices have been established by the Office of Price Administration, figured at the market prices thereof on September 8, 1943, and

(2) Subtracting from the figure obtained by the addition in (1), above, per sales unit, the sum of the weighted averages of the costs which he used for ingredients and for packaging materials in establishing his selling prices for the same item during the base period June 1, 1941, through August 31, 1941.

"Weighted average of the costs" for ingredients or for packaging materials means the total of the costs thereof which the processor used in establishing his prices for all sales of a particular unit during the named base period, divided by the total number of these units sold during that base period.

(d) Limitation on increase in cost of ingredients. The total increase in cost of ingredients provided for in (c), above, shall not exceed the amount listed below per one hundred pounds of mix:

For pancake mix—plain	$1.50
For pancake mix—buckwheat	2.25
For waffle mix	2.00

SEC. 5. Maximum prices for sales of pancake mix and waffle mix by wagon wholesalers. A "wagon wholesaler" is one who purchases the item being priced and distributes it to retailers or to commercial, industrial or institutional users from an inventory stocked in trucks or other conveyances which are under the supervision of driver salesmen who make delivery at the time and place of sale. Such a wholesaler is a wagon wholesaler only for sales made in this manner.

The maximum price which a wagon wholesaler may charge for an item of pancake mix or waffle mix shall be determined as follows:

If his supplier's maximum price under this supplement is greater than the supplier's maximum price under the maximum price regulation previously applicable to the supplier, the wagon wholesaler shall add the difference to the maximum price which he had immediately prior to June 21, 1944. If his supplier's maximum price under this supplement is less than the supplier's maximum price under the maximum price regulation previously applicable, the wagon wholesaler shall subtract the difference from the maximum price which he had immediately prior to June 21, 1944.

If the wagon wholesaler handled the kind of prepared flour mix being priced before June 21, 1944, but did not handle the particular brand, size or container type being priced before that date, his maximum price for the new item shall be his net delivered cost (based on his first purchase of the item after June 20, 1944) multiplied by a markup factor. This markup factor shall be secured by dividing his ceiling price (as figured under this section) for the most closely comparable item of that kind of prepared flour mix already handled by him by the net delivered cost to him of that item.

If the wagon wholesaler cannot determine his maximum price under the foregoing pricing method, his maximum price shall be the maximum price of his supplier, f. o. b. shipping point, plus incoming freight paid by him.

SEC. 6. Provisions of Article II of Food Products Regulation No. 1 applicable to this supplement. The following provisions of Food Products Regulation No. 1 are applicable to this supplement:

(a) Maximum prices for products in new container types or sizes (section 2.2 of FPR 1).
(b) Elective pricing method for processors (section 2.4 of FPR 1). The "markup percentage" figure is 165%.
(c) Individual authorization of maximum prices (section 2.5 of FPR 1).
(d) When a seller must figure a delivered price (section 2.6 of FPR 1).
(e) Uniform prices where the processor or repacker has more than one factory (section 2.7 of FPR 1).
(f) Uniform delivered prices where the seller has customarily been selling on an f. o. b. shipping point basis (section 2.8 of FPR 1).
(g) Maximum prices for sales by primary distributors (section 2.9 of FPR 1).
(h) Maximum prices for sales by distributors who are not primary distributors, wholesalers or retailers (section 2.10 of FPR 1).
(i) Payment of brokers (section 2.11 of FPR 1).

ARTICLE I—INTRODUCTION [1]

SECTION 1.1 Foods covered by this order. (a) This order covers "meat", "canned fish", "rationed cheeses", "rationed fats or oils," and "canned milk."

(1) "Meat" means the carcass or any edible part of the carcass of cattle, calves, sheep, lambs or swine. It includes edible offal, bones and skins. It also includes any other edible product containing more than twenty per cent, by weight, of any of the above items. Meat does not include gelatin, glue or "lard". Neither does it include casings or visceral parts "acquired" by a person to be used by him in making casings. (Casings are visceral parts specially prepared for use in holding sausage or other foods.) Meat does not include rendering fats and bones (produced in disassembling a carcass, or in cutting a carcass or primal cut into smaller cuts, or in boning a carcass or cut) and lean trimmings commingled with these rendering fats and bones, if these parts of the carcass are acquired by a person to be used by him for animal feed, for rendering into inedible products or for other inedible purposes, or by a primary distributor to be used by him for rendering into rationed fats or oils, or for transfer to such a person for one of these purposes; however, rendering fats do not include fat backs, fat back pork, clear plates and jowls (including jowl squares). Neither does meat include cracklings containing no more than fifteen per cent, by weight, of fat. (Cracklings containing more than fifteen per cent, by weight, of fat are considered rendering fats.) Meat does not include the items listed in section 30.1 (a) (1) and (2). However, meat does include any of the items listed in section 30.1 (a) (2) when they are used in an edible product in combination with each other or with any of the other items defined as meat in this paragraph. Neither does meat include waste cooking waters, meat extracts, or bouillon cubes. (Waste cooking waters are produced in the cooking of meat. Meat extracts are produced by the evaporation of these cooking waters. Bouillon cubes are produced from such meat extracts.) Meat does not include a carcass, or any part of a carcass, which is condemned as unfit for human food by an authorized Federal, State or local government inspector, and which is either plainly marked to indicate that it has been so condemned or is denatured or otherwise destroyed for food purposes as may be required by law.

(2) "Canned fish" means any of the following heat-treated items, if packed in hermetically sealed containers: mackerel, oyster, salmon, sardine (including California pilchard), shrimp, tuna (including bonito and yellowtail), and any other edible product containing more than twenty per cent, by weight, of the above.

(3) "Rationed cheeses" include any natural cheese (but not "cottage cheese" or "creamed cottage cheese" which contains 5 percent or less of butterfat by weight) and any other edible product containing 30 percent or more, by weight, of natural cheese (other than cottage cheese, or creamed cottage cheese containing 5 percent or less butterfat by weight). It does not include "whey product", nor does it include any cheese in the manufacture of which neither cow's milk nor milk solids derived from cow's milk are used.

(4) "Rationed fats or oils", which are defined in detail in section 27.1, include, among other products, "butter", "margarine", "cooking and salad oils" and "shortening". Mayonnaise, salad dressing, USP vitamin oils, fish liver oil, sperm oil and "fats" resulting from cooking done by "consumers" and "institutional users", are not included.

(5) "Canned milk" includes evaporated milk and condensed milk, if packed in hermetically sealed containers.

(6) "Canned meat" means any meat packed in hermetically sealed containers and heat-treated.

(b) No item which is a processed food covered by Revised Ration Order 13 [2] or which is a pharmaceutical product, is rationed under this order, even if it comes within the above definitions.

(c) Puncturing or opening the container in which canned fish or canned milk is packed, or merely removing it from the container, does not cause it to cease to be a "food covered by this order."

(d) When a food covered by this order is prepared for service and served, it is no longer considered a food covered by this order. Thus, a "person" who is served meat loaf in a restaurant, as part of a meal, is not getting a food covered by this order. Furthermore, when a food covered by this order has been used in making a product which is not rationed under this order, it ceases to be a food covered by this order. For example, butter may be used in baking peach pie—that pie, and the butter in it, are not food covered by this order.

SEC. 1.2 Meat, cheese, canned fish, fats and oils, and canned milk are rationed by the point system. (a) All types of meat, rationed cheeses, canned fish, rationed fats or oils, and canned milk are rationed together, as a group, through the use of the point system of rationing. Each item is given a particular point value for each cut, pound or size in which it is sold. The point value of an article of these foods is the number of points that must be given up by any person who wants to get it, just as the money price of an article is the amount of money it costs. The point values will be fixed by the Office of Price Administration in a supplement to this order, containing the official tables of point values. These point values may be changed from time to time, as conditions require.

SEC. 1.3 Form in which points are used. (a) There are several forms of ration currency which represent points.

(b) The basic forms of ration currency are red stamps in War Ration Book Four and "tokens" which are designated by the Office of Price Administration to be used for the acquisition of all foods covered by this order. They are the form in which points are generally given up by "consumers".

(c) Other forms of ration currency authorized by the Office of Price Administration are "certificates" (OPA Form R-1201), ration coupons and ration checks drawn on ration bank accounts. A certificate or ration coupon is issued by the Office of Price Administration (or a person authorized by that office to issue it) and is worth the number of points stated on it. Ration checks are very much like ordinary checks. They are drawn on a bank account in which a person has deposited his points, just as an ordinary check is drawn on a bank account in which he has deposited his money.

ARTICLE II—CONSUMERS

SEC. 2.1 When a person is a consumer. (a) Any "person" who buys or "acquires" "foods covered by this order" for his personal use or for use at a table at which he eats, is a "consumer". (When a person gets foods covered by this order in order to resell them or in order to use them in making other products for sale, he is not a consumer, since those are not personal uses. He is a consumer only so far as he does get foods covered by this order for personal use.)

SEC. 2.2 Consumers may purchase after March 28, 1943, only for points. (a) Beginning March 29, 1943, a consumer may buy or acquire foods covered by this order only by giving up points equal to the point value of the foods acquired. However, a consumer may exchange foods covered by this order with any other person for other such foods covered by this order of equal point value, without giving up points. Moreover, consumers may acquire, transfer, or use, without limitation or restriction, foods covered by this order which have a zero point value at the time of the acquisition, transfer, or use, respectively.

(b) Consumers may lend foods covered by this order to other consumers, and may get them back. However, they may not lend more than five pounds of such foods (other than foods which have a zero point value at the time of the loan) at any one time, except under the provisions of section 3.1 (b). They may also acquire foods from other consumers for consumption at a common table with them. No points are to be given up for such transactions. (A transaction is not a loan if any charge is made.)

(c) A consumer who has acquired foods covered by this order for points may give them to another consumer point-free. He may also give such foods point-free to a religious, charitable, civic, or municipal organization, as his agent, to give them point-free to another consumer. (A transaction is not a gift if any charge is made.)

SEC. 2.3 How points are given up by a consumer—(a) A consumer uses stamps. A consumer gives up points, when he acquires foods covered by this order, by surrendering red "stamps" from his War Ration Book Four.

(b) Stamps may be used only when they have been validated. A consumer may use each red stamp in his War Ration Book Four as soon as it has been validated by the Office of Price Administration. The validation dates of these stamps will be fixed in a supplement to this order. (Transfers of "meat" by farm slaughterers to consumers, covered in section 3.2, are excepted from this rule.) (Nothing in this provision validates any stamps which have already expired in any War Ration Book.)

(c) General rules for the use of stamps by consumers. A consumer must give up stamps worth exactly the point value of the foods covered by this order which he acquires, except that fractional amounts are to be handled in the way described in section 10.6. Red stamps in War Ration Book Four are worth 10 points each, regardless of the number printed on them. Stamps must be given up at the time the foods are acquired. The stamps may be used by a consumer only if torn out of the war ration book in the presence of the person who is selling or transferring the foods. A stamp may be used only to get foods covered by this order for the consumer from whose book it is taken, or for use at a table at which he eats.

(d) A consumer also uses certificates and ration coupons. Any consumer to whom a "board" issues a "certificate" or ration coupon may use it to acquire foods covered by the order, just as stamps are used. However, a consumer may give up the certificate or ration coupon at or before the time when the foods are acquired. The number of points a certificate or ration coupon is worth is shown on that certificate or ration coupon. A consumer to whom a certificate has been issued must sign his name on the back before he may use it.

(e) How mail order purchases are made. A consumer who orders food covered by this order for delivery by mail may detach stamps from his war ration book and send them or "tokens" with his order. If the seller cannot fill all or any part of the order, he will return a ration check for the difference. The consumer may endorse that check and use it to get foods covered by this order.

(f) Consumers may give up points before delivery of butter or rationed cheeses. A consumer may also acquire "butter" or "rationed cheeses" from a mobile conveyance operated on a regular delivery route by giving up stamps or tokens before he acquires the foods. If the seller or transferor cannot fill all or any part of the order, he will return a ration check for the difference. The consumer may endorse that check and use it to get foods covered by this order.

(g) How consumers acquire and use tokens. If the consumer is unable to give up points exactly equal to the point value of the foods acquired by him because he does not have stamps, certificates, ration coupons, or ration checks of sufficiently small value to make up the proper amount, he may give up, and the transferor may accept, stamps, certificates, ration coupons, or ration checks of the nearest higher value, and the transferor must return the excess number of points to the consumer in the form of tokens. Tokens may be used by a consumer to acquire foods covered by this order only if he has received the tokens in this way from his transferor. A transferor may accept tokens from a consumer, unless he knows or has reason to believe that they were not acquired by the consumer in this way.

SEC. 2.4 Consumers who need more foods covered by this order because of illness may apply for more points. (a) Any consumer whose health requires that he have more foods covered by this order than he can get with his war ration book, may apply for additional points. The application must be made, on OPA Form R–315, by the consumer himself or by someone acting for him, and may be made in person or by mail. The application can be made only to the "board" for the place where the consumer lives. The application (on OPA Form R–315) must contain a written statement signed by a person licensed by the laws of the State in which the certification is made to prescribe for human medication all internal drugs which may be prescribed within that State. However, if the consumer is pregnant, a Public Health Nurse employed by a federal, state or community public health agency, may sign such a statement instead. The statement must contain a specific diagnosis of the applicant's illness or condition, and must show why the applicant must have more foods covered by this order, the amounts and types he needs during the next ten weeks (or a shorter period if the illness is of shorter duration), and the probable duration of the illness.

(b) If the diagnosis is diabetes mellitus, active tuberculosis, chronic nephritis (nephrotic type), cirrhosis of the liver, severe hepatitis, chronic suppurative diseases (this group includes empyema of the chest cavity, osteomyelitis, extensive suppurative lesions of soft parts, subcutaneous tissues or muscles, and those infections in which there is profuse pus formation), severe burns, gastro-intestinal lesions (including post-operative cases involving operations on the stomach, intestines or colon for ulcers or cancer), or pregnancy, and if the board finds that the applicant's health depends upon his getting more foods covered by this order, it shall issue to him one or more certificates for the number of points necessary to get the additional foods covered by this order which he needs during the next ten weeks. If the diagnosis is any illness other than one of those specified in this paragraph, or if the applicant requests more foods covered by this order than the board is authorized by the "Washington Office" to grant to him, the board shall send the application to the district office for decision. However, in emergency cases, if the board finds that the applicant needs additional foods covered by this order, it may issue to him one or more certificates to enable him to get those additional foods during the next two weeks. If the district office is unable to pass on the application, it shall send it to the regional office for decision, or take such other action as the regional office may authorize or direct.

(c) An applicant who requires additional foods covered by this order for a period longer than the ten weeks for which points are granted to him, may apply for additional points (in person or by mail) to the board at the end of the ten week period. However, the statement certifying the diagnosis of his illness need not be renewed more often than once a year, in cases of diabetes mellitus, active tuberculosis, chronic nephritis (nephrotic type), cirrhosis of the liver, and severe hepatitis. A statement certifying to the applicant's pregnancy need not be renewed during the term of the pregnancy. In cases where the statement certifying the diagnosis of the applicant's condition need not be renewed with each application for additional rations, his application for such additional rations shall be deemed to be a certification that he knows, or has reason to believe, the diagnosis of his condition remains the same as set forth in the written statement attached to his original application. If the applicant changes his residence before the time when he would have to renew the statement certifying the diagnosis of his illness, he may obtain the statement from the board where it is filed and file it with the board for the place where he will live.

SEC. 2.5 Consumers who must purchase in quantity may apply for certificates. (a) Some consumers may not be able to get foods covered by this order during the period when their stamps are good, either because of transportation difficulties, or because they live an unusually long distance from their market. Such a consumer may apply for a certificate in exchange for some or all of the stamps in his war ration book, so that he can get the amount of foods to which he is entitled at a time when he is able to get them. The application must be made on OPA Form R–315, in person or by mail, to the board for the place where he lives. It must be made by the consumer himself or by someone acting for him.

(b) If the board finds that the consumer will suffer hardship because he cannot get the foods covered by this order to which he is entitled during the periods when his stamps are good (for the reasons set forth above) it may issue to him a certificate. The certificate may be for any number of points up to the value of the remaining stamps in his war ration book. The board must remove from that book, and cancel stamps worth the amount of the certificate.

SEC. 2.6 Service men may get certificates to acquire foods covered by this order. (a) Members of the Armed Forces of the United States and Allied Nations who do not have a war ration book and are not entitled to have it, may obtain certificates to get foods covered by this order under the circumstances and in accordance with the procedure set forth in General Ration Order 9.*

SEC. 2.7 Consumers who must have more foods covered by this order for their subsistence may apply for more points. (a) Consumers (including those who eat in Group I institutional user establishments, as defined in General Ration Order 5*) may apply for additional points if they cannot get enough fresh milk, or such other products as the Washington Office may designate to meet their nutritional needs, because (1) the place where they live or work is so located, or their business or occupation is of such a nature that a source of supply of such foods is not reasonably accessible, except at infrequent intervals, and (2) they have no facilities for storing such foods long enough and in the quantities required to supply such needs.

(b) Any consumer who needs more foods covered by this order for the reasons set forth in paragraph (a) of this section, may apply to his board, in person or by mail, on OPA Form R–315. One application may be made covering more than one consumer, but the name of each shall be listed on the application. The application must state in detail:

(1) Where the consumers included in the application will live and work during the period covered by the application and the current occupation of each of them;

(2) The nearest source of supply of fresh milk, and such other products as the Washington Office may designate;

(3) A description of the facilities they have for storing fresh milk and such other products as the Washington Office may designate;

(4) How many pounds of foods covered by this order they will need;

(5) For how long a period;

(6) How many pounds of foods covered by this order they have, at the time of application;

(7) The amounts of fresh milk and such other products as the Washington Office may designate which will be available to them during this period;

(8) How many pounds of foods covered by this order will be available to them during this period, point-free, under the provisions of sections 3.1 or 3.4. The applicant must also give any other information that the board may request. The applicant must also submit with his application the war ration books currently used to acquire foods covered by this order, of each person for whom the application is made.

(c) All regional offices are authorized to rule on applications under this section, and to authorize boards or district offices to rule on them. A board or district office may rule on such an application only if the regional office for the area where it is located has given it such authority. If the board has not been given such authority, it shall forward the application with its recommendation to the district office. If the district office has been given such authority, it shall indicate what action is to be taken, and return the file to the board. If the district office has not been given such authority, it shall forward the file to the regional office. The regional office shall then indicate what action is to be taken, and return the file to the board. All certificates to be issued under this section shall be issued by boards.

(d) The regional office, or board or district office which is authorized to rule on such applications, may issue or authorize the issuance of one or more certificates for the number of points that it finds should be allowed. No board or district or regional office shall issue or authorize the issuance of a certificate unless it finds that the applicants meet the tests set out in paragraph (a). In determining how many points to allow, consideration shall be given to the amount of foods covered by this order, fresh milk or such other products as the Washington Office may designate, which will be available to the applicants during the period covered by the application, and to the applicant's occupation. In addition, the board or district office shall be governed by any further instructions issued by the regional or Washington Office.

(e) Any board which issues certificates under this section shall enter a notation on the front cover of the books submitted with the application showing:

(1) Its address;
(2) The date it issued certificates under this section;
(3) The foods authorized to be acquired by such certificates;
(4) The point value of such certificates; and
(5) The period for which the supplemental ration was given.

ARTICLE III—HOME PRODUCERS

NOTE: The limitations (including limitations on amounts of foods which may be transferred), restrictions, conditions, record-keeping and reporting requirements set forth in this Article III do not apply to foods covered by this order while they have a zero point value. For the purposes of this article, such foods are treated and may be transferred or acquired, just as if they were not rationed at all.

SEC. 3.1 Home producers may consume what they produce and may lend limited amounts—(a) Points need not be given up. Any "person" who produces any "food covered by this order" primarily for consumption in his own household or on a farm he operates, may consume what he produces and may let those who eat at his table or on the farm consume it, without giving up points. However, a person who produces "meat" by slaughtering livestock (whether or not it is later processed), and a person who "acquires" meat from livestock slaughtered for him by a "primary distributor" in the way described in section 3.4, primarily for consumption in his own household or on a farm he operates, may consume the meat and may let those who eat at his table or on the farm consume it, without giving up points, only if:

(1) He either operates a farm at which he resides more than six months a year, or actually supervised the raising of the livestock and was on the premises on which the livestock was raised at least one third of the days during the applicable period specified in subparagraph (2); and

(2) The livestock was raised on premises operated by him:

(i) From birth to the moment of slaughter; or

(ii) For at least 60 days immediately preceding slaughter; or

(iii) For a period immediately preceding slaughter during which its weight was increased by at least 35% of its weight when acquired.

This paragraph does not apply to "institutional users." If a person who produces meat primarily for consumption in his own household or on a farm he operates, by slaughtering livestock, is not permitted, under the provisions of this paragraph, to consume such meat without giving up points, he must give up points equal to the point value of the meat if he consumes it. These points must be given up to the "board" for the place where such livestock was raised, not later than 10 days after the end of each calendar month during which the meat is consumed.

(b) Loans. Any person who produces foods covered by this order wholly from foods not covered by this order and is entitled to consume them point-free under the provisions of paragraph (a), or who acquires them from a primary distributor in the way described in section 3.4, may lend those foods to any other such person without the surrender of points. (A transaction is not a loan if any charge is made.) However, he may not, in any one calendar year, lend a total of more than four hundred pounds of beef and veal together, one hundred and fifty pounds of any other meat, and twenty-five pounds of any other foods covered by this order, which he so produces or acquires. Foods so loaned may not be sold by the person who receives them, or by anyone else. The loan must be returned within six months after the loan is made. However, the borrower may apply to his board for an extension of time to return it and the board may grant the extension if good cause is shown.

(c) If the person is a primary distributor. No "primary distributor" who reports or is required to report on OPA Forms R–1606 (Revised), R–1607, R–1626 may consume or lend foods pursuant to this section without the surrender of points.

(d) This section applies whether or not foods are produced in the United States. The provisions of this section apply whether or not the foods are produced within the forty-eight states of the United States and the District of Columbia.

SEC. 3.2 Consumers may purchase larger quantities of meat at a time from farm slaughterers. (a) A consumer may buy or acquire meat in exchange for "stamps" from his war ration book equal to the point value of the meat "transferred", even though the stamps are not yet good, from:

(1) A primary distributor (other than one who reports or is required to report on OPA Forms R–1606 (Revised), or R–1607) who holds a permit as a farm slaughterer issued by the Office of Distribution of War Food Administration or a primary distributor who slaughters swine without a permit under the provisions of § 1410.15 (b) (2) of Food Distribution Order No. 75; or

(2) A person who holds a permit as a farm slaughterer issued by the Office of Distribution of War Food Administration and who acquired the meat from a primary distributor in the way permitted in section 3.4.

(b) However, for the purposes of this section, a consumer may use, and a transferor may accept, only the eighteen stamps in War Ration Book Four which will become valid after the stamps which are valid for use by consumers generally at the time of the transfer. Stamps in War Ration Book Four will become valid in the following order: A8 to Z8; A5 to Z5; A2 to Z2; A1 to Z1.

SEC. 3.3 Consumers may arrange to have their food processed or otherwise prepared. (a) On or after May 24, 1943, any consumer may bring any of his food covered by this order to another person to be processed, cut, ground, boned, frozen, packaged or similarly prepared, and may get the same food back after it is so prepared, without any surrender of points by either person.

(b) If the consumer does not wait to get the food back, a "retailer", "wholesaler" or primary distributor who gets the food for processing or other preparation must keep a record showing the item received, its weight, the date he received it, and the name and address of the consumer. This record must be prepared when he gets the food from the consumer. When he returns the food to the consumer, he must add to this record the date he returned it.

SEC. 3.4 Livestock producers may have animals slaughtered by primary distributor, primarily for household consumption, and acquire the resulting foods point-free. (a) A livestock producer, other than an institutional user, may desire to have his animal slaughtered by a primary distributor and acquire the resulting food covered by this order (whether or not it is also processed) from the primary distributor, without giving up points. The livestock producer may do so if he satisfies the conditions of this section, including the conditions stated in the certification required by paragraph (b).

(b) The livestock producer must sign and give up to the primary distributor two copies of a certification. The certification must show:

(1) The date of acquisition of the food from the primary distributor;

(2) The livestock producer's name;

(3) The address of the place where he resides;

(4) That he either operates a farm at which he resides more than six months of the year, or actually supervised the raising of the animal and was on the premises on which the animal was raised at least one third of the days during the applicable period specified in subparagraph (5); and

(5) That the animal was raised on premises operated by him:

(i) From birth to the moment of slaughter; or

(ii) For at least 60 days immediately preceding slaughter; or

(iii) For a period immediately preceding slaughter during which its weight was increased by at least 35% of its weight when acquired;

(6) That the resulting food is primarily for consumption in his own household or on a farm he operates;

(7) Whether he intends to sell or transfer any of the resulting food;

(8) The name and address of the board for the place where he resides.

(c) He must also prove his identity by showing to the primary distributor his permit issued by the Office of Distribution of War Food Administration. If he certifies that he does not intend to sell or transfer any of the resulting food he may prove his identity by showing his Agricultural Adjustment Administration plan, driver's license, automobile ownership registration card, selective service card, bank book or current utility bill, bearing the name and address shown in the certification. The primary distributor must make a notation on the certification of the type of document shown to him and the number designation contained in the document. (For example, in the case of a bank book, the number would be the account number.)

(d) If the primary distributor has received both copies of the required certification, has been shown the required proof of identity, and has made the required entries on the certification, and if he does not know or does not have any reason to believe that the certification is untrue, he may then transfer, without getting any points, the food resulting from the slaughter of the animal furnished by the livestock producer. He must, within five days after the transfer, send one copy of the certification to the board named therein, and file the other with his report on OPA Forms R–1606 (Revised), R–1607, or R–1609 (Revised) for the reporting period in which the transfer was made.

(e) If the livestock producer sells or transfers some of the resulting food, he must file a report on OPA Form R–1609 (Revised) with the board named in the certification and give up with it the points which he received for selling or transferring the food. In giving the information called for by the form, he must treat the food sold or transferred as if he produced it. He must also write on the bottom of the form that it is being filed in accordance with section 3.4 of the order. The report must be filed within fifteen days after the end of the calendar month in which he made the sales or transfers. It must cover all sales or transfers made during that month. The report must be signed by him or by his authorized agent, and is considered filed on time if the envelope in which it is enclosed is postmarked on or before the day it is due. If the livestock producer is a butcher under Food Distribution Order No. 27 of the Office of Distribution of War Food Administration and has certified that he does not intend to sell or transfer some of the resulting food, he may not sell or transfer any of the food unless he notifies the board named in the certification, in advance, that he intends to sell or transfer some of the food and states the approximate amount he intends to sell or transfer.

SEC. 3.5. Person may have fish caught by members of his family unit canned by a primary distributor for household consumption—(a) He may acquire such canned fish point-free. Any person, other than an institutional user, may acquire from a primary distributor, point-free, "canned fish" produced for him from fish caught by him or by members of his "family unit", if he supplies all the ingredients in an amount necessary to produce such canned fish. (A "family unit" consists of all persons related by blood, marriage, or adoption, who regularly reside in the same household.) Not more than 25 pounds of such canned fish per member may be acquired by or for any family unit under this section in any calendar year. He may consume such fish, and let the members of his household and others who eat at his table consume it, without giving up points. He may acquire such canned fish point-free only if he gives to the primary distributor a signed statement that the fish to be canned were caught by a member of his family unit, together with the names of each member of his family unit. The primary distributor shall retain this statement for one year.

(b) He may sell only for points and must surrender points he gets to the board. He may not sell or transfer any such canned fish unless he gets points equal to the point value of the canned fish so transferred. For this purpose, he need not register or make reports, but must keep a record of any transfer he makes, showing the amount and date of the transfer, and the name and address of the person to whom the transfer is made. If he makes any transfers during any month, he must give up to his board on or before the 10th day of the next month the points received for such transfers.

ARTICLE IV—PRIMARY DISTRIBUTORS

SEC. 4.1 Explanation of the term primary distributor. (a) Any "person" who has a "primary distributor establishment" is called a "primary distributor" as to that establishment. If he has more than one such establishment, he is considered a separate primary distributor as to each of them.

SEC. 4.2 Explanation of the term primary distributor establishment. (a) There are three main types of primary distributor establishments:

(1) A place where a "food covered by this order" is produced entirely from products not covered by this order (described in section 4.3);

(2) A place where an item or kind of food covered by this order is produced, by a processing operation, wholly or partly from another item or kind of food covered by this order (described in section 4.4);

(3) A place to which foods covered by this order are imported (described in section 4.5).

In certain cases, places at which no production or processing operations are performed are, for reasons of trade convenience, also considered primary distributor establishments. (These establishments are described in sections 4.7 and 4.9). The rules which determine whether a place is a primary distributor establishment are set forth in the sections which follow.

SEC. 4.3 A place at which a food covered by this order is produced is a primary distributor establishment—(a) Meat; slaughtering. Any place at which a person slaughters cattle, calves, sheep, lambs or swine, for sale or other "transfer", is a primary distributor establishment.

(1) If a person slaughters livestock himself, the place where he does so is his primary distributor establishment. Even if he has the slaughtering done for him by an agent or employee, the place where it is done is his primary distributor establishment, unless it comes within the following description:

(i) That place is another person's primary distributor establishment (because of other slaughtering done there by or for that other person); and also

(ii) The agent or employee in question is that other person, or someone who works for that other person.

(b) Canning fish. Any place at which a person produces "canned fish", for sale or other transfer, is a primary distributor establishment. A person produces canned fish if he packs any of the items described in section 1.1 (a) (2) in hermetically sealed containers.

(c) Production of rationed fats or oils, or rationed cheeses. Any place at which a person produces a "rationed fat or oil" or "rationed cheeses" for sale or other transfer, is a primary distributor establishment.

(d) Packing milk. Any place at which a person produces "canned milk", for sale or other transfer, is a primary distributor establishment. A person produces canned milk if he packs it in hermetically sealed containers.

SEC. 4.4 A place at which a food covered by this order is converted into another such food, is a primary distributor establishment. (a) Any place at which a person, by processing, makes any item or kind of food covered by this order, wholly or in part from another item or kind of such food, for sale or other transfer, is a primary distributor establishment.

(1) The term "processing" does not include cutting, grinding, boning, freezing, packaging or repackaging. It does, however, include curing, smoking, cooking, pickling, canning, blending, mixing, rendering, extracting, drying, dehydrating, or any other similar process by which an item or kind of food covered by this order is converted into another item or kind of such food. It also includes the manufacture of sausage, scrapple, souse and similar products.

(b) A place at which a person "acquires" and processes foods covered by this order is, however, not a primary distributor establishment as to any of those foods acquired and processed there if all of the following conditions are met:

(1) No foods covered by this order are produced there (other than by processing) and not more than five thousand pounds of foods covered by this order are processed there in any month; and

(2) More than fifty percent, by weight, of the transfers from there of all foods covered by this order are made to "consumers"; and

(3) More than fifty percent, by weight, of the foods covered by this order which were acquired and processed there are transferred from there to consumers, or to that person's own "institutional user establishment".

(For example, a delicatessen store, which buys "meat", cures it and sells most of it to consumers, is not a primary distributor establishment. This would be so even if the owner of the store transfers some of the cured meat to his own restaurant and uses it in meals he serves there. Such a store would not be a primary distributor establishment, even though foods covered by this order are processed there. It would be a "retail establishment".)

SEC. 4.5 A place to which foods covered by this order are imported is a primary distributor establishment. (a) Any place (including space in a public warehouse) to which a person imports foods covered by this order into the United States, from any place outside the United States, for sale or transfer, is a primary distributor establishment.

SEC. 4.6 Place where foods covered by this order are produced or imported may be a primary distributor establishment as to foods not produced or imported there. (a) A person may produce, process, or import foods covered by this order, at a particular place, for sale or transfer. He may also regularly keep there, for sale or transfer, foods covered by this order which he did not produce, process, or import there. That place is a primary distributor establishment, since foods are produced, processed or imported there. It would also be a retail or a "wholesale establishment" (depending on its operation) since foods not produced, processed, or imported there are regularly kept there for sale or transfer. However, if ninety percent or more, by weight, of all the foods covered by this order which are transferred from there, were produced, processed, or imported there, it is considered to be only a primary distributor establishment, as to all foods covered by this order held there for sale or transfer. In that case, it would not also be a retail or wholesale establishment.

SEC. 4.7 A place where a person keeps foods may be a primary distributor establishment even if he does not produce or import there. (a) Any place (including space in a public warehouse) at which a person regularly keeps foods covered by this order not produced, processed or imported there, for sale or transfer, is a primary distributor establishment as to those foods even though it does not meet the tests described in section 4.6, if both of the following conditions are met:

(1) He himself produced, processed or imported ninety per cent or more, by weight, of those foods; and

(2) More than fifty per cent, by weight, of the foods covered by this order which he keeps there are transferred from there to persons other than "industrial users", "industrial consumers", "institutional users", "retailers", or consumers.

(b) There is also a general case in which a place where a person regularly keeps foods covered by this order which were produced, processed, or imported by someone else, is a primary distributor establishment as to those foods. If he uses ninety per cent or more, by weight, of those foods to make, by processing, other kinds or items of food covered by this order, the place where he keeps them is a primary distributor establishment. (For reasons of trade convenience, there is, in addition, a special rule covering certain places where "butter" or rationed cheeses are assembled. That rule is covered in section 4.9.)

(c) The rules set forth in this section apply whether or not the person also produces, processes or imports at that place foods covered by this order. The place is a primary distributor establishment as to any foods he produces, processes or imports there. This section, and sections 4.6 and 4.9, show when it is a primary distributor establishment as to foods he did not produce, process or import there.

SEC. 4.8 A place is a single primary distributor establishment even if a person engages in several operations there. (a) A place at which a person engages in more than one type of operation any one of which would make it a primary distributor establishment, is a single primary distributor establishment as to all such operations of that person. (Thus, if a person slaughters swine and cures hams at the same place, that place is treated as a single primary distributor establishment of that person.) The only exception to this rule is covered in section 4.9 (c).

SEC. 4.9 Butter and cheese assembly plant is a primary distributor establishment. (a) Any place at which a person regularly keeps, for sale or transfer, stocks of butter or rationed cheeses which he did not produce, process or import there, is a primary distributor establishment, as to those stocks, if more than fifty per cent of them, by weight, is sold or transferred from there to persons other than industrial or institutional users, industrial consumers, retailers or consumers. However, if he keeps the stocks which are not transferred to persons other than the above, just to supply his own establishments, it is a primary distributor establishment only if it supplies:

(1) At least one of his primary distributor establishments; or

(2) At least four of his wholesale establishments.

(b) This section applies only to a place which would not be a primary distributor establishment as to those stocks under section 4.6 or section 4.7.

(c) A place to which this section applies is, for all the purposes of this order, a separate primary distributor establishment as to those stocks of butter or rationed cheeses.

SEC. 4.10 A place where foods are produced or imported for use only is not a primary distributor establishment. (a) A place at which a person produces, processes or imports foods covered by this order only for his personal, institutional or industrial use or for his use as an industrial consumer, (whether or not they will be used at that place), and not for sale or transfer in the form of foods covered by this order, is not a primary distributor establishment. The place does not become a primary distributor establishment because the person lends some of the foods to others, as permitted by section 3.1 (b), unless he lends more than the amount permitted by that section.

SEC. 4.11 Primary distributors must register and file reports—(a) Registration. (1) Every primary distributor must register with the Office of Price Administration. A primary distributor who is required to report on OPA Forms R–1606 (Revised), R–1607, or R–1626 must register by filing an additional copy of his first report, along with that report. A primary distributor who is required to report on OPA Form R–1609 (Revised) is considered registered when he files his first report. A primary distributor who is already registered is not required to re-register when a change is made in the form on which he is required to report.

(2) (i) A primary distributor who has more than one primary distributor establishment may register two or more of those establishments together, in one or more groups, instead of registering each establishment separately, if, he maintained a central office, for each group of establishments to be registered together, at which he kept records of the inventory, production, acquisitions, and transfers (including transfers between the establishments in the group) of foods covered by this order at each of such establishments and from which he regularly sent invoices covering at least 90% of all transfers of those foods from each such establishment. However, he may not combine in the same group a primary distributor establishment of the type described in section 4.9 with any other kind of primary distributor establishment.

(ii) A primary distributor who has more than one primary distributor establishment and who wishes to register two or more of those establishments together, but who does not meet the tests set forth in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph may apply to the district office for the place where his principal business office is located for permission to register two or more of his establishments together. He must apply on OPA Form R–315 and he must show:

(a) That he maintains a central office for each group of establishments to be registered together, at which he keeps records of the current inventory, production, acquisitions, and transfers of foods covered by this order at each of such establishments; and

(b) That such central office is in fact the place from which the operations of the establishments in the group are directed.

The district office must forward the application to the "Washington Office" for decision or take such other action as the Washington Office may authorize or direct.

(3) If the establishments to be registered together are already registered separately under this order, he may re-register them by filing a combined report for the establishments in each such group as his report due in November 1943, or in the first month thereafter in which he wishes to register them together. The report is to be filed with the district office for the place where such central office is located. He must also notify each district office at which a re-registered establishment was originally registered that he is re-registering such establishment, and give the name and address of the district office at which the establishment will be re-registered. This notice must be sent to each such office prior to the date on which he must file the report referred to in this subparagraph.

(4) If after re-registering his establishments under the last paragraph he ceases to continue the central office or to satisfy the conditions described in paragraph (2), he must again register each establishment separately.

(b) Reports. (1) Every primary distributor must file a report covering the operation of his primary distributor establishment during each reporting period ending on or after April 30, 1943. His first report must include his operations from March 29, 1943, to the end of his reporting period. However, the first report of a primary distributor of an item which is added, after March 29, 1943, to the foods covered by this order, must include his operations with respect to that item from the date it is added, to the end of his reporting period. If he has more than one primary distributor establishment, he must file a separate report for each. However, if he has registered his establishments in one or more groups, in the way permitted by paragraph (a) (2) he may file a single report for all the establishments in each such group. A primary distributor who reports on OPA Form R–1609 (Revised) must file his report within fifteen days after the end of the reporting period it covers. A primary distributor who reports on OPA Form R–1606 (Revised) or OPA Form R–1607 must file his report within thirty days after the end of the reporting period it covers, but he may not file the report before the sixteenth day after the end of that period unless he has received all points due him for the transfers reported for that period and has paid all points owed by him for the acquisitions reported for that period. A primary distributor who reports on OPA Form R–1626 must file his report within ten days after the end of the reporting period it covers.

(2) A primary distributor who reports on OPA Form R–1606 (Revised) or OPA Form R–1607 may adopt any one of the following reporting periods:

(i) Calendar months; or

(ii) Consecutive four-week periods; or

(iii) A system which divides the fiscal year into either four or five periods of five consecutive weeks and either seven or eight periods of four consecutive weeks.

(3) A primary distributor who reports on OPA Form R–1609 (Revised) or OPA Form R–1626 must adopt calendar month reporting periods. If he has not been reporting on a calendar month reporting period basis, his first report on a calendar month reporting period basis on OPA Form R–1609 (Revised) or OPA Form R–1626 must include his operations from the end of the preceding reporting period to the end of the calendar month covered in the report.

(4) The report must be signed by him or by his authorized agent, and is considered filed on time if the envelope in which it is enclosed is postmarked on or before the day it is due.

(c) Form to be used. (1) A primary distributor who does not import foods covered by this order and who does not use points to acquire such foods, must report on OPA Form R–1609 (Revised), if his sales or transfers of such foods from the place where he produces them consist entirely of one or more of the following:

(i) Sales or transfers of meat he slaughtered under a War Food Administration Farm Slaughterer's Permit (including meat from his livestock which he has custom slaughtered);

(ii) Sales or transfers of butter he made from cream (or milk) which he produced, if the cream (or milk) was not neutralized or pasteurized;

(iii) Sales or transfers of cheese he made from milk which he produced; or

(iv) Sales or transfers of other foods covered by this order which he produced in an amount of not more than $200 during the month covered by the report.

(2) A primary distributor who is not required to report on OPA Form R–1609 (Revised) must report on OPA Form R–1626 for reporting periods, beginning on or after March 1, 1944, for each of his primary distributor establishments from which he sells or transfers "rationed dairy products" only. ("Rationed dairy products" means any food covered by this order which is made from cow's milk or from another food made from cow's milk, as, for example, rationed cheeses, butter or canned milk.) If he is permitted to combine in a single report on OPA Form R–1626 his sales and transfers from more than one of his primary distributor establishments, he must report all those sales and transfers on OPA Form R–1626, even though some of those establishments meet the conditions described in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph (c).

(3) Any primary distributor who is not required to report on OPA Form R–1609 (Revised) or OPA Form R–1626 may report on OPA Form R–1607 for each reporting period beginning on or after December 1, 1943, if he does not sell or transfer, during the period covered by the report, more than $2,000 worth of foods covered by this order, if he does not import foods covered by this order, and if his acquisitions of such foods for his primary distributor operations during that period do not constitute more than 10 percent by weight of his total sales and transfers of such foods during the period.

(4) Any primary distributor who is not required to report on OPA Form R–1609 (Revised) or OPA Form R–1626 and who does not report on OPA Form R–1607 must report on OPA Form R–1606 (Revised) for each reporting period beginning on or after December 1, 1943. If he reports on OPA Form R–1606 (Revised) for an establishment from which he sells or transfers rationed dairy products, he must attach to his report for each reporting period ending after February 29, 1944, a copy of Dairy Products Report No. 1 covering his operations at that establishment. In addition, a primary distributor who reports on OPA Form R–1606 (Revised) and who transfers canned fish, must, at the same time and in the same manner that he makes his report on OPA Form R–1606 (Revised), report on OPA Form R–1606A.

(5) A primary distributor who has more than one primary distributor establishment which are or will be registered together, may file a single report on OPA Form R–1609 (Revised) or OPA Form R–1607 for those establishments only if all of them combined meet the requirements set forth in this section for reporting on such forms; he may file a single report on OPA Form R–1626 for those establishments if all of them sell or transfer only rationed dairy products.

(6) A primary distributor need not file a report for any reporting period during which he made no transfers of foods covered by this order (other than loans permitted by section 3.1 (b)). However, once a primary distributor reports on OPA Form R–1606 (Revised), OPA Form R–1607 or OPA Form R–1626, he must continue to use one of those forms. He may not thereafter report on OPA Form R–1609 (Revised).

(d) Information to be given. A primary distributor must give all information called for by the form on which he reports except that he need not give any information with respect to lard. A primary distributor, required to report on OPA Form R–1606 (Revised) or OPA Form R–1607, must, among other things, report his inventory of rationed foods at the establishment covered by the report, at the beginning and end of the reporting period.

(e) Inventory. A primary distributor's inventory at his primary distributor establishment consists of all foods covered by this order which are physically located there or in transit to it, including foods which he holds there on consignment. If he has any such foods at or in transit to any place which is not an establishment of any type under this order, he must include them in the inventories of his establishments under this order, but he may divide them among those establishments as he chooses. He must, in that case, report the place where those foods are kept and the amount kept there which he is including in the inventory of his establishment. However, the following items are not part of his inventory:

(1) Food stored for a person other than his customer or transferee, or held as security for a loan to someone else (or similar transaction), or in transit for either of those purposes;

(2) Foods included in the inventory of one of his other establishments of any type.

(f) Place for filing report. A primary distributor who reports on OPA Form R–1606 (Revised), or OPA Form R–1607, must file it with the district office for the place where his establishment is located or, if it is a report covering a group of establishments, with the district office at which that group is registered. If he reports on OPA Form R–1609 (Revised), he must file it with the "board" for that place. If he reports on OPA Form R–1626 he must mail it with his Dairy Products Report No. 1 to Post Office Box 6910A, Chicago, Illinois.

(g) Change in reporting period. A primary distributor who wishes to adopt reporting periods other than those which he is permitted to use under paragraph (b) of this section, or to change his reporting periods to conform to his accounting periods, may apply to the district office (or to the board) with which he is registered, for permission to do so. The application must be made on OPA Form R–315, and must give the reasons for the change desired. The district office (or the board) shall act on the application according to the circumstances of the case.

SEC. 4.12 Primary distributor may not do business if he does not file reports. (a) No primary distributor may transfer or acquire any food covered by this order after any date on which a report is due from him, until he has filed that report.

SEC. 4.13 A primary distributor must surrender to the Office of Price Administration all points he is not permitted to use. (a) A primary distributor must give up to the Office of Price Administration, for cancellation, all points he receives for sales or transfers of foods covered by this order, except for points he uses for a purpose permitted by paragraph (c) or (d) of this section. He must attach to his report for each reporting period all points not so used which he received during that period for sales or transfers of such foods. If he has, or is required to have, a ration bank account, he must give them up in the form of a certified ration check (payable to the Office of Price Administration) drawn on his ration bank account. If he has no account, he must give them up in the form he received them.

(b) A primary distributor who has received "stamps" which are not yet valid, in the way permitted by section 3.2, must enclose those stamps with his report for the period in which he received them. He may not use or deposit them.

(c) A primary distributor may use points only for the following purposes:

(1) To acquire foods covered by this order, for the purpose of processing them;

(2) To acquire, for sale or transfer without processing, foods produced, processed or imported by someone else, in an amount up to (but not exceeding) ten per cent by weight of his total transfers from his primary distributor establishment during the reporting period;

(3) To acquire, for his primary distributor establishment, foods which he produced, processed or imported elsewhere;

[NOTE: It is not a primary distributor establishment as to those foods unless it meets the tests described in section 4.6 (a) or 4.7 (a). If it does not meet one of those tests, its points may not be used to acquire such foods, except as permitted by (1), (4) and (5) of this paragraph.]

(4) To return points for underdeliveries of foods, as permitted by section 10.9;

(5) To get back foods he transferred.

(d) The points of a primary distributor establishment to which section 4.9 applies may, however, be used only for the following purposes:

(1) To acquire butter or rationed cheeses for that establishment;

(2) To return points for underdeliveries of butter or rationed cheeses as permitted by section 10.9;

(3) To get back butter or rationed cheeses transferred.

SEC. 4.14 Primary distributors may get points to acquire foods. (a) A primary distributor who, after April 18, 1943, needs more points to acquire foods covered by this order, for a purpose permitted by section 4.13 (c) or (d), than he has available may apply for additional points. The application must be made, on OPA Form R–315, to the district office with which his reports must be filed. The application must show the number of points he has, the reason he needs more, the number he needs and the time for which he needs them. If the district office finds that he needs more points for one or more of the purposes described in section 4.13 (c) or (d), it may issue to him a "certificate" (OPA Form R–1201) for the number of points he needs. If it finds that he needs them temporarily only, it may fix a time within which he is to return the points, and he must then return them at or before the time fixed.

SEC. 4.15 A primary distributor who has more than one establishment must operate them separately. (a) If a primary distributor has more than one primary distributor establishment, they are treated and must be operated separately, for all the purposes of this order, just as if they were owned by different persons (except if they have been registered in the way described in section 4.11 (a) (2)).

SEC. 4.16 Primary distributors must keep records. (a) Beginning March 29, 1943, every primary distributor must keep, at his primary distributor establishment, a record showing his production, processing, acquisitions and transfers, by weight and point value, of each of the following foods: meat, canned fish, rationed cheese, butter, "margarine", "shortening" and "cooking or salad oils." He must also keep a similar record with respect to any item which is added to the foods covered by this order, beginning on the date the item is added.

(b) In addition, at the time of any change in the point value of any item of food covered by this order, every primary distributor must make and keep at his establishment, a record of the amount of the item he has in his inventory, and of its point value before and after the change.

(c) However, the records required by paragraphs (a) and (b) need not be kept at each establishment if the establishment is one of a group which has been registered together, but may be kept at the central office for such group. They must, however, be kept separately for each establishment.

(d) A primary distributor who is required to report on OPA Form R–1606 (Revised), OPA Form R–1607 or OPA Form R–1626 must, for every reporting period beginning on or after December 1, 1943, keep a record at his establishment (or, if the establishment is one of a group which has been or will be registered together, at the central office for such group) showing, as of the beginning and end of each such period, the point value of his inventory, as defined in section 4.11 (e), of each of the following foods: Meat, shortening, margarine, cooking and salad oils, butter, rationed cheeses, canned milk and rationed canned fish. He must also keep a similar record with respect to any item which is added to the foods covered by this order, beginning on the date the item is added.

(e) A primary distributor who is required to report on OPA Form R–1606 (Revised) or OPA Form R–1607 must also keep (at the place where he keeps the other records required by this section) a record of the quantity and sizes of each item of canned fish in his inventory as of the beginning and end of each of his reporting periods beginning on or after December 1, 1943.

SEC. 4.17 Policy against discrimination. (a) It is the policy of this order that no slaughterer distributing meat through its own branch houses or comparable agencies of distribution, and no branch house or agency of any such slaughterer, shall discriminate in the sale or distribution of meat available for civilian consumption against any independent wholesaler, processor, hotel supplier, fabricator, peddler, purveyor, distributor, or other middleman customarily supplied by such slaughterer, branch house, or agency during the year immediately preceding October 1, 1943.

ARTICLE V—WHOLESALERS

SEC. 5.1 Explanation of the terms wholesaler and wholesale establishment. (a) Any place (including space in a public warehouse) where a "person" who deals in "foods covered by this order" regularly keeps stocks of those foods for sale or "transfer" (other than as a "primary distributor"), is a "wholesale establishment" if fifty per cent or more of those stocks are transferred from there directly to persons other than "consumers". However, if he keeps the stocks which are not transferred to consumers, just to supply his own establishments, it is a wholesale establishment only if it supplies:

(1) At least one of his wholesale establishments; or

(2) At least four of his "retail establishments".

(b) Any person dealing in foods covered by this order who has a wholesale establishment is called a "wholesaler", as to that establishment.

SEC. 5.2 Wholesalers must register—(a) General. Every wholesaler must register with the Office of Price Administration by filing two copies of OPA Form R–1602, at any time from May 3, 1943 to May 24, 1943, inclusive. Both copies of the form must be completed and signed by the wholesaler or his authorized agent. He must give all information called for by the form.

(b) Filing by mail. Where a registration form is filed by mail, it is considered filed on time if the envelope is postmarked on or before May 24, 1943.

(c) Registration for single wholesale establishment. A wholesaler who has only one wholesale establishment must file his registration with the "board" for the place where that establishment is located.

(d) Registration for two or more wholesale establishments of the same person. If a wholesaler has two or more wholesale establishments and has operated them separately under this order, just as if they were owned by different persons, he must either register each establishment separately on a separate OPA Form R–1602 or register all of them together on a single form, as he chooses. If he has not operated them separately under this order, he must register them together on the same form. (For example, he must register all of them together (1) if he has opened a single ration bank account for two or more of them; or (2) if he has drawn a ration check against an account serving one of them to "acquire" foods for another; or (3) if, after April 10, 1943, he transferred points, or foods covered by this order, from one to another without transferring foods or points of equal point value between them.

(e) Where and how a wholesaler who has two or more wholesale establishments must register. If a wholesaler who has two or more wholesale establishments registers them together, he must furnish the required information for them on a single registration form and file two copies of that form with the board for the place where his principal business office is located. If he registers each of them separately, he must complete two copies of the form for each establishment and file them with the board for the place where that establishment is located.

(f) Separately registered establishments are to be treated and operated separately. If a wholesaler has more than one wholesale establishment and registers or is required to register them separately, each of those establishments is to be treated and operated separately for all the purposes of this order (including computation of allowable inventories), just as if the establishments were owned by different persons.

(g) Persons who are wholesalers because an item is added to the foods covered by this order. A person who, at the time an item is added to the foods covered by this order, regularly deals in that item and therefore becomes a wholesaler under this order, is not required to register. If he has more than one wholesale establishment, each of those establishments is to be treated as if it was separately registered.

SEC. 5.3 Wholesaler may not do business unless he has registered. (a) No wholesaler may transfer or acquire foods covered by this order after May 24, 1943, until he has registered in the manner required.

SEC. 5.4 Wholesalers must report their inventories. (a) As part of his registration, a wholesaler must report, on OPA Form R–1602, the point value of his inventory of foods covered by this order at the close of business on May 1, 1943. If he has more than one wholesale establishment he must file a separate inventory report for each, whether or not they are registered separately. If any of his sales or transfers of foods covered by this order are not made from a fixed place (for example, if he sells foods from a mobile conveyance such as a truck) he need not file a separate inventory report for that conveyance.

(b) A wholesaler's inventory at his wholesale establishment consists of all foods covered by this order which are physically located at that establishment or in transit to it, including foods which he holds there on consignment. If he has any such foods at or in transit to any place which is not an establishment of any type under this order, he must include them in the inventories of his establishments under this order, but he may divide them among those establishments as he chooses. He must, in that case, report the place where those foods are kept and the amount kept there which he is including in the inventory of his establishment. However, the following items are not part of his inventory:

(1) Foods stored for a person other than his customer or transferee, or held as security for a loan to someone else (or similar transaction), or in transit for either of those purposes;

(2) Foods included in the inventory of one of his other establishments of any type.

SEC. 5.5 Wholesalers must report their sales and points on hand—(a) Sales and transfers. A wholesaler must report, as part of his registration, the pounds of all foods covered by this order which were transferred by him from April 25, 1943 to May 1, 1943, inclusive. (If he has more than one wholesale establishment and they are registered together, he must report the total for all.) However, he is not to include in this report any exchanges of such foods, or transfers from one to another of his wholesale establishments, or to any other wholesale establishment. The report must show his sales and transfers separately of each of the following classes of foods covered by this order:

(1) Fresh and frozen "meats";

(2) "Shortening", "cooking or salad oil", "canned meats", "canned fish";

(3) All other foods covered by this order, including "rationed cheeses", "butter", "margarine", sausage and types of meats not described in (1) or (2).

(b) Points on hand. A wholesaler must also report, as part of his registration, the total number of points which he has available for acquiring foods covered by this order at the close of business on May 1, 1943. He must include all points which he has on hand, all in his ration bank account (except those for which ration checks are outstanding), all which he has already given up for foods not yet shipped to him, and all which he has not yet received for foods he has already shipped. However, he is not to include points he has received for foods which he has not yet shipped, or points he owes for foods already shipped to him.

SEC. 5.6 A wholesaler is given an allowable inventory — (a) General. Every wholesaler is entitled to an operating inventory, called an allowable inventory, which is based on his sales and transfers of foods covered by this order from April 25, 1943 to May 1, 1943, inclusive. This allowable inventory is stated in terms of points.

(b) Amount of allowable inventory. To get a wholesaler's allowable inventory, the number of pounds of foods in each of the three classes specified in section 5.5 (a) transferred by him from April 25, 1943 to May 1, 1943, inclusive, is multiplied by a factor fixed for that class by the Office of Price Administration in a supplement to this order. The numbers which result are added, and the total is his allowable inventory. Exchanges of such foods, and transfers from one to another of his wholesale establishments, or to any other wholesale establishment, must not be included in this computation.

(c) Point inventory. (1) In order to determine how large a stock of foods covered by this order, a wholesaler has and is in a position to get, it is necessary to find out two things:

(i) The point value of his inventory; and

(ii) The number of points he has available for acquiring such foods, since he can use these points to get additional stocks. These points include those referred to in section 5.5 (b).

(2) The sum of the above two figures, at a particular time, shows the amount of foods covered by this order he has and can get at that time. That sum is called his point inventory.

(d) When a wholesaler is entitled to a certificate. If a wholesaler's point inventory at the close of business on May 1, 1943 is less than his allowable inventory, he is entitled to receive a "certificate" for the number of points needed to make up the difference. The certificate will be issued by the board with which he registers.

(e) What a wholesaler must do if he has excess inventory. If a wholesaler's point inventory at the close of business on May 1, 1943, is greater than his allowable inventory, the difference is excess inventory. He must, in that case, give up to the board, for cancellation, points equal to his excess inventory. Points for that amount must be forwarded with his registration. He must give up the points in the form of a certified check drawn on his ration bank account, made payable to the Office of Price Administration. A wholesaler who does not have enough points at the time of registration must, within one week after the last day of each calendar month (beginning with the month of December 1943), give up to the board with which he is registered the points which he has on hand and in his ration bank account at the end of that month until he has, in this way, given up points equal to his excess inventory. He may, however, keep points equal to 15% of his allowable inventory. (Points for which ration checks are outstanding, points owed by him for acquisitions, during that month, of foods covered by this order and points owed for underdeliveries of foods are not considered to be points which he has "on hand".) He may not, until he has given up points equal to his excess inventory, buy or acquire during any one calendar week foods covered by this order having a point value of more than 15% of his allowable inventory.

SEC. 5.8 Wholesalers must keep records. (a) Every wholesaler must keep, at his wholesale establishment (or at his principal business office, if he has more than one and registers them together) a copy of his registration on OPA Form R–1602, and of any worksheets used by him in computing his allowable inventory, and his inventory. In addition, any wholesaler who is required by section 5.10 to file reports on OPA Form R–1310, must keep at that place a copy of each such report filed by him.

(b) In addition, at the time of any change in the point value of any item of food covered by this order, every wholesaler must make a record of the amount, in pounds, of that item which he has in his inventory. The record must show the point value of the item before and after the change, and the amount by which the point value of his inventory was increased or decreased as a result. In addition, at the time any item is added to or removed from the foods covered by this order, every wholesaler must keep a record of the amount, in pounds and point value, of that item which he has in his inventory. Even if he has more than one wholesale establishment registered together, he must make and keep such a record at each establishment.

(c) He must keep a record of his sales or transfers of foods covered by this order from April 25, 1943 to May 1, 1943, inclusive, according to the classes set forth in section 5.5 (a). The record is to separate from his other transfers, exchanges and transfers to wholesale establishments.

SEC. 5.9 Wholesalers who sell to consumers must post table of point values. (a) A wholesaler who makes sales or transfers to consumers at his wholesale establishment of foods covered by this order, must comply at that establishment with the provisions of section 10.4, as to the posting of the point values of the items he carries.

SEC. 5.10 Wholesalers must report inventories of canned fish—(a) Who must report. Every wholesaler who transfers canned fish must file a report on OPA Form R–1310 for each reporting period set forth in section 30.2, giving all the information called for by Schedule B of that form, for items included under the heading "Canned and bottled fish and shellfish."

(b) Where reports must be filed. The report must be signed by the wholesaler or by his authorized agent and must be filed by mailing to the Office of Price Administration, care of the Bureau of Census, Washington 25, D. C., within 8 days after the end of the reporting period. The form is considered filed on time if the envelope is postmarked on or before the last day it is due.

ARTICLE VI—RETAILERS

SEC. 6.1 Explanation of the terms retailer and retail establishment. (a) Any place (including space in a public warehouse) where a "person" who deals in "foods covered by this order" regularly keeps stocks of those foods for sale or "transfer" (other than as a "primary distributor") is a "retail establishment" if more than fifty percent of those stocks are sold or transferred from there directly to "consumers". It is also a retail establishment even if the amount sold or transferred to consumers is fifty percent or less, in the following case:

(1) If some of those stocks are transferred directly to consumers; and

(2) If the rest of those stocks are kept there just to supply his own establishments of any type; and

(3) If no "wholesale establishment", and not more than three retail establishments, are supplied from there.

(b) Any person dealing in food who has a retail establishment is called a "retailer" as to that establishment.

SEC. 6.2 Retailers must register—(a) General. Every retailer must register his retail establishments with the office of Price Administration at any time from May 3, 1943 to May 14, 1943, inclusive, on OPA Form R–1601. The registration form must be completed and signed by the retailer or his authorized agent. He must give all information called for by OPA Form R–1601.

(b) Mailing. Where a registration form is filed by mail it is considered filed on time if the envelope is postmarked on or before May 14, 1943.

(c) Registration for single retail establishment. A retailer who has only one retail establishment must file his registration with the "board" for the place where that establishment is located.

(d) Registration for two or more retail establishments of the same person. If a retailer has two or more retail establishments and has operated them separately under this order, just as if they were owned by different persons, he must either register each establishment separately on a separate OPA Form R–1601, or together on a single form. If he has not operated them separately under this order, he must register them together on the same form. (For example, he must register them together (1) if he has opened a ration bank account for two or more of them; or (2) if he has drawn a ration check against an account serving one of them to "acquire" foods for another; or (3) if, after April 10, 1943, he transferred points, or foods covered by this order, from one of his retail establishments to another of his retail establishments without transferring foods or points of equal point value between them.)

(e) Where and how a retailer owning two or more retail establishments must register. If a retailer who has two or more retail establishments registers them together, he must furnish the required information for them on a single registration form and file that form with the board for the place where his principal business office is located. If he registers each of them separately, he must file a separate registration form for each establishment with the board for the place where that establishment is located.

(f) Separately registered establishments are to be treated and operated separately. If a retailer has more than one retail establishment and registers them separately, each of those establishments is to be treated and operated separately for all the purposes of this order (including computation of allowable inventories), just as if the establishments were owned by different persons.

(g) Persons who are retailers because an item is added to the foods covered by this order. A person who, at the time an item is added to the foods covered by this order, regularly deals in that item and therefore becomes a retailer under this order, is not required to register. If he has more than one retail establishment, each of those establishments is to be treated as if it was separately registered.

SEC. 6.3. A retailer may not do business unless he has registered. (a) No retailer may transfer or acquire foods covered by this order after May 14, 1943, until he has registered in the manner required.

SEC. 6.4 Retailers must report their inventories. (a) As part of his registration, a retailer must report, on OPA Form R-1801, the point value of his inventory of foods covered by this order at the close of business on May 1, 1943.

(b) A retailer's inventory at his retail establishment consists of all foods covered by this order which are physically located at that establishment or in transit to it, including foods which he holds there on consignment. If he has any such foods at or in transit to any place which is not an establishment of any type under this order, he must include them in the inventories of his establishments under this order, but he may divide them among those establishments as he chooses. He must, in that case, report the place where the foods are kept and the amount kept there which he is including in the inventory of his establishment. However, the following items are not part of his inventory:

(1) Foods stored for a person other than his customer or transferee, or held as security for a loan to someone else (or similar transaction), or in transit for either of those purposes;

(2) Foods included in the inventory of one of his other establishments of any type.

SEC. 6.5 Retailers must report their sales and points on hand.—(a) Sales and transfers. A retailer must report, as part of his registration:

(1) The point value of all foods covered by this order which were transferred by him from April 25, 1943 to May 1, 1943, inclusive. If he has more than one retail establishment and they are registered together, he must report the total for all. (However, he shall not include in his report any exchanges of foods, or transfers of them from one to another of his retail establishments, or to any other retail establishment.); and

(2) The total number of points which he has available for acquiring food at the close of business on May 1, 1943. He must include all points which he has on hand, all in his ration bank account, if any (except those for which ration checks are outstanding), all which he has already given up for food not yet shipped to him, and all points which he has not yet received for foods he has already shipped. (However, he is not to include points he has received for foods which he has not yet shipped, or points he owes for foods already shipped to him.)

SEC. 6.6 A retailer is given an allowable inventory.—(a) General. Every retailer is entitled to an operating inventory, called an allowable inventory, which is based on his sales and transfers of foods covered by this order from April 26, 1943 to May 1, 1943, inclusive. This allowable inventory is stated in terms of points.

(b) Amount of allowable inventory. To get a retailer's allowable inventory, the points received or receivable for all foods covered by this order transferred from his retail establishment from April 26, 1943 to May 1, 1943, inclusive, are multiplied by three. The result is his allowable inventory. Exchanges of foods, and transfers of them from one to another of his retail establishments, or to any other retail establishment, must not be included in this computation.

(c) Point inventory. (1) In order to determine how large a stock of foods covered by this order, a retailer has and is in a position to get, it is necessary to find out two things:

(i) The point value of his inventory; and

(ii) The number of points which he has available for acquiring food, since he can use those points to get additional stocks. These points include all those referred to in section 6.5 (a) (2).

(2) The sum of the above two figures, at the close of business on May 1, 1943, shows the amount of foods covered by this order he has and can get at that time. That sum is called his point inventory.

(d) When a retailer is entitled to a certificate. If a retailer's point inventory at the close of business on May 1, 1943, is less than his allowable inventory, he is entitled to receive a "certificate" for the number of points needed to make up the difference. The certificate will be issued by the board with which he registers.

(e) What a retailer must do if he has excess inventory. If a retailer's point inventory at the close of business on May 1, 1943, is greater than his allowable inventory, the difference is excess inventory. He must, in that case, give up to the Office of Price Administration, for cancellation, points equal to his excess inventory. Points for that amount must be forwarded with his registration. If he does not have a ration bank account, he may give up the points in any form. If he has a ration bank account, he must give up the points in the form of a certified check drawn on that account, made payable to the Office of Price Administration. A retailer who does not have enough points at the time of registration must, within one week after the last day of each calendar month (beginning with the month of December 1943), give up to the board with which he is registered the points which he has on hand and in his ration bank account at the end of that month, until he has, in this way, given up points, equal to his excess inventory. He may, however, keep points equal to 25% of his allowable inventory. (Points for which ration checks are outstanding, points owed by him for acquisitions during that month of foods covered by this order, and points owed for under-deliveries of such foods are not considered to be points which he has "on hand".) He may not, until he has given up points in an amount equal to his excess inventory, buy or acquire during any calendar week foods covered by this order having a point value in excess of 25% of his allowable inventory.

SEC. 6.8 Retailers must keep records. (a) Every retailer must keep at his retail establishment a copy of his registration for that establishment. If he has more than one retail establishment and has registered them together, he must keep the copy at his principal business office. He must also keep there any work sheets used by him in computing his allowable inventory and his inventory.

(b) In addition, at the time of any change in the point value of any item of food covered by this order, every retailer must make a record of the amount, in pounds, of that item which he has in his inventory. The record must show the point value of the item before and after the change, and the amount by which the point value of his inventory was increased or decreased as a result. In addition, at the time any item is added to or removed from the foods covered by this order, every wholesaler must keep a record of the amount, in pounds and point value, of that item which he has in his inventory. He must keep this record at the place where he keeps the copy of his registration. Even if he has more than one retail establishment and they are registered together, he must make and keep such a record at each establishment.

(c) A retailer who processes foods covered by this order but who is not a primary distributor (because of the provisions of section 4.4 (b)) must keep a record of the amount and type of food covered by this order which he uses for processing, and the amount, point value and type of the item he produces by processing.

(d) Every retailer must also keep a record of the point value of the foods covered by this order transferred from his retail establishment during the week from April 25, 1943 to May 1, 1943, inclusive. The record is to separate from his other transfers, exchanges and transfers to retail establishments.

SEC. 6.9 Retailers must post point prices. (a) Beginning March 29, 1943, every retailer must post the current Official Tables of Consumer Point Values (OPA Forms R-1313 and R-1611) covering the items he sells, in his retail establishment in such manner that they can be plainly seen and read by consumers. If he sells from a truck or other mobile conveyance, the tables must be posted in it. If a retailer carries any item for sale or transfer in a form in which it appears on the Official Table of Trade Point Values and does not appear on either consumer point value table, he must keep the Official Table of Trade Point Values available for inspection by his purchasers.

(b) Every retailer must also post, at the place where he displays the items of foods covered by this order which he sells to his customers, the point value of every item of such food which he carries. The point value must be posted, in such manner that it can be plainly seen and read by consumers, in one or more of the following ways:

(1) On the item itself; or

(2) On the shelf or other place where the item is kept; or

(3) On a list attached to, or posted next to, the shelf or other place where the item is kept.

(c) When a change is made in the point value of any food covered by this order, a retailer is allowed one full business day after the change becomes effective in which to correct the point values which he has posted in compliance with paragraph (b) of this section.

SEC. 6.10 A retailer may sell at lower point value foods in imminent danger of spoilage. (a) If any foods covered by this order which a retailer has in his inventory are in imminent danger of spoilage and he finds, in good faith, that he connot dispose of them at their regular point value quickly enough so that they can be used before they spoil, he may sell or transfer them at less than their regular point value. He must, in doing so, comply with the conditions and follow the procedure set forth in this section. However, none of the provisions of this section apply to "canned fish", "canned milk", or "canned meat." (Transfers by retailers and others, of canned fish, canned milk and canned meat, which are in imminent danger of spoilage are covered by section 10.11.)

(b) A retailer may reduce the point value of a food covered by this order when permitted by this section, only to the extent necessary to dispose of it before it spoils. No retailer may sell or transfer a food covered by this order at less than its regular point value, unless he has reduced the money price of that food in the following way:

(1) No reduction in point value may be made unless the money price of the food has been reduced at least twenty-five per cent below its ceiling price established by applicable orders of the Office of Price Administration;

(2) No reduction in the point value of the food of more than twenty-five per cent below its regular point value may be made unless the money price of the food is reduced below its ceiling price in the same proportion. However, the money price need not be reduced, in any case, more than fifty per cent below its ceiling price.

(c) Whenever a retailer sells or transfers an item of food covered by this order at less than its regular point value, he must sell or transfer that item so long as he has it on hand to any person who is willing to buy or acquire it at that reduced point value which he has posted for it. He must also post a notice where it may be clearly seen and read by his customers showing:

(1) The item that he is selling at the lower point value;

(2) The point value at which he intends to sell it;

(3) That he is selling that item at less than its regular point value to prevent spoilage;

(4) The ceiling price of the item, and the reduced money price at which he intends to sell it.

(d) If a retailer sells or transfers a food covered by this order at less than the regular point value he must make a written report (by postcard or otherwise) within twenty-four hours after he begins to transfer it at the lower point value, to the board for the place where his establishment is located. The report must be signed by the retailer or his authorized agent, and must show:

(1) The name and address of the establishment at which the food is being transferred at less than its regular point value;

(2) The particular reasons why the food is being transferred at less than its regular point value;

(3) The quantity and type of food involved.

(e) (1) Within four days after he began to transfer the food at less than its regular point value he must make a further report in writing (by postcard or otherwise) to that board, showing:

(i) The name and address of the establishment at which the food was transferred at less than its regular point value;

(ii) The types and quantity of food sold or transferred at the lower point value;

(iii) The total point value of the food so transferred.

He must also certify in writing, in this report, that he reduced the money price of the food sold or transferred at the lower point value, in the way required by this section.

(2) If he has made such a sale or transfer to any person other than a consumer, he must also report to the board:

(i) The name and address of the buyer or transferee;

(ii) The type and quantity of food sold or transferred to him;

(iii) The number of points received from him for that food.

(f) Any person other than a consumer who buys or acquires foods covered by this order at less than their regular point value, and who resells or retransfers them at a higher point value than that at which he bought or acquired them, must surrender the excess points to his board.

(g) A retailer who sold or transferred a food covered by this order at less than its regular point value may apply, on OPA Form R-315, for a certificate to replace the points by which his point inventory was reduced as a result of such transfers. The application must be made to the board for the place where his establishment is located, and must be signed by the retailer or his authorized agent. It must show the time when he made such transfers, the regular point value of the foods so transferred, and the number of points received for them. It must also contain a certification in writing that he reduced the money price of the food sold or transferred at the lower point value, in the way required by this section. If the board finds that his point inventory was reduced by such transfers, it shall issue a certificate for the number of points by which it was reduced. However, no retailer may receive points under this section to replace point losses during any month in excess of two per cent of his allowable inventory. This paragraph does not apply to transfers made between March 29, 1943, and April 10, 1943, inclusive. Application to replace point losses must be made at or after registration. No application to replace point losses may be made after 30 days from the close of the month in which the point losses occurred.

(h) If a retailer suffers a point loss because, between April 11, 1943, and May 1, 1943, inclusive, he sold or transferred foods covered by this order at less than their regular point value, he must include the points so lost as part of his point inventory held at the close of business on May 1, 1943.

(i) The Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard may, in accordance with arrangements made with the Washington Office, authorize army exchanges, post exchanges, ships' service departments ashore, sales commissaries and commissary stores to sell, at less than their full point value, foods covered by this order which cannot be sold at their full point value because they are in imminent danger of spoilage.

ARTICLE VII—INDUSTRIAL USERS AND INDUSTRIAL CONSUMERS

SEC. 7.1 Explanation of the terms industrial use, industrial user, and industrial user establishment. (a) Any use by a "person" of "foods covered by this order" in producing or manufacturing, for sale or "transfer," a food for human consumption, which is not covered by this order, or a pharmaceutical, is an "industrial use". (For example, use by a bakery of "shortening" in making bread, is an industrial use.)

(1) Industrial use also includes the use of a food covered by this order for experimental, educational, testing, or demonstration purposes, and the use of "rationed fats and oils" in the care and treatment of the sick. It does not include laboratory testing of his products by or for a primary distributor, for the purpose of determining whether they meet established formulas, standards, or specifications. (Where a primary distributor establishment sends samples of its products to a laboratory for the purpose of testing those products to determine whether they meet established formulas, standards, or specifications, the place at which the testing is done is, as to those samples, considered part of that primary distributor establishment.)

(2) If a food covered by this order is used for a purpose for which the order does not otherwise provide, such use is "industrial consumption". (The way foods covered by this order may be "acquired" for industrial consumption is covered in sections 7.10 and 7.11.)

(3) The use of foods covered by this order for demonstration purposes under the direction of the Department of Agriculture or the Extension Service of the Department of Agriculture is neither an industrial use nor industrial consumption.

(4) The use of foods covered by this order in the preparation of food for service, or in the service of food to "consumers", is an "institutional use" and not an industrial use. (An "institutional user" may obtain allotments of foods, and may use such foods, only in accordance with the provisions of General Ration Order 5.)

(b) Any place where a person makes an industrial use of foods covered by this order is an "industrial user establishment", and any person who has such an establishment is called an "industrial user" as to that establishment. An industrial user who ceases to make an industrial use of foods (other than temporarily) is not regarded as an industrial user after he ceases.

SEC. 7.2 Industrial users must register—(a) General. Every industrial user who operated his industrial user establishment at any time from January 1, 1942 to March 19, 1943, inclusive, must register his industrial user establishment with the Office of Price Administration, at any time from March 29, 1943 to April 10, 1943, inclusive, on OPA Form R–1605, in duplicate. The registration form must be completed and signed by the industrial user or his authorized agent.

(b) Re-registration between December 15, 1943 and January 5, 1944. Every industrial user who is registered under this order on December 14, 1943, must re-register his industrial user establishment by filing OPA Form R–1200 at any time from December 15, 1943 to January 5, 1944, inclusive, in accordance with General Ration Order 16.[1]

(c) Industrial user must register all his establishments separately or as a unit. An industrial user who has more than one industrial user establishment, must either register each establishment separately or all of them together. If he has more than one industrial user establishment, and registers them separately, each of those establishments must be treated and operated separately for all purposes of this order just as though the establishments were owned by different persons. If he registers them together, they must be treated as a unit for all purposes of this order. An industrial user who has more than one establishment which he registered together on OPA Form R–1605, may register all his establishments together or each separately when he re-registers them on OPA Form R–1200. Also, an industrial user who has more than one establishment which he registered separately on OPA Form R–1605, may register all his establishments together or each separately when he re-registers them on OPA Form R–1200.

(d) Industrial user must register with the board. Each industrial user must register with the "board" for the place where his industrial user establishment is located. If he has more than one industrial user establishment, and registers them together, the registration form must be filed with the board for the place where his principal business office is located. If he has more than one such industrial user establishment and registers them separately, the registration form for each must be filed with the board for the place where it is located.

(e) Allocation of inventory and unused allotments. An industrial user who has more than one industrial user establishment which he registers separately on OPA Form R–1200 may allocate any unused part of his prior allotments and the inventory of foods covered by this order which he has on the date of his re-registration among his various industrial user establishments as he wishes. An industrial user who has more than one industrial user establishment which were registered separately on OPA Form R–1605 and which he registers together on OPA Form R–1200, must assign all unused parts of prior allotments and the inventory of such foods which he has on the date of his re-registration for the use of all industrial user establishments as a unit.

(f) Industrial users' place of registration may be changed by district office. (1) Any district office, with the consent of the regional office, may require that any board located in its district transfer the registration of industrial users registered with it to another board or to the district office. The transfer shall be made by forwarding the registration file and all other records of the industrial users to the designated board or to the district office.

(2) Where an industrial user's registration is transferred under this section to a district office, the word "board", wherever used in this order to refer to the board with which an industrial user is registered, shall be deemed to refer to the district office where that industrial user is registered.

SEC. 7.3 Industrial user may not do business unless he has registered. (a) No industrial user may acquire or use foods covered by this order at his industrial user establishment, after April 10, 1943, unless he has registered as required.

(b) No industrial user may acquire or use foods covered by this order at his industrial user establishment after January 5, 1944, until he has re-registered as required by General Ration Order 16.

(c) However, any person may make an industrial use of foods covered by this order which have a zero point value without registering as an industrial user.

SEC. 7.4 Industrial users must report their inventories. (a) As part of his registration, on OPA Form R–1605, an industrial user must report his inventory of foods covered by this order, at the close of business on March 28, 1943. If he has more than one industrial user establishment and registers them together, he must report his total inventory for all his establishments on the same registration form.

(b) An industrial user's inventory at his industrial user establishment consists of all foods covered by this order which are physically located at that establishment, or in transit to it. He may, however, assign to and include in the inventory of one of his industrial user establishments foods physically located at or in transit to another of his industrial user establishments. If he has any such foods at, or in transit to, any place which is not his industrial user establishment, for industrial use at that establishment, he must include them in the inventory of that establishment. If he has any such foods at or in transit to any place which is not an establishment of any type under this order, he must include them in the inventories of his establishments under this order, but he may divide them among those establishments as he chooses. If he includes in the inventory of an industrial user establishment any foods not physically located at or in transit to it, he must report the place where those foods are kept and the amount kept there which he is including in the inventory of his establishment. However, the following items are not part of his inventory:

(1) Foods stored for a person other than his customer or transferee, or held as security for a loan to someone else (or similar transaction), or in transit for either of those purposes;

(2) Foods included in the inventory of one of his other establishments of any type.

(c) In addition, within twenty days of the date on which any item is added to the foods covered by this order, every industrial user must report to the board with which he is registered, his inventory of that item, in pounds and point value, as of the date on which it becomes a food covered by this order. His inventory of that item shall be treated as excess inventory. He may, at the same time, apply for an increase in his allotment (for the allotment period in which such item is added to the foods covered by this order) by reason of that addition, in accordance with section 7.7 of this order. However, an industrial user of "canned milk" may not receive an allotment under section 7.7, based on his use of canned milk.

SEC. 7.5 Industrial users must report their use of foods during certain quarterly periods. (a) As part of his registration on OPA Form R–1200, an industrial user must also report the number of pounds of foods covered by this order by classes, of which he made an industrial use at his industrial user establishment during 1942. These classes will be fixed by the Office of Price Administration in a supplement to this order. The report must show the amount he used during each of the following quarters in 1942, called base periods:

(1) First quarter: January to March, inclusive;

(2) Second quarter: April to June, inclusive;

(3) Third quarter: July to September, inclusive;

(4) Fourth quarter: October to December, inclusive.

He must include, in his report of his base-period use, any adjustments in that use authorized by the Office of Price Administration.

(b) If an industrial user establishment was not in operation for a full quarter, his industrial use of foods covered by this order at the establishment during that quarter is fixed, for all the purposes of this order, in the following way:

(1) If it was in operation during a part of the quarter:

(i) The amount of foods covered by this order so used there by him during that part of the quarter is determined;

(ii) That amount is divided by the number of days it was in operation during the quarter;

(iii) The result is multiplied by the number of days the establishment would have been operated during the quarter, if it had been a normal period of operation;

(iv) The resulting figure is treated as the amount so used during the quarter.

(2) If it was not in operation at all during the quarter but was in operation in any other part of 1942:

(i) The amount of foods covered by this order so used there by him during all of 1942 is determined;

(ii) That amount is divided by the number of days it was in operation during 1942;

(iii) The result is multiplied by the number of days the establishment would have been operated during the quarter, if it had been a normal period of operations;

(iv) The resulting figure is treated as the amount so used during the quarter. (If an industrial user's establishment was not in operation at any time from January 1, 1942 to March 19, 1943, inclusive, he is treated as a new industrial user as to that establishment under the provisions of section 13.3.)

(c) The rules set forth under (1) and (2) of paragraph (b) of this section do not apply where an industrial user's establishment was not in operation during all or part of a quarter because of a normal seasonal shutdown or for any similar reason. Where that is so, it is assumed that conditions will be the same during the corresponding period in 1944.

(d) An industrial user must exclude the following from his base-period use reported on OPA Form R–1200:

(1) His use of foods covered by this order for educational purposes, when such use was under the direction of the Department of Agriculture or the Extension Service of the Department of Agriculture;

(2) His use of any item of food covered by this order having a zero point value at the time he applies for his allotment;

(3) His use of any foods covered by this order for which he is entitled to receive a provisional allowance under section 7.13.

SEC. 7.6 Industrial users' allotments—(a) General. An industrial user is given an allotment to enable him to get and use foods covered by this order at his industrial user establishment. Allotments are given for fixed periods called allotment periods. The first allotment period for 1944 is from January 1 through March 31, 1944. The second period is from April 1 through June 30, 1944. The third period is from July 1 through September 30, 1944. The fourth period is from October 1 through December 31, 1944.

(b) Application for allotments. After December 14, 1943, no industrial user may apply for or receive any allotment for any 1943 allotment period. An industrial user's re-registration on OPA Form R–1200 is treated as an application for an allotment for the first allotment period of 1944. His application for an allotment for any other allotment period must be made, in person or by mail, to the board with which he is registered. No particular form need be used for such an application. The application must be made not more than fifteen days before, nor more than five days after, the beginning of the period. The board may permit the application to be made at any time during the month preceding an allotment period under such circumstances as the "Washington Office" may direct. The board, in its discretion, may also permit an application to be made at any time within the allotment period. However, if it is made more than five days after the beginning of the period, the industrial user's allotment shall be reduced in proportion to the part of the allotment period which has elapsed at the time he applies for the allotment.

NOTE: An industrial user is permitted to use foods covered by this order only up to the amount of his allotment. He may therefore need an allotment even if his stocks are sufficient, since his allotment establishes his right to use those foods—it is not just a method by which he gets them.

(c) Amount of allotment. An industrial user's allotment is determined on the basis of his total use of foods covered by this order at his industrial user establishment during the quarterly period in 1942 corresponding to the allotment period. The amount of each class (the classes of foods are fixed in a supplement to this order) of foods covered by this order used by him during the corresponding quarter of 1942 for the classes of products or uses listed by him on Schedule I of OPA Form R–1200, is multiplied by a factor fixed in a supplement to this order for that class of foods and for that class of product or use. The numbers which result are added, and the total is his allotment, stated in points. (The factor is fixed in such a way that it gives an allotment which fairly represents both the average point value of the foods used and the reduction in use required as a result of the scarcity of those foods.)

(d) Right to a certificate; excess inventory. (1) An industrial user is entitled to get and use foods covered by this order up to the amount of his allotment. He is, therefore, given a certificate for the number of points he needs in order to get that amount. However, if he had stocks on hand, on March 28, 1943, when rationing of those foods began, he could use them for his allotment and therefore needed fewer points. For that reason, the point value of his inventory at the close of business on March 28, 1943, was deducted from his allotments. (The method of determining his inventory at the close of business on March 28, 1943, is covered by section 7.4.) If the point value of an industrial user's inventory on March 28, 1943, was less than his first allotment, he was entitled to get, from the board with which he registered, a certificate for the number of points needed to make up the difference. If the point value of his inventory was greater than his first allotment, the difference was excess inventory. In that case, he was not entitled to receive a certificate for the first allotment period, nor for any subsequent allotment period until the total of his subsequent allotments exceeded his excess inventory.

(2) If an industrial user has or is chargeable with any excess inventory at the time he re-registers on OPA Form R–1200, that excess must be entered on the form at the time he re-registers his industrial user establishment. If he has more than one such establishment and registers them separately, he may allocate such excess inventory among them in any way he wishes. However, if an industrial user has more than one establishment which he re-registers separately, he must file with the board for the place where his principal business office is located, a statement of his total excess inventory of foods covered by this order, and the amount allocated to each of his establishments. The statement must be signed by the industrial user or his authorized agent.

(3) If the point value of an industrial user's excess inventory is less than his allotment for the first allotment period of 1944, he is entitled to get, from the board with which he registered, a certificate for the number of points needed to make up the difference. If the point value of such excess inventory is greater than his allotment for the first allotment period of 1944, he is not entitled to get a certificate for that allotment period. He is not entitled to get a certificate until the total of his subsequent allotments exceeds his excess inventory.

(e) Issuance of certificates. Only one certificate will be issued by the board, for the full number of points to which an industrial user is entitled during any allotment period, except that if he has more than one industrial user establishment and has registered them separately, he is to get a separate certificate for each, since separately registered establishments are treated separately.

(f) Report of foods acquired point free or at reduced point values. An industrial user who acquires foods covered by this order, after March 28, 1943 (other than those having a zero point value at the time he acquired them), without giving up points, and who is not required by any other provision of this order to account for or turn over to the Office of Price Administration points for the point value of the foods so acquired, must report such acquisitions and the amount acquired, when applying for his next allotment. The point value of the amounts so acquired shall be treated as excess inventory. An industrial user must also report, when applying for his allotment, the amount and point value of foods covered by this order which he acquired during the preceding allotment period at a reduced point value under the provisions of sections 6.10 and 10.11.

(g) Accounting for errors. If an industrial user receives an allotment larger than he is entitled to receive as a result of an error, omission, or mistake made in his application or by his board, or by any other office of the Office of Price Administration, the amount of the excess shall be treated as excess inventory.

(h) Industrial users who have unbalanced stocks. If an industrial user is not entitled to receive a certificate because he has excess inventory, but finds that he does not have an adequate stock of a particular kind of food covered by this order, he may apply, on OPA Form R-315, to the board with which he is registered, for a certificate to enable him to get that kind. The application must show the kind and amounts of food which he needs and the reasons he needs it. If the board finds that he does not have an adequate stock of the particular food, it may issue to him a certificate for the number of points needed, up to one third of his allotment for that period. The points so issued must be treated as excess inventory. The granting of the application shall not be treated as an increase in his allotment. The board may grant only one such application for an industrial user.

(i) Reduction of allotment and adjustment of excess inventory based on shortening or cooking and salad oils. (1) The allotment for the second allotment period of 1944 of any industrial user who used shortening or cooking and salad oils during the second quarter of his base period, shall be reduced by five-sixths of the amount which represents that use. The amount of the reduction shall be treated as excess inventory. He may not, after April 15, 1944, use foods covered by this order which have a point value, if, before that date, he used such foods up to the amount of that reduced allotment plus any unused parts of his prior allotments or if such use of foods covered by this order would cause his total use, in points, during the second allotment period to exceed that reduced allotment plus any unused parts of his prior allotments.

(2) An industrial user who acquired shortening or cooking and salad oils for points after March 15, 1944, from points issued to him for the second allotment period, may apply for an adjustment of his excess inventory. (An industrial user who, on March 15, 1944, had points on hand or in his ration bank account is considered to have acquired shortening or cooking and salad oils from points issued to him for his second allotment period only to the extent that the point value of shortening or cooking and salad oils he acquired after March 15, 1944, exceeds the points he had on hand and in his ration bank account on that date.) Application shall be made on OPA Form R-315 to the board with which he is registered and must state, with respect to each such acquisition:

(i) The point value of shortening and cooking and salad oils acquired for points after March 15, 1944, from points issued to him for the second allotment period;

(ii) The types and quantities of shortening and cooking and salad oils acquired with those points;

(iii) The dates on which such foods were acquired; and

(iv) The names and addresses of the persons from whom such foods were acquired.

(3) If the board finds the statements made in the application are true, it shall grant the application and reduce his excess inventory by the number of such points which he used between March 16 and April 15, 1944, inclusive, to acquire shortening or cooking and salad oils.

(j) Reduction of allotment and adjustments for meat (including canned fish) having a zero point value. (1) The allotment for the second allotment period of any industrial user who used meat (including canned fish) during the second quarter of his base period, shall be reduced by two-thirds of the amount which represents that use. The amount of the reduction shall be treated as excess inventory. He may not, after May 3, 1944, use foods covered by this order which have a point value, if, before that date, he used such foods up to the amount of that reduced allotment plus any unused parts of his prior allotments or if such use of foods covered by this order would cause his total use, in points, during the second allotment period to exceed that reduced allotment plus any unused parts of his prior allotments.

(2) An industrial user who acquired meat (including canned fish) for points after March 15, 1944, from points issued to him for the second allotment period, may apply for an adjustment of his excess inventory. (An industrial user who, on March 15, 1944, had points on hand or in his ration bank account is considered to have acquired meat (including canned fish) from points issued to him for his second allotment period only to the extent that the point value of the meat (including canned fish) he acquired after March 15, 1944, exceeds the points he had on hand and in his ration bank account on that date.) Application shall be made on OPA Form R-315 to the board with which he is registered and must state, with respect to each such acquisition:

(i) The point value of meat (including canned fish) acquired for points after March 15, 1944, from points issued to him for the second allotment period;

(ii) The types and quantities of meat (including canned fish) acquired with these points;

(iii) The dates on which such foods were acquired; and

(iv) The names and addresses of the persons from whom such foods were acquired.

(3) If the board finds the statements made in the application are true, it shall grant the application and reduce his excess inventory by the number of such points which he used to acquire meat (and canned fish) between March 16 and May 3, 1944, inclusive. His excess inventory may not, however, be reduced by more than two-thirds of his allotment based on his use of meat and canned fish.

(4) An industrial user who, during the second quarter of his base period, used meat which on May 4, 1944, has a point value may apply for an allotment covering such meat. The application shall be made on OPA Form R-315, and must estimate the number of pounds of such meat, separately for "bone in and separated suet" and for "boned and boneless," which he used during the second quarter of his base period. The board may grant the application if it finds that the industrial user used, during the second quarter of his base period, meat which on May 4, 1944, has a point value, and shall determine the amount of his allotment for the balance of the second allotment period of 1944 in the following way:

(i) The number of pounds of meat (having a point value on May 4, 1944) in the class "Bone in and separated suet" which he used during the second quarter of his base period is multiplied by the factor 2.6;

(ii) The number of pounds of meat (having a point value on May 4, 1944) in the class "Boned and Boneless" which he used during the second quarter of his base period is multiplied by the factor 3.4;

(iii) The resulting figures are added together and represent his allotment for the balance of the second allotment period of 1944 for meat having a point value on May 4, 1944. (Section 7.6 (d) applies in determining whether an industrial user who receives an adjustment under this subparagraph is entitled to a certificate, and determining the amount of the certificate.)

However, there shall be deducted from the allotment granted under this subparagraph (4) the amount of any adjustment obtained under subparagraph (3).

SEC. 7.7 Registration after March 10, 1943—(a) Registration of persons whose use of foods becomes an industrial use because of changes in the foods covered by this order. (1) Any person who becomes an industrial user, or whose use of certain foods becomes an industrial use, because the foods he uses in his operations are added to the foods covered by this order (or because he uses foods covered by this order in making products which were removed from the foods covered by this order) must register his use of those foods with the Office of Price Administration within twenty days after his use of the foods in question becomes an industrial use of foods covered by this order.

(i) If he is not already registered as an industrial user under this or any other food ration order of the Office of Price Administration, he must register his industrial user establishment by filing OPA Form R-1200, in duplicate, with the board for the place where his establishment is located. If he has more than one such industrial user establishment he must either register each establishment separately on a separate form or he must register all of them together on a single form. If he has more than one such establishment and registers them together, the registration form must be filed in person or by mail with the board for the place where his principal business office is located. If he has more than one such industrial user establishment and registers them separately, the registration form for each must be filed with the board for the place where it is located.

(ii) If he is already registered under any other food ration order he may register as an industrial user under this order by amending his registration on OPA Form R-1200 to show his use of the foods in question.

(iii) If he is already registered as an industrial user under this order he must amend his registration, on OPA Form R-1200 to show his use of the foods in question.

(2) He must give all the information called for by the form with respect to his use of the foods in question. In addition, he must attach to the form a statement showing the point value of his inventory of those foods as of the time his use of them became an industrial use.

(i) An industrial user who used the foods in question in his operations before March 29, 1943, must show on his registration his base-period use of those foods. If he did not use those foods in his operations during all of 1942, he may compute his use of those foods during each quarter in the way described in section 7.5 (b) and (c). If the board finds that he used those foods in his operations before March 29, 1943, it shall grant him an allotment for the allotment period in which he registers (or amends his registration) reduced in proportion to the portion of the allotment period which has elapsed at the time he registers (or amends his registration). However, an industrial user of canned milk may not receive any allotment under this section based on his use of canned milk.

(ii) An industrial user who is unable to establish a base-period use because he did not use the foods in question in his operations before March 29, 1943, must apply on OPA Form R-315 to the board with which he is registering for the assignment of a base-period use. His application must show:

(a) The product the applicant makes;
(b) The size of the establishment;
(c) The amount invested in it;
(d) The market supplied;
(e) The date on which he started to use the foods in question;
(f) His inventory of those foods;
(g) The amount and kinds of foods used since he began operations;
(h) The amount of base-period use requested; and
(i) That he became an industrial user because the foods he uses in his operations were added to the foods covered by this order (or because he uses foods covered by this order in making a product which was removed from the foods covered by this order).

(iii) The board may not pass on the application for the assignment of a base-period use but must forward it, together with all information received, to the district office. The board may attach its recommendation, if any, as to the action to be taken. If the district office finds that the applicant became an industrial user, or that his use of the foods in question became an industrial use, because the foods he uses in his operations were added to the foods covered by this order (or because he uses foods covered by this order in making a product which was removed from the foods covered by this order) it shall assign to him a base-period use of those foods. The board shall grant the applicant an allotment on the basis of such assigned base-period use reduced in proportion to the portion of the allotment period which has elapsed at the time of his application. However, an industrial user of canned milk may not receive any allotment under this section based on his use of canned milk.

(b) Late registration. (1) The board may permit an industrial user who failed to register at the time required, to register and apply for an allotment at a later date. In his registration, he must report his inventory of foods covered by this order as of the first day of the period in which he was required to register.

(2) His allotment is computed in the same way as that of an industrial user who registered on time. However, he must not acquire or use foods covered by this order at his industrial user establishment until he registers, and the amount of his allotment shall be reduced in proportion to the part of the allotment period which has elapsed at the time he registers. In addition, he may not receive any allotment for expired allotment periods.

SEC. 7.8 Restriction on use of foods by industrial users. (a) No industrial user may use for any purpose except an industrial use, foods covered by this order which are included in his inventory or which he acquired with points he received as an industrial user.

(b) No industrial user may use, during an allotment period, more foods covered by this order than his allotment for that period plus any unused part of his allotments for earlier periods. (However, any person who makes an industrial use of canned milk may use any canned milk which he acquired at zero point value under the provisions of section 10.11 even though he may not have an allotment as an industrial user under this order.) An industrial user may also use foods covered by this order up to the amount of an allotment for any future period, at any time after he has been granted that allotment. However, if he uses any part of that allotment prior to the beginning of the period for which it was granted, he shall, for purposes of this paragraph, be considered to have used it in the period for which it was granted.

(c) After December 31, 1943, no industrial user may use foods covered by this order to make a product or use not included in a class of products or uses checked by him on Schedule I of OPA Form R-1200. Furthermore, after December 31, 1943, no industrial user may use, to make any class of product or use, more foods covered by this order than the part of his allotment representing his base-period use of such foods for that class, as shown on OPA Form R-1200.

(d) Foods covered by this order acquired by an industrial user at less than their full point value under sections 6.10 and 10.11 shall, for all the purposes of this article, be considered to have the point value at which he acquired them.

(e) The restrictions imposed by this section on an industrial user's use of foods covered by this order do not apply to items of such foods having a zero point value.

SEC. 7.9 Industrial users must keep records. (a) Every industrial user must keep a copy of his registration on OPA Form R-1605 and on OPA Form R-1200. He must also keep a record of his inventory at the close of business on March 28, 1943. If he has more than one industrial user establishment which he registers together, these records must be kept at his principal business office; otherwise, they must be kept at the establishment covered by them. He must also preserve his records showing his use of foods covered by this order during the quarters reported in his registration.

(b) In addition, each industrial user must keep, at the same place, a record of the amount of foods covered by this order which he acquires, the date of acquisition, and the amount of such foods used at his industrial user establishment during each allotment period.

SEC. 7.10 Explanation of the terms industrial consumption, and industrial consumer. (a) If a food covered by this order is used for a purpose for which the order does not otherwise provide, such use is industrial consumption. If a food covered by this order is used by a person as a consumer, primary distributor, industrial user, institutional user, or exempt agency, such use is not industrial consumption.

(b) Any person who engages in industrial consumption (of a food covered by this order) is called an "industrial consumer".

SEC. 7.11 Industrial consumers may apply for points to acquire foods. (a) An industrial consumer who needs rationed fats or oils may apply, in writing, to the Fats and Oils Section, office of Distribution of War Food Administration, Washington 25, D. C., on a form to be designated by the Office of Distribution, for permission to acquire and use them. If the application is granted, a certificate will be issued to the applicant by the office of Distribution of War Food Administration.

(b) If an industrial consumer needs any foods covered by this order, other than rationed fats or oils, he may apply, on OPA Form R–315, to the district office for the place where his principal business office is located, for a certificate with which to acquire them. The application must show the kind and amount of the food needed, and the purpose for which it is to be used. The district office will send the application to the Washington Office for decision, or take such other action as the Washington Office may authorize or direct.

(c) An industrial consumer to whom a certificate is issued for industrial consumption may use it only to acquire the foods for which he applied, and may use those foods only for the purpose for which his application was granted.

SEC. 7.12 Registration of industrial consumers who become industrial users. (a) Any person whose use of foods covered by this order is changed from industrial consumption of those foods to industrial use of them by reason of a change in the definition of industrial use, must register as an industrial user of those foods, on OPA Form R–1200, in the way described in General Ration Order 16 (or, if he is already registered as an industrial user on OPA Form R–1200, he shall amend his registration to show his use of those foods), within 20 days after his use of those foods becomes an industrial use. He must report on that form his inventory of foods, and the number of points, held by him for industrial consumption as of the time his use of those foods becomes an industrial use. The amount of those foods and points shall be treated as excess inventory. After he registers on OPA Form R–1200, he shall be treated under this order in the same way as any industrial user.

SEC. 7.13 Provisional allowance—(a) General. An industrial user is not entitled to receive an allotment for any use of foods covered by this order for which he is entitled to receive a provisional allowance.

(1) An industrial user may get a provisional allowance to enable him to acquire pork fatbacks, plates, or jowls to manufacture prepared dry bean products which are rationed under Revised Ration Order 13.

(2) An industrial user may get a provisional allowance to enable him to acquire rationed fats or oils to manufacture vitamin A or D oils which have a potency at least equal to the standards set forth in the U. S. Pharmacopoeia XII for "Oleovitamin A", "Synthetic Oleovitamin D", "Oleovitamin A and D" or "Oleovitamin A and D Concentrate", as the case may be.

(3) An industrial user may get a provisional allowance to enable him to acquire rationed fats or oils to manufacture injectable mercury or bismuth compounds, soluble in fixed oil, intended for the treatment of syphilis, and conforming to the requirements of the Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

(b) How to apply. Provisional allowances are granted for three-month periods, corresponding to the quarterly allotment periods for industrial users. An application for a provisional allowance for any period may be made at any time from 15 days before, to the end of, that period. However, no such application may be made for any period beginning on or after January 1, 1944 unless the applicant has already registered on OPA Form R–1200. The application must be made, on OPA Form R–315, to the board with which the industrial user is registered.

(1) An industrial user's application for a provisional allowance for pork fatbacks, plates, or jowls for use in manufacturing prepared dry bean products which are rationed under Revised Ration Order 13, must contain the following information:

(i) The product made by him for which the provisional allowance is requested;

(ii) The number of pounds of dry beans which he expects to use to make the product during the period for which application is made;

(iii) The average number of pounds of pork fatbacks, plates, and jowls (stated separately for each item) he used during 1941 or 1942, or from January 1 to March 28, 1943, inclusive, (whichever period he chooses) for each 100 pounds of dry beans used by him in making the product;

(iv) The amount, in pounds, of his last provisional allowance for pork fatbacks, plates, and jowls for the product;

(v) A report of his use of his last provisional allowance showing the number of pounds of pork fatbacks, plates, and jowls used (stated separately for each item), the number of pounds of dry beans used, and the number of pounds of the product made; and

(vi) The number, if any, of unused points remaining from his last provisional allowance (or supplemental allotment, if any) for pork fatbacks, plates, and jowls for that product.

(2) An industrial user's application for a provisional allowance for rationed fats or oils for use in manufacturing vitamin A or D oils must contain the following information:

(i) The product made by him for which the provisional allowance is requested;

(ii) The minimum potency of the product in terms of vitamin A and D U. S. P. standard units per gram of the product;

(iii) The number of pounds of the product which he expects to make during the period for which application is made;

(iv) The average number of pounds of each type of rationed fats or oils (stated separately for each type) which he used during 1942 to make each 100 pounds of the product;

(v) A report of his use of his last provisional allowance showing the number of pounds of rationed fats or oils used (stated separately for each type), and the number of pounds of the product made;

(vi) The number, if any, of unused points remaining from his last provisional allowance (or supplemental allotment, if any) for rationed fats or oils for that product.

(3) An industrial user's application for a provisional allowance for rationed fats or oils, for use in manufacturing antisyphilis preparations must contain the following information:

(i) The product made by him for which the provisional allowance is requested, and a statement that the product he manufactures conforms to the requirements of the Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act;

(ii) The number of pounds of the product which he expects to make during the period for which application is made;

(iii) The average number of pounds of each type of rationed fats or oils (stated separately for each type) he used during 1941 or 1942, or from January 1 to March 28, 1943, inclusive, (whichever period he chooses) for each 100 pounds of the product;

(iv) A report of his use of his last provisional allowance showing the number of pounds of rationed fats or oils used (stated separately for each type), and the number of pounds of the product made;

(v) The number, if any, of unused points remaining from his last provisional allowance (or supplemental allotment, if any) for rationed fats or oils for that product.

(4) If he makes more than one product for which he is entitled to receive a provisional allowance, he may include them all in a single application. However, he must give all the required information separately for each of the products.

(c) Action on application. The board shall grant the application if the applicant is entitled to receive a provisional allowance, and if the application gives all the information called for in paragraph (b) of this section.

(1) The amount of the provisional allowance for pork fatbacks, plates, and jowls for use in manufacturing prepared dry bean products shall be computed in the following way:

(i) The number of pounds of dry beans which the applicant expects to use during the quarter to make the product is multiplied by the number of pounds of pork fatbacks, the number of pounds of pork plates, and the number of pounds of pork jowls he used for each 100 pounds of dry beans to make the product during the period chosen by him under paragraph (b) (1) (iii);

(ii) The result in each case is multiplied by the factor fixed (in the supplement to this order) for provisional allowances for pork fatbacks, plates, or jowls to be used for that product;

(iii) The resulting figures are multiplied by the point values established on the Official Table of Trade Point Values for pork fatbacks, plates, or jowls, as the case may be;

(iv) These figures are added together and the result is his provisional allowance for the period.

The board shall issue to him a certificate for the amount of his provisional allowance less the point value of any unused balance of his last provisional allowance, or supplemental allotment, for pork fatbacks, plates, or jowls to make that product.

(2) The amount of the provisional allowance for rationed fats or oils for use in manufacturing vitamin A or D oils shall be computed in the following way:

(i) The number of pounds of the product which the applicant expects to make during the quarter is multiplied by the number of pounds of each type of rationed fats or oils which he used for each 100 pounds of that product during 1942;

(ii) The result, in each case, is multiplied by the factor fixed (in the supplement to this order) for provisional allowances for rationed fats or oils for vitamin A or D oils;

(iii) The resulting figures are multiplied by the point value established on the Official Table of Trade Point Values for the rationed fats or oils used by the applicant;

(iv) These figures are added together and the result is his provisional allowance for the period.

The board shall issue to him a certificate for the amount of his provisional allowance less the point value of any unused balance of his last provisional allowance, or supplemental allotment, for rationed fats or oils to make that product.

(3) The amount of the provisional allowance for rationed fats or oils for use in manufacturing antisyphilis preparations shall be computed in the following way:

(i) The number of pounds of the product which the applicant expects to make during the quarter is multiplied by the number of pounds of each type of rationed fats or oils which he used for each 100 pounds of that product during the period chosen by him under paragraph (b) (3) (iii);

(ii) The result, in each case, is multiplied by the factor fixed (in the supplement to this order) for provisional allowances for rationed fats or oils for antisyphilis preparations;

(iii) The resulting figures are multiplied by the point value established on the Official Table of Trade Point Values for the rationed fats or oils used by the applicant;

(iv) These figures are added together and the result is his provisional allowance for the period.

The board shall issue to him a certificate for the amount of his provisional allowance less the point value of any unused balance of his last provisional allowance, or supplemental allotment, for rationed fats or oils to make that product.

(d) Restriction on use. If an industrial user receives a provisional allowance under this order, he may use the points he receives only to acquire the particular food covered by this order for which the provisional allowance is granted, and he may use that food only for the purpose of making the product for which he received the provisional allowance.

(e) Records. An industrial user who, during any calendar month, uses a food covered by this order to make a product for which he is entitled to receive a provisional allowance, must, before the sixteenth day of the following month, file with his board a written report of the number of pounds of that food used by him during the preceding month to make the product for which he is entitled to receive a provisional allowance. The report must state the number of units (by sizes) of the product manufactured, the total number of pounds of the product manufactured, and the amount of foods covered by this order, in pounds and point value, used by him in manufacturing that product. If he makes more than one product for which he is entitled to receive a provisional allowance, he must file a separate report for each product, giving the required information with respect to each.

(1) In addition, an industrial user who receives a provisional allowance for pork fatbacks, plates, or jowls to make prepared dry bean products must include in his report a statement of the number of pounds of dry beans used during the month covered by the report.

(f) Amendment of registration when products are added to those for which industrial user may receive provisional allowance. Any industrial user who, after January 5, 1944, becomes entitled to receive a provisional allowance must amend his registration, on OPA Form R–1200, by April 5, 1944, or within 20 days after he becomes entitled to receive the provisional allowance, whichever is later. He must reduce his base-period use of foods covered by this order, shown on Schedule II of OPA Form R–1200, by the amount used by him during the base period to make the product or use for which he is entitled to receive the provisional allowance. He must also amend Schedule I of OPA Form R–1200 to show the products or uses made by him for which he is entitled to receive the provisional allowance. In addition, he must, at the same time, report to his board the unused portion of that part of his current allotment which was based on his use of foods covered by this order to make that product or use. That amount shall be deducted from the certificate issued to him for his first provisional allowance for that product or use. If that amount exceeds his first provisional allowance, the excess shall be deducted from subsequent provisional allowance certificates issued to him for that product or use, and no provisional allowance certificate shall be issued to him for that product or use until that amount has been deducted in this way.

ARTICLE VIII—COMBINED OPERATIONS AND COMBINED ESTABLISHMENTS

SEC. 8.1 A person who operates different types of establishments is treated as if he were different persons. (a) (1) The same "person" may operate different kinds of establishments. He may have, for example, both a "wholesale establishment" and a "retail establishment." For the purposes of this order, he is both a "wholesaler" and a "retailer," since he has establishments of both kinds. The provisions of this order dealing with retailers apply to him as far as the operation of his retail establishment is concerned. The operation of his wholesale establishment is regarded as separate and is governed by the provisions dealing with wholesalers. Thus, he is treated as if he were two persons.

(2) This rule also applies to the way in which a person who is both a wholesaler and a retailer must handle the points he gets in connection with his wholesale and his retail establishment. The only points he may use as a retailer are those he gets in connection with his retail establishment. If he "transfers" food from his wholesale establishment to his retail establishment, points he has as a retailer must be given up. When those points are given up to his wholesale establishment, they become points he has as a wholesaler. Points he has as a retailer must be kept and handled separately from the points he has as a wholesaler.

(3) The same rules apply to a person who has other types of establishments, such as "primary distributor establishments" or "industrial user establishments."

(b) Where a person has establishments of more than one kind, he must operate them as if each separate kind belonged to a separate person, as far as the provisions of this order are concerned. All dealings between establishments of different kinds operated by the same person are treated just as if those establishments were operated by different persons.

SEC. 8.2 The same person may be both a wholesaler (or retailer) and an industrial user at the same place. (a) A person may keep stocks of "foods covered by this order", at a place, for sale or other transfer, and may also use such food at that place for the production of a food which is not rationed by this order. (For example, he may sell "butter" at a particular place and may also operate a bakery there and use butter in baking pies.) In a case of this type, the place is treated as two establishments. If food is transferred from there, it may be a retail or a wholesale establishment, depending upon the facts. It would also be an industrial user establishment, since food is used there in baking pies for sale.

(b) A place of the type described in the last paragraph must be registered as a retail or wholesale establishment, depending upon which it is. Its sales or transfers of food, and its stocks held for sale or transfer, must be included in that registration. It must also be registered as an industrial user establishment, and its stocks held for such use must be included in the "industrial user" registration.

SEC. 8.3 The same person may be both a wholesaler (or retailer) and an institutional user at the same place. (a) If, in the case described in the last section, the person operated a restaurant at that place, as well as (or instead of) a bakery, it would also be an "institutional user establishment." (Restaurants are covered by General Ration Order 5 and are called institutional user establishments in that order.) A place of that type must be registered under General Ration Order 5. Its restaurant activities and its stocks of food held for restaurant use must be included in that registration.

SEC. 8.4 The same person may be both a primary distributor and a wholesaler (or retailer) at the same place. (a) A person may produce or import food covered by this order at a particular place, for sale or transfer. He may also regularly keep at that place, for sale or transfer, food which he did not produce or import there. In such a case, that place is a primary distributor establishment, as to the food produced or imported there. If it does not meet the tests of sections 4.6, 4.7 or 4.9, it would also be a retail or wholesale establishment, depending upon the facts, since he regularly keeps there, for sale or transfer foods produced or imported somewhere else.

(b) A place of the type described in the last paragraph must be registered as a primary distributor establishment. It must also be registered as a wholesale or retail establishment, depending upon which it is. Its production or imports, and its stock and shipments of food produced or imported there, must be included in the primary distributor report. The stocks which were produced or imported elsewhere (to the extent that they do not come within sections 4.6, 4.7 or 4.9) and its sales and transfers of those stocks, must be included in the wholesaler or retailer registration.

SEC. 8.5 The same place may be more than one establishment. (a) The situations described in the last four sections are examples of the rule that the same place may be more than one establishment, depending upon the type of business or operations carried on there. Wherever the operations at a place are such that it is more than one establishment, it is treated just as if each of those establishments were located at a different place.

(b) No place can, however, be both a retail and a wholesale establishment of the same person. Under the definitions of retail and wholesale establishments, the place may be one or the other, but not both.

(c) The word establishment, as it is used in this order thus covers the operations at a place, as well as the place itself. Where a person such as a wholesaler or a retailer, does not operate from any fixed place, his wholesale or retail operations as a whole are regarded as a single establishment. Similarly, if a person who deals in foods covered by this order and makes sales or transfers of them does not actually keep such foods at any particular place, his operations as a whole are regarded as his establishment, and he may register as a wholesaler or retailer (but not as a primary distributor of the type described in section 4.9), depending on the class of persons to whom he makes transfers.

ARTICLE IX—RATION BANK ACCOUNTS

SEC. 9.1 A ration bank account is an account in which points are deposited. (a) A ration bank account is a bank account very much like an ordinary checking account. A "person" who opens a ration bank account deposits in it points he receives, and issues checks drawn on it for points he uses. These checks are called ration checks. (The general rules for the opening, closing and use of ration bank accounts are covered by General Ration Order 3A.[6])

SEC. 9.2 Who must open a ration bank account—(a) Primary distributors. Every "primary distributor" who is required to report on OPA Form R–1606 (Revised) or OPA Form R–1626 must open a separate ration bank account for each of his "primary distributor establishments." Any other primary distributor may open an account if he wishes, but is not required to do so. No ration bank account may be opened or used for more than one primary distributor establishment. However, if a group of his establishments have been registered together in the way described in section 4.11 (a) (2), a primary distributor must open a single account for all the establishments in the group. When he does so, he must close the separate accounts he has for each of the establishments in the group in the way provided in General Ration Order 3A.

(b) Wholesalers. Every "wholesaler" must open a ration bank account for his "wholesale establishment." If he has more than one wholesale establishment and they are to be registered separately, he must open a separate account for each. If they are to be registered together, he may open one account for all, or a separate account for each or for any group of them, but all must have an account.

(c) Retailers. Every "retailer" whose gross sales of all foods during December 1942, or during any single calendar month since December 1942, were over $2,500, or who has more than one "retail establishment," must open a ration bank account. If he has more than one retail establishment and they are to be registered separately, he must open a separate account for each. If they are to be registered together, he may open one account for all, or a separate account for each or for any group of them, but all must have an account. Any other retailer may open an account for his retail establishment if he had a ration bank account on March 30, 1943, for foods covered by this order, or has a ration bank account for any other rationed food. (A bank is not required to open or maintain such accounts; but if it does so, it must open or maintain them for any such retailer who applies.) No other retailer may open an account unless he is required to do so pursuant to paragraphs (d) or (h) (because he makes transfers of foods to "consumers" by mail, or receives "stamps" or "certificates" from consumers before the time he transfers "butter" or "rationed cheeses" to them from a mobile conveyance).

(d) Mail order houses. Any primary distributor or retailer who receives points (stamps, "tokens", certificates, or endorsed ration checks) from, and makes transfers to, consumers by mail must open a ration bank account.

(e) Industrial users. (1) Every industrial user who has, or has assigned to him, during any quarterly period, from January 1, 1942 on, a quarterly-period use of 2,000 pounds of more of foods covered by this order, may open an account. If he has more than one industrial user establishment and they are registered together, he may open an account if the combined use at all those establishments is 2,000 pounds or more during any quarterly period. If he opens an account, he may either open one account for all or a separate account for any establishment or for any group of them which used 2,000 pounds or more during any quarterly period, but all must have an account. If they are registered separately, he may open accounts only for those establishments which have a quarterly-period use of 2,000 pounds or more. He may open separate accounts for any one or more of those establishments without opening accounts for the others. However, he may not use the same account for more than one establishment. Any industrial user who has opened a ration bank account and who is not entitled to have it under this section, must close that account on or before January 15, 1944. Such an industrial user who has not reduced his account to zero on or before such date, may draw a check to the Office of Price Administration for the balance in his account, less outstanding checks, and have it certified on or before January 15, 1944. He may exchange such check, at his board, for a certificate equal in point value to the amount of the check.

(2) Any industrial user who has more than one establishment and registers these establishments on OPA Form R–1200 in a way different from that in which they were previously registered on OPA Form R–1895 (by registering two or more establishments separately when they were previously registered together, or by registering two or more establishments together when they were previously registered separately) must make the appropriate changes in the designation of the establishments served by any ration bank accounts which he has opened. He shall also close any account that is no longer needed. Where an industrial user changes the establishments which are served by an account and it is necessary that he use some or all of the points in that account for an establishment that will no longer be served by the account, he may issue, on or before January 15, 1944, the necessary checks to withdraw such points from the account, and may deposit them in the account which will serve the establishment for which he wishes to use the points, or if he has no account for such establishment, he may use the checks to obtain foods covered by this order for such establishment. Any industrial user who closes an account under this section may (after notifying the district office in the way provided in General Ration Order 3A) on or before January 15, 1944, draw a check to the Office of Price Administration for the balance in his account, less outstanding checks, and have it certified on or before January 15, 1944. He may exchange such certified checks at his board for a certificate equal in point value to the amount of the check.

(f) Institutional users. The opening of ration bank accounts by "institutional users" is covered by General Ration Order 5.

(g) Industrial consumers. "Industrial consumers" may open ration bank accounts if they wish, but are not required to do so. They may open such accounts as they find convenient.

(h) Certain primary distributors and retailers. Any primary distributor or retailer who receives points (stamps, tokens, certificates, or endorsed ration checks) from consumers before the time when butter or rationed cheeses are transferred from his mobile conveyance operated on a regular delivery route, must open a ration bank account.

(i) Certain airplane operators. An airplane operator who has been allowed an operating inventory under section 21.4 of General Ration Order 5 may open one ration bank account for each of his offices at which he regularly purchases foods covered by this order for use as planes' stores.

SEC. 9.3 All points must be deposited in the account. (a) Every primary distributor, wholesaler, retailer or industrial user who has a ration bank account, must deposit in his account all points he receives, whether in the form of stamps, certificates, or ration checks.[7] Industrial consumers who have accounts may deposit their certificates in them. However, any person who sells or transfers foods covered by this order to consumers may retain and need not deposit in his ration bank account enough tokens for use in returning excess points to consumers pursuant to section 2.3 (c). He may also retain and need not deposit enough stamps and certificates to acquire tokens for such use. (Section 4.13 (b) states another exception to this paragraph.)

SEC. 9.4 When points must be deposited—(a) Stamps. A person who has a ration bank account may deposit red stamps from War Ration Book Four at any time after they have been validated for use by consumers.

(b) Certificates and ration coupons. Any certificate issued on or after October 13, 1943, may be deposited at any time. Ration coupons may be deposited at any time.

(c) Ration checks. Ration checks may be deposited at any time.

(d) Tokens. Tokens may be deposited at any time in quantities of 250 or multiples thereof, in containers provided for that purpose by the Office of Price Administration.

ARTICLE X—SALES AND TRANSFERS OF FOODS COVERED BY THIS ORDER

SEC. 10.1 Only retailers, wholesalers, and primary distributors may transfer foods covered by this order. (a) Beginning March 29, 1943, only "retailers," "wholesalers," and "primary distributors" may sell or "transfer" "foods covered by this order." (Certain transactions between "consumers," covered in section 2.2, are excepted from this rule. Certain other exceptions are covered in Article III and Article XI.)

(b) An "industrial" or "institutional user" may, however, sell or transfer foods covered by this order which he has for use in his "industrial user" or "institutional user establishment," in the same way that a retailer is permitted to sell or transfer those foods, if he is not able to use those foods in his establishment before they spoil. He must, immediately after selling or transferring them, account to his "board" for points equal to their point value, and must give up to the board at that time any points received for them. The board shall credit him with those points by deducting that number from his excess inventory (if any), and by giving him a "certificate" for the amount by which the number of points given up exceeds his excess inventory (if any).

(c) An industrial user or "industrial consumer" may also sell or transfer any residue of foods covered by this order which he has and is no longer able to use for his purposes in his industrial user establishment or for "industrial consumption," in the same way that a retailer is permitted to sell or transfer those foods. He must, immediately after selling or transferring them, account to his board for foods he transferred, and must give up at that time all points received for them.

(d) An industrial user who has an excess inventory of foods covered by this order may apply for permission to sell or transfer any part of that excess. The application shall be made on OPA Form R–315 to the board with which he is registered. He must state in his application the kinds, quantities and point value of the foods covered by this order which he wishes to sell or transfer, the reason he wishes to sell or transfer them, the way in which they are to be sold or transferred, and any other information that the board requests. The board shall grant the application if good cause is shown. If the application is granted, the foods covered by this order must be sold or transferred for points in the same way that a retailer is permitted to sell or transfer such foods, and within five (5) days after the sale or transfer, the transferor must give up to the board all points which he received for the sale or transfer. The board shall reduce his excess inventory by an amount equal to the number of points given up.

(e) Institutional users may sell or transfer foods covered by this order in the way permitted by General Ration Order 5.

(f) Any "person" not covered by paragraphs (a), (b), (c), (d), or (e) may apply for permission to sell or transfer foods covered by this order. The application shall be made on OPA Form R–315 to the board for the place where he lives or where he has his principal business office. He must state in his application the kinds, quantities and point value of the foods covered by this order which he wishes to sell or transfer, the reason he wishes to sell or transfer them, the way in which they are to be sold or transferred, and any other information the board requests. The board shall grant the application if good cause is shown. If the application is granted, the foods covered by this order must be sold or transferred for points in the same way that a retailer is permitted to sell or transfer such foods, and within five (5) days after the sale or transfer the transferor must give up to the board all points which he received for the foods sold or transferred.

(g) An industrial user, industrial consumer or institutional user may sell or transfer "canned fish", "canned milk", or "canned meat" if and to the extent authorized under section 10.11.

(h) The limitations or restrictions on acquisitions, transfers, or use of foods covered by this order do not apply to such foods which have a zero point value at the time of the acquisition, transfer, or use, respectively, except where the provisions of the limitation or restriction are stated to apply to foods covered by this order which have a zero point value.

SEC. 10.2 Transfers to certain persons after March 28, 1943 may be made only for points. (a) Beginning March 29, 1943, no person may sell or transfer foods covered by this order to anyone other than a retailer, wholesaler, or primary distributor, and no person other than a retailer, wholesaler, or primary distributor may buy or "acquire" those foods, regardless of any contract or other agreement, unless points are given up in the way this order requires.

(b) No points may be given up by, or accepted from, a retailer, wholesaler, or primary distributor for any foods covered by this order transferred to or acquired by him before April 11, 1943.

SEC. 10.3 Transfers to retailers, wholesalers and primary distributors after April 10, 1943 may be made only for points. (a) Beginning April 11, 1943, no person may sell or transfer foods covered by this order to a retailer, wholesaler, or primary distributor, and no retailer, wholesaler or primary distributor may buy or acquire those foods, unless points are given up in the way this order requires. (The word "transfer", as it is defined, means to sell, as well as to transfer in other ways. The word "acquire" means to buy, as well as to get in other ways. Therefore, the only words which will generally be used, in later sections, are "transfer" and "acquire".)

[6] Revised: 8 F.R. 11699, 12736.

[7] For the purposes of General Ration Order 3A, red stamps in War Ration Book Four, tokens, certificates (on OPA Form R–1301) or ration coupons and ration checks are to be regarded as "evidences" valid for deposit. The term "evidences" is not, however, used in this order.

The rules covering various kinds of transactions are set forth in the sections which follow.

SEC. 10.4 How foods covered by this order are transferred to consumers—(a) General. Foods covered by this order may be transferred to a consumer, and may be acquired by him, only if he gives up to the seller or transferor, points exactly equal to the point value of the foods transferred, except that fractional amounts are to be handled in the way described in section 10.6. (Certain transactions between consumers covered in section 2.2 are excepted from this rule. Certain other exceptions are covered in Article III and Article XI.) If the consumer is unable to give up points exactly equal to the point value of the foods acquired by him because he does not have "stamps," certificates, ration coupons, or ration checks of sufficiently small value to make up the proper amount, he may give up, and the transferor may accept stamps, certificates, ration coupons, or ration checks of the nearest higher value and the transferor must return the excess points to the consumer in the form of tokens.

(b) How transfer may be made. A food covered by this order may be transferred to consumers only in a form in which it appears on the Official Tables of Consumer Point Values (OPA Forms R–1313 and R–1611) or the Official Table of Trade Point Values.

(c) Point values must be posted. (1) Beginning March 29, 1943, every retailer, wholesaler or primary distributor who displays his stocks of food covered by this order to consumers, must post at the place where he displays the stocks, the current Official Tables of Consumer Point Values (OPA Forms R–1313 and R–1611) showing the items he carries, in such manner that they can be plainly seen and read by consumers. If he sells from a truck or other mobile conveyance, the tables must be posted on it. If he carries any item for sale or transfer to consumers in a form in which it appears on the Official Table of Trade Point Values, and does not appear on the consumer point value tables, he must keep the Official Table of Trade Point Values available for inspection.

(2) Every retailer, wholesaler, or primary distributor who has an establishment at which the foods covered by this order which he carries are displayed to consumers must post there the point value of every item of such food he carries. The point value must be posted, in such manner that it can be plainly seen and read by consumers, in one or more of the following ways:

(i) On the item itself; or

(ii) On the shelf or other place where the item is kept; or

(iii) On a list attached to, or posted next to, the shelf or other place where the item is kept.

(3) When a change is made in the point value of any food covered by this order, a retailer, wholesaler, or primary distributor is allowed one full business day after the change becomes effective in which to correct the point values which he has posted in compliance with subparagraph (2) of this section.

(d) How points are given up. Points may be given up by, and taken from, a consumer only in the form of stamps from his war ration book, a certificate issued for him, and a ration check issued to him and endorsed by him. Points may also be given up in the form of tokens, beginning February 27, 1944.

(e) When points must be given up. The seller or transferor must take the points from the consumer at the time when the foods are transferred. (Exceptions to this rule are covered in paragraphs (h), (i) and (j) of this section.)

(f) When stamps must be detached. The seller or transferor may accept a stamp only if it is torn out of a war ration book in his presence. Loose stamps may not be used by a consumer and they must not be accepted by the seller or transferor. (An exception to this rule is covered in paragraph (i) of this section.) Beginning February 27, 1944, a transferor may accept tokens from a consumer unless he knows or has reason to believe those tokens were not acquired by the consumer in a way provided for by this order.

(g) When stamps are good. Each stamp may be accepted for a transfer to a consumer at any time after it has been validated. The validation dates for red stamps in War Ration Book Four are fixed by the Office of Price Administration in a supplement to this order. (Nothing in this provision validates any stamps which have already expired in any War Ration Book.)

(h) Use of certificates. A certificate may be accepted from a consumer only if it has been signed on the back by the person for whom it was issued (or by someone authorized to act for him, if he cannot write). A certificate may be accepted from a consumer at or before the time when the foods are transferred.

(i) Mail order sales. (1) Foods covered by this order may be transferred to consumers by mail if a certificate, detached stamps, tokens, or a ration check payable to, and endorsed by the consumer, are received with the order.

(2) If the transferor fails to deliver foods equal in point value to the points received, he shall issue and send to the consumer a ration check for the balance.

(3) Before accepting stamps or tokens from and making transfers to consumers by mail, any retailer, wholesaler, or primary distributor who wishes to do so, must notify, in writing, the district office for the place where his principal business office is located. The notice must give his name and principal business address, the name and address of each establishment from which he will make transfers to consumers by mail, and must contain an estimate of the dollar volume of his mail order deliveries to consumers during 1942 of foods covered by this order. He may not make any such transfers until he has given this notice. Beginning March 29, 1943, he must keep a record of the dollar volume or the point value of his transfers to consumers by mail of foods covered by this order.

(4) No primary distributor or retailer may receive points from and make transfers to consumers by mail unless he has a ration bank account.

(j) Transfers of butter and rationed cheeses from mobile conveyances. (1) "Butter" or "rationed cheeses" may also be transferred to consumers from mobile conveyances operated on a regular delivery route if a certificate, stamps, tokens, or a ration check payable to, and endorsed by the consumer, are received before the time the foods are transferred.

(2) If the transferor fails to deliver foods equal in point value to the points received, he shall issue and return to the consumer a ration check for the balance.

(3) No primary distributor or retailer may receive points from and make transfers to consumers under this paragraph unless he has a ration bank account.

(k) Ration checks. A ration check may be accepted from a consumer only if it has been endorsed by him (or by someone authorized to act for him, if he cannot write).

(l) Ration coupons. A ration coupon may be accepted from a consumer at any time.

(m) Tokens. Tokens may be accepted from a consumer at any time beginning February 27, 1944.

SEC. 10.5 How foods covered by this order are transferred to persons other than consumers—(a) General. Foods covered by this order may be transferred to and acquired by a retailer, wholesaler or a primary distributor after April 10, 1943, or transferred to and acquired by an industrial or institutional user or industrial consumer after March 28, 1943, only if he gives up to the seller or transferor points exactly equal to the point value of the foods transferred, except that fractional amounts are to be handled in the way described in section 10.6.[1] (Certain exceptions to this rule are covered in Article XI.)

(b) How transfer may be made. A food covered by this order may be transferred only in a form in which it appears on the Official Table of Trade Point Values or the Official Tables of Consumer Point Values (OPA Form R–1313).

(c) Point value. The number of points which must be given up for a transfer of these foods is determined by their point value at the time of the transfer.

(d) When points must be given up. (1) The transferor must get the points from the transferee, and the transferee must give them up, at or before the time when the transfer is made. Exceptions to this rule are stated in the next two subparagraphs.

(2) If the transfer is made through shipment by railroad or any other public carrier, the transferor may arrange to have the carrier get the points for him from the transferee at the time of actual delivery, or to have the points obtained for him by anyone in exchange for the bill of lading or other document entitling its holder to take possession of the foods.

[1] For convenience, the retailer, wholesaler, primary distributor, industrial or institutional user, or industrial consumer, to whom the transfer is made, will sometimes be called "the transferee" in the paragraphs which follow.

(3) The points may be given up later, but not more than ten days after the time when the transfer is made, if the conditions of this subparagraph are satisfied. (However, if money payment for the foods transferred is made less than 10 days after the transfer, points must be given up at the time the money payment is made.) A transferee may not accept the transfer in this case unless he has points on hand (excluding points not yet surrendered for foods bought or acquired) or in his ration bank account (excluding the amounts of ration checks issued which have not yet been cleared) equal to the point value of the foods transferred. The transferor must, at or before the time he transfers the foods to the transferee, prepare and keep a memorandum showing the name of the transferee, the date of transfer of the foods, a description of the items, and their point value. If the transferor does not get the points within the time required by this subparagraph, he must notify the district office for the place where his establishment is located of the default, not later than the Friday following the calendar week in which the default occurred. As long as the transferee is in default, he must not acquire any foods covered by this order, and no transferor who has knowledge of the default may transfer such foods to him. (However, he may continue to acquire foods covered by this order, and transferors may continue to transfer such foods to him, pursuant to Article XI.) If the District Director is satisfied that the transferee is in default, he may take any steps which he deems reasonably necessary to inform the transferee's present and prospective suppliers of the default so that they will know that his right to acquire foods covered by this order is restricted as provided in this subparagraph. When the transferee is no longer in default, the District Director shall so inform all persons whom he informed of the default.

(4) Points which are mailed are considered given up when the envelope containing them is postmarked.

(e) Form in which transferor must get points. The transferor may take points from the transferee only in the form of stamps, tokens, certificates, or a ration check drawn on the transferee's ration bank account or endorsed by him.

(1) Stamps. Stamps may be accepted from the transferee at any time after they have been validated for use by a consumer. The stamps must either be pasted on gummed sheets (OPA Form R–140 or OPA Form R–130A) or enclosed in sealed envelopes. If the stamps are pasted on gummed sheets, the name and address of the transferee must be written on each sheet, and only stamps of the same point value, and valid for a transfer to the transferee at the time they are given up, may be pasted on the same sheet. If the stamps are enclosed in sealed envelopes, they must be handled in all respects in accordance with the procedure described in General Ration Order 7* for the use of such envelopes.

* 8 F.R. 2858, 2997, 4840, 6965, 11738, 16279, 16539; 9 F.R. 2287.

(2) Certificates. A certificate may not be accepted from the transferee unless the name of the person to whom it was issued has been written on the back. The back of the certificate must also carry the signature of the transferee.

(3) Ration checks. A ration check may be accepted by a transferor only if it is made payable to him and if it is drawn by his transferee, or if it is endorsed by his transferee and by the person to whom the check was issued, if the check was not issued to the transferee. (The rules for handling ration checks are set forth in General Ration Order 3A.)

(4) Ration coupons. A ration coupon may be accepted at any time. A person who has a ration bank account must enclose any ration coupons he has, for deposit, in sealed envelopes which are to be handled in all respects in accordance with the procedure described in General Ration Order 7 for the use of such envelopes. A person who does not have a ration bank account may use coupons without enclosing them in a sealed envelope.

(5) Tokens. Tokens may be accepted at any time, but a transferor need not accept more than 9 tokens from his transferee in any single transaction.

(f) Form in which transferee must give up points—(1) Primary distributors. A primary distributor who has, or is required to have, a ration bank account, must give up points only in the form of a ration check drawn on his ration bank account. Other primary distributors may give up points in the form of stamps, tokens, certificates or ration checks endorsed by them.

(2) Wholesalers. A wholesaler may give up points only in the form of a ration check drawn on his ration bank account.

(3) Retailers. A retailer who has, or is required to have, a ration bank account must give up points only in the form of a ration check drawn on that account. Other retailers may give up points in the form of stamps, tokens, certificates, or ration checks endorsed by them.

(4) Industrial and institutional users. An industrial or institutional user who has a ration bank account must give up points only in the form of a ration check drawn on that account. Other industrial or institutional users may give up points only in the form of certificates or ration checks endorsed by them.

(5) Industrial consumers. An industrial consumer may give up points either in the form of a certificate or a ration check.

(6) General. Points may be transferred freely between establishments of the same type, operated by the same person, which are or will be registered together, and points of one of those establishments may be used to get foods covered by this order for another of them. However, this rule does not apply to the movement of points between institutional user establishments, which is covered by the provisions of General Ration Order 5.

(7) Points to be given up for household salvage fats. Notwithstanding any other provision of this order, a wholesaler, or retailer who acquires household salvage fats from a consumer or Group I institutional user must give such person ration coupons, or tokens, beginning February 27, 1944.

SEC. 10.6 Point fractions are to be computed to nearest full point. (a) In any case in which the point value of an item of food transferred under this order is not a whole number, the number of points which must be given up is to be computed in the following ways:

(1) If the fraction is less than one-half point, the fraction is to be dropped;

(2) If the fraction is one-half point or more, a full point must be given up;

(3) If more than one item of food covered by this order is transferred by a retailer at the same time, and the point value of the amount of two or more of those items transferred comes to a fraction of exactly one-half point, the fractions are to be added;

(4) No foods covered by this order may be transferred for less than one point, except in accordance with the provisions of section 6.10 or except if it is an item having a point value of zero per pound.

SEC. 10.7 Transfers between establishments of different types or between separately registered establishments of the same type operated by the same person. (a) All of the rules set forth above which apply to transfers from one person to another, also apply to transfers between establishments of different types operated by the same person. (For example, a person may have both a wholesale and a retail establishment. He is, therefore, both a wholesaler and a retailer. He is permitted to transfer foods covered by this order from his wholesale to his retail establishment. However, when he does so, he must give up points from the retail to the wholesale establishment just as if those establishments were operated by two different persons.)

(b) The rules set forth above which apply to transfers from one person to another also apply to transfers between establishments of the same type which are operated by the same person but which are registered or are to be registered separately under this order.

SEC. 10.8 Transferor may not use points he receives in advance until foods are transferred. (a) A transferor may receive points from his transferee before he actually transfers the foods covered by this order. In that case, he may not use points so received, to get other such foods, until he has actually transferred to the transferee foods worth that number of points.

SEC. 10.9 Points may be returned for underdeliveries of foods covered by this order. (a) If a retailer, wholesaler, or primary distributor receives points in advance for a transfer of foods covered by this order, and is unable to transfer all or any part of the amount ordered, he may return the points in excess. He must return the points in the same form he would use to give up points for a purchase or other acquisition of such foods. (For example, a wholesaler can give up points only in the form of a ration check. He would, therefore, have to return points only in the form of a check drawn on his account.) However, since points may not be accepted in advance from consumers, this section does not apply to consumers, except in connection with mail order transactions and transfers of butter and rationed cheeses from mobile conveyances.

SEC. 10.10 Points must be given up for imports of foods. (a) Any person who imports foods covered by this order (other than in accordance with section 11.11) must give up points equal to the point value of those foods to the Collector of Customs (or his deputy) at or before the time the foods are released or delivered to him by the collector. However, if a consumer imports foods covered by this order and does not, at the time, have the necessary points to give to the Collector of Customs, the collector may release those foods to him before he gives up the points if the foods are in imminent danger of spoilage. In that case, the consumer must give up the required number of points within twenty days thereafter. When the foods are released to the consumer, he must give to the collector his name and address and a statement, in writing, that he will send the required number of points to the collector within twenty days after the foods are released. If the collector does not receive the points within the time specified, he shall notify the district office for the place where the consumer lives. The notice shall state the name and address of the consumer, the types and quantities of the foods imported for which points were not given up, and the number of points which the consumer still owes. Notwithstanding the provisions of section 10.4 (a) and (b), any consumer who brings in with him from Mexico meat (other than ready-to-eat meat, sausage, or meat in tin or glass containers), whether or not in a form which appears on the Official Tables of Point Values, must give up to the Collector of Customs (or his deputy) seven points per pound. However, he need not give up points for pork, veal, lamb, mutton or for cuts of beef which have a zero point value or for cuts of beef which contain only beef which has a zero point value.

(b) The Collector of Customs shall turn over, each month, to the district office for the area in which the point of entry is located, all points received by him in this way during the preceding month. However, he may retain enough tokens for use in returning excess points to consumers pursuant to section 2.3 (c). He may also retain enough stamps and certificates to acquire tokens for such use.

SEC. 10.11 Sale at lower point values of canned fish, canned milk or canned meat in danger of spoilage—(a) Permitted sales and transfers. "Canned fish", "canned milk", or "canned meat" which cannot be sold at its full point value because it is in imminent danger of spoilage may be sold or transferred at less than its full point value in the way described in this paragraph, if and to the extent authorized under paragraphs (b) and (c). Such sales or transfers may be made only to consumers, industrial consumers, industrial or institutional users, and persons principally engaged in the business of reconditioning or selling damaged articles, and only if the money price is reduced in the following way:

(1) No reduction in point value may be made unless the money price of the food has been reduced at least twenty-five percent below its ceiling price established by applicable orders of the Office of Price Administration;

(2) If the money price has been reduced by at least twenty-five per cent below such ceiling price, it may be sold or transferred at twenty-five per cent below its full point value;

(3) If the money price has been reduced more than twenty-five per cent and less than fifty per cent below such ceiling price, it may be sold or transferred at a point value reduced in the same proportion that the money price has been reduced; and

(4) If the money price has been reduced by fifty per cent or more below such ceiling price, it may be sold or transferred point-free. If the point value of any item of canned fish, canned milk or canned meat sold or transferred under this section (or any group of such items sold or transferred under this section at the same time) comes out to a fraction, the point value at which it may be sold or transferred is the next higher whole number. For the purposes of this paragraph, the ceiling price of a person principally engaged in the business of reconditioning or selling damaged articles, is deemed to be the average ceiling price of the same food in good condition applicable to the three wholesalers whose establishments are nearest to the place where such foods are located, as determined by the district office in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (b). The ceiling price of the United States government or any of its agencies will be fixed by the Washington Office in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (b).

(b) Application for authorization to sell or transfer. A person who wishes to sell or transfer canned fish, canned milk or canned meat in the way set forth in paragraph (a), may apply for authorization. However, no application may be made by a consumer. Application must be made on OPA Form R-315 to the district office (or, if made by a retailer, to the board) for the area where the foods are located. However, application by the United States government or any of its agencies shall be made to the Washington Office. The application must show:

(1) The applicant's name and address;

(2) The items and amounts of foods which the applicant desires to transfer at less than their full point value;

(3) The point value of each item;

(4) The ceiling price established for each item by applicable orders of the Office of Price Administration. However, if the applicant is a person principally engaged in the business of reconditioning or selling damaged articles the applicant shall, instead of stating a ceiling price, give the names and addresses of the three wholesalers whose establishments are nearest to the place where such foods are located;

(5) A description of the condition of the foods, to show why they cannot be disposed of at their full point value and, if known, the cause of such condition.

The board or district office to which the application is made or the Washington Office, if the application is made by the United States government or any of its agencies, may inspect such foods and conduct such other investigation as it finds necessary to pass upon the application. If it finds that the foods described in the application are in such condition that they should be used immediately in order to avoid spoilage, it may grant the application and authorize the applicant to sell or transfer the foods at less than their full point value, in the way described in paragraph (a). (If the Washington Office grants an application made by the United States government or any of its agencies, it will fix a ceiling price for the purposes of paragraph (a). If the board or district office grants the application of a person principally engaged in the business of reconditioning or selling damaged articles, it shall determine the average ceiling price of the same food in good condition applicable to the three wholesalers whose establishments are nearest to the place where such foods are located. In either case, the applicant shall be notified of the ceiling price which has been fixed or determined.) The applicant must make and keep a record of each item of such foods transferred by him pursuant to the authorization, showing the point value and price at which each transfer was made and the date of each transfer.

(c) Sales or transfers for which no prior authorization is needed. Any primary distributor, wholesaler, retailer, industrial consumer, industrial user or institutional user may, without prior authorization, sell or transfer canned fish, canned milk, or canned meat which is in imminent danger of spoilage under the conditions set forth in paragraph (a), but not more than the total quantities set forth in the following subparagraphs during the periods referred to in those subparagraphs:

(1) In the case of a primary distributor, during any successive twelve month period beginning March 29, 1943, one tenth of one per cent of all such foods produced or imported by him during that period;

(2) In the case of a wholesaler, in any one month, one twentieth of one per cent of all such foods which he sold or transferred during the preceding month;

(3) In the case of a retailer, in any one month, one fortieth of one per cent of all such foods which he sold or transferred during the preceding month;

(4) In the case of an industrial consumer, in any one industrial user allotment period, canned fish, canned milk or canned meat having a point value of one fortieth of one per cent of the number of points given him during that period to acquire foods covered by this order for industrial consumption;

(5) In the case of an industrial user or an institutional user, in any one allotment period, one fortieth of one per cent of his allotment for that allotment period.

(d) Resale of foods acquired under this section. Any person who acquires canned fish, canned milk, or canned meat under the provisions of this section and who is permitted to transfer foods covered by this order under the provisions of section 10.1 may not transfer such canned fish, canned milk, or canned meat at a point value greater than that at which it was acquired by him. He may transfer it at a lower point value only if authorized under paragraph (b) or (c). If he transfers it at the same point value at which he acquires it, the provisions of paragraph (a) covering price reductions do not apply to the transfer of the foods by him. However, he may transfer any such foods only to a consumer, industrial consumer, industrial or institutional user, or a person principally engaged in the business of reconditioning or selling damaged articles.

(e) Records and reports. (1) Any person who transfers canned fish, canned milk, or canned meat under the provisions of paragraph (c) of this section shall maintain and keep records showing, with respect to each such transfer, the following:

(i) His name and address;

(ii) The name and address of any person, other than a consumer, to whom the transfer was made;

(iii) The date of the transfer;

(iv) The items and amounts of foods transferred and the price and point value for which each item was transferred;

(v) A description of the condition of the foods, to show why they could not be sold or transferred at their full point value and, if known, the cause of such condition.

(2) Any person who transfers canned fish, canned milk or canned meat under the provisions of paragraph (d) at the same point value at which he acquired it must, within three days after the transfer, give a statement to the district office for the area where his principal place of business is located. However, if the transfer was made by the United States government or any of its agencies, the statement shall be given to the Washington Office. The statement shall show the name and address of the transferor, the items and amounts of such foods transferred, the point value and price at which they were transferred and the date of transfer.

(3) Any person principally engaged in the business of reconditioning or selling damaged articles, who acquires canned fish, canned milk or canned meat under this section at less than its full point value, must, within five days after the end of each calendar month during which he acquired those foods in this way, give to the district office for the area where his principal place of business is located a statement showing his name and address, the name and address of the person from whom he acquired them, the items and amounts of such foods acquired, the point value at which they were acquired and the date of the acquisition.

(f) Miscellaneous requirements. Any person who transfers canned fish, canned milk, or canned meat at a reduced point value under this section must also comply with the following requirements:

(1) Whenever he sells or transfers an item of such food at less than its full point value and at a reduced price, he must sell or transfer that item, so long as he has it on hand, to any person who is willing to buy or acquire it at that reduced point value and price.

(2) If he is a retailer, wholesaler, or primary distributor who has an establishment at which canned fish, canned milk, or canned meat which he carries is displayed to consumers he must post a notice where it may be clearly seen and read by such consumers showing:

(i) The items he is selling at the lower point value and the point value at which he is selling them;

(ii) That he is selling that item at less than regular point value in order to prevent spoilage;

(iii) The reduced money price at which he is selling the item and, unless he is principally engaged in the business of reconditioning or selling damaged articles, its ceiling price. If he is a person engaged in the business of reconditioning or selling damaged articles he must post as his ceiling price the average ceiling price of the same food in good condition applicable to the three wholesalers whose establishments are nearest to the place where such foods are located, as determined by the board or district office to which application is made under paragraph (b).

(3) He must clearly mark on the container of each item sold the point value at which he transfers it, preceded by the words "reduced point value to avoid spoilage", unless it has previously been marked in that manner pursuant to this paragraph and is not being transferred at a further reduction in point value. However, he need not so mark the container if he sells it to a consumer from an establishment at which he posts a notice as required by subparagraph (2). Furthermore, the container need not be so marked if it is sold or transferred by the United States Government or any of its agencies.

(g) Replacement of points. A wholesaler, retailer, industrial consumer, or industrial or institutional user who sold or transferred canned fish, canned milk, or canned meat at less than its regular point value under paragraph (b) may apply on OPA Form R-315, for a certificate to replace his point loss resulting from such transfer. The application must be made to the district office or the board to which he applied for authorization to transfer the foods at a reduced point value. The application must be signed by the applicant or his authorized agent. It must show the name and address of the applicant, the items and amounts of foods so transferred, the point value and price at which they were transferred, the date of transfer, and the name and address of each transferee other than a consumer. It must contain a statement that he reduced the money price of the food sold or transferred at the lower point value, in the way required by this section. The application must also specify the date on which the authorization to sell foods at less than full point value was granted. If the district office or board finds that the applicant suffered a point loss because of such transfer, it shall issue a certificate for the number of points he lost. No application to replace point losses may be made more than 30 days after the close of the month in which the transfers at reduced point value occurred.

(h) Statements by primary distributors. Every primary distributor who during any reporting period sells or transfers canned fish, canned milk, or canned meat at less than its full point value, under paragraphs (b) or (c), must file with his periodic report required by section 4.11 (b) for that period a statement showing the items and amounts of foods so transferred, the point value and price at which they were transferred, the date of transfer and the name and address of each transferee other than a consumer. If the sale or transfer was made pursuant to an authorization granted by a district office, the statement must specify the date on which the authorization was granted and the district office which granted it.

(i) Sales by certain activities of Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard. The Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard may, in accordance with arrangements made with the Washington Office, authorize army exchanges, post exchanges, ships' service departments ashore, sales commissaries and commissary stores to sell, at less than their full point value, foods covered by this order which cannot be sold at their full point value because they are in imminent danger of spoilage.

ARTICLE XI—POINT-FREE TRANSFERS

NOTE: The limitations, restrictions, conditions, record-keeping and reporting requirements set forth in this Article XI do not apply to foods covered by this order while they have a zero point value, except where the provisions of the limitation or restriction are stated to apply to foods covered by this order which have a zero point value. For the purposes of this article, such foods are treated and may be transferred or acquired, just as if they were not rationed at all.

SEC. 11.1 Foods in transit to industrial or institutional users or industrial consumers on March 28, 1943, may be acquired point-free. (a) No points need be given up for a delivery of "foods covered by this order" to an "industrial" or "institutional user," or to an "industrial consumer" if those foods were in transit to him on March 28, 1943.

(NOTE: Foods which were in transit to an industrial or institutional user at the close of business on March 28, 1943, must be included in the inventory which he reports in his registration.)

SEC. 11.2 Foods in transit to primary distributors, wholesalers, or retailers on April 10, 1943, may be acquired point-free. (a) No points need be given up for a delivery of foods covered by this order to a "primary distributor," "wholesaler," or "retailer," if those foods were in transit to him on April 10, 1943.

SEC. 11.2a Foods which have a zero point value may be transferred without points. (a) No points need be given up for a "transfer" of foods covered by this order which have a zero point value at the time of the transfer.

SEC. 11.3 Foods may be moved to establishment in whose inventory they are included, point-free. (a) No points need be given up for a movement of foods covered by this order to the establishment in the inventory of which those foods were included immediately before the movement started.

SEC. 11.4 Foods covered by this order may be exchanged for other such foods. (a) Any "person" may exchange foods covered by this order with any other person, for such foods of equal point value, without giving up or taking points. (This rule applies even if there is a money payment to make up any difference in the money value of the foods exchanged.)

SEC. 11.5 Lost or stolen foods may be returned, point-free. (a) No points need be given up for a return of lost or stolen foods to the person who lost them or from whom they were stolen.

SEC. 11.6 Stocks of foods may be moved point-free between establishments of the same person which are registered together. (a) No points need be given up where a person moves stocks of foods covered by this order from one of his establishments to any other of his establishments of the same kind, if those establishments are, or will be, registered together. For example, a person who has two "retail establishments" which are, or will be, registered together, may move foods covered by this order from one to the other without exchanging points between them. (However, a record must be kept of the amount of stocks involved in each such movement.) When a person transfers food covered by this order between establishments of different kinds—for example, from his "wholesale establishment" to his retail establishment—points must be given up just as if those establishments were operated by different persons.

(b) This rule does not apply to the movement of stocks between "institutional user establishments," which is covered by the provisions of General Ration Order 5.

SEC. 11.7 Foods may be stored and returned from storage, point-free. (a) No points need be given up for a delivery of foods covered by this order for storage purposes only.

(b) No points need be given up for a delivery of such foods from the place of storage to the person who stored them, or to a person to whom he has sold or transferred them. (However, that sale or transfer must be made in a way permitted by this order.)

SEC. 11.8 Security interests in foods may be created and released, point-free. (a) No points need be given up for a transfer of foods covered by this order, or of any interest in them, for security purposes only. (For example, if such foods are pledged or mortgaged, the person with whom they are pledged or mortgaged need not give up points.)

(b) No points need be given up for a release of a security interest in such foods, or for a return of those foods to the person who originally transferred them for security purposes. (For example, a person who pledged those foods may get them back without giving up points. Similarly, a person who gave a chattel mortgage on them need not give up points when the mortgage is ended.)

SEC. 11.9 Foods may be transferred, point-free, for liquidation, by operation of law, or in judicial proceedings—(a) General. No points need be given up for a transfer of foods covered by this order to a person who gets them for liquidation only. Also, no points need be given up for a transfer of foods covered by this order as part of a judicial proceeding, or by operation of law, or for a transfer made under the direction of or pursuant to an order of a court, or by judicial process. (For example, foods may be taken over by a creditor, under a court order, without any surrender of points. If such foods are assigned for the benefit of creditors, the person to whom they are assigned need not give up points to the person making the assignment. Also, a person need not give up points when he inherits such foods or "acquires" them by will.)

(b) How transferee may dispose of the foods. A person who acquires foods covered by this order in this way must, within five (5) days after acquiring them, report to the district office for the place where his principal business office is located:

(1) The kinds and the point value of the foods acquired;

(2) The name and address of the person from whom they were acquired:

(3) The way in which and the date when they were acquired.

He may not use the foods unless he gives up to the district office, for cancellation, points equal to their point value. He may, however, sell or transfer them in the same way that a retailer is permitted to sell or transfer such foods. He must immediately after selling or transferring them, account to the district office for points equal to their point value. (If he transfers the foods to another person who is also entitled under this or any other section of this order to acquire them point-free he need not, of course, get points from the transferee, and he need not give up any to the district office.)

(c) Consumer inheritance. A "consumer" who gets foods covered by this order from another consumer, by inheritance or by will, may use them without giving up points.

SEC. 11.10 Foods may be acquired, point-free, by insurers or for salvage—(a) Acquisition of damaged foods. Damaged foods covered by this order and undamaged foods covered by this order mingled with them may be transferred to, and acquired by, the following persons, without any surrender of points:

(1) A person who has paid or is liable for a claim for the damage done to the foods, and who is entitled to reimburse himself by taking them over;

(2) A person engaged principally and primarily in the business of adjusting losses or of reconditioning or selling damaged articles.

(b) Disposal of the foods. (1) The person transferring the foods, point-free, must within five days after transferring them, report to the district office for the place where his principal business office is located:

(i) A description of the kinds and amounts of foods transferred. (If the condition of the foods makes it impossible for the transferor to describe them accurately, he may give an approximate description and state that the description is an approximation.);

(ii) The name and address of the person to whom they were transferred; and

(iii) The date of transfer.

(2) The person acquiring the foods must, within five days after acquiring them, report to the district office for the place where his principal business office is located:

(i) The kinds and point value of the foods acquired;

(ii) The name and address of the person from whom he acquired them;

(iii) The way in which and the date when they were acquired. If he cannot ascertain the kinds and point value immediately, he must describe the approximate amount he received and must give the detailed information as soon as he can. He may dispose of those foods only by a sale or transfer in the same way that a retailer is permitted to sell or transfer such foods. He must, immediately after selling or transferring them, account to the district office for points equal to their point value. If he cannot dispose of them all, he must report to the district office the amount which was not salable.

SEC. 11.11 Foods may be delivered to importer by customs official, point-free. (a) No points need be given up for a release or delivery of foods covered by this order by an authorized customs official to a primary distributor who imported them, if the primary distributor submits a written statement to the official showing:

(1) His name;

(2) His principal business address;

(3) The name and address of his primary distributor establishment at which the foods will be kept;

(4) The name and address of the district office with which that establishment is registered; and

(5) The amount and kinds of foods imported at that time.

(b) The Collector of Customs shall turn over, each month, to the district offices named thereon, all statements received from primary distributors during the preceding month.

(c) No points need be given up for a release or delivery of foods covered by this order by an authorized customs official:

(1) Upon request by the Department of State, to representatives of foreign governments who are within the classes of persons specified in Article 432 (a) or Article 433 (c), Customs Regulations of 1937.

(2) To members of the armed forces of the United Nations, other than those of the United States, who are on duty within the United States, where the foods are consigned or addressed to them and are intended for their personal or official use.

(3) To enemy prisoners of war and enemy civilian internees and detainees in the United States, where the foods are consigned or addressed to them.

(d) No points need be given up for a release or delivery of foods covered by this order by an authorized customs official to the person who produced them in a way described in section 3.1, if the person submits a written statement to the official showing:

(1) His name and address;

(2) The place where the foods were produced;

(3) The amount and kinds of foods being imported;

(4) A statement showing that he produced the foods in a way described in section 3.1.

The Collector of Customs shall turn over, each month, to the district office for the area in which the point of entry is located, all statements received by him in this way during the preceding month.

SEC. 11.12 Foods may be transferred, point-free, in connection with transfer of a business. (a) No points need be given up for a sale or transfer of foods covered by this order which are in the inventory of an establishment, as part of a sale or other transfer of the establishment itself for continued operation. A person who so buys or acquires such foods may not use them, but may hold them only for sale or transfer. However, a person who acquires an industrial user establishment may use its stocks up to the amount of any allotment he gets. (The procedure which the transferor and transferee must follow, where an establishment is transferred for continued operation, is covered in Article XII.)

SEC. 11.13 Foods may be transferred, point-free, in the way permitted by section 3.4. (a) A primary distributor who slaughters an animal for a livestock producer may transfer the resulting food to the livestock producer point-free, in the way permitted by section 3.4.

SEC. 11.14 Foods may be transferred by and to consumers, point-free, for custom processing or other preparation. (a) On or after May 24, 1943, any consumer may bring any of his food covered by this order to another person to be processed, cut, ground, boned, frozen, packaged or similarly prepared and may get the same food back after it is so prepared, without any surrender of points by either person.

SEC. 11.15 Items in transit on the day before they are added to the foods covered by the order, may be acquired point-free. (a) No points need be given up for a delivery to any person other than a consumer, of an item which is added to the foods covered by this order, if the item was in transit to him on the day preceding such addition.

SEC. 11.16 Title to foods may be transferred point-free where the one who has title does not have possession. (a) A person who has title to foods covered by this order but who does not have possession of them and who may not get possession of them without giving up points, may transfer his title to such foods point-free. (However, a person who acquires title to foods covered by this section must give up points to obtain possession of such foods.)

SEC. 11.17 Primary distributors may transfer canned fish and canned milk point-free to allow for spoilage. (a) In any case in which a primary distributor makes a money allowance to his transferee to cover spoilage of "canned fish" or "canned milk" transferred, he may, in order to allow for spoilage, transfer to his transferee, without receiving points, canned fish or canned milk in an amount not exceeding the same percentage of the total amount of such foods transferred that the money allowance made is of the total price paid. However, such transfer may not, in any event, exceed one-fourth of one per cent of the total amount of such foods transferred.

(b) If the actual spoilage of canned fish or canned milk transferred by a primary distributor exceeds one-fourth of one per cent, the transferee may return the spoiled canned fish or canned milk to the primary distributor and receive points for the difference between the amount spoiled and any allowance already made. However, if he does not return the spoiled canned fish or canned milk, he may receive points for that difference only if and to the extent that the primary distributor makes a money adjustment for the spoiled canned fish or canned milk.

(c) The primary distributor must keep a record of the name and address of each person to whom such point-free transfers and point returns are made, the dates thereof, and the amounts of such transfers and returns.

SEC. 11.18 Government agencies may transfer foods point-free to the Procurement Division of the Treasury Department. (a) No points need be given up for a transfer of foods covered by this order by a government agency to the Procurement Division of the Treasury Department when the foods are acquired by the Procurement Division for sale or transfer.

(b) The Procurement Division of the Treasury Department may dispose of those foods only by a sale or transfer in the same way that a retailer is permitted to sell or transfer foods covered by this order. (However, for that purpose, the Procurement Division need not register as a retailer.) Not later than the twentieth day following the month in which any transfer is made, the Procurement Division shall account to the Office of Price Administration for points equal to the point value of the foods sold or transferred under this paragraph.

SEC. 11.19 Restriction on industrial and institutional users' inventory of rationed fats or oils having a zero point value. (a) On or after April 16, 1944, an industrial or institutional user may not acquire rationed fats or oils having a zero point value at the time he acquires them if he already has in his inventory a 30-day supply (at his current rate of use) of such rationed fats or oils. An industrial or institutional user also may not acquire such rationed fats or oils if such acquisition would bring his inventory of these foods above a 30-day supply. However, if he has less than a 30-day supply on hand, he may acquire an amount of such foods equal to the smallest amount he customarily acquires in a single transaction. In no event, however, may any industrial or institutional user acquire such rationed fats or oils in an amount which would bring his inventory of them above a 45-day supply, at his current rate of use. Notwithstanding any provision in this paragraph, an industrial or institutional user may accept delivery of any rationed fats or oils which were in transit to him on April 15, 1944.

ARTICLE XII—SALE OF BUSINESS

SEC. 12.1 Sale or transfer of retail wholesale, or primary distributor establishment—(a) General. (1) When any "person" sells or "transfers" to any other person the business and inventory of his "retail", "wholesale" or "primary distributor establishment", for continued operation, they must both notify the "board" at which the establishment is registered, or the district office, if it is registered there. The notice must be given in writing, within five days after the sale or transfer, and must show:

(i) The name and business address of the establishment and of the persons transferring and "acquiring" it;

(ii) The point value of the inventory transferred; and

(iii) The number of points in the establishment's ration bank account, if any, and the number of points on hand, including points sent to a supplier for "foods covered by this order" not yet shipped.

This notice will be treated as the transferee's registration and as a cancellation of the transferor's registration.

(2) If the transferor has a ration bank account, he must notify the district office, in the way required by General Ration Order 3A (the ration banking order).

(b) Purchaser of retail or wholesale establishment may get its points. The purchaser or transferee of a retail or wholesale establishment may get and use all of the establishment's points in the same way that the seller or transferor was entitled to use them. If the establishment has a ration bank account, the transferor is to give all the establishment's points to the transferee by issuing a ration check. If the establishment does not have a ration bank account, the transferor is to give to the transferee the "stamps," "tokens," and certificates he has and to endorse and give to the transferee any ration checks he has. (If the transferee is required to have a ration bank account he must deposit all the points in that account. If the transferee is not required to have a ration bank account, he may endorse the checks and use them to get foods covered by this order.)

(c) Seller of primary distributor establishment must give up all points to the Office of Price Administration. A person who sells or transfers a primary distributor establishment must, within five days after the transfer, turn over to the board (or to the district office, if it is registered there), all points on hand at that establishment and all in its ration bank account. He does so by issuing and sending his certified ration check, payable to the Office of Price Administration, along with his notice of the transfer. (If any of the points represent foods not yet shipped, he must attach to his notice a statement showing the amount and the person from whom he got them.)

(d) Same rules apply to sale of an entire chain. The rules set forth above also apply to a person who has more than one establishment of a particular kind and who sells or transfers all of them for continued operation, whether or not the establishments were registered together. He must give the information and give up or transfer the points for all the establishments.

(e) Sale of part of a chain. Where the seller or transferor also has other establishments of the same kind which are not sold or transferred, the procedure described in paragraph (a) of this section must be followed. However, if the transferor's establishments were registered together, the purchaser or transferee may acquire the inventory of the transferred establishment, but he may not acquire its points. In this case, the seller or transferor keeps the points. If he is a "retailer", or "wholesaler", he may use the points with his other establishments of the same kind as the transferred establishment. If he is a "primary distributor" he must give up to the board or district office, the points received for sales and transfers of foods covered by this order from that establishment at the time that he is required to give up points received by his other primary distributor establishments.

SEC. 12.2 Sale or transfer of industrial user establishments—(a) General. (1) When an "industrial user" sells or transfers to any other person the business and inventory of his "industrial user establishment", for continued operation, both the transferor and transferee must notify the board at which the establishment is registered. The notice must be in writing, within five days after the sale or transfer, and must show:

(i) The name and business address of the establishment and of the persons transferring and acquiring it;

(ii) The point value of the inventory transferred;

(iii) The number of points in the establishment's ration bank account, if any, and the number of points on hand, including points sent to a supplier for foods covered by this order not yet shipped.

(2) If the transferor has a ration bank account, he must notify the district office, in the way required by General Ration Order 3A.

(b) Transferor must give up unused points. The seller or transferor must give up to the board all unused points he has for the establishment. If the establishment has a ration bank account, he must give up the points in the form of his certified ration check payable to the Office of Price Administration. The notice described in paragraph (a) of this section, and the surrender of unused points, will be treated as a cancellation of the transferor's registration and allotment.

(c) Application for allotment by transferee. The transferee may not use the stocks of foods covered by this order which are transferred with the establishment unless he receives an allotment. The application for an allotment must be made, on OPA Form R-315, to the board for the place where the establishment was registered, and must state facts showing whether:

(1) The entire establishment, including substantially all the equipment, the good will, and the inventory of foods covered by this order has been transferred;

(2) The transferee will continue to serve, from that establishment, the same general class of customers and the same area served by it before the transfer; and

(3) The transferee will continue to produce, at the establishment, the same class of product or products, though not necessarily under the same trade name.

The board shall send the application, the notices sent to it by both parties and the transferor's registration to the district office.

(d) Granting of allotment. If the district office finds that the establishment will continue to be operated in substantially the same manner as before the transfer and that the tests described in paragraph (c) are satisfied, it shall assign to the transferee the transferor's allotment and quarterly use for that establishment. It shall also give him a certificate for the number of points that the transferor surrendered to the board or, if the amount of foods covered by this order transferred to the transferee with the establishment is larger than the unused part of the allotment for the current period plus any unused part of the transferor's earlier allotments, the difference shall be treated as excess inventory. The transferee may not use any part of the allotment already used by the transferor, but he may use any unused part of any prior allotment the transferor received for that establishment.

(e) Same rules apply to sale of entire chain. The same rules apply where a person who has more than one industrial user establishment sells or transfers all of them for continued operation, whether or not they were registered separately.

(f) Sale of part of a chain. (1) When the seller or transferor has more than one industrial user establishment which he registered separately, and sells or transfers one or more, but not all of them, the procedure described in paragraphs (a), (b), (c) and (d) of this section must be followed separately, as to each of the establishments transferred.

(2) When the seller or transferor has more than one industrial user establishment which he registered together, and sells or transfers one or more, but not all of them, the procedure described in paragraphs (a) and (c) of this section must be followed, except that the transferor must also apply to the board with which he registered for a redetermination of his allotment and his quarterly use. The board shall send the application and notices of both parties, and the transferor's registration, to the district office. If the district office finds that the tests described in paragraph (c) are satisfied, it shall grant an allotment to the transferee and assign to him a quarterly use. It shall first determine the amount of the transferor's allotment and quarterly use allocable to the transferred establishment. That quarterly use shall be assigned to the transferee. The transferee's allotment shall be the part of the transferor's allotment corresponding to the unexpired part of the allotment period. The quarterly use and the allotment assigned to the transferee shall be deducted from the quarterly use and current allotment of the transferor. The district office shall issue a certificate to the transferee (or determine his excess inventory) on the basis of the allotment granted to him and the amount of the inventory he acquired from the transferor. If the amount of foods covered by this order which is transferred with the establishment is less than the allotment assigned to the transferee, the transferor must give up points to the Office of Price Administration for the difference. If he does not give up points, that difference shall be treated as excess inventory.

(g) Transferee's registration. A transferee is regarded as registered as soon as the district office assigns an allotment and quarterly use to him.

(h) Use of allotment by transferee. A transferee may not use an allotment assigned to him under this section if his operation of the transferred establishment ceases to meet the tests described in paragraph (c).

SEC. 12.3 Where and how the transferee registers the establishments acquired by him. (a) A person who buys or otherwise acquires an establishment of any type, other than a primary distributor establishment, and who already has two or more establishments of the same type as the one acquired by him, which are registered together, must register the new establishment together with his other establishments and at the same board. If he already has his other establishments of the same type registered separately, the new establishment must be registered separately with the board for the place where it is located. If he has only one other establishment of the same type he may elect whether his establishments will be registered together or separately. If he registers them together, registration shall be at the board for the place where his principal office is located. If he registers them separately, registration shall be at the board for the place where the establishment is located. A person who buys or otherwise acquires a primary distributor establishment must register it separately, unless he has registered a group of his establishments in the way described in section 4.11 (a) (2). In that case he may register the newly acquired establishment as part of that group if the same records will be kept for it at the central office as are kept for the other establishments in the group, and invoices covering at least 90% of all transfers from that establishment will regularly be sent from the central office.

(b) The same rules apply to industrial user establishments. If a person who acquires more than one industrial user establishment is entitled to or is required to, register them separately, the district office must compute separately the portion of the transferor's allotment and quarterly use allocable to each of the establishments acquired, in the way described in section 12.2 (f) (2).

SEC. 12.4 Moving establishment to another place. (a) A person may move his retail, wholesale or primary distributor establishment to another place after notifying the board or district office at which the establishment is registered of his new address.

(b) If a person wishes to move his industrial user establishment to another place, he must treat his moving as the closing of one establishment and the opening of a new establishment unless he applies for and is granted permission to continue his operations at the new place. The application must be made on OPA Form R-315, to the board at which the establishment is registered, and must, in addition to showing the new address, give explanations indicating whether:

(1) The entire establishment, including substantially all the equipment and the inventory of foods covered by this order will be moved to the new place;

(2) He will continue to serve, from the new place, the same general class of customers and the same area he serves from his present place;

(3) He will continue to produce, at the new place, the same class of product or products which he produces at his present place.

The board shall send the application, with its recommendation, if any, to the district office. If the district office finds that the establishment will continue to be operated in substantially the same manner as at its present place, and that the tests described above are satisfied, it shall grant the application.

ARTICLE XIII—NEW BUSINESSES

SEC. 13.1 New retail and wholesale establishments may be opened—(a) How stocks are obtained. A "person" who wishes to open a "retail establishment" or a "wholesale establishment", after April 25, 1943, may apply for a "certificate" to get stocks of "foods covered by this order." The application must be made on OPA Form R-315 to the "board" for the place where the establishment will be located. The application must show:

(1) The proposed name and address of the establishment;

(2) The amount he has invested or expects to invest in it;

(3) The size and type of the establishment;

(4) The number of points he needs in order to get adequate stocks;

(5) The point value of any stocks of foods covered by this order which he may have for that establishment.

(b) Issuance of certificate. The board will issue to him a certificate for the number of points he needs to get an adequate working inventory.

(c) Registration. At the end of his first full week of operation, he must register that establishment, on OPA Form R-1601 or OPA Form R-1602, whichever is applicable, in the same way that "retailers" and "wholesalers" register between May 3 and May 14, 1943. He must give all information called for by the form. However, he must show the point value of his sales or "transfers" from that establishment during his first full week of operations. (In the case of a wholesaler, those sales or transfers must be shown according to the classes of foods covered by this order, set forth in a supplement to this order.) A retailer's allowable inventory is computed by multiplying the point value of those sales or transfers by three. A wholesaler's allowable inventory is computed by multiplying the point value of those sales or transfers of each class of foods by the factor fixed for that class in § 1407.3027 (f) of the Supplement to this order. The numbers which result are added, and the total is his allowable inventory. When he registers, he may get a certificate or, if he has excess inventory, he must give up points to the Office of Price Administration in the same way as retailers or wholesalers who register between May 3 and May 14, 1943. He may not, however, be given a certificate for more than the amount by which his allowable inventory exceeds the amount of the certificate given to him when he applied on OPA Form R-315.

(d) Procedure where no additional stocks are needed. Where the person who wishes to open the retail or wholesale establishment has enough stocks, he need not apply on OPA Form R-315. He may begin operation with the stocks he has. However, before making any sales or transfers of foods covered by this order from the establishment after May 14, 1943, he must notify the board for the place where the establishment is located. The notice must be in writing and must give the name and address of the establishment and the point value of its inventory. At the end of his first full week of operation, he must register the establishment and follow the procedure described in the last paragraph.

SEC. 13.2 New primary distributor establishments may be opened. (a) A person who opens a "primary distributor establishment" which was not in operation before April 30, 1943, must notify the district office for the place where the establishment will be located, before making sales or transfers of foods covered by this order from that establishment. The notice must be in writing and must show:

(1) The name and address of the establishment;

(2) The type of foods covered by this order he produces or imports there;

(3) The inventory of that establishment on the date of the notice.

He must file reports for that establishment beginning for the reporting period in which he started operations there.

SEC. 13.3 In special cases, allotments may be granted for new industrial user establishments. (a) A person who wishes to open an "industrial user establishment" which he did not operate at any time between January 1, 1942 and March 19, 1943, may apply for an allotment. Generally, no such application may be granted unless it is found that:

(1) The operation of the establishment will make a direct contribution to the War effort or is essential to meet civilian needs in the area it will serve: and

(2) The product it will produce cannot be obtained from any other source in the area to be supplied.

In addition, any person who wishes to open an industrial user establishment which he did not operate at any time between January 1, 1942 and March 19, 1943, to make a product or use for which a provisional allowance is granted under this order may apply for a provisional allowance of foods covered by this order for such purpose.

(b) The application must be made on OPA Form R-315 and must be filed as follows:

(1) With the board (or district office) authorized to keep the files of industrial users for the place where the applicant's industrial user establishment is or will be located, if:

(i) He does not have a registered industrial user establishment and the application covers only one establishment; or

(ii) He has more than one industrial user establishment which are already registered separately; or

(iii) He has one industrial user establishment which is already registered and he wishes to register the new establishment separately. (If the applicant wishes to open more than one industrial user establishment which are to be registered separately, a separate application must be filed for each such establishment.)

(2) With the board (or district office) authorized to keep the files of industrial users for the place where the applicant's principal business office is or will be located, if:

(i) The application covers more than one industrial user establishment and the applicant wishes to register such establishments together; or

(ii) He has more than one industrial user establishment which are already registered together; or

(iii) He has one industrial user establishment which is already registered and he wishes to register the new establishment with it.

(c) The application must show:

(1) The product the applicant will make;

(2) The size of the establishment;

(3) The amount he has invested or intends to invest in it;

(4) The market to be supplied;

(5) The kinds and point value of any foods covered by this order he may have on hand for that establishment;

(6) The amount of the allotment or provisional allowance requested.

(d) The board may call for any additional information it finds necessary. It may not pass on the application, but must forward it, together with all information received, to the district office. It may attach its recommendation, if any, as to the action to be taken. In cases in which the applicant wishes to make an industrial use of foods covered by this order for experimental, educational, or testing purposes, the district office may permit the applicant to register (on OPA Form R-1200) and grant him an allotment if it finds it in the public interest to do so. In all other cases, the district office must forward the entire file to the Washington Office, for decision, or take such other action as the Washington Office may authorize or direct.

(e) An industrial user who already has an allotment, may not open another industrial user establishment and use his allotment there, unless he applies under this section and is given permission to do so.

SEC. 13.4 Where a person who opens a new establishment registers if he already has other establishments of the same type. (a) If a person who opens a new establishment of any type, other than a primary distributor establishment, already has two or more establishments of the same type which are registered together, he must register the new establishment together with his other establishments and at the same board. If he already has establishments of the same type registered separately, the new establishment must be registered separately with the board for the place where it is or will be located. If he has only one other establishment of the same type, he may elect whether his establishments will be registered together or separately. If he registers them together, registration must be at the board for the place where his principal business office is located. If he registers them separately, registration must be at the board for the place where the establishment is or will be located.

(b) A person who opens a new primary distributor establishment must register it separately, unless he has registered a group of his establishments in the way described in section 4.11 (a) (2). In that case he may register the newly opened establishment as part of that group if the same records will be kept for it at the central office as are kept for the other establishments in the group, and invoices covering at least 90% of all transfers from that establishment will regularly be sent from the central office.

ARTICLE XIV—CLOSING OF BUSINESS

SEC. 14.1 What a person who closes his establishment must do—(a) General. (1) Any "retailer," "wholesaler", "primary distributor", or "industrial user" who goes out of the business of dealing in or using "foods covered by this order" at his establishment must notify the "board" at which it is registered, or the district office, if it is registered there. The notice must be given in writing, within five days after he goes out of the business. It must show:

(i) The name and address of the establishment;

(ii) The point value of its inventory at the time he stopped doing business there; and

(iii) The number of points in the establishment's ration bank account, if any, and the number of points on hand, including points in the hands of his suppliers for foods not yet shipped. If he has a ration bank account, he must also notify the district office, in the way required by General Ration Order 3A (the ration banking order).

(2) He must account to the Office of Price Administration for all points he has for the establishment at which he ceased doing business. If all his stocks of foods covered by this order have not been disposed of at the time of the notice, he must account for the rest of the points as soon as the stocks have been liquidated. An industrial user who has given the notice called for above, may sell or "transfer" his unused stocks of foods covered by this order in the same way that a retailer is permitted to make sales or transfers.

(b) Closing of entire chain. The rules set forth in paragraph (a) of this section, also apply to a "person" who has more than one establishment of a particular kind and who goes out of business at all of them, whether or not they were registered separately. He must give the information required, and must give up the points, for all the establishments.

(c) Closing of part of a chain. (1) A person who has several retail, wholesale, primary distributor, or industrial user establishments which are registered separately, may go out of business at one or more, but may continue to operate the others. In that case, he must follow the procedure set forth in paragraph (a) of this section as to each of the establishments at which he goes out of business.

(2) A person who has several retail or wholesale establishments which are registered together may go out of business at one or more, but may continue to operate the others. In that case, he need not give up points to the Office of Price Administration at that time but may use them for the operation of the establishments which he continues. He must notify the board at which it is registered within five days after he closes it. The notice must be in writing and must give the name and address of the establishment closed.

(3) A person who has several industrial user establishments which are registered together may go out of business at one or more, but may continue to operate the others. In that case he must notify the board with which he is registered. The notification must be in writing and must state whether and to what extent he will continue to serve, from his other establishments, the same area and the same general class of customers. The board must send the notification and his registration to the district office. The district office shall determine the extent to which he remains entitled to use his entire allotment. He may keep his entire allotment only if his remaining establishments will continue to serve the same general class of customers and the same area as the establishment closed. His allotment and his quarterly use must be reduced to the extent that he will cease to serve the same class of customers and the same area. If his allotment is reduced, he must give up to the Office of Price Administration points equal to the reduction. If he does not have points to give up, the amount of the reduction shall be treated as excess inventory.

ARTICLE XV—ADJUSTMENTS

SEC. 15.1 Adjustments for lost, destroyed, or stolen foods—(a) How to apply. Any "person" who had "foods covered by this order" which were lost, destroyed (other than by rotting or decaying), or stolen, or taken away by legal process or order of a court, may apply for a "certificate" for the number of points needed to replace them. The application must be made on OPA Form R-315. However, a consumer may apply for a certificate with which to replace foods covered by this order only if he has given up points to acquire the foods which are lost, destroyed, stolen, or taken away. A "consumer" who wants a certificate must apply to the "board" for the place where he lives. Any other person must apply to the board with which he is registered (or to the district office, if he is registered there). The application must give:

(1) A description of the foods he wishes to replace, showing their point value;

(2) A description of the way in which they were lost, destroyed, stolen, or taken away;

(3) A statement, if the applicant is a consumer, that he gave up points for the foods which were lost, destroyed, stolen, or taken away.

He must also give any other information that the board (or the district office) may request.

(b) Action on application. If the board (or the district office) finds the statements made in the application to be true, it will issue to him a certificate for the number of points needed to replace the foods.

(c) Recovery of lost or stolen foods. If the applicant gets back any of the foods covered by his application, he must give back to the Office of Price Administration, for cancellation, points equal to the point value of the foods he recovered.

SEC. 15.2 Applications may be made for other adjustments—(a) How to apply. Any "retailer," "wholesaler," "primary distributor" or "industrial user" who needs an adjustment in his inventory or allotments, or other relief, may apply, on OPA Form R-315, to the board with which he is registered, or to the district office, if he is registered there. He must state in his application all facts which he claims show his need for the adjustment, and the nature and amount of the adjustment he requests. He must also give any other information that the board (or the district office) requests.

(b) Action on application. A board may not act upon an application under this section. It must send the application, together with all other information received, to the district office. It may attach its recommendation as to the action to be taken. The district office shall send the file to the "Washington Office," for decision, or take such other action as the Washington Office may authorize or direct.

SEC. 15.3 Wholesalers may receive points to replace inventory losses due to shrinkage (evaporation) or cutting. (a) Any wholesaler who suffers a loss in his inventory of "meat" (except canned meat) because of shrinkage (evaporation or dehydration), or who suffers a loss in his inventory of "rationed cheeses" (except process cheese, cheese foods, bottled cheeses or grated cheese) because of shrinkage or cutting, may apply to his board on OPA Form R-315 for a certificate to replace such losses. The application may be made at any time within one month after each three month period, beginning with April 1, 1943, during which he incurred such losses. The application must be signed by the wholesaler or his authorized agent, and must show:

(1) His name and principal business address;

(2) The three month period during which losses of inventory by shrinkage (or cutting, in the case of rationed cheeses) were incurred;

(3) The point value of his sales and "transfers" (other than exchanges, or transfers from one to another of his "wholesale establishments"), during that period, of these foods;

(4) The number of pounds of these foods lost by shrinkage (or cutting, in the case of rationed cheeses) during that period;

(5) The point value of his inventory losses, during that period due to shrinkage (or cutting, in the case of rationed cheeses) of these foods. He must also give any other information which the board may request.

(b) If the board finds that the wholesaler suffered an inventory loss because of the shrinkage (or cutting, in the case of rationed cheeses) of these foods held by him for sale or transfer, it shall issue a certificate for the number of points necessary to replace the losses. However, no certificate may be issued to allow more than one percent in the case of meat, and two percent in the case of rationed cheeses, of the point value of his sales and transfers (other than exchanges, or transfers from one to another of his wholesale establishments) of these foods during the three months in which the losses were incurred.

SEC. 15.4 Wholesalers may apply for allowable inventory adjustments—(a) How to apply. A wholesaler who finds that his allowable inventory is inadequate (other than because of seasonal variations) may apply for an increase. He must apply on OPA Form R-315 to the board with which he is registered. The application must give the following information:

(1) The amount of his allowable inventory;

(2) The net point gain or loss in his point inventory caused by the addition of items to or removal of items from the foods covered by this order;

(3) The sum of items (1) and (2), or the difference if item (2) represents a point loss;

(4) The reasons why he claims his allowable inventory is inadequate; and

(5) The amount of the increase which he needs.

(b) Temporary increase based on application. The board may not act upon the application but must send it, and any other information received, to the district office for action. The board may attach its recommendation as to the amount of the temporary increase to be granted. The district office may grant the wholesaler a temporary increase for the amount which it finds he needs to get adequate stocks for the next six calendar weeks. After determining the amount of the temporary increase to be granted, the district office shall return the file to the board. If the wholesaler does not have any excess inventory, the board shall issue to him a certificate for the amount of the increase granted. If he has an excess inventory which is less than the increase, the board shall cancel the excess inventory and issue a certificate for the difference. If his excess inventory is equal to or greater than the increase, the board shall reduce the excess inventory by the amount of the increase.

(c) Final action. A wholesaler who is given a temporary increase under paragraph (b) must keep a record of the point value of his sales and transfers of each of the classes of foods set forth in paragraph (d) (other than exchanges, and transfers to another of his wholesale establishments) during the six calendar weeks after he received the increase. Within one week after the end of this period he must report the point value of his transfers during this period to the board. The board shall multiply the point value of his sales and transfers of each class by the factor fixed for that class, as set forth in paragraph (d). If the sum of the products thus computed is more than the figure stated in item (3) in paragraph (a), the difference (or the amount requested by the wholesaler, whichever is less) is to be granted as a permanent increase in the wholesaler's allowable inventory. If the amount of the increase is more than the sum of any certificate issued and excess inventory cancelled under paragraph (b), the board shall issue a certificate for the difference. If the amount of the increase is less than that sum, the difference is excess inventory, and the wholesaler must give up points to the Office of Price Administration in the way required by section 5.6 (e).

(d) Classes of foods and factors. The classes of foods and the factors for each class, referred to in paragraph (c), are as follows:

(1) Shortening, cooking and salad oils, canned meat, canned fish and canned milk	1.0
(2) Meat (other than canned meat)	0.3
(3) Butter, cheese and margarine	0.5

SEC. 15.5 Wholesalers and retailers of canned milk or soft cheeses may obtain adequate working inventories—(a) How stocks are obtained. A person who becomes a wholesaler or retailer under this order because he deals in canned milk or in the cheeses added by Amendment 35 [2] (to Ration Order 16) to the foods covered by the order, and who wishes points in order to get an adequate working inventory, may apply for a certificate for that purpose. The application must be made before August 1, 1943 on OPA Form R-315 to the board with which he will register his establishment. The application must show:

(1) The name and address of the establishment;

(2) The number of points he needs in order to get adequate stocks;

(3) The point value of any stocks of canned milk or of the cheeses mentioned above which he may have for that establishment at the time the application is made.

(b) Issuance of certificate. The board will issue to him a certificate for the number of points he needs to get an adequate working inventory.

(c) Registration. At the end of his first full week of operation after the date on which the certificate is issued to him, he must register his establishment, on OPA Form R-1601 or OPA Form R-1602, whichever is applicable, in the same way that retailers and wholesalers registered in accordance with this order. He must give all information called for by the form. However, he must show the point value of his sales and transfers of canned milk and of the cheeses above-mentioned from his establishment during that full week of operation, instead of during the period from April 25, 1943 to May 1, 1943. (He must not include exchanges, or transfers between his own establishments of the same type, but may include all other transfers.) He must report his point inventory at the end of that week, instead of at the close of business on May 1, 1943. If he is a wholesaler, his allowable inventory is determined by multiplying the point value of the canned milk transferred by him during that week of operation by the factor eight (8) and the point value of the above-mentioned cheeses so transferred by him by the factor four (4). If he is a retailer, his allowable inventory is determined by multiplying the point value of his transfers of these foods during that week by three (3). When he registers, he may get a certificate or, if he has excess inventory, he must give up points to the Office of Price Administration, in the same way as retailers or wholesalers who registered in accordance with this order. He may not, however, be given a certificate for more than the amount by which his allowable inventory exceeds the amount of the certificate given to him when he applied on OPA Form R-315.

(d) A person may register his establishments separately or together. Notwithstanding the provisions of sections 5.2 (g) and 6.2 (g) of this order, if a person who registers an establishment under this section has two or more other establishments of the same type which are already registered together under this order, he must register the additional establishment together with his other establishments and at the same board. If he has other establishments of the same type which have already been registered separately, the additional establishment must be registered separately with the board for the place where it is located. If he has only one other establishment of the same type, he may elect whether his establishments will be registered together or separately. If he registers them together, registration must be at the board for the place where his principal business office is located. If he registers them separately, registration must be at the board for the place where the establishment is located.

SEC. 15.6 Adjustment in base-period use of industrial user whose production in fourth quarter of 1942 was limited by General Preference Order M-71. (a) An industrial user whose industrial use of rationed fats and oils during the fourth quarterly period of 1942 was limited by General Preference Order M–71 [11] may apply for an adjustment of his base-period use of rationed fats and oils during that period. The application must be made on OPA Form R–315 to the board with which he is registered. He must give the following information in his application:

(1) The number of pounds of each item of rationed fats and oils of which he made an industrial use during each of the fourth quarters of 1940, 1941 and 1942;

(2) A statement that his industrial use of rationed fats and oils during the fourth quarter of 1942 was limited by General Preference Order M–71.

(b) If the board finds that his industrial use of rationed fats and oils was limited by General Preference Order M–71, it shall add to his base-period use of those foods for the fourth quarter of 1942 the smaller of the two figures derived in the following way:

(1) 13 percent of his base-period use of rationed fats and oils; or

(2) The difference between his base-period use of those foods in the fourth quarter of 1942, and the average of his industrial use of those foods during the fourth quarters of 1940 and 1941.

In addition, and notwithstanding the provisions of section 7.6 (b) of this order, the board shall increase his allotment for the fourth quarter of 1943 on the basis of the applicant's adjusted base-period use. (The provisions of section 7.6 (d) apply in determining whether or not the applicant shall be entitled to receive a certificate with respect to any such increase in his allotment, and in determining the amount of the certificate.)

SEC. 15.7 Retailers may apply for allowable inventory adjustments—(a) How to apply. A retailer who finds that his allowable inventory is inadequate (other than because of seasonal variations) may apply for an increase. He must apply on OPA Form R–315, to the board with which he is registered. The application must give the following information:

(1) The amount of his allowable inventory;

(2) The net point gain or loss in the applicant's point inventory caused by the addition of items to or removal of items from the foods covered by this order;

(3) The sum of items (1) and (2), or the difference if item (2) represents a point loss;

(4) The reasons why he claims that his allowable inventory is inadequate; and

(5) The amount of the increase which he needs.

(b) Action by board if adjusted allowable inventory would be 1500 points or less. If the board finds that the retailer's allowable inventory is inadequate and that the sum of items (3) and (5) in paragraph (a) is not more than 1500 points, it may grant the application for the additional amount which it finds he needs, but not more than the amount requested. If the retailer does not have any excess inventory, the board shall issue to him a certificate for the amount of the increase granted. If he has an excess inventory which is less than the increase, the board shall cancel the excess inventory and issue a certificate for the difference. If the retailer's excess inventory is equal to or greater than the increase, the board shall reduce the excess inventory by the amount of the increase.

(c) Temporary increase if adjusted allowable inventory would be more than 1500 points. If the sum of items (3) and (5) in paragraph (a) is more than 1500 points, the board may not act upon the application but must send it, and any other information received, to the district office for action. The board may attach its recommendation as to the amount of the temporary increase to be granted. The district office may grant the retailer a temporary increase for the amount which it finds he needs to get adequate stocks for the next six calendar weeks. It shall then return the file to the board. When the amount of the temporary increase has been determined by the district office, the board shall issue to the retailer a certificate or reduce the retailer's excess inventory, or both, in the way described in the last paragraph.

(d) Final action. If the retailer is given a temporary increase under paragraph (c) he must keep a record of his sales and transfers (other than exchanges, and transfers to another of his retail establishments) during the six calendar weeks after he received the increase. Within one week after the end of this period, he must report the point value of such transfers. The board shall divide this amount by two. If the resulting figure is more than the figure stated in item (3) in paragraph (a), the difference (or the amount requested by the retailer, whichever is less) is to be granted as a permanent increase in the retailer's allowable inventory. If the amount of the increase is more than the sum of any certificate issued and excess inventory cancelled under paragraph (c), the board shall issue a certificate for the difference. If the amount of the increase is less than that sum, the difference is excess inventory, and the retailer must give up points to the Office of Price Administration in the way required in section 6.6 (e).

SEC. 15.8 Retailers and wholesalers may apply for temporary adjustments because of seasonal variations—(a) How to apply. A retailer or wholesaler may apply for a temporary increase in his allowable inventory because of seasonal variations in his business. He must apply on OPA Form R–315 to the board with which he is registered. The application must give the following information:

(1) The amount of his allowable inventory;

(2) The net point gain or the net point loss in the applicant's point inventory caused by the addition of items to or the removal of items from the foods covered by this order;

(3) The sum of items (1) and (2), or the difference if item (2) represents a point loss;

(4) The reasons why he needs the increase;

(5) The period during which he needs the increase;

(6) If he is a retailer, the average weekly amount of his sales and transfers of foods covered by this order, in pounds, during the same period in 1942, multiplied by 15. If he is a wholesaler, 75% of his average weekly sales and transfers, in pounds, during the same period in 1942, of foods in each of the three classes specified in § 1407.3027 (b) of the Supplement to this order, multiplied by the factor fixed for that class;

(7) The amount of the increase which he needs.

(b) Action on application. If the board finds that the applicant's allowable inventory will be inadequate during the period for which the increase is requested, and that the sum of items (3) and (7) in paragraph (a) does not exceed 20,000 points, it may grant the application for the amount which it finds he needs but not more than the amount requested. However, in no event may the board grant under this section more than the amount by which item (6) exceeds item (3). If the sum of items (3) and (7) exceeds 20,000 points, or if the applicant requests an increase which is more than the maximum amount which the board may grant under this section, or if the applicant is unable to furnish the information required by item (6) because he was not in operation during that period, the board may not act upon the application, but must send it to the district office for action. It may attach its recommendation as to the amount of the temporary increase to be granted. The district office shall determine what action should be taken and return the file to the board. When the amount of the temporary increase has been determined by the local board or the district office, as the case may be, the board shall issue a certificate for such amount, if the applicant has no excess inventory. If the applicant has an excess inventory which is less than the increase, the board shall cancel the excess inventory and issue a certificate for the difference. If the applicant's excess inventory is equal to or greater than the increase, the board shall reduce the excess inventory by the amount of the increase. Within 15 days after the close of the period for which the increase is granted, the applicant must report to the board and give up points equal to the total of any certificate issued and excess inventory reduced or cancelled under this section. If he is unable to give up all the points within the fifteen days, the balance is excess inventory and the provisions of sections 5.6 (e) or 6.6 (e), as the case may be, apply.

ARTICLE XVI—ISSUANCE AND USE OF CERTIFICATES, RATION COUPONS AND TOKENS

SEC. 16.1 How certificates are issued—(a) By whom issued. "Certificates" (OPA Form R–1201) may be issued by the "Washington Office", by a "board", by a district office, by any authorized officer or representative of the Office of Price Administration, or by any "person" authorized by the Office of Price Administration to issue them. Certificates may be issued only in the cases and for the purposes permitted by this or any other order of the Office of Price Administration.

(b) How certificates are issued. The person who issues a certificate must insert, in ink, the words "Meats and Fats" in the appropriate space and must sign it and fill in:

(1) The number of points for which it is issued;

(2) The name of the person for whom it is issued; and

(3) The word "after" in the upper right corner shall be changed to "before" and the date inserted there shall be the date of issue.

A certificate which is not filled out in this way is not good for the acquisition of foods and may not be used or accepted for that purpose.

(c) Certificates not to be issued for fractional amounts. Certificates may not be issued for points in fractional amounts.

SEC. 16.2 Certificates may be used at any time. (a) Certificates issued on or after November 2, 1943, may be used at any time for the acquisition of foods covered by this order. A "retailer" who "transferred" foods covered by this order for a certificate may use it to acquire such foods, if he does not have and is not required to have a ration bank account.

SEC. 16.3 A certificate must be endorsed. (a) Before it can be used, a certificate must be signed on the back by the person for whom it was issued, or by a person authorized to sign for him, if he cannot write.

(b) Any retailer, "wholesaler" or "primary distributor" who has transferred foods for a certificate must sign his name on the back of the certificate before he can deposit or use it.

SEC. 16.5 Names of persons who have been given certificates may be posted. (a) A board may post at its office the name of any person to whom it has issued a certificate under this order. However, it shall not do so if it would reveal information of a military character, or information which any public law enforcement or investigating agency wishes to keep confidential.

SEC. 16.6 Certificates are the property of the Office of Price Administration and may be revoked. (a) All certificates are the property of the Office of Price Administration, whether or not they have been issued.

(b) The Office of Price Administration may suspend, cancel, or revoke any certificate issued if it finds it in the public interest to do so.

SEC. 16.7 Sugar purchase certificates may be corrected and used instead of certificates on OPA Form R–1201. (a) Where no food ration certificates (OPA Form R–1201) are available, sugar purchase certificates (OPA Form R–306) may be used instead, if the word "sugar" in the title is changed to "meats and fats", and the rest of the sentence following the applicant's name and address and ending with "Administration" is changed to read "is issued [amount in words] ([amount in numerals]) points of meats and fats." The date inserted in the upper right corner shall be the date of issue. The date in the lower right corner shall be left blank.

SEC. 16.8 How ration coupons are issued—(a) General. Whenever a district office, or the Washington Office of the Office of Price Administration, or any other person, is authorized to issue one or more certificates to any person, it shall, unless otherwise directed by the Office of Price Administration, issue ration coupons instead, if he is not entitled to have a ration bank account. However, ration coupons may be issued to an industrial consumer whether or not he has a ration bank account and to a retailer who does not have, and is not required to have, a ration bank account.

(b) How ration coupons are issued and used. Ration coupons are coupons designated "ration coupons" which are issued in denominations of 1, 5, 20, 100 and 1,000 points by the Office of Price Administration. Red ration coupons may be used for the acquisition of all foods covered by this order. They need not be endorsed, and are good at any time. In all other respects they may be used in the same way as "stamps", certificates and ration checks. However, a person who does not have and is not required to have a ration bank account may use ration coupons to give change to any person other than a consumer, but he may use for this purpose only ration coupons having denominations of 1, 5, or 20 points. (This does not affect the rule that a person who has or is required to have a ration bank account may give up or return points only in the form of a check. The only exception to that rule is in the use of tokens to give change to consumers.)

(c) Ration coupons are the property of the Office of Price Administration and may be revoked. (1) All ration coupons are the property of the Office of Price Administration, whether or not they have been issued.

(2) The Office of Price Administration may suspend, cancel, or revoke any ration coupon if it finds it in the public interest to do so.

SEC. 16.9. How ration tokens may be obtained by persons other than consumers. (a) On and after February 17, 1944, any person other than a consumer who sells or transfers foods covered by this order may acquire tokens in quantities of 250 or multiples thereof at any ration bank in exchange for the following types of ration currency:

(1) Stamps. From February 17, 1944, to February 26, 1944, inclusive, he may use brown stamps in sealed envelopes. From February 27, 1944 to May 1, 1944, inclusive, he may use brown stamps in sealed envelopes or red stamps pasted on gummed sheets, OPA Form R–140. Beginning May 2, 1944 he may use stamps only if they are pasted on such gummed sheets notwithstanding the provisions of General Ration Order 7. If he uses stamps in sealed envelopes, the envelopes must be handled in all respects in accordance with the procedure described in General Ration Order 7 for the use of such envelopes. If he uses stamps pasted on gummed sheets he may use only stamps valid for transfer or deposit by him at the time he acquires tokens, and each sheet must contain 25 stamps. He must write his name and address on each sheet.

(2) Certificates. He may use a certificate only if it is made out to him. He must write his name and address on the back of the certificate before using it to acquire tokens.

(3) Checks. If he has a ration bank account he may use a ration check to obtain tokens only at the bank where he has his account and only if such check is drawn by him against his account either to his own order or to the order of "tokens".

(4) Ration coupons. Between February 17, 1944 and May 1, 1944, inclusive, he may use ration coupons to obtain tokens. They must be enclosed in sealed envelopes which must be handled in accordance with the procedure described in General Ration Order 7 for the use of such envelopes. After May 1, 1944 he may not use ration coupons to acquire tokens.

(b) Beginning February 27, 1944 any person who sells or transfers foods covered by this order may obtain tokens in exchange for any valid ration currency from any other person who sells or transfers such foods.

(c) Before February 17, 1944 any retailer who has more than one retail establishment may apply to the Washington Office for permission to obtain tokens from that office. Such a retailer must give up to the Washington Office, on or before February 17, 1944, points for tokens he receives in this way.

SEC. 16.10 How tokens are used. (a) Beginning February 27, 1944 tokens may be used to buy or acquire foods and to give change to consumers when they buy or acquire such foods. They have a point value of one point each and are good at any time. However, a transferor of foods covered by this order need not accept more than 9 tokens from any transferee other than a consumer in any single transaction.

(b) Any person who has a ration bank account may deposit tokens in his account only in quantities of 250 or multiples thereof and only if they are in the containers provided for them by the Office of Price Administration. Any person who does not have and is not required to have a ration bank account may exchange tokens in quantities of 250 or multiples thereof for a ration check at any ration bank, but only if the tokens are in the containers provided for them. Any person who deposits or exchanges tokens in this way must write his name and address in the space provided for that purpose on the cover of the container.

ARTICLE XVII—RECORDS, REPORTS AND INSPECTIONS

SEC. 17.1 Records must be kept for two years. (a) Every "person" must hold, for at least two years, all records which this order requires him to keep.

SEC. 17.2 Records may be inspected by Office of Price Administration. (a) All [11] 6 F.R. 6797; 7 F.R. 843, 5809, 7485, 8692, 9484, 9807; 8 F.R. 315.

The inspection may be made at a person's place of business during regular business hours. Every person required to keep records under this order must keep them available for such inspection.

SEC. 17.3 Places where foods covered by this order are kept may be inspected. (a) The Office of Price Administration, through any authorized representative, may at any reasonable time inspect any place where "foods covered by this order" are produced, imported, processed or kept. Any person who produces, imports, processes, or has foods covered by this order must permit such inspection of the place where he produces, imports, processes or keeps them. This section does not apply to a place if the only foods covered by this order which are produced or kept at that place are produced or kept by a person for his use as a "consumer."

SEC. 17.4 Records and reports are confidential. (a) Information and documents obtained from any person under this order will not be disclosed, whether in response to a subpoena or in any other way, except to that person, unless the Administrator (or a representative of the Office of Price Administration designated by him) finds that the requested disclosure is not contrary to law and consents to it.

SEC. 17.5 District office may extend time for registration and reports.— (a) The district office for the place where a person is registered, or is required to be registered, may, for good cause, give him additional time to file any registration or report which this order requires him to file. Any person who needs more time for filing a registration or report may apply, in writing, to the district office. He must explain, in his application, why he needs more time. The district office may impose any conditions it finds proper, when it grants such an extension of time.

SEC. 17.6 Office of Price Administration may require applicants to give information. (a) The "Washington Office," a "board", or a district director or regional administrator may require any person who files an application or an appeal under this order to appear in person, to bring witnesses and to supply any information needed for passing on his case.

(b) A "primary distributor" who does not apply for points to replace the foods covered by this order which he exported must attach his proof of export to his report on OPA Forms R-1606 (Revised), R-1607, R-1609 (Revised), or R-1626 covering the reporting period in which the export was made.

ARTICLE XXII—EXEMPT AGENCIES AND OTHER SPECIAL CASES

SEC. 22.1 Exempt agencies may acquire foods covered by this order. (a) Nothing in this order restricts the amount of "foods covered by this order" which may be "acquired" by the Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard of the United States or by the Maritime Commission, War Shipping Administration, Office of Lend-Lease Administration or Office of Distribution of War Food Administration. (These agencies are referred to in this order as "exempt agencies" and are exempt agencies for the purpose of General Ration Order 3B [13]) In addition, the Army Exchange Service, to the extent it acquires such foods for export to a foreign country or a territory or possession of the United States (except the District of Columbia), and ships' service departments afloat, are exempt agencies under this order and General Ration Order 3B, and may acquire such foods without restriction as to quantity.

SEC. 22.2 How exempt agencies acquire foods covered by this order. (a) Each of the agencies listed in section 22.1 is authorized to open one or more exempt ration bank accounts of the type described in General Ration Order 3B. Foods covered by this order may be "transferred" to and acquired by these agencies only in exchange for points in the form of ration checks equal to the point value of the foods transferred. However, such foods may be transferred between or within these agencies without the surrender of points.

(b) Any "person" who transfers foods covered by this order to any of these agencies must, at or before the time of delivery, submit to it an invoice or other statement for the points payable on account of the transfer. The ration check must be sent to the transferor by the time of delivery or as soon as practicable thereafter.

(c) If for any reason a ration check cannot be used when one of these agencies acquires foods covered by this order, an emergency acknowledgment shall be given to the transferor, instead of a check. This acknowledgment may be in any form, but must show the name of the agency for which the foods are acquired, the name and address of the activity to which the emergency acknowledgment must be sent for replacement by a ration check, the point value of the foods acquired, and the date of acquisition. The acknowledgment must be signed by an authorized officer or employee of the agency, and must show his official title or rank. A person to whom such an acknowledgment is given may not exchange it at a "board" or use it to acquire foods covered by this order, but must send it to the agency activity designated thereon, and a ration check for the amount of foods transferred is to be given to him in exchange for it.

SEC. 22.3 Post exchanges and ships' service departments ashore may acquire foods for points. (a) Foods covered by this order may be transferred to and acquired by Army exchanges, post exchanges of the Marine Corps, ships' service departments ashore of the Navy and Coast Guard, commissary stores and ships' service departments of the Training Organization of the War Shipping Administration, and other similar activities designated by the respective exempt agencies, only in exchange for points in the form of ration checks equal to the point value of the foods transferred, without regard to who transfers them. However, these activities may not open ration bank accounts with unlimited drawing privileges of the type described in General Ration Order 3B. Points needed by these activities for the acquisition of foods covered by this order will be issued to them in accordance with arrangements between the Office of Price Administration and the Army Exchange Service of the United States War Department, the Bureau of Naval Personnel of the Navy Department, the Coast Guard and the Marine Corps, and the Training Organization of the War Shipping Administration. (The issuance of points for use by Army exchanges, post exchanges and ships' service departments ashore for the acquisition of foods covered by this order for institutional use is covered by General Ration Order 5.)

(b) Any person who transfers foods covered by this order to any of the activities enumerated in paragraph (a) must, at or before the time of delivery, submit to it an invoice or other statement for the points payable on account of the transfer. The ration check must be sent to the transferor by the time of delivery or as soon as practicable thereafter.

(c) Points may be transferred freely without a transfer of foods covered by this order among ration bank accounts maintained for Army exchanges, among accounts maintained for Marine Corps post exchanges, among accounts maintained for ships' service departments ashore of the Navy, among accounts maintained for commissary stores and ships' service departments of the Training Organization of the War Shipping Administration, and among accounts maintained for ships' service departments ashore of the Coast Guard.

(d) On or before April 30, 1943, Army exchanges, post exchanges, ships' service departments ashore, and similar designated activities, may, if ration checks are unavailable, use emergency acknowledgments to acquire foods covered by this order, in the way described in section 22.2 (c). An emergency acknowledgment issued under this section may not be used by the person to whom it was issued to acquire foods covered by this order, but must be exchanged for a ration check at the activity designated thereon.

SEC. 22.4 Sales commissaries, post exchanges and ships' service departments ashore may transfer foods for points. (a) Army exchanges, post exchanges, ships' service departments ashore, sales commissaries, commissary stores, and any other activity of the Army, Navy, Training Organization of the War Shipping Administration, Marine Corps or Coast Guard and the Office of Distribution of War Food Administration may transfer foods covered by this order only in exchange for points in the same way as "retailers" are permitted to make transfers under this order. However, they are not required to register as retailers, "wholesalers," or "primary distributors."

(b) All points so received by Army exchanges, post exchanges, ships' service departments ashore, sales commissaries, commissary stores, or any other activity of the Army, Navy, Training Organization of the War Shipping Administration, Marine Corps or Coast Guard or by the Office of Distribution of War Food Administration must be deposited in the ration bank accounts maintained for them. These points may then be used to acquire other foods covered by this order.

SEC. 22.5 Veterans' Administration and Coast and Geodetic Survey may apply for allotments under General Ration Order 5. (a) Allotments of foods covered by this order for the Veterans' Administration and the Coast and Geodetic Survey will be granted in accordance with the provisions of General Ration Order 5.

SEC. 22.6 Industrial users may replenish foods used in products transferred to agencies designated in General Ration Order 11." (a) Any "industrial user" who, before July 1, 1943, transfers to any exempt agency any products which he manufactured after March 28, 1943, in the manufacture of which he used foods covered by this order, may apply to and obtain from his board a "certificate" equal in point value to the foods used by him in such products. The application shall be made on OPA Form R-315, on or before August 1, 1943, and shall set forth the nature and amount of the products, the time when the products were manufactured, the date when such products were transferred and the amount of foods covered by this order he used in such products. The application shall be accompanied by such evidence of transfer to the exempt agency as the board may require. If a certificate is issued under this section, the industrial user's allotment for the allotment period in which it is issued shall be considered increased by the amount of the certificate.

(b) Any industrial user who used a food covered by this order in products which are acquired on or after July 1, 1943, by any of the designated agencies covered by General Ration Order 11, may apply for replacement or advance of such foods under the conditions and in accordance with the procedure set forth in General Ration Order 11.

SEC. 22.7 Ships' and planes' stores. (a) Foods covered by this order may be acquired for use as ships' and planes' stores under the provisions of General Ration Order 5.

(b) Any operator of a vessel or plane to whom a statement has been issued by a Collector of Customs (or Military Officer) under section 21.2 or 21.3 of General Ration Order 5 may acquire foods covered by this order up to the amount authorized thereon without surrendering points. Any retailer, wholesaler or primary distributor may, in exchange for the statement, transfer to the operator of the vessel or plane, without getting points, foods covered by this order up to the amount specified on the statement.

(c) A retailer or wholesaler may exchange such statement for a certificate, at his board. He must attach to the statement a signed receipt, invoice, or other evidence to prove the transfer of the foods covered by this order. If the board is satisfied that the foods were transferred as ships' or planes' stores, it shall issue a certificate to the retailer or wholesaler for the number of points needed to replace the foods transferred. A primary distributor must send the Customs Collector's (or Military Officer's) statement and the attached receipt or other evidence to the board or district office to which he reports, along with his report for the reporting period in which he made the transfer.

(d) An airplane operator who has been allowed an operating inventory under section 21.4 of General Ration Order 5 may exchange for a certificate a statement issued by a Collector of Customs (or Military Officer) under section 21.3 of that order at a board covering any area where the operator maintains an office.

SEC. 22.8 Governmental investigatory agencies may acquire foods needed in their investigations. (a) An investigatory agency of the United States or of any State or local government which needs foods covered by this order in order to perform its inspections or investigations, may apply for points to acquire them. The application must be in writing, on an official letterhead of the agency (if any is available), and must state the name of the agency, the purpose for which points are needed, the period during which they are needed, and the number of points required. An agency of the United States may make its application to the "Washington Office" or to any district office. An agency of a State or local government shall apply to the district office. If the district or Washington Office finds that points are needed in order to carry on the investigatory activities of the agency, it shall issue one or more certificates for the number of points required.

(b) The Food and Drug Administration of the Federal Security Agency (which is hereby designated an exempt agency for this purpose) may open one or more exempt ration bank accounts of the type described in General Ration Order 3B. However, it may issue ration checks against those accounts only to acquire foods covered by this order which are needed for inspection or investigation.

(c) Any government agency which acquires foods covered by this order for purposes of inspection or investigation may, after they have served the purpose for which they were acquired, dispose of them to any federal, state or local institution without receiving points for them. The institution which receives the foods shall report in writing the amount received and the date on which they were received to the board with which it is registered under General Ration Order 5, or, if it is not registered, to the board for the area in which it is located. Its allotment shall not be regarded as increased by such acquisition, and the foods so acquired shall be treated as excess inventory.

SEC. 22.9 Area reduction in point value of farm butter. (a) In some localized areas there may be cases where farm butter, although it is offered for sale at a price at least low enough to continue the customary differential between it and creamery butter, cannot be disposed of at the point value established for such farm butter. The Director of the Food Rationing Division may, in these cases, authorize a reduction in the point value of farm butter, but only to the extent necessary to prevent waste or spoilage.

(b) The Director shall exercise his authority through the regional offices which he designates. He may authorize the designated regional offices to act through appropriate district offices or boards.

(c) The reductions shall be allowed, and farm butter shall be sold or transferred at the reduced point value, only under the conditions and subject to the limitations fixed by the Director, and any further conditions fixed by the appropriate regional office, district office, or board.

SEC. 22.11 Issuance of checks by Office of Distribution of War Food Administration for demonstrations. (a) The Office of Distribution of War Food Administration may issue checks on its ration bank account or accounts to persons it designates. These persons may use the points to acquire foods covered by the order and they may use these foods for demonstrations sponsored by the Office of Distribution of War Food Administration. The total number of points which may be issued pursuant to this section, in any period specified by the Office of Price Administration, shall not exceed the amount authorized, for the purposes of this section, by the Office of Price Administration, for such period.

SEC. 22.12 Issuance and use of checks by Extension Service of Department of Agriculture. (a) The Extension Service of the Department of Agriculture may open a ration bank account. It may deposit in that account ration checks issued to it by the Office of Price Administration for food demonstrations, and may issue checks on that account to any State Director of a State agricultural Extension Service.

(b) A State Director of a State agricultural Extension Service may open a ration bank account. He may deposit in that account ration checks issued to him by the Extension Service of the Department of Agriculture for food demonstrations, and may issue checks on that account to persons who may use the points to acquire foods covered by the order. Such foods may be used only for the purpose of demonstrations sponsored by the State agricultural Extension Service.

(c) A person who receives a check from a State Director of a State agricultural Extension Service may exchange that check for one or more certificates or ration coupons at any board.

ARTICLE XXIII—SUSPENSION ORDERS

SEC. 23.1 Office of Price Administration may issue suspension orders. (a) Any "person" who violates this order may, by administrative suspension order, be prohibited from receiving any "transfer" or delivery of, or from selling or using or otherwise disposing of, any "foods covered by this order" or other rationed product or facility. Such suspension order shall be issued for such period as in the judgment of the Administrator, or such person as he may designate for such purpose, is necessary or appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national security.

ARTICLE XXV—ACQUISITION OF FOODS COVERED BY THIS ORDER BY RESIDENTS OF MEXICO

SEC. 25.1 Residents of Mexico may acquire foods covered by this order in the United States. (a) Any "consumer" who resides in Baja California, Mexico, within ninety kilometers of the border between Mexico and the United States, or in any other part of Mexico within twenty kilometers of that border, may apply for points to "acquire" foods covered by this order in the United States. The application must be made in "person" on OPA Form R-183 (Revised), to the "board" whose office is nearest his customary point of entry into the United States. A single application must be made by the applicant for himself and for all members of his family unit (that is, for all persons living in his household who are related to him by blood, marriage, or adoption) who wish to acquire foods covered by this order. An application may be made by a person under eighteen years of age only if he is the head of a household or is not a member of a family unit. However, if an applicant is unable to complete and sign the application or is unable to appear in person before the board, anyone may act for him if the board is satisfied that such person has been given authority to act as agent for the applicant in completing, signing, and presenting the application.

(b) The application must be completed and signed by the applicant or his agent and must show:

(1) The applicant's name, address and age;

(2) The names and ages of all consumers living in his household who are related to him by blood, marriage or adoption and who wish to acquire foods covered by this order in the United States;

(3) The serial number of the applicant's "immigration document" and any immigration documents issued for use by the consumers named in the application. The applicant, or his agent must present all such immigration documents to the board at the time the application is made and shall also give any other information that the board may request. The immigration documents shall be returned by the board to the applicant or his agent as soon as the board has examined them.

(c) If the applicant complies with the requirements of paragraphs (a) and (b), the board shall grant the application and shall issue ration cards (OPA Form R-185, Revised) for foods covered by this order as provided in this article.

(d) A consumer who has previously applied on OPA Form R-183 for points to acquire foods covered by this order in the United States is not required to make a new application on OPA Form R-183 (Revised) unless, since the date of his last application, there has been a change in the number or identity of the members of his household related to him by blood, marriage or adoption who wish to acquire foods covered by this order in the United States. The board will issue ration cards (OPA Form R-185, Revised) for foods covered by this order to such a consumer at any time after July 1, 1944, without requiring a new registration, if the applicant or his agent appears in person at the board and surrenders the expired punch card (OPA Form R-185) issued to him under this article as it read before June 16, 1944, and presents any immigration document issued for use by the consumers named in the card. The immigration documents shall be returned by the board to the applicant or his agent as soon as the board has examined them. If any such punch card has been lost, destroyed or stolen, and the applicant has not received a duplicate card, the board may waive the requirement that such card must be surrendered.

(e) The monthly ration of foods covered by this order for each consumer for whom the application is granted shall not exceed the number of points fixed by the district director for the area in which the applicant's board is located, as provided in paragraph (f) of this section.

(f) Each district director whose area includes a point of entry between Mexico and the United States, shall, on or before July 1, 1944, fix the number of points per month (in multiples of ten) which the respective boards may issue for each consumer for whom rations are granted for the acquisition of foods covered by this order in the United States. The amount of such monthly ration may be changed at any time thereafter by such district director. However, in no event may the monthly ration exceed 30 points per month. In determining the amount of the monthly ration, the district director shall take into consideration the available supply of foods covered by this order in the ports of Mexico adjacent to the customary points of entry in his district.

SEC. 25.2 Issuance of ration cards. (a) Ration cards (OPA Form R–185 Revised) for foods covered by this order shall be issued for periods of three calendar months or less. All ration cards (OPA Form R–185, Revised) shall have an earliest renewal date, which shall be the first day after the expiration of the period for which the card is issued. A board may, in its discretion, issue ration cards for any period of time less than three months.

(b) The board shall issue one ration card (OPA Form R–185, Revised) for each consumer or group of consumers for whom an application has been granted. However, if the application is granted for more than four consumers, one additional ration card shall be issued for each additional four consumers or less. The board shall write in the place provided on such cards, the date on which the card is issued, the earliest renewal date and the name and serial number of the immigration documents of the applicant and all other consumers for whom the application is granted. Before issuing a ration card for foods covered by this order, the board shall remove in horizontal strips, starting at the bottom of the card, the requisite number of coupons, so that the card, when issued, will contain coupons only for the number of points for which the application is granted, for the consumers whose names appear on the ration card. The board shall also write upon the immigration document of each consumer for whom rations are granted the letters "M. F." and the serial number of the ration card issued for him.

(c) If any consumer for whom a ration card has been issued under this article secures a new immigration document, such ration card may not be used to acquire foods covered by this order in the United States until the applicant or his agent appears in person at the board and presents such ration card and the new immigration document. The board shall delete the serial number of the old immigration document and record in its place the serial number of the new immigration document. The person who records the serial number of the new immigration document must initial the change. He must at the same time record the serial number of the new immigration document on the application (OPA Form R–183 or OPA Form R–183, Revised) for the consumer. The board shall also write upon the new immigration document the letters "M. F." and the serial number of the ration card.

(d) A ration card for foods covered by this order shall have no expiration date and may be used at any time by the consumer for whom it is issued or any member of his family unit for the acquisition of foods covered by this order from any "retailer", "wholesaler", or "primary distributor" in the United States.

(e) On or after the earliest renewal date of a ration card for foods covered by this order, the applicant's board shall issue a new ration card (OPA Form R–185, Revised) if the applicant, or his agent appears in person at the board and returns the cards of the consumers for whom rations were previously issued. (However, if a previously issued card has been lost, destroyed, or stolen, the board may waive the requirement that such card must be returned.) He must also present the immigration document of each consumer for whom rations are requested. No new application (on OPA Form R–183, Revised) is needed for the issuance of ration cards to replace previously issued ration cards unless, since the date of the last application, there has been a change in the number or identity of the members of applicant's household related to him by blood, marriage or adoption who wish to acquire foods covered by this order in the United States. Acceptance by the applicant of ration cards for succeeding periods shall constitute a representation by the applicant that the consumers for whom rations are requested are the same as those covered on the card or cards previously issued by the board and that the number of such consumers has not been reduced. New ration cards will be issued for periods of three calendar months or less and no rations may be granted for any period of time which has elapsed since the earliest renewal date of any previously issued ration card.

SEC. 25.3 Issuance of ration cards to certain applicants by the district office. (a) Any consumer who resides in Mexico, within the area described in section 25.1 (a) who desires to acquire foods covered by this order in the United State and who is not eligible for rations under any other provisions of this article, or who needs more rations than he can get with his ration card (OPA Form R–185, Revised) may apply on OPA Form R–183 (Revised) to the board nearest his customary point of entry into the United States for additional rations. The application must show why the applicant cannot receive a ration card under the other provisions of this article or why he needs more rations. A board may not act upon an application under this section but shall send it, together with all other information received and its recommendations, to the district office. If the district office finds that the applicant resides within the area described in section 25.1 (a) and that he does not have and cannot get an immigration document or that his health depends upon his getting more foods covered by this order or that he needs more foods than the monthly ration fixed by the district director, it may approve the application and return it to the board with instructions for the issuance of such rations as may be directed by the district office. If the district office finds that the applicant does not have an immigration document it shall instruct the board to insert the word "waived" in the space provided for the serial number of the applicant's immigration document.

SEC. 25.4 Value and use of coupons by residents of Mexico. (a) Each coupon on a ration card (OPA Form R–185, Revised) is worth ten points and is good for use as provided in this article for an unlimited time by the consumers for whom it is issued. A resident of Mexico gives up points when he acquires foods covered by this order in the United States by surrendering coupons from his ration card or "tokens". Coupons must be given up at the time the foods are acquired and must be detached from the ration card (OPA Form R–185, Revised) in the presence of the person who is selling or transferring the foods. Loose coupons may not be used by a resident of Mexico or any other person and they must not be accepted by the seller or transferer. If it is impossible to detach coupons exactly equal to the point value of the foods transferred because their point value is not an exact multiple of ten, coupons of the nearest higher point value must be detached and the transferor must return the excess number of points to the consumer in the form of tokens.

SEC. 25.5 How suppliers may replace inventory of foods covered by this order transferred to residents of Mexico. (a) A retailer, wholesaler, or primary distributor who gets coupons from a resident of Mexico in the way permitted by this article, may not deposit those coupons in his ration bank account or use them to acquire foods covered by this order. He may only surrender such coupons, at any time, to the board for the area in which his establishment is located in exchange for a "certificate" equal to the point value of the surrendered coupons.

SEC. 25.6 Surrender of points by suppliers from whom foods covered by this order were acquired before July 1, 1944. (a) Any retailer, wholesaler, or primary distributor who was designated as a supplier on punch cards issued before July 1, 1944, to residents of Mexico, must surrender the total number of points he owes, if any, on or before July 10, 1944, to the board for the area in which he is located. (The total number of points which he owes is the total number of points given him by all certificates previously issued to him under this article as it read before June 16, 1944, less the point value of all foods covered by this order transferred by him to residents of Mexico up to that date.) He shall, at the same time, give to the board a written statement showing:

(1) The total point value of all such cards issued for the months of May and June 1944;

(2) The total number of unused points left on such cards; and

(3) The total number of points given to him by certificates issued under this article for the month of May and June 1944.

SEC. 25.7 Records of suppliers from whom foods covered by this order were acquired before July 1, 1944. (a) Any retailer, wholesaler, or primary distributor who was designated by an applicant as the supplier from whom foods covered by this order were to be acquired before July 1, 1944, shall maintain and keep at his place of business the cards which he was required to make out for each such applicant before July 1, 1944.

SEC. 25.8 Records and reports by suppliers who transferred foods covered by this order to residents of Mexico before July 1, 1943. (a) Any retailer, wholesaler, or primary distributor to whom a certificate has been issued under this article prior to July 1, 1943, shall maintain and keep at his place of business a record showing the name of each applicant for whom he has received such certificate, the point value of each certificate and of all foods covered by this order transferred against it and the dates of such transfers. Before the 10th day of July 1943, he must give to his board a written statement showing the total point value of all certificates received by him for June 1943 and the total point value of all transfers of foods covered by this order made under such certificates during that month.

ARTICLE XXVI—HOUSEHOLD SALVAGE FATS

SEC. 26.1 Explanation of the terms renderer and rendering establishment—(a) Rendering establishment. Any place at which a "person" processes "household salvage fats" by dry rendering such fats in a closed fat melter or wet rendering such fats in a steam pressure tank to produce tallow, grease, tankage, fatty acids, or detergents is a "rendering establishment".

(b) Renderer. Any person who has a rendering establishment is a "renderer".

SEC. 26.2 Renderers must register between December 9 and December 11, 1943, inclusive—(a) General. Every renderer must register his rendering establishment on OPA Form R–315 with the district office for the place where his establishment is located at any time from December 9, 1943, to December 11, 1943, inclusive. If he has more than one rendering establishment, he may register them together or separately. If he registers them together, he must register all on a single registration form and file that form with the district office for the place where his principal business office is located. If he registers each of them separately, he must file a separate registration form for each establishment with the district office for the place where that establishment is located. Each separately registered establishment is to be treated and operated separately for all the purposes of this order, just as if the establishments were owned by different persons.

(b) Report of acquisitions of household salvage fats. As part of his registration, the renderer must attach a statement showing the number of pounds of household salvage fats which he "acquired" each month during July, August, September, and October 1943. This statement must show:

(1) The name and address of each "independent collector", if any, from whom he acquired household salvage fats, and the number of pounds acquired from each during each month;

(2) The number of pounds of household salvage fats he acquired from all other sources during each month;

(3) The total number of pounds of household salvage fats he acquired each month, and the total acquired in the four month period.

If he has more than one rendering establishment, and registers them together, he must attach a separate statement for each.

SEC. 26.3 Renderers may receive allotments—(a) General. A renderer is given an allotment of points to enable him to obtain household salvage fats for processing. Allotments are given for fixed periods, called allotment periods. The first allotment period is from December 13, 1943, through March 31, 1944. The second period is from April 1, 1944, through June 30, 1944. The third period is from July 1, 1944, through September 30, 1944. The fourth period is from October 1, 1944, through December 31, 1944.

(b) Application for allotments. A renderer's registration is treated as his application for an allotment for the first allotment period. The report, as described in section 26.4, which he submits for the last month of an allotment period will be treated as his application for the succeeding allotment period. The application may, in the discretion of the district office, be made at any time during the allotment period, but if it is made more than 20 days after the beginning of the period the allotment shall be reduced in proportion to the part of the allotment period which has elapsed at the time the application is made.

(c) Amount of allotment. A renderer's allotment for the first allotment period is determined by multiplying the number of pounds of household salvage fats which he acquired in July, August, September and October 1943 by 2.4. For the second allotment period, his allotment is determined by multiplying the number of pounds of household salvage fats he acquired from January 1, 1944, through March 31, 1944, by 2. For each succeeding allotment period his allotment is determined by multiplying the number of pounds of household salvage fats he acquired in the allotment period preceding the period in question by a factor to be fixed in a supplement to this order. He will receive for each allotment period a certificate for the amount of his allotment less the number of points he has remaining from prior allotments for household salvage fats (excluding the points he owes for acquisitions of household salvage fats).

(d) Renderers who need additional points. If a renderer has acquired, during any allotment period, household salvage fats for which he has given up at least 50% of his allotment of points for that period, and does not have sufficient points to acquire all the household salvage fats he can obtain for the remainder of that period, he may apply on OPA Form R–315 for additional points to the district office where he is registered. His application must show:

(1) The amount of his allotment for that period and the number of points he has on hand and in his household salvage fats ration bank account;

(2) The number of pounds of household salvage fats he acquired since the beginning of the allotment period;

(3) The number of points he needs until the end of the period.

If the district office finds that he needs additional points, it will issue to him a certificate for the number of points he requests, but not more than 50% of his allotment for that period.

SEC. 26.4 Renderers must file reports—(a) General. Every renderer must file a report on OPA Form R–1620 of his acquisitions of household salvage fats during each month beginning December, 1943. (However, this report for December, 1943 shall cover only the period from December 13, through December 31, 1943.) He must give all the information called for by the form. The report must be filed at the district office where he is registered within 15 days after the end of the month which it covers. If he has more than one rendering establishment and they are registered together, he must file a single report for all of them.

SEC. 26.5 Renderers must keep records. (a) Beginning December 13, 1943, every renderer must keep, at his rendering establishment, a record showing, for that establishment, his acquisitions of household salvage fats by weight, in each month of the allotment period; the name and address of each independent collector from whom he acquired household salvage fats during each month, the number of pounds acquired from each; and the date on which he acquired such fats. If he has more than one establishment and they are registered together, the record may be kept at his principal business office, but a separate record must be kept for each of his establishments.

SEC. 26.6 Explanation of the terms independent collector and independent collector establishment. (a) A place other than a "retail" or "wholesale establishment," where a person who deals in household salvage fats regularly keeps, for sale or "transfer," stocks of those fats, is an "independent collector establishment."

(b) Any person who has an independent collector establishment is an "independent collector".

(c) Where an independent collector does not operate from any fixed place, his independent collector operations as a whole are regarded as a single independent collector establishment.

SEC. 26.7 Independent collectors may register and apply for an allowable inventory—(a) General. An independent collector who acquired household salvage fats for sale or transfer during October 1943 may register on or after December 9, 1943, on OPA Form R–315, for an allowable inventory of points to acquire household salvage fats. His registration must be filed with the district office for the place where his independent collector establishment is located. His registration must show:

(1) The number of pounds of household salvage fats he has on hand;

(2) The number of pounds of household salvage fats he acquired for sale or transfer during October 1943;

(3) The number of points he owes for household salvage fats he acquired;

(4) The number of points owed to him for household salvage fats he transferred; and

(5) The number of points he has on hand and in his ration bank account.

If he has more than one independent collector establishment he may register them together or separately. If he registers them together, he must register all on a single registration form and file that form with the district office for the place where his principal business office is located. If he registers each of them separately, he must file a separate registration form for each establishment with the district office for the place where that establishment is located. Each separately registered establishment is to be treated and operated separately for all the purposes of this order, just as if the establishments were owned by different persons.

(b) Allowable inventory. An independent collector who registers is given an allowable inventory of points to enable him to acquire household salvage fats for sale or transfer. This allowable inventory is his working capital and is determined by multiplying by two the number of pounds of household salvage fats he acquired in October 1943. The district office will issue to him a certificate in this amount, less the number of points owed to him for household salvage fats he transferred, the number of points he has on hand and in his ration bank account, and the number of pounds of such fats multiplied by two which he has on hand on the date of his application. However, if he owes points for fats acquired by him, the amount of any certificate issued under this paragraph shall be increased by the number of points owed. An independent collector who does not register will have to operate on the basis of the stocks he has and the points he obtains from the persons to whom he sells or transfers such stocks.

SEC. 26.8 Independent collectors must keep records. (a) Beginning December 13, 1943, every independent collector must keep at his independent collector establishment a record, for that establishment, of his acquisitions and transfers, each month, of household salvage fats, by weight. If he has more than one establishment and they are registered together, the record may be kept at his principal business office.

SEC. 26.9 Who may have ration bank accounts—(a) Renderer. Every renderer must open a ration bank account for household salvage fats for his rendering establishment. If he has more than one rendering establishment and they are registered separately, he must open a separate account for each. If they are registered together, he may open one account for all, or a separate account for each or for any group of them, but all must have an account.

(b) Independent collector. Every independent collector who acquired for sale or transfer 15,000 pounds or more of household salvage fats in any month since July 1943, may open a ration bank account for household salvage fats for his independent collector establishment. If he has more than one independent collector establishment and they are registered separately he may open such accounts only for those establishments at which he acquired for sale or transfer 15,000 pounds or more of household salvage fats in any month since July 1943. If he has more than one independent collector establishment and they are registered together he may open accounts for any one or any group of them which acquired 15,000 pounds or more during any month since July 1943. No other independent collector may open an account.

SEC. 26.10 How household salvage fats bank accounts are used—(a) General. Every renderer and every independent collector who has or is required to have a bank account under section 26.9, must deposit in that account all points he receives for household salvage fats.

(b) How household salvage fats checks are issued. Any renderer or independent collector who issues a ration check for household salvage fats must in stating the name of his account on the check add thereto the words "Salvage Fats Account".

(c) Use of household salvage fats checks. Any person other than a renderer or independent collector, who has or is required to have a ration bank account under section 9.2, must deposit in that account checks which he receives which were issued as provided in paragraph (b). Any person who receives such a check and who does not have and is not required to have a ration bank account may endorse it and transfer it to his supplier for "foods covered by this order".

SEC. 26.11 Points must be given up for household salvage fats—(a) General. Beginning December 13, 1943, no person may sell or transfer household salvage fats and no person may buy or acquire household salvage fats unless points are given up in the way this order requires.

(b) How points are given up. (1) Household salvage fats have a point value of one point for each one-half pound. No points may be given for any fraction of less than one-half pound.

(2) A person who acquires household salvage fats from a consumer or Group I institutional user must give such person ration coupons or tokens (designated by the Office of Price Administration to be used for the acquisition of foods covered by this order).

(3) A person who has or who is required to have a ration bank account for household salvage fats and who acquires household salvage fats from persons other than consumers or Group I institutional users must give up points in the following way:

(i) If he acquired 100 pounds or more of household salvage fats he must issue a household salvage fats ration check for the number of points due to the person from whom he acquired the fats;

(ii) If he acquired less than 100 pounds he must make point payments for such fats in ration coupons designated for the acquisition of foods covered by this order. He may obtain ration coupons for this purpose by issuing a household salvage fats ration check to the order of his board and exchange such check at the board for ration coupons in such denominations as he needs.

(4) An independent collector who does not have and is not required to have a ration bank account for household salvage fats and who receives a household salvage fats ration check may endorse and exchange such check at any board for ration coupons designated for the acquisition of foods covered by this order.

(c) When points must be given up. (1) Points for household salvage fats must be given up to a consumer or Group I institutional user at the time of the transfer of the household salvage fats.

(2) Points for household salvage fats must be given up to all other persons not later than the 10th day of the month following the month in which the transfer was made. However, if money payment for the household salvage fats is made before this time, the points must be given up at the same time the money payment is made.

(d) General. Points may be transferred freely between establishments of the same type operated by the same person, which are registered together, and points of one of those establishments may be used to get household salvage fats for another of them.

SEC. 26.12 Point-free transfers. (a) No points need be given up for a delivery of household salvage fats to a renderer or independent collector if such fats were in transit to him on December 12, 1943.

(b) A consumer may exchange, point-free, with another consumer, a primary distributor, wholesaler or retailer, household salvage fats for foods covered by this order equal in point value to such household salvage fats.

(c) Point-free transfers of household salvage fats may be made under the conditions described in sections 11.5, 11.6, 11.7, 11.8, 11.9, 11.10, 11.12, and 11.16, as though household salvage fats were foods covered by this order.

SEC. 26.13 Other sections of this order apply. (a) For all the purposes of Articles XVI and XVII and sections 10.7, 10.8, 10.9, 15.1, 20.1, 20.2, 20.3, 20.5, 22.1, 22.2 (a), 22.4, and 23.1 of this order, household salvage fats are to be treated as though they were foods, covered by this order.

(b) For all purposes of sections 12.1, 12.3, 12.4, 14.1, 15.2, 18.1, and 19.1 of this order, renderers and independent collectors are to be treated as though they were wholesalers of foods covered by this order.

"Foods covered by this order" (or "foods" where the context indicates) means "meat", "canned fish", "rationed cheeses", "rationed fats or oils", or "canned milk". "Industrial user establishment" means any place where a "person" makes an "industrial use" (of a "food covered by this order").

"Institutional user" means any person who has an "institutional user establishment."

"Institutional user establishment" means an institutional user establishment as defined in General Ration Order 5. (With certain exceptions, it means any place where a "person" uses a rationed food in the preparation of food which he serves to "consumers" or in the service of food to consumers.)

"Lard" means a "fat" containing no "fat" other than the fat extracted from any part of the carcass of a swine, and not including any form of "margarine."

"Meat" means the carcass or any edible part of the carcass of cattle, calves, sheep, lambs or swine, including edible offal, bones and skins. It includes any other edible product containing more than twenty per cent, by weight, of the above items. Meat does not include gelatin, glue, or "lard". Neither does it include casings or visceral parts acquired by a person to be used by him in making casings. (Casings are visceral parts specially prepared for use in holding sausage or other foods.)

Meat does not include rendering fats and bones (produced in disassembling a carcass, or in cutting a carcass or primal cut into smaller cuts, or in boning a carcass or cut) and lean trimmings commingled with these rendering fats and bones, if these parts of the carcass are acquired by a person to be used by him for animal feed, for rendering into inedible products or for other inedible purposes, or by a primary distributor to be used by him for rendering into rationed fats or oils, or for transfer to such a person for one of these purposes; however, rendering fats do not include fat backs, fat back pork, clear plates and jowls (including jowl squares).

Neither does meat include cracklings containing no more than fifteen per cent, by weight, of fat. (Cracklings containing more than fifteen per cent, by weight, of fat are considered rendering fats.) However, meat does include any of the items listed in section 30.1 (a) (2) when they are used in an edible product in combination with each other or with any of the other items defined as meat in this paragraph. Neither does meat include waste cooking waters, meat extracts, or bouillon cubes. (Waste cooking waters are produced in the cooking of meat. Meat extracts are produced by the evaporation of these cooking waters. Bouillon cubes are produced from such meat extracts.)

Meat does not include a carcass, or any part of a carcass, which is condemned as unfit for human food by an authorized federal, State or local government inspector, and which is either plainly marked to indicate that it has been so condemned or is denatured or otherwise destroyed for food purposes as may be required by law.

"Person" means not only an individual, but also a partnership, corporation, association or business trust. It includes a government, government agency and any other organized group or enterprise.

"Pre-packaged cheese item" means "rationed cheese" in an original package of a primary distributor or wholesaler. If one such package is contained within another, it means the smaller of such packages. (For example, a cardboard package containing several small individually wrapped pieces of cheese is not a single "pre-packaged cheese item". Rather, each individually wrapped piece is a separate "pre-packaged cheese item".)

"Primary distributor" means any "person" who has a "primary distributor establishment."

"Primary distributor establishment" has the meaning given to that term in sections 4.3 to 4.10, inclusive.

"Process butter" means process or renovated "butter" as defined by Chapter 240, section 1, Act of August 2, 1886 (24 Stat. 209), as amended by Chapter 784, section 4, Act of May 9, 1902 (32 Stat. 195).

"Rationed cheeses" means all cheeses of any kind, variety or description (but not including "cottage cheese", or "creamed cottage cheese" containing 5 percent or less butterfat by weight) and any other edible product containing 30 percent or more, by weight, of such cheeses (other than cottage cheese, or creamed cottage cheese containing 5 percent or less butterfat by weight). It does not include "whey products", nor does it include any cheese in the manufacture of which neither cow's milk nor milk solids derived from cow's milk are used.

"Rationed fats or oils" (or "rationed fats") means any of the following substances, whether or not water, coloring matter, vitamins, or a preservative or flavoring agent has been added to it, and even if it has been bleached, hydrogenated, winterized, or deodorized:

(1) Any edible "fat" extracted from cows' milk, cream, or whey;

(2) Any edible fat extracted from the carcasses of cattle, sheep, calves or lambs;

(3) Any fat extracted from cottonseed, sesame seed, sunflower seed, corn germs, peanuts or soy beans, and "refined";

"Retail establishment" means any place where a "person" who deals in "foods covered by this order" regularly keeps stocks of those foods for sale or "transfer" (other than as a "primary distributor"), if more than fifty per cent of those stocks are sold or transferred from there directly to "consumers". Even if the amount sold or transferred from there directly to consumers is fifty per cent or less, it is still a retail establishment in the following case:

(1) If some of those stocks are transferred directly to consumers; and

(2) If he keeps the rest of the stocks there just to supply his own establishments of any type; and

(3) If no "wholesale establishment" and not more than three retail establishments are supplied from there.

"Token" means a red token designated for the acquisition of foods covered by this order.

"Transfer" means to sell, give, exchange, lend, deliver, or consign. It includes any transfer of possession or title, however accomplished, and any movement of goods from one establishment to another. The use by any "person" of foods covered by this order which he produced or holds for sale or transfer is considered a transfer of those foods to himself. However, delivery to a carrier for shipment is not regarded as a transfer to the carrier; and delivery by the carrier to the consignee is not regarded as a transfer by the carrier.

"Washington office" means the national headquarters of the Office of Price Administration, in Washington, D. C.

"Whey product" means a product containing not more than 25 per cent butterfat in the dry matter, made from whey or from whey and other ingredients by coagulating or concentrating the solids, if the whey is at least 90 per cent of the total volume. It includes the products known as primost, mysost, gjetost and ricotta.

"Wholesale establishment" means any place where a "person" who deals in "foods covered by this order" keeps stocks of those foods for sale or transfer (other than as a "primary distributor"), if fifty per cent or more of those stocks are transferred from there directly to persons other than "consumers." However, if he keeps the stocks which are not transferred to consumers, just to supply his own establishments, it is a wholesale establishment only if it supplies:

(1) At least one of his wholesale establishments; or

(2) At least four of his "retail establishments."

"Wholesaler" means any "person" who has a "wholesale establishment."

"Weight" means pounds or equivalent fluid volume units.

(3) The wholesale prices for such imported shoes shall be subject to agreement between the buyer and seller, but in no event may the wholesale price exceed the seller's maximum retail price for the commodity.

(4) No sales at retail of such imported shoes in excess of the retail price computed in accordance with the method set forth in subparagraph (b) (1) above shall be permitted, regardless of the number of transfers of the commodity which may occur in the Virgin Islands of the United States.

(c) Price lists and statements—(1) Price lists to be filed by the seller at retail. The seller at retail shall file with the Office of Price Administration in St. Thomas or St. Croix not later than August 7, 1944, a statement indicating the direct cost to the importer, his applicable multiplier and his maximum retail selling price for each class of imported shoes covered by this section which he has in his inventory on the date when he submits his statement to the Office of Price Administration. Thereafter, the retailer shall notify the Office of Price Administration of his ceiling prices by filing a supplementary price list setting forth similar information for each class of such imported shoe items subsequently acquired by him within three days after placing such class of imported shoe items on sale. The inventory and supplementary price lists shall contain the following information:

(i) Description of class of imported shoe items: type, brand, size, supplier's stock number, if available;

(ii) The date of receipt (applicable only when filing the supplementary price list);

(iii) The name and address of the supplier;

(iv) The direct cost to the importer;

(v) The applicable multiplier (or markup);

(vi) The retailer's maximum price.

(2) Duplicate invoice to be filed by the seller purchasing directly from a manufacturer in the continental United States. Any seller purchasing shoes directly from a manufacturer in the continental United States and establishing his maximum prices in accordance with the method stipulated for Class A shoes in paragraph (b) (1) of this section shall file a copy of his purchase invoice for such shoes with the Office of Price Administration in St. Thomas or St. Croix at the time when he files the inventory or supplementary price list required in paragraph (c) (1) above. The seller shall certify such copy of the purchase invoice to be true and correct.

This amendment shall become effective July 24, 1944.

NOTE: The reporting and record-keeping provisions of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

§ 136.107 Appeal. (a) Any person whose license or certificate of service or efficiency is revoked or suspended may, within thirty (30) days after the decision of the hearing officer, take an appeal to the District Coast Guard Officer of the district in which the hearing was held. Every appeal shall be typewritten or written in a legible hand and shall set forth as briefly as possible the name of the appellant, the nature of the charge, the name of the hearing officer who made the decision, the substance of the decision, and a statement of each separate ground for such appeal.

(b) The District Coast Guard Officer on appeal may alter or modify any finding of the hearing officer and may affirm, reverse, or modify the decision of the hearing officer, or remand the case for further hearing, or, if in his opinion, the appeal raises questions of general interest or importance or of special complexity or novelty, may, prior to decision, transmit the appeal and a complete transcript of the record in the case to the Commandant for decision. The District Coast Guard Officer, or the Commandant, will not consider evidence which is not a part of the record of the hearing and will not consider any ground of appeal which is not specified by the appellant. The District Coast Guard Officer shall immediately transmit such notice of appeal and brief, if any, to the Commandant together with a complete transcript of the record in the case.

(d) The Commandant on appeal may alter or modify any finding of the District Coast Guard Officer or of the hearing officer and may affirm, reverse, or modify the decision of the District Coast Guard Officer or remand the case for further hearing. The Commandant will not consider evidence which is not a part of the record of the hearing and will not consider any ground of appeal which is not specified by the appellant. The decision of the Commandant on appeal will be in writing and will contain his findings and conclusions. The decision of the Commandant on appeal shall be final and shall be binding on the parties for all purposes.

(e) A complete transcript of the record shall be made available to any person whose license or certificate is revoked or suspended for the purpose of taking an appeal pursuant to the provisions of this section.

(f) Any person whose license or certificate is revoked or suspended by a hearing officer and who intends to appeal to the District Coast Guard Officer may file with the hearing officer or with the District Coast Guard Officer a request for a temporary license or certificate valid during the pendency of the appeal. Such temporary license or certificate may be issued in the discretion of the hearing officer or of the District Coast Guard Officer. Each such temporary license or certificate shall contain such terms and conditions as the issuing officer may prescribe and shall contain a definite expiration date fixed by the issuing officer which date, however, may be extended from time to time by the issuing officer.

(g) Any person entitled to, and intending to appeal to the Commandant from a decision of the District Coast Guard Officer may file with the District Coast Guard Officer a request for a temporary license or certificate valid during the pendency of the appeal. Such temporary license or certificate may be issued in the discretion of the District Coast Guard Officer and shall contain such terms and conditions as he may prescribe including a definite expiration date which date, however, may be extended from time to time.

TITLE 49—TRANSPORTATION AND RAILROADS

Chapter II—Office of Defense Transportation

[G. O. ODT 3, Rev., Amdt. 9]

PART 501—CONSERVATION OF MOTOR EQUIPMENT

COMMON CARRIERS OF PROPERTY

General outline. This Amendment 9 to General Order ODT 3, Revised, as amended, revises § 501.10 of that order relating to interchange of shipments and registration of traffic and adds a new section relating to substitution of rail transportation for motor carrier service.

Under § 501.10, as revised, every common carrier by motor vehicle (hereinafter referred to as "common carrier") is required to accept and receive from any other motor carrier and transport shipments in over-the-road service. However, if a motor carrier is unable to collect, accept, or transport freight offered to it by another motor carrier at an interchange point, the motor carrier to which the freight is offered is required to register it with the district office of the Office of Defense Transportation nearest to the point at which the freight is available. Registration of freight offered to a motor carrier by a shipper and which the carrier is unable to pick up within 24 hours is also required. Likewise, over-the-road freight which a motor carrier is unable to transfer, divert, or otherwise arrange for the movement of within 36 hours must be registered. A qualified exemption is made in favor of a motor carrier who does not provide regular daily service. Existing provisions with respect to billing, rates, and regulations applicable to shipments interchanged or diverted under General Order ODT 3, Revised, as amended, are continued in effect by this amendment.

The new section (§ 501.10a) sets forth the conditions under which rail transportation may be substituted for motor carrier service and establishes rules and procedure to govern in such cases. Substituted service is permitted only under a certification by the Director of the Office of Defense Transportation. A procedure to obtain certification by the Director of the Office of Defense Transportation is provided. The substitution of rail service for motor carrier service may only be made between points between which the substituting motor carrier or carriers are authorized to transport and between which they continue to provide over-the-road motor vehicle service. Substituted service does not change the rates or charges to shippers or relieve motor carriers from their responsibility to the owners of property. In case of substitution of rail service for motor carrier service, the motor carrier is required to pay the rail carrier its tariff rates for the rail movement. Rules for loading and unloading shipments and pertaining to collection and delivery of less than carload shipments are provided. Two or more motor carriers are permitted to aggregate shipments and provide carload lots. Substitution of rail service may not be made by a motor carrier if the shipper specifies otherwise by notation on the bill of lading.

This general outline shall not be construed to alter the meaning of any provision of this amendment.

Following is the text of Amendment 9 to General Order ODT 3, Revised:

Pursuant to the Act of May 31, 1941, as amended by the Second War Powers Act, 1942, Executive Order 8989, as amended, Executive Order 9156, and War Production Board Directive 21,

It is hereby ordered, That General Order ODT 3, Revised, as amended, be, and it hereby is, further amended by revising § 501.10 and by inserting between § 501.10 and § 501.11 an entirely new section designated as § 501.10a. The text of the revised § 501.10 and the new § 501.10a reads as follows:

§ 501.10 Interchange of traffic; holding shipments; registration of traffic; billing and rates applicable. (a) Every common carrier shall accept and receive from any common carrier and transport all shipments of every kind. Such shipments shall be handled and transported in the same expeditious and efficient manner as shipments of a like nature received from any other source.

(b) (1) Whenever freight offered to a common carrier by a shipper at a point which is at or near a district office of the Highway Transport Department of the Office of Defense Transportation for transportation in over-the-road service to a given city, town, or other single point of destination, aggregates or exceeds 10,000 pounds or 500 cubic feet, and whenever freight offered to a common carrier by a shipper at a point which is not at or near such a district office for transportation in over-the-road service to a given city, town, or other single point of destination, aggregates or exceeds 20,000 pounds or 1,000 cubic feet, the carrier shall make collection thereof within 24 hours (exclusive of Sunday or legal holiday) after such freight is available for loading; or, if the carrier is unable to collect such freight within the time specified herein, the carrier or its agent shall promptly register the freight, in accordance with the provisions of Administrative Order ODT 10 (9 F.R. 2795), with the district office nearest the point at which the freight is available.

(2) Whenever a common carrier is unable to collect, accept, or transport freight offered to it by any common carrier at an interchange point for transportation in over-the-road service, the carrier, or its agent, to which the freight is offered shall promptly register the freight, in accordance with the provisions of Administrative Order ODT 10 (9 F.R. 2795), with the district office nearest the point at which the freight is available.

(3) No common carrier shall hold, carry over, store, or warehouse any freight at any one station (including the final destination station) for longer than 36 hours (exclusive of Sunday or legal holiday), except when there is no other common carrier capable of transporting the freight consistent with the provisions of this order.

(4) Whenever any common carrier is unable to transport, divert, or otherwise arrange for the movement of freight in over-the-road service within the time specified in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph (b), the carrier or its agent shall promptly register the freight, in accordance with the provisions of Administrative Order ODT 10 (9 F.R. 2795), with the district office nearest the point at which the freight is available.

(5) The provisions of the foregoing subparagraphs (1), (2), and (4) of this paragraph (b) shall not be applicable to any common carrier which regularly operates other than a daily service, except when such carrier is unable to transport all freight offered to it on its next regular schedule, in which event such freight which it is unable to transport on such schedule shall be registered forthwith, in accordance with the provisions of Administrative Order ODT 10 (9 F.R. 2795), with the district office nearest the point at which the freight is available.

(c) Whenever a shipment is interchanged or diverted pursuant to the provisions of this § 501.10 the shipment shall be accepted and received by the carrier with which interchange is made or to which diverted at the connecting or diverting carrier's station or at the consignor's door, as the case may be, and such carrier shall load, transport, forward, or deliver, as the case may be, such shipment on the bill of lading and billing and at the rates, rules and regulations of the carrier issuing the bill of lading, which rates, rules, and regulations shall be those which would have applied if the shipment had not been interchanged or diverted pursuant to the provisions of this § 501.10: Provided, That if the Interstate Commerce Commission, in respect to transportation in interstate or foreign commerce, or a State regulatory body in respect to transportation in intrastate commerce, has prescribed regulations governing the method of determining the rates, rules and regulations to apply on shipments interchanged or diverted pursuant to the provisions of this order, the regulations of the Interstate Commerce Commission or State regulatory body, as the case may be, shall apply.

§ 501.10a Substitution of rail for truck service; certificate; limitations; application; procedure. (a) Upon the certification by the Director of the Office of Defense Transportation that the substitution of rail transportation for that of motor common carriers in any particular area, between any points, or from or to any points, will not adversely affect the transportation of freight by railroad and will aid in conserving motor carrier transportation facilities, any motor common carrier is hereby authorized, unless the shipper specifies otherwise by notation on the bill of lading, to substitute at its option rail service for its own over-the-road motor vehicle service in the particular area, between the particular points, or from or to the particular points, specified in such certificate, subject, however, to any limitations which may be contained in the certificate and to the terms and conditions set forth in this § 501.10a.

(b) Any certificate issued by the Director of the Office of Defense Transportation, as provided in paragraph (a) of this section, may be withdrawn in whole or in part by the Director, in which event the authorization for substitution of service shall terminate or be modified, as the case may be.

(c) Rail service may be substituted for motor carrier service only between points between which the substituting motor carrier or carriers are authorized to transport and between which they continue to provide over-the-road motor vehicle service.

(d) When rail service is substituted for motor carrier service, as provided in this § 501.10a, the freight shall be tendered to the railroad on railroad bills of lading and the motor common carrier shall pay the railroad the railroad tariff rates for the rail service.

(e) In the substitution of rail service for motor carrier service, as provided in this § 501.10a, two or more motor carriers may aggregate shipments so as to provide carload lots: Provided, That in respect of any such freight so aggregated the motor carriers shall appoint one of their own number to act as consignor and consignee of such freight and to otherwise deal with the railroad.

(f) When rail service is substituted for motor carrier service in rail carload lots the motor carrier freight shall not pass through the merchandise freight houses of the railroad at either origin or shipping point, or at destination point. The motor common carrier or carriers shall load and unload the freight on team or other convenient tracks, or at warehouse sidings available to the motor carrier or carriers, at its or their own expense.

(g) When rail service is substituted for motor carrier service, as provided in this § 501.10a, in respect of less-than-carload shipments, the substituting motor carrier or carriers shall perform the collection service at origin or shipping point and the delivery service at destination point.

(h) Nothing in this § 501.10a shall be construed so as to require or permit a motor carrier which substitutes rail service for motor carrier service to charge, demand, collect, or receive, any rate or charge other than that which would have applied if no substitution of service had been made, nor shall anything in this section be construed as relieving any motor carrier from its responsibility to the owner of property as provided by law.

(i) Whenever one or more motor common carriers desire to substitute rail transportation for that of motor common carrier service in any particular area, between any points, or from or to any points, in order to aid in conserving motor carrier transportation facilities, or relieving traffic congestion, such carrier or carriers shall submit in writing to the district manager of the district office of the Office of Defense Transportation a request setting forth therein the following:

(1) The particular area, or the points between, or the points from and to which such substituted service is proposed;

(2) A statement of the facts upon which such request is based;

(3) An estimate of the mileage savings which will result from such substitution;

(4) The estimated number of rail carloads of freight and the estimated weight of less-than-carload freight which will be shipped each day, week, or month;

(5) The railroad or railroads which will be utilized in such substituted service; and

(6) The particular points or facilities where loading and unloading of rail cars will be performed.

(j) The district manager with whom a written request is filed pursuant to paragraph (i) of this § 501.10a shall make or cause to be made an investigation to determine whether the proposed substitution will aid in conserving motor carrier transportation facilities or will aid in relieving motor carrier traffic congestion, and, upon completion of the investigation, the district manager shall make his recommendation in writing to the regional director of the Highway Transport Department of the Office of Defense Transportation for the approval or disapproval of the request, in whole or in part.

(k) The recommendation of the district manager shall be reviewed by the regional director of the Highway Transport Department who shall approve or disapprove the written request, in whole or in part. In the event the request is approved, in whole or in part, the regional director shall promptly transmit a copy of his approval to the regional director of the Division of Railway Transport of the Office of Defense Transportation, who shall make or cause to be made an investigation to determine whether the proposed substitution will adversely affect the transportation of freight by railroad, and upon completion of the investigation the regional director of the Division of Railway Transport shall make his recommendation in writing to the Director of the Office of Defense Transportation. He shall transmit with his recommendation a copy of the written approval of the regional director of the Highway Transport Department. Whenever the regional director of the Highway Transport Department disapproves in its entirety a request for substitution, the complete district and regional files shall be sent to the Highway Transport Department, Office of Defense Transportation, Washington 25, D. C.

(l) Every motor carrier which substitutes rail transportation for motor carrier over-the-road service pursuant to a certificate issued by the Director of the Office of Defense Transportation shall keep and maintain a record showing the tonnage of less than carload freight and the tonnage and number of carloads of carload freight delivered to railroads for transportation in substituted service. Such carrier shall keep such other records and make such reports as the Office of Defense Transportation may prescribe, subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942. All such records shall be available for examination and inspection at all reasonable times by accredited representatives of the Office of Defense Transportation.

This Amendment 9 to General Order ODT 3, Revised, shall become effective on June 19, 1944.

NOTE: The recording and reporting requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942,

TITLE 50—WILDLIFE

Chapter IV—Office of the Coordinator of Fisheries

[Order 1956]

PART 401—PRODUCTION OF FISHERY COMMODITIES OR PRODUCTS

ALLOCATION OF HALIBUT WITHIN PORTS

Because the fulfillment of the requirements for the defense of the United States will result in a shortage in the supply of food including halibut and other fish, because it is deemed necessary in the public interest, to promote the national defense and to carry out the provisions of Executive Order 9280 (7 F.R. 10179) and of War Food Order No. 52 (8 F.R. 1777, 3280, formerly known as Food Directive No. 2) and the purposes and provisions of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, 50 U.S.C. Supp. et seq. 921, to stabilize the national economy, and by virtue of the authority conferred upon the Secretary of the Interior thereby, and by directive of the Economic Stabilization Director, dated June 3, 1944,[1] it is ordered:

§ 401.4 Allocation of halibut within ports—(a) Jurisdiction. Control over the delivery and allocation of halibut landings for the purposes of this order is hereby vested in the Fishery Coordinator, and subject to his supervision and direction shall be administered by the Office of Fishery Coordination.

(b) Statement of policy. The purposes of this order are: to secure and facilitate the maximum production of halibut with a minimum expenditure of critical materials and manpower; to allocate halibut landings between dealers within ports so as to aid in the most efficient distribution of the processed product to meet war and essential civilian needs, so that the several markets will be supplied with substantially normal proportions of the product, to satisfy as near as may be, the demand which was developed largely during pre-war years; and to discourage violation of maximum price regulations in transactions between fishermen and dealers. The order is to be administered so as to cause a minimum of interference with normal economic processes in the industry.

(c) Definitions. For the purpose of this order and of any permits, directions, regulations or administrative documents issued under the order:

(1) "Person" means any individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other business entity.

(2) "Dealer" means any individual, partnership, association, firm, broker, agent, corporation, or other business entity engaged in the primary buying of halibut and other fish for his own account or the account of others.

(3) "Halibut" means fresh fish as landed by or delivered from halibut fishing craft including Pacific halibut, "lingcod," rockfishes, sablefish, and other species as may be designated by the Fishery Coordinator, or his representative.

(4) "Halibut fishing craft" means vessels or boats engaged in the catching of halibut and other species as provided for in the regulations of the International Fisheries Commission.

(5) "Allocation" means the dividing of halibut fleet landings between the dealers within a port, according to quantities determined by the Fishery Coordinator or his representative, usually after recommendations by an industry committee.

(6) "Representative of the Fishery Coordinator" means any person or persons duly designated to represent him in performing any of the delegable functions authorized by this order.

(7) Except when the context clearly indicates otherwise each term and phrase has the same meaning as is given to it in War Food Order No. 52 (8 F.R. 1777, 3280, formerly known as Food Directive No. 2).

(d) Permits required for dealers. No person shall either purchase or take delivery from fishermen of halibut, and no person shall operate as a dealer in halibut, at any port in Alaska, Washington, Oregon or California, except in accordance with a permit issued pursuant to this order by the Fishery Coordinator or his representative. Each permit shall authorize operation at one port only; but the same dealer may have several permits for operation at different ports. Such permits shall be shown by the permittee on request to any person from whom the permittee proposes to purchase halibut. No fisherman or any other person shall deliver or sell halibut to any dealer except in accordance with such a permit.

(e) Issuance of permit. (1) Permits shall be issued consistent with any allocation schedule set up under paragraph (g) below, and subject to such other terms and conditions as are deemed by the Fishery Coordinator or the Deputy Fishery Coordinator appropriate to furthering the purposes of this order. Applications therefor may be filed with the Area Coordinator by any person desiring a permit. Until a particular form for a request is prescribed, any dealer who operated in a particular port during 1941, 1942, or 1943 prior to July 13, 1943, and desires to continue such operations, shall be issued a permit to operate as a dealer in that port by the Area Coordinator, upon informal request unless the Area Coordinator has reasonable cause to believe such issuance would interfere with the purposes of this order. Other permits shall be issued by the Area Coordinator upon application as set out in paragraph (f) below, if in the opinion of the Area Coordinator the applicant has or can obtain adequate facilities and is otherwise qualified and his operations would not unduly disrupt the marketing, processing and distribution of fish and would not interfere with the programs of the Office of Price Administration or the War Food Administration and would be otherwise consistent with the purposes of this order as set out in paragraph (b) above. The denial of any request or of any application shall be subject to appeal as provided below in paragraph (l).

(2) Any application or request for a permit may be referred to the Office of Price Administration, the War Food Administration, the War Manpower Commission, and any other Government agency for report as to the effect the granting of the application would have on their respective war emergency programs, and recommendation as to the action appropriate thereon, with such supporting data and reasons as the agencies deem necessary.

(3) A permit issued pursuant to application as set out in paragraph (f) below shall become invalid upon any change of more than 25 percent interest in the ownership of the enterprise as described in the application therefor. Such invalid permit shall be at once surrendered to the Area Coordinator. A new application for another permit may be filed immediately.

(f) Applications. Applications for permits may be informal until a particular form is prescribed, but should indicate the port for which a permit is desired, the dates of the applicant's prior operations as a dealer in fish, the ports in which he operated, the amount of halibut purchased in each such port during each of the last three years during which he purchased halibut in that port, the equipment available to him for handling halibut in the port for which a permit is requested, where he proposes to dispose of any halibut purchased, and what arrangements if any he has made to secure such outlets for his product. The application shall also state whether the halibut-buying enterprise is owned solely by one person, the applicant, or is a partnership, corporation, or other form of business entity; and if the enterprise is not owned by a single individual, it shall state the name and extent of participation of every co-owner, stockholder, or other participant directly or indirectly owning more than a 25 percent interest therein. It may include any other relevant data, and reasons in support of the application. It shall be certified to as follows:

I certify that the above information is true to the best of my knowledge and belief, and that I am aware of the penalties for making a false statement as to any matter within the jurisdiction of the Secretary of the Interior, under the Act of July 7, 1898, as amended, 18 U.S.C. 81.

All applications should be filed in triplicate, to facilitate prompt action by the several agencies which may be involved.

(g) Authority to set up supervised allocation programs. When the Fishery Coordinator or his representative deems it advisable in order to give effect to the purposes of this order he may set up a plan for supervised allocation of halibut among the dealers in any port in Alaska, Washington, Oregon, or California, and thereafter all halibut landed at such port shall be distributed among dealers there as directed by him or in the shares directed by him in accordance with an allocation schedule for the port approved by him. Any allocation schedule for a port shall be based primarily upon some equitable historical basis, with such adjustments as are reasonably necessary to further the purposes of the order as defined in (b) above, or to meet changed conditions or which in the opinion of the Fishery Coordinator or his representative, are otherwise justified: Provided, however, That no allocation of fish in the Port of Seattle shall be based solely upon purchases made prior to the 1943 season: And provided, further, That allocations to dealers who operated in a particular port prior to July 13, 1943, shall be subject to modifications not to exceed 15 percent of the total port landings in favor of other qualified dealers receiving permits, to the extent necessary in the judgment of the Fishery Coordinator or his representative to promote the purposes of this order as set forth in paragraph (b) and to avoid monopoly. Any allocation schedule should be worked out and applied so far as practicable to meet with the approval of the dealers in the port. The purchase or receipt of halibut contrary to any such allocation program or direction, and the sale or delivery of halibut by one who thereby knowingly contributes to a violation of such allocation schedule or direction shall be a violation of this order.

(h) Records and reports. (1) All dealers shall keep and preserve for not less than two years accurate records concerning purchases by species of halibut, showing date, place and name of seller, and amount as to each purchase.

(2) The Fishery Coordinator, or his representative, shall be entitled to make such audit and inspection of the books, records, and other writings, premises and stocks of halibut of any person, and to make such investigations, as may be necessary or appropriate in his discretion to the enforcement or administration of this order.

(3) The Fishery Coordinator, or his representative, may require from persons affected by this order periodic reports showing the amount of halibut received in each separate transaction, with the date, name of seller and vessel. The Fishery Coordinator, or his representative, may also require from persons affected by this order such other material information as he may deem necessary to give effect to the purposes of the order. These record-keeping requirements have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget and specific recording and reporting requirements subsequently prescribed will be subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget, all pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(i) Industry committees. An industry committee may be set up by the Fishery Coordinator, or his representative, in each port where an allocation program is established. Each such committee shall be representative of the various interests concerned, as by the inclusion of one large dealer, one small dealer, and one representative of the halibut fishermen, and shall advise with the local representative of the Fishery Coordinator and make recommendations as to the allocation schedule to be set up, and any other details connected with the administration of this order.

(j) Orders and directions. The Fishery Coordinator, or his representative, may issue such orders and directions as he may deem advisable to accomplish the purposes of this order, and violation of any such order or direction shall be a violation of this order.

(k) Violations, revocation. Any person who violates this order, or any order or direction issued hereunder by the Fishery Coordinator, or his representative, or any term or condition of any permit issued by him, or who by any act or omission falsifies records to be kept, or information to be furnished pursuant to this order, or who after the issuance of this order violates any price regulations issued by the Price Administrator, may, by a decision of the Area Coordinator, upon findings of fact made after reasonable notice and hearing, be prohibited from purchasing more than a specified quantity of halibut, or be prohibited from dealing in halibut, by suspension or revocation of any permit issued, or prohibited from receiving halibut or from clearing port to fish for halibut or from fishing for halibut, for a specified period of time. In exception circumstances, where the Area Coordinator has reasonable grounds to believe such violation has occurred, and if the circumstances are such that he shall deem such action reasonably necessary to carry out the purposes of this order, he may immediately suspend the permit or prohibit fishing for halibut pending such hearing. Permits which have been suspended or revoked shall be surrendered at once to the Area Coordinator, Area I. Such further action may be taken against the violator as the Fishery Coordinator, or his representative, deems appropriate, including recommendations for prosecutions under section 35 (A) of the Criminal Code (18 U.S.C. sec. 80), under paragraph 5 of section 301 of Title III of the Second War Powers Act, and under any and all other applicable laws.

(l) Appeals and petitions for relief. Any person who finds that compliance with this order imposes an unreasonable burden upon him, or who is aggrieved by any action of the Deputy Fishery Coordinator hereunder, may petition the Fishery Coordinator for appropriate relief. Any person aggrieved by any action taken by the Area Coordinator or one of his staff hereunder, or by any direction issued hereunder, or who finds that compliance therewith imposes an unreasonable burden upon him may petition the Area Coordinator for appropriate relief; and after the hearing or other presentation of the matter before the Area Coordinator and after his decision, any person affected may appeal from the decision by filing a petition with the Fishery Coordinator. Any petition filed under this paragraph must include a full showing of the pertinent facts, and must be filed in triplicate; and when any petition is filed with the Fishery Coordinator a copy thereof shall be filed at or before that time with the Area Coordinator. Unless there has been a hearing on the matter earlier in the proceedings, the petitioner may have a hearing before final action by request included in his petition.

(m) Delegation of authority; designated representative. For the purposes of this order, the functions, duties and powers of the Fishery Coordinator may in his absence be exercised by the Deputy Fishery Coordinator. The Area Coordinator in Area I is hereby designated as the representative of the Fishery Coordinator, for immediate supervision of the administration of this order. All applications, petitions, and communications referred to herein shall, unless otherwise specified, be addressed to and filed with the Area Coordinator, Area I, Office of Fishery Coordinator, U. S. Department of the Interior, Seattle, Washington. In the performance of these functions, the Area Coordinator, Area I, may designate any members of his staff to carry out any specific functions that may be assigned; and, in addition, he may delegate specific functions to any member of the staff of the Office of Fishery Coordination, or of the Fish and Wildlife Service, with the consent of the superior of such staff member.

(n) Effective date. This order shall become effective ten days after issuance, and where any supervised allocation program is set up pursuant to paragraph (g) above, deliveries of halibut received by a permittee during the 1944 season but before the effective date of this order, shall be considered as received under the quota or share awarded him under such program.

Issued this 13th day of June 1944.

HAROLD L. ICKES,
Secretary of the Interior.

[Region II Order G-40 Under RMPR 122]

PENNSYLVANIA ANTHRACITE IN MONMOUTH AND OCEAN COUNTIES, N. J.

Order No. G-40 under §§ 1340.260 and 1340.259 (a) (1) of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122. Solid fuels sold and delivered by dealers. Pennsylvania anthracite delivered by dealers in Monmouth and Ocean Counties, State of New Jersey, Coal Area XII.

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and under the authority vested in the Regional Administrator of the Office of Price Administration by §§ 1340.260 and 1340.259 (a) (1) of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122, it is ordered:

(a) What this order does—(1) Dealers' maximum prices; area covered. If you are a dealer in "Pennsylvania anthracite", this order fixes the maximum prices which you may charge, and if you are a purchaser in the course of trade or business, this order fixes the maximum prices which you may pay, for certain sizes and quantities of "Pennsylvania anthracite" (hereinafter called simply "anthracite") delivered to or at any point in the zones comprising State of New Jersey—Coal Area XII. That area consists of four zones, as follows:

Zone 1. Zone 1 includes all of Monmouth County and the Boroughs of Point Pleasant, Point Pleasant Beach, Bayhead and Mantoloking; and the Townships of Brick and Plumstead in Ocean County.

Zone 2. Zone 2 includes the Borough of Lakehurst, and the Townships of Jackson, Lakewood, and Manchester in Ocean County.

Zone 3. Zone 3 includes all of Ocean County not included in Zones 1, 2 and 4.

Zone 4. Zone 4 includes the Boroughs of Beach Haven, Ship-Bottom Beach Arlington, Barnegat City, Harvey Cedars, and Surf City, and the Township of Long Beach in Ocean County.

(2) Schedules of prices, charges and discounts. The applicable prices, authorized charges, and required discounts, from which you shall determine the maximum prices for designated sizes and quantities of anthracite delivered within Zones 1, 2, 3, and 4 are set forth in Schedules I, II, III, and IV, respectively.

(3) To what sales this order applies. If you are a dealer in anthracite, you are bound by the prices, charges and discounts, and by all other provisions of this order for all deliveries within Zones 1, 2, 3, and 4.

You shall determine the maximum price for "direct-delivery" sales, as hereinafter defined, by reference to the appropriate schedule of this order covering the zone to which delivery is made, whether or not you are located in one of the four zones.

You shall determine your maximum price for a "yard" sale, as hereinafter defined, by reference to the appropriate schedule of this order covering the zone in which the purchaser takes physical possession or custody of the anthracite.

(b) What this order prohibits. Regardless of any contract or other obligations, you shall not:

(1) Sell or, in the course of trade or business, buy anthracite of the sizes and in the quantities set forth in the schedules herein, at prices higher than the maximum prices computed as set forth in paragraph (c) of this order, although you may charge, pay or offer less than maximum prices.

(2) Obtain any price higher than the applicable maximum price by:

(i) Changing the discounts authorized herein, or

(ii) Charging for any service which is not expressly requested by the buyer, or

(iii) Charging for any service for which a charge is not specifically authorized by this order, or

(iv) Charging a price for any service higher than the Schedule price for such service, or

(v) Using any tying agreement or requiring that the buyer purchase anything in addition to the fuel requested by him, except that a dealer may comply with requirements or standards with respect to deliveries which have been or may be issued by an agency of the United States Government.

(vi) Using any other device by which a higher price than the applicable maximum price is obtained, directly or indirectly.

(c) How to compute maximum prices. You must figure your maximum prices as follows:

(1) Use the schedule which covers your sale. (Schedule I applies to sales on a "direct-delivery" basis, "yard sales," and "sales of bagged coal," within Zone 1. You will find Schedule I in paragraph (d). In like manner, Schedules II, III, and IV apply to "direct-delivery" sales and "yard sales" in Zones 2, 3, and 4 respectively. You will find Schedule II in paragraph (e), Schedule III in paragraph (f) and Schedule IV in paragraph (g).)

(2) Take the dollars-and-cents figure set forth in the applicable schedule, for the sizes and quantity you are selling.

(3) Deduct from that figure the amount of the discount which you are required to give, as specified in each schedule. Where a discount is required you must state it separately on your invoice.

(4) If, at your purchaser's request, you actually render him a service for which this order authorizes a charge, you may add to the figure obtained as above, no more than the maximum authorized service charge. You must state that charge separately on your invoice. The only authorized service charges are those provided for in the schedules.

Nothing herein requires you to sell on other than a cash basis.

(h) Commingling. If you sell one size of anthracite, commingled with another size of anthracite, your maximum price for the combination shall be the maximum price established in this order for the smallest of the sizes so commingled, whether the sale be a "direct-delivery" sale, "yard sale", or "sale of bagged coal", except in the following situation. Where a purchaser requests that two or more sizes of anthracite be commingled in one delivery, then, and in that event, if those sizes are separately weighed at the point of loading, or when bagged, the dealer may commingle those sizes in the truck or other vehicle, or in the bags, in which the delivery is made. The price for anthracite so commingled shall be calculated on the basis of the applicable per net ton price or, in the case of bagged coal, on the basis of the applicable bagged price, for each size in the combination, and the invoice shall separately state the price, so determined, for the quantity of each size in the combination.

(i) Ex Parte 148; freight rate increase. Since the Ex Parte 148 freight rate increase has been rescinded by the Interstate Commerce Commission, dealers' freight rates are the same as those of December 1941. Therefore, you may not increase any schedule price on account of freight rates.

(j) Addition of increase in suppliers' maximum prices prohibited. You may not increase the specific maximum prices established by this order to reflect, in whole or in part, any subsequent increase to you in your supplier's maximum price for the same fuel. The specific maximum prices already reflect increases to you in your supplier's maximum prices occurring up to the effective date of this order. If increases in your supplier's maximum prices should occur after such date, as the result of any amendment to or revision of a maximum price regulation issued by the Office of Price Administration governing sales and deliveries made by such suppliers, the Regional Administrator will, if he then deems it to be warranted, take appropriate action to amend this order to reflect such increases.

(k) Taxes. If you are a dealer subject to this order, you may collect, in addition to the specific maximum prices established herein, provided you state it separately, the amount of the Federal tax upon the transportation of property imposed by section 620 of the Revenue Act of 1942 actually paid or incurred by you, or an amount equal to the amount of such tax paid by any of your prior suppliers and separately stated and collected from you by the supplier from whom you purchased. On sales to the United States or any agency thereof, or to the State of New Jersey or any political subdivision thereof, you need not state this tax separately.

(l) Adjustable pricing. You may not make a price adjustable to a maximum price which will be in effect at some time after delivery of the anthracite has been completed; but the price may be adjustable to the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery.

(m) Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking an amendment of any provision of this order may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1, except that the petition shall be filed with the Regional Administrator and acted upon by him.

(n) Right of amendment or revocation. The Regional Administrator or the Price Administrator may amend, revoke or rescind this order, or any provision thereof, at any time.

(o) Applicability of other regulations. If you are a dealer subject to this order, you are governed by the licensing provisions of Licensing Order 1. Licensing Order 1 provides, in brief, that a license is required of all persons making sales for which maximum prices are established. A license is automatically granted. It is not necessary to apply for a license. The license may be suspended for violations in connection with the sale of any commodity for which maximum prices are established. If your license is suspended, you may not sell any such commodity during the period of suspension.

(p) Records. If you are a dealer subject to this order, you shall preserve, keep, and make available for examination by the Office of Price Administration, a record of every sale of anthracite hereunder, showing the date, the name and address of the buyer, if known, the per net ton price charged, and the solid fuel sold. The solid fuel shall be identified in the manner in which it is described in the order. The record shall also state separately each service rendered and the charge made for it.

(q) Posting of maximum prices; sales slips and receipts. (1) If you are a dealer subject to this order, you shall post all your maximum prices (as set forth in the applicable schedule or schedules of this order) in your place of business in a manner plainly visible to and understandable by the purchasing public.

(2) If you are a dealer subject to this order, you shall, except for a sale of less than one half ton, give each purchaser a sales slip or receipt showing your name and address, the kind, size, and quantity of the anthracite sold to him, the date of the sale or delivery and the price charged, separately stating the amount, if any, of the required discounts which must be deducted from, and the authorized service charges and the taxes which may be added to the specific maximum prices prescribed herein.

In the case of all other sales, you shall give each purchaser a sales slip or receipt containing the information described in the foregoing paragraph, if requested by such purchaser or if, during December 1941, you customarily gave purchasers such sales slips or receipts.

(r) Enforcement. (1) Persons violating any provision of this order are subject to civil and criminal penalties, including suits for treble damages, provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

(2) Persons who have any evidence of any violation of this order are urged to communicate with the Trenton District Office of the Office of Price Administration, or with the Price Panel of the appropriate War Price and Rationing Board.

(s) Definitions and explanations. When used in this Order No. G-40, the term:

(1) "Person" includes an individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons, or legal successor or representative of any of the foregoing, and includes the United States or any agency thereof, or any other government, or any of its political subdivisions, or any agency of any of the foregoing.

"Direct delivery" in 100 lb. lots shall mean depositing in buyer's bin or other storage space designated by buyer.

(7) "Carry" and "wheel" refer to the movement of coal to buyer's bin or storage space in baskets or other containers, or by wheelbarrow or barrel, from seller's truck or vehicle, or from the point nearest and most accessible to the buyer's bin or storage space at which the coal is discharged from the seller's truck in the course of "direct delivery".

(8) "Yard sales" means sales accompanied by physical transfer to the buyer's truck or vehicle at the yard, dock, barge, car, or at a place of business of the seller other than at seller's truck or vehicle.

(9) "Delivered at dealer's yard" as applied to "sales of bagged coal", means physical transfer at the dealer's yard to the purchaser's truck or other vehicle.

Preference shall be given whenever possible to American steamship lines, and whenever possible, such travel shall be upon standard Government transportation requests.

(c) Every foreign worker shall be afforded adequate subsistence and emergency medical care while en route from the place of selection to the place of employment and return from the place of employment to the place of selection (including time spent in reception centers). "Adequate subsistence" means three meals per day and shelter, and for purposes of computing the value of such meals and shelter the rate of two dollars per day per person shall be used. The meals furnished to foreign workers shall be comparable in quality and quantity to those usually served domestic workers, though adapted as far as possible to the habits of such foreign workers.

The Deputy Chairman and Executive Director of the War Manpower Commission or his authorized representative shall determine the extent to which there shall be required under this regulation, reports with respect to the employment of workers, which are in addition to those currently required of the employer for the administration of retirement and unemployment insurance legislation and shall prescribe the form thereof. All records referred to herein shall at all times be open to inspection and examination by the Deputy Chairman and Executive Director of the War Manpower Commission or his duly authorized representative who shall be entitled to make copies thereof.

§ 910.5 Status of collective bargaining agreements and exclusive bargaining rights. (a) None of the rights and obligations which foreign workers may have under their contracts of employment pursuant to this regulation shall be construed as limiting or supplanting their rights and obligations under the collective bargaining agreement which may exist between their employer and the craft or class of employees to which the workers belong.

PART 3176—SHIPBUILDING

VALVES AND VALVE PARTS

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage of steel, copper, and other critical materials used in the manufacture of valves and valve parts, for defense, for private account, and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 3176.1 Limitation Order L-252—(a) Definitions. Wherever used in this order:

(1) "Producer" means any person who manufactures valves and valve parts.

(2) "Valves" means gate, globe, angle, cross, lift check, angle check, or swing check valves (including variations of those types, such as the valves generally referred to as quick opening, blow off, hose end, Y-type and hydraulic), except drilling through and flow line valves for oil production service. This definition does not include valves of the types generally referred to as "specialties".

(3) "Valve parts" means parts for valves as defined above.

(4) "Put into process" means to process, machine, or fabricate or in any other manner alter any material by physical or chemical means.

(b) Limitations. Except as specifically authorized by the War Production Board, no producer shall after May 1, 1943, put into process or cause to be put into process, any material to be incorporated into valves or valve parts, except for the manufacture of valves and valve parts which conform to the specifications contained in the appendix attached to and a part of this order, or for the manufacture of:

(1) Valves

(i) The bodies or bonnets of which were cast or forged before May 1, 1943;

(ii) For use as part of the equipment of aircraft or watercraft other than pleasure craft; or

(iii) For the conduction of liquid or gas having chemical or physical properties which render the use of valves described in the Appendix dangerous or impractical; and

(2) Valve parts for repair of valves which are completed on May 1, 1943, or which are produced thereafter in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (b) (1) of this order.

(c) Restricted deliveries. Except as specifically authorized by the War Production Board:

(1) No producer shall sell or make delivery of any valves or valve parts manufactured in violation of the terms of this order, and

(2) No person shall knowingly purchase or accept delivery of any valve or valve part produced in violation of this order.

(d) Order superseded. The provisions of this order supersede the provisions of Schedule No. 1 of Limitation Order L-42.

(e) Applicability of priorities regulations. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to the provisions of all applicable priorities regulations.

(f) Records. Each producer shall retain in his files for a period of two years records showing his inventory and production of all valves, including those for the manufacture of which material was put into process subsequent to May 1, 1943. These records shall be kept readily available and open to inspection by duly authorized representatives of the War Production Board.

(g) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be made by filing a letter in triplicate referring to the particular provision appealed from and stating fully the grounds of the appeal.

(h) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction, may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control, and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(i) Communications. All reports required to be filed hereunder and all communications concerning this order shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: Shipbuilding Division, War Production Board, Washington, 25 D. C., Ref.: L-252.

Issued this 17th day of June 1944.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

APPENDIX

Specifications for Valves and Valve Parts

The following specifications govern the manufacture of valves and valve parts. These specifications do not purport to contain any recommendations regarding the most efficient or safe use of any valve or valve parts covered herein.

Certain of the terms used in this appendix (including the terms valves and valve parts) are defined in the body of this order, L-252. In addition, certain exceptions are made, and certain obligations imposed upon producers and others. You should, therefore, be thoroughly familiar with the body of the order before reading this appendix.

PART 1

Iron Gate, Globe, Angle, Cross, and Check Valves and Valve Parts

1. Standard size schedule: Iron valves. (a) Valves shall be manufactured only in the pressure classes listed in Table 1 and in the particular sizes, specified in Table 2, which are comprehended within the size range specified in Table 1 for the particular pressure class:

TABLE 1

NOTE: Table 1 amended June 17, 1944.

Primary[1] pressure classifications in pounds per square inch		Gates (inches)			Globe and angle (inches)		Lift check (inches)		Swing check (inches)
Steam	Water	Screwed	Flanged	Hub	Screwed	Flanged	Screwed	Flanged	Screwed	Flanged	Hub
15	50		4 to 72	4 to 72
	100		4 to 72	4 to 72
125	110 to 200	2 to 6	2 to 72	8 to 72	2 to 4	2 to 10	2 to 4	2 to 6	2 to 6	2 to 60	2 to 60

200	300	2 to 4	2 to 24		2 to 4	2 to 6			2 to 4	2 to 24
250[2]		[3]1¼ to 3	[3]1 to 3		[3]1¼ to 3	[3]1 to 3			[3]1¼ to 3
	500	2 to 6	2 to 12							8 to 12

[1] The primary pressure classification designates a class of valves and does not necessarily mean that all sizes in a given class carry the primary pressure classification. American Standards Association standards and manufacturers practice frequently reduce the pressure ratings as size increases and may not always rate valves for both steam and water.

[2] In sizes 3" and smaller the 150# and 300# primary pressure classification valves are included as substitutes for brass valves. Flanged valves may be rated in accordance with the American Flange Standard used.

NOTE: Other valve end connections in common use on the date of issuance of this order, including among others, the types known as Victaulic, Dresser and Universal, may be manufactured, but only in accordance with the specifications listed in Table 1. For the purposes of this order, "common use" means use by at least ten companies.

(b) Detail of permitted sizes (see 1 (a) above):

2. General requirements for iron valves. (a) End flanges shall conform to American Standards Association standards for corresponding pressure classes, except that for 150# and 300# valves when made of malleable iron as substitutes for brass valves, flanges conforming to Manufacturers Standardization Society of the Valve and Fitting Industry Bronze Flange Standard SF-2 may be used. Flanges may be furnished to the American Gas Association flange standard for low pressure gas service.

(b) Face to face of flanged valves, size 4" and larger, shall comply with American Petroleum Institute standard #5-G-1 and American Standards Association standard B-16.10 for the pressure classes and types which these standards cover.

(c) Valves for 150# primary steam rating and lower shall have manufacturer's standard seating materials, comprising any of the following:

Non-metallic disc.
Iron or carbon steel.
Brass or bronze.
Nickel alloy.

(d) Valves for 250# primary steam rating and higher shall have manufacturer's standard seating materials, comprising any of the following:

Iron or carbon steel.
Brass or bronze.
Chrome iron.

(e) Bonnet bolts or studs shall be carbon steel.

(f) Nuts for bonnet bolting shall be carbon steel.

(g) Handwheels shall be of ferrous metal, either cast or otherwise fabricated, or of suitable non-metallic material.

(h) All exclusive steam couplings and gear housings shall be of ferrous metal.

(i) Spot facing or back facing on iron valve flanges is prohibited except when necessary to prevent scrapping otherwise usable products.

3. Iron gate valves. (a) Stems for outside screw and yoke valves shall be, at manufacturers' option, either of carbon steel, or of brass or bronze made from secondary metal, i. e., copper base alloy to which refined copper or refined tin is not added in the production of the castings for the stems.

(b) Discs for solid wedge gates 4" and larger and for split wedge or double disc gates 5" and larger, shall be all iron or iron with faces conforming to paragraphs 2 (c) or 2 (d) depending upon pressure class. Discs for non-rising stem valves may be provided with brass or bronze bushing for stem thread.

ALL STATE PIPE SUPPLY CO.

The All State Pipe Supply Company of Jacksonville, Florida, has appealed from the provisions of Suspension Order No. S-534, issued May 8, 1944, (§ 1010.534) and it appears that irreparable harm may be done its business if the suspension order were not stayed. In view of the foregoing, It is hereby ordered, That:

The provisions of Suspension Order No. S-534, issued May 8, 1944, are hereby stayed pending final determination of the Appeal or until further order by the Chief Compliance Commissioner.

PART 3270—CONTAINERS

[Limitation Order L-197, Interpretation 1]

STEEL SHIPPING DRUMS; APPEALS GRANTED BEFORE MAY 27, 1944 NOT CANCELLED

The following interpretation is isued with respect to Limitation Order L-197:

Authorization by the War Production Board was required for delivery and acceptance of delivery of new drums under Order L-197 prior to May 27, 1944, but is no longer required under the order as amended on that date. Paragraph (d) (7) declaring all authorizations null and void after May 27, 1944 does not invalidate appeals granted before that date. An appeal is a request for permission to use a new or used drum for packing a product listed without an asterisk in Schedule A of the old order or to use a new drum to pack a product listed with a single asterisk.

Issued this 19th day of June 1944.

PART 1418—TERRITORIES AND POSSESSIONS

[MPR 373[1], Amdt. 61]

ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES IN HAWAII

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Maximum Price Regulation 373 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 23 is hereby revoked.

2. Section 25 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 25. Maximum prices for intoxicating liquor, wine, beer and ale sold by the case or bottle at wholesale and retail—(a) Maximum prices for sales in Oahu. Except as otherwise provided herein, the maximum prices for intoxicating liquors, wine, beer, and ale sold at wholesale and retail, on the Island of Oahu, shall be:

(1) Mainland hard liquor—(i) Sales at wholesale. At the option of the wholesaler, the maximum wholesale prices shall be calculated by one of the following methods:

Method One: In the case of hard liquors which are listed in the "Tax Commissioner's Findings as to Tax Values of Liquor as of October 1, 1941," published by the Territorial Government, the maximum wholesale price shall be the highest price charged by the seller in the Territory on December 6, 1941, exclusive of any discounts for quantity purchases, plus all federal excise taxes imposed since that time, and the 6% Territorial tax, when applicable, or Method Two: On all hard liquors not priced under Method One, the maximum wholesale price per case shall be the landed cost multiplied by 1.15, plus the federal excise tax as of April 1, 1944, and the 6% Territorial tax, when applicable.

(ii) Sales at retail. At the option of the retailer, the maximum retail prices shall be calculated by one of the following methods:

Method One: In the case of hard liquors which are listed in the "Tax Commissioner's Findings as to Tax Values of liquor as of October 1, 1941," published by the Territorial Government, the maximum retail price shall be the highest price charged by the seller in the Territory on December 6, 1941, plus all federal excise taxes imposed since that time, and the 6% Territorial tax, or Method Two: On all hard liquors not priced under Method One, the maximum retail price shall be the landed cost as defined herein, multiplied by 1.82, plus the federal excise tax of April 1944, and the 6% Territorial tax. This calculated per case price shall be divided by the number of bottles per case to determine the retail ceiling price per bottle.

(2) Wines—(i) Sales at wholesale. The maximum price per case for all wines shall be the landed cost multiplied by 1.25, plus the federal excise tax as of April 1, 1944, and the 6% Territorial tax, when applicable.

(ii) Sales at retail. The maximum retail price for all wines shall be the landed cost multiplied by 1.87, plus the federal excise tax as of April 1, 1944, and the 6% Territorial tax. This calculated per case price shall be divided by the number of bottles per case to determine the retail ceiling price per bottle.

(3) Cordials, liqueurs, and specialties—(i) Sales at wholesale. The maximum wholesale price per case of all cordials, liqueurs, and specialties shall be the landed cost multiplied by 1.20, plus the federal excise tax of April 1944, and the 6% Territorial tax, when applicable.

(ii) Sales at retail. The maximum retail price of all cordials, liqueurs, and specialties shall be the landed cost multiplied by 1.74, plus the federal excise tax of April 1944, and the 6% Territorial tax. This calculated per case price shall be divided by the number of bottles per case to determine the retail ceiling price per bottle.

(4) Mainland beer and ale—(i) Sales at wholesale. The maximum wholesale price per case, delivered to the purchaser's place of business, of all mainland beer or ale shall be the landed cost multiplied by 1.13, plus the federal excise tax as of April 1, 1944, and the 6% Territorial tax, when applicable. In case the wholesaler does not make delivery to the purchaser's place of business, the maximum wholesale price shall be the maximum wholesale price set forth above less 5 cents per case.

(ii) Sales at retail. The retail ceiling price per case of all mainland beer or ale shall be the landed cost multiplied by 1.41, plus the federal excise tax as of April 1, 1944, and the 6% Territorial tax.

(iii) Customary bottle deposits and allowances must be continued.

(5) Island beer—(i) Sales at wholesale. The maximum wholesale price for island produced beer per case, delivered to the purchaser's place of business, shall be $2.23 per case. This price includes all federal taxes, but does not include the 6% Territorial tax, which may be added, when applicable. In case the wholesaler does not make delivery to the purchaser's place of business, the maximum wholesale price shall be the maximum wholesale price set forth above less 5 cents per case.

(ii) Sales at retail. The maximum retail price for island produced beer per case, shall be $2.68. This price includes all federal taxes, but does not include the 6% Territorial tax, which may be added.

(iii) Customary bottle deposits and allowances must be continued.

(6) Island liquor. Maximum prices for sales of island liquor by wholesalers or manufacturers and by retailers shall be as follows:

(i) 90 PROOF LIQUOR

Number of bottles per case	Size of bottles	Maximum wholesale prices per case	Maximum retail prices per bottle
4	1 gallon	$42.51
3	1 gallon	31.88
6	½ gallon	32.19	$6.52
12	1 quart	32.86	3.33
12	⅘ quart	26.67	2.71
24	1 pint	33.96	1.73
48	½ pint	35.08	.90

CONVERSION TABLE

Number of bottles per case	Size of bottles	Factors for adjusting maximum prices per case for sales at wholesale	Factors for adjusting maximum prices per bottle for sales at retail
4	1 Gallon	$0.4475
3	1 Gallon	.3356
6	½ Gallon	.3356	$0.06766
12	1 Quart	.3356	.03384
12	⅘ Quart	.2685	.02707
24	1 Pint	.3356	.01692
48	½ Pint	.3356	.00846

NOTE: Fractions. Drop fractions of less than ½ cent. For fractions of ½ cent or over, raise to the next highest whole cent.

Variations of less than one degree in proof content. Adjust proportionally, (e. g., half the above amounts for variations of ½ degree, etc.)

(iii) Examples.

No. 1. To determine the maximum wholesale price for a case of 12 one-quart bottles of 85 proof gin (or other Hawaiian manufactured compound liquor):

Maximum price for a similar case of 90 proof liquor	$32.86
Factor for adjusting prices (from conversion table) $0.3356
Number of degrees variation in proof content (85–90) −5
Adjustment of 90 proof price $0.3356×(−5)) −$1.6780
Adjustment after raising fraction of more than ½ cent −1.68
Maximum price for a case of 85 proof liquor	$31.18

No. 2. To determine the maximum retail price for one-quart bottle of 85 proof liquor:

Maximum price for one quart bottle of 90 proof liquor	$3.33
Factor for adjusting prices (from conversion table) $0.03384
Number of degrees variation in proof content (85–90) −5
Adjustment of 90 proof price ($0.03384×5 (−5)) −$0.16920
Adjustment after raising fraction of more than ½ cent −.17
Maximum price for one-quart bottle of 85 proof liquor	$3.16

No. 3. Complete schedule of 85 proof liquor prices resulting from application of Conversion Table in accordance with above examples:

85 PROOF LIQUORS

Number of bottles per case	Size of bottles	Maximum wholesale prices per case	Maximum retail prices per bottle
4	1 gallon	$40.27
3	1 gallon	30.20
6	½ gallon	30.51	$6.18
12	1 quart	31.18	3.16
12	⅘ quart	25.33	2.57
48	½ pint	33.40	.86

(iv) Transportation addition. The maximum prices above established for sales at wholesale, are for delivery at the seller's warehouse. In the event the seller delivers to the buyer's place of business or to any other point designated by the buyer, he may add to the maximum price an amount not in excess of charges for transportation actually paid, or to be paid, in connection with such delivery. The seller may not make any additional charge for delivery made in vehicles owned or controlled by him without first obtaining written authorization from the Office of Price Administration.

(v) Taxes. The prices contained in paragraphs (a) (6) (i), through (iv), above, do not include the 6% Territorial tax, which may be added, but they do include the federal tax on distilled spirits of $9.00 per proof gallon, and all other taxes.

(vi) Less than case lots. Maximum prices for sales at wholesale of less than case lots should be proportional to the prices contained in paragraphs (a) (6) (i) through (v), above, for full cases. For this purpose, where fractions occur the next highest whole cent may be used. For example, the maximum price to be charged dispensers for a case of twelve ⅘ quart bottles of 85 proof gin is $25.33. The price of three bottles would be three-twelfths of $25.33. Since this would produce a price of $6.33¼, the fraction may be raised to the next highest cent, and $6.34 charged. The price for six bottles, however, would be $12.67, for seven bottles $14.78, etc. With respect to less than case sales in gallon sizes, the prices should be proportional to the price for a full case of three bottles. (Note that the rule for handling fractions for purposes of determining less than case prices is not the same as the rule for handling fractions when using the Conversion Table.)

(b) Maximum prices for sales on all other islands in the Territory of Hawaii—(1) Direct shipments of any imported liquor, wine, beer or ale. In the case of direct shipments from without the Territory of Hawaii to any island other than the Island of Oahu, of any intoxicating liquor, wine, beer, and ale set forth in paragraphs (a) (1) through (4), the maximum wholesale and retail prices shall be calculated as provided in paragraphs (a) (1) through (4).

(2) Inter-island shipments. In the case of any intoxicating liquor, wine, beer and ale originally imported from without the Territory of Hawaii to one island of the Territory and subsequently shipped to another island in the Territory or in the case of any island produced liquor or beer shipped from one island to another, maximum prices shall be calculated as follows:

(i) Sales at wholesale. For sales at wholesale the maximum price shall be the maximum price as calculated under paragraphs (a) (1) through (6), plus an amount equal to the sum of the following amounts:

(a) Actual cost of freight, marine, and war risk insurance incurred for shipment between the Islands calculated in accordance with the provisions of paragraphs (c) (3) and (5).

(b) Actual cost of cartage charges from warehouse to dock in the island from which shipment is made, computed at a rate not to exceed $1.20 per ton, and from dock to warehouse, or to purchaser's place of business, in the island of destination, computed at a rate not to exceed $1.20 per ton.

(ii) Sales at retail. For sales at retail the maximum price shall be the maximum price as calculated under paragraphs (a) (1) through (6), plus an amount equal to the sum of the following amounts:

(a) Actual cost of freight, marine, and war risk insurance incurred for shipment between the Islands calculated in accordance with the provisions of paragraphs (c) (3) and (5).

(c) Actual cost of cartage charges incurred for hauling from dock or seller's warehouse to the buyer's place of business.

(d) The amounts to be so added to the maximum price per bottle shall be calculated by dividing the added costs as outlined above by the number of bottles per case.

(c) Landed cost. Landed cost is an amount not in excess of the sum of the amounts set forth below in subparagraphs (1) through (6). If any of the items specified in any subparagraph below have already been included in an amount determined under another subparagraph, they may not again be added.

(2) An amount equal to import duties and custom house brokerage fees.

(3) An amount equal to the transportation charges actually incurred by the wholesaler for transportation from the point at which the wholesaler received delivery to Hawaii, including transportation taxes, terminal charges, extra charges for shipments of less than carload lots, and territorial tolls and tonnage tax as shown on the bill of lading.

(4) An amount equal to mainland storage charges and insurance in connection therewith actually incurred by the wholesaler.

(5) An amount equal to charges for war risk and marine insurance actually incurred by the wholesaler. However, the amount by which any cost of war risk insurance exceeds the rates charged by the War Shipping Administration shall not be included.

(6) An amount equal to actual cartage charges in Hawaiian port of discharge from dock to warehouse, or retailer's customary receiving point, computed at a rate not in excess of $1.20 per ton, provided the commodity is moved from the dock at the wholesaler's expense. The wholesaler may, at his option, determine the tonnage on either weight or measurement basis.

(d) Change in maximum prices. Maximum prices for any brand or size of beverage coming under the terms of this section shall be fixed by determining the maximum price as provided herein on the first shipment to arrive in the Territory after the effective date of this amendment. The price thus determined shall remain the maximum price for such brand and size until a change in landed costs occurs, which, if recalculated, would result in a change in price upward or downward, of two percent or more in the maximum retail price per bottle, in which case the maximum price shall be recalculated as provided herein.

(e) Filing and posting. In addition to the requirements set forth in Section 10, relating to records and reports, all wholesalers or importers coming under the terms of this section are required to file with the Office of Price Administration, Honolulu, T. H., on Form THP-10, provided by this office, each calculation of wholesale and retail prices as provided herein. housing accommodations which were the subject of the lease, with the further provision that some of all of the payments made under the lease should be credited toward the purchase price in the event such option is exercised, the landlord, notwithstanding any other provision of this regulation, may be authorized to receive payment made by the tenant in accordance with the provisions of such lease and in excess of the maximum rent for such housing accommodations. Such authority may be secured only by a written request of the tenant to the area rent office and shall be granted by order of the Administrator if he finds that such payments in excess of the maximum rent will not be inconsistent with the purposes of the act or this regulation and would not be likely to result in the circumvention or evasion thereof. After entry of such order the landlord shall be authorized to demand, receive and retain payments provided by the lease in excess of the maximum rent for periods commencing on or after the effective date of regulation. After entry of such order, the provisions of the lease may be enforced in accordance with law, notwithstanding any other provision of this regulation: Provided, however, That if at the termination of the lease the tenant shall not exercise the option to buy, the landlord may thereafter remove or evict the tenant only in accordance with the provisions of section 6 of this regulation. Nothing in this paragraph shall be construed to authorize the landlord to demand or receive payments in excess of the maximum rent in the absence of an order of the Administrator as herein provided. Where a lease of housing accommodations has been entered into on or after the effective date of regulation, and the tenant as a part of such lease or in connection therewith has been granted an option to buy the housing accommodations which are the subject of the lease, the landlord, prior to the exercise by the tenant of the option to buy, shall not demand or receive payments in excess of the maximum rent, whether or not such lease allocates some portion or portions of the periodic payments therein provided as payments on or for the option to buy.

SEC. 3. Minimum services, furniture, furnishings and equipment. Except as set forth in section 5 (b), every landlord shall, as a minimum, provide with housing accommodations the same essential services, furniture, furnishings, and equipment as those provided on the date determining the maximum rent, and as to other services, furniture, furnishings and equipment not substantially less than those provided on such date: Provided, however, That where fuel oil is used to supply heat or hot water for housing accommodations, and the landlord provided heat or hot water on the date determining the maximum rent, the heat and hot water which the landlord is required to supply shall not be in excess of the amount which he can supply under any statute, regulation or order of the United States or any agency thereof which rations or limits the use of fuel oil.

SEC. 4. Maximum rents. Maximum rents (unless and until changed by the Administrator as provided in section 5) shall be:

(a) Rented on maximum rent date. For housing accommodations rented on the maximum rent date, the rent for such accommodations on that date; Provided, however, That where the accommodations were sublet on a seasonal basis on the maximum rent date, the maximum rent shall be the rent provided in the underlying lease of such accommodations.

(b) Not rented on maximum rent date but rented during two months ending on that date. For housing accommodations not rented on the maximum rent date, but rented at any time during the two months ending on that date, the last rent for such accommodations during the two-month period: Provided, however, That where the housing accommodations were sublet on a seasonal basis on the date of the last rent for such accommodations during the two-month period, the maximum rent shall be the rent provided in the underlying lease of such accommodations.

(c) First rent after the maximum rent date but before effective date. For housing accommodations not rented on the maximum rent date nor during the two months ending on that date, but rented prior to the effective date of regulation, the first rent for such accommodations after the maximum rent date. The Administrator may order a decrease in the maximum rent as provided in section 5 (c).

(d) Constructed or changed before effective date. For (1) newly constructed housing accommodations without priority rating first rented after the maximum rent date and before the effective date of regulation, or (2) housing accommodations changed between those dates so as to result in an increase or decrease of the number of dwelling units in such housing accommodations, or (3) housing accommodations changed between those dates from unfurnished to fully furnished, or from fully furnished to unfurnished, or (4) housing accommodations substantially changed between those dates by a major capital improvement as distinguished from ordinary repair, replacement and maintenance, the first rent for such accommodations after such construction or change: Provided, however, That, where such first rent was fixed by a lease which was in force at the time of a major capital improvement, the maximum rent shall be the first rent after termination of such lease. The Administrator may order a decrease in the maximum rent as provided in section 5 (c).

(e) First rent after effective date. For (1) newly constructed housing accommodations without priority rating first rented on or after the effective date of regulation, or (2) housing accommodations changed on or after such effective date so as to result in an increase or decrease of the number of dwelling units in such housing accommodations, or (3) housing accommodations not rented at any time during the two months ending on the maximum rent date nor between that date and the effective date, the first rent for such accommodations after the change or the effective date, as the case may be. Within 30 days after so renting the landlord shall register the accommodations as provided in section 7. The Administrator may order a decrease in the maximum rent as provided in section 5 (c).

If the landlord fails to file a registration statement within the time specified, the rent received for any rental period commencing on or after the date of the first renting, shall be received subject to refund to the tenant of any amount in excess of the maximum rent which may later be fixed by an order under section 5 (c) (1). In such case, the order under section 5 (c) (1) shall be effective to decrease the maximum rent from the date of such first renting. The foregoing provisions and any refund thereunder do not affect any civil or criminal liability provided by the act for failure to file the registration statement required by section 7.

(f) Priority-constructed housing. For housing accommodations newly constructed with priority rating from the United States or any agency thereof for which the rent is approved by the United States or any agency thereof prior to the maximum rent date, or, if the accommodations were not rented on that date, prior to the first renting of the accommodations after that date, the rent so approved, but in no event more than the rent on the maximum rent date, or, if the accommodations were not rented on that date, more than the first rent after that date: Provided, however, That if, prior to the maximum rent date or, if the accommodations were not rented on that date, prior to the first renting of the accommodations after that date, the landlord made a written request to the appropriate agency of the United States to approve a higher rent than the rent initially approved because of increased costs of construction, and a higher rent is approved by such agency on or after March 29, 1944, because of such increased costs of construction, the maximum rent on and after the date of such approval shall be the rent so approved.

The provisions of this paragraph (f) shall apply to the approval of rents for such housing accommodations by the United States or any agency thereof in connection with the grant of an application for priority rating filed on any of the application forms of the Office of Production Management or the War Production Board, including the September 1941 form in use by the Office of Production Management prior to the revision of this form on December 15, 1941.

The provisions of this paragraph (f) shall not apply to housing accommodations resulting from the alteration or remodeling of an existing structure.

(g) Housing owned and constructed by the government. For housing accommodations constructed by the United States or any agency thereof, or by a State of the United States or any of its political subdivisions, or any agency of the State or any of its political subdivisions, and owned by any of the foregoing, the rent generally prevailing in the Defense-Rental Area for comparable housing accommodations on the maximum rent date, as determined by the owner of such accommodations: Provided, however, That any corporation formed under the laws of a State shall not be considered an agency of the United States within the meaning of this paragraph. The Administrator may order a decrease in the maximum rent as provided in section 5 (c).

(h) Housing subject to rent schedule of War or Navy Department. For housing accommodations rented to either Army or Navy personnel, including civilian employees of the War and Navy Departments, for which the rent is fixed by the national rent schedule of the War or Navy Department, the rents established by such rent schedule.

(i) Changed on or after the effective date of regulation, from unfurnished to furnished. For housing accommodations changed on or after the effective date of regulation from unfurnished to fully furnished, the first rent for such accommodations after such change. The Administrator may order a decrease in the maximum rent as provided in section 5 (c) (1).

Within 30 days after the accommodations are first rented fully furnished, the landlord shall register the accommodations as provided in section 7. If the landlord fails to file a registration statement within the time specified, the rent received from the time of such first renting shall be received subject to refund to the tenant of any amount in excess of the maximum rent which may later be fixed by an order under section 5 (c) (1). In such case, the order under section 5 (c) (1) shall be effective to decrease the maximum rent from the time of such first renting. The foregoing provisions and any refund thereunder do not affect any civil or criminal liability provided by the Act for failure to file the registration statement required by section 7.

SEC. 5. Adjustments and other determinations. In the circumstances enumerated in this section, the Administrator may issue an order changing the maximum rents otherwise allowable or the minimum services required.

In those cases involving a major capital improvement, an increase or decrease in the furniture, furnishings or equipment, an increase or decrease of services, an increase or decrease in the number of subtenants or other occupants, or a deterioration, the adjustment in the maximum rent shall be the amount the Administrator finds would have been on the maximum rent date, the difference in the rental value of the housing accommodations by reason of such change: Provided, however, That no adjustment shall be ordered where it appears that the rent on the date determining the maximum rent was fixed in contemplation of and so as to reflect such change.

In all other cases, except those under paragraphs (a) (7) and (c) (6) of this section, the adjustment shall be on the basis of the rent which the Administrator finds was generally prevailing in the defense-rental area for comparable housing accommodations on the maximum rent date: Provided, That in cases under paragraph (c) (8) of this section due consideration shall be given to any increased occupancy of the accommodations since that date by subtenants or other persons occupying under a rental agreement with the tenant.

In cases involving construction, due consideration shall be given to general increases in costs of construction, if any, in the defense-rental area since the maximum rent date.

In cases under paragraphs (a) (7) and (c) (6) of this section the adjustment shall be on the basis of the rents which the Administrator finds were generally prevailing in the defense-rental area for comparable housing accommodations during the year ending on the maximum rent date.

(a) Grounds for increase of maximum rent. Any landlord may file a petition for adjustment to increase the maximum rent otherwise allowable, only on the grounds that:

(1) Major capital improvement after effective date. There has been on or after the effective date of regulation a substantial change in the housing accommodations by a major capital improvement as distinguished from ordinary repair, replacement and maintenance.

(2) Major capital improvement prior to maximum rent date. There was, on or prior to the maximum rent date, a substantial change in the housing accommodations by a major capital improvement as distinguished from ordinary repair, replacement and maintenance, and the rent on the maximum rent date was fixed by a lease or other rental agreement which was in force at the time of such change.

(3) Substantial increase in services, furniture, furnishings or equipment. There has been a substantial increase in the services, furniture, furnishings or equipment provided with the housing accommodations since the date or order determining its maximum rent. No increase in the maximum rent shall be ordered on the ground set forth in this paragraph (a) (3) unless the increase in services, furniture, furnishings or equipment occurred with the consent of the tenant or while the accommodations were vacant: Provided, That an adjustment may be ordered, although the tenant refuses to consent to the increase in services, furniture, furnishings or equipment, if the Administrator finds that such increase (i) is reasonably required for the operation of a multiple dwelling structure or other structure of which the accommodations are a part or (ii) is necessary for the preservation or maintenance of the accommodations.

(4) Special relationship between landlord and tenant. The rent on the date determining the maximum rent was materially affected by the blood, personal or other special relationship between the landlord and the tenant and as a result was substantially lower than the rent generally prevailing in the defense-rental area for comparable housing accommodations on the maximum rent date: Provided, That no adjustment under this subparagraph increasing the maximum rent shall be made effective with respect to any accommodations regularly rented to employees of the landlord while the accommodations are rented to an employee, and no petition for such an adjustment will be entertained until the accommodations have been or are about to be rented to one other than an employee.

(5) Lease for term commencing one year or more before maximum rent date. There was in force on the maximum rent date, a written lease, for a term commencing on or prior to the date one year before the maximum rent date, requiring a rent substantially lower than the rent generally prevailing in the defense-rental area for comparable housing accommodations on the maximum rent date; or the housing accommodations were not rented on the maximum rent date, but were rented during the two months ending on that date and the last rent for such accommodations during that two-month period was fixed by a written lease, for a term commencing on or prior to the date one year before the maximum rent date, requiring a rent substantially lower than the rent generally prevailing in the defense-rental area for comparable housing accommodations on the maximum rent date.

(6) Varying rents. The rent on the date determining the maximum rent was established by a lease or other rental agreement which provided for a substantially higher rent at other periods during the term of such lease or agreement.

(7) Seasonal rents. The rent on the date determining the maximum rent was substantially lower than at other times of year by reason of seasonal demand, or seasonal variations in the rent, for such housing accommodations. In such cases the Administrator's order may if he deems it advisable provide for different maximum rents for different periods of the calendar year.

(8) Substantial increase in occupancy. There has been, since the maximum rent date, either (i) a substantial increase in the number of subtenants or other persons occupying the accommodations or a part thereof under a rental agreement with the tenant, or (ii) a substantial increase in the number of occupants, in excess of normal occupancy for that class of accommodations on the maximum rent date, or (iii) an increase in the number of occupants over the number contemplated by the rental agreement on the date determining the maximum rent, where the landlord on that date had a regular and definite practice of fixing different rents for the accommodations for different numbers of occupants.

(9) On the date determining the maximum rent the housing accommodations were temporarily exempt from real estate taxes, the landlord was passing the benefit of this tax exemption on to the tenant, and as a result the rent on that date was substantially lower than the rent generally prevailing in the defense-rental area for comparable housing accommodations on the maximum rent date.

(10) Priority rating granted on September 1941 application form of Office of Production Management. The maximum rent for the housing accommodations is established under section 4 (f), the application for priority rating for the construction of the housing accommodations was filed on the September 1941 form in use by the Office of Production Management prior to the revision of this form on December 15, 1941, the landlord did not make, prior to the maximum rent date or, if the accommodations were not rented on that date, prior to the first renting of the accommodations after that date, a written request to the appropriate agency of the United States to approve a higher rent than the rent initially approved because of increased costs of construction, and the maximum rent for the accommodations is substantially lower than the rent generally prevailing in the defense-rental area for comparable accommodations on the maximum rent date, giving due consideration to general increases in costs of construction, if any, in the defense-rental area since the maximum rent date.

This paragraph (a) (10) shall apply only to housing accommodations which were first rented prior to March 29, 1944.

(b) Decreases in minimum services, furniture, furnishings and equipment—(1) Decreases prior to effective date. If, on the effective date of regulation, the services provided for housing accommodations are less than the mimimum services required by section 3, the landlord shall either restore and maintain such minimum services or, within 30 days after such effective date, file a petition requesting approval of the decreased services. If, on such effective date, the furniture, furnishings or equipment provided with housing accommodations are less than the minimum required by section 3, the landlord shall, within 30 days after such date, file a written report showing the decrease in furniture, furnishings or equipment.

(2) Decreases after effective date. Except as above provided, the landlord shall, until the accommodations become vacant, maintain the minimum services, furniture, furnishings, and equipment unless and until he has filed a petition to decrease the services, furniture, furnishings, or equipment and an order permitting a decrease has been entered thereon; however, if it is impossible to provide the minimum services, furniture, furnishings, or equipment he shall file a petition within 10 days after the change occurs. When the accommodations become vacant the landlord may, on renting to a new tenant, decrease the services, furniture, furnishings, or equipment below the minimum; within 10 days after so renting the landlord shall file a written report showing such decrease.

(3) Adjustment in maximum rent for decreases. The order on any petition under this paragraph may require an appropriate adjustment in the maximum rent; and any maximum rent for which a report is required by this paragraph may be decreased in accordance with the provisions of section 5 (c) (3). If the landlord fails to file the petition or report required by this paragraph within the time specified, or decreases the services, furniture, furnishings, or equipment without an order authorizing such decrease where such order is required, the rent received by the landlord for any rental period commencing on or after such decrease or the effective date of regulation, whichever is the later, shall be received subject to refund to the tenant of any amount in excess of the maximum rent which may later be fixed by any order decreasing the maximum rent on account of such decrease in services, furniture, furnishings, or equipment. In such case, any order decreasing the maximum rent shall be effective to decrease such rent from the beginning of the first rental period after the decrease in services, furniture, furnishings, or equipment or after the effective date of regulation, whichever is the later. The foregoing provisions and any refund thereunder do not affect any civil or criminal liability provided by the act for failure to comply with any requirement of this paragraph.

(c) Grounds for decrease of maximum rent. The Administrator at any time, on his own initiative or on application of the tenant, may order a decrease of the maximum rent otherwise allowable only on the grounds that:

(1) Rent higher than rents generally prevailing. The maximum rent for housing accommodations under paragraph (c), (d), (e), (g), or (i) of section 4 is higher than the rent generally prevailing in the defense-rental area for comparable housing accommodations on the maximum rent date.

(2) Substantial deterioration. There has been a substantial deterioration of the housing accommodations other than ordinary wear and tear since the date or order determining its maximum rent.

(3) Decrease in services, furniture, furnishings or equipment. There has been a decrease in the minimum services, furniture, furnishings or equipment required by section 3 since the date or order determining the maximum rent.

(4) Special relationship between landlord and tenant. The rent on the date determining the maximum rent was materially affected by the blood, personal, or other special relationship between the landlord and the tenant and as a result was substantially higher than the rent generally prevailing in the defense-rental area for comparable housing accommodations on the maximum rent date.

(5) Varying rents. The rent on the date determining the maximum rent was established by a lease or other rental agreement which provided for a substantially lower rent at other periods during the term of such lease or agreement.

(6) Seasonal rent. The rent on the date determining the maximum rent was substantially higher than at other times of year by reason of seasonal demand, or seasonal variations in the rent, for such housing accommodations. In such cases the Administrator's order may if he deems it advisable provide for different maximum rents for different periods of the calendar year.

(7) Substantial decrease in occupancy. There has been a substantial decrease in the number of subtenants or other occupants since an order under paragraph (a) (8) of this section.

(d) Orders where facts are in dispute, in doubt, or not known. If the rent on the date determining the maximum rent, or any other fact necessary to the determination of the maximum rent, is in dispute between the landlord and the tenant, or is in doubt, or is not known, the Administrator on petition of the landlord filed within 30 days after the effective date of regulation, or at any time on his own initiative, may enter an order fixing the maximum rent by determining such fact; or if the Administrator is unable to ascertain such fact he shall enter the order on the basis of the rent which he finds was generally prevailing in the defense-rental area for comparable housing accommodations on the maximum rent date.

(e) Sale of underlying lease or other rental agreement. Where housing accommodations or a predominant part thereof are occupied by one or more subtenants or other persons occupying under a rental agreement with the tenant, the tenant may petition the Administrator for leave to exercise any right he would have except for this regulation to sell his underlying lease or other rental agreement. The Administrator may grant such petition if he finds that the sale will not result, and that sales of such character would not be likely to result, in the circumvention or evasion of the act or this regulation. He may require that the sale be made on such terms as he deems necessary to prevent such circumvention or evasion.

(f) Interim orders. Where a petition is filed by a landlord on one of the grounds set out in paragraph (a) or (d) of this section, or a proceeding is initiated by the Administrator under paragraph (d), the Administrator may enter an interim order increasing or fixing the maximum rent until further order, subject to refund by the landlord to the tenant of any amount received in excess of the maximum rent established by final order in such proceeding. The receipt by the landlord of any rent authorized by such interim order shall constitute an agreement by the landlord with the tenant to refund to the tenant any amount received in excess of the maximum rent established by final order. The landlord shall make such refund either by repayment in cash or, where the tenant remains in occupancy after the effective date of the final order, by deduction from the next installment of rent, or both.

(g) Adjustments in case of options to buy. No adjustment in the maximum rent shall be ordered on the ground that the landlord, since the date or order determining the maximum rent, has, as a part of or in connection with a lease of housing accommodations, granted the tenant an option to buy the accommodations which are the subject of the lease. Where a lease of housing accommodations was in force on the date determining the maximum rent, and the landlord had on that date, as a part of or in connection with such lease, granted the tenant an option to buy the accommodations which are the subject of the lease, the Administrator may, on or after the termination of such lease, on his own initiative or on application of the tenant, enter an order fixing the maximum rent on the basis of the rents which the Administrator finds were generally prevailing in the defense-rental area for comparable housing accommodations not subject to an option to buy on the maximum rent date.

SEC. 6. Removal of tenant—(a) Restrictions on removal of tenant. So long as the tenant continues to pay the rent to which the landlord is entitled, no tenant shall be removed from any housing accommodations, by action to evict or to recover possession, by exclusion from possession, or otherwise, nor shall any person attempt such removal or exclusion from possession, notwithstanding that such tenant has no lease or that his lease or other rental agreement has expired or otherwise terminated, and regardless of any contract, lease, agreement or obligation heretofore or hereafter entered into which provides for entry of judgment upon the tenant's confession for breach of the covenants thereof or which otherwise provides contrary hereto, unless:

(1) Tenant's refusal to renew lease. The tenant, who had a written lease or other written rental agreement, has refused upon demand of the landlord to execute a written extension or renewal thereof for a further term of like duration but not in excess of one year but otherwise on the same terms and conditions as the previous lease or agreement, except insofar as such terms and conditions are inconsistent with this regulation; or

(2) Tenant's refusal of access to landlord. The tenant has unreasonably refused the landlord access to the housing accommodations for the purpose of inspection or of showing the accommodations to a prospective purchaser, mortgagee, or prospective mortgagee, or other person having a legitimate interest therein: Provided, however, That such refusal shall not be ground for removal or eviction if such inspection or showing of the accommodations is contrary to the provisions of the tenant's lease or other rental agreement; or

(3) Violating obligation of tenancy or committing nuisance. The tenant (i) has violated a substantial obligation of his tenancy, other than an obligation to pay rent, and has continued, or failed to cure, such violation after written notice by the landlord that the violation cease, or (ii) is committing or permitting a nuisance or is using or permitting a use of the housing accommodations for an immoral or illegal purpose; or

(4) Subtenants on expiration of tenant's lease. The tenant's lease or other rental agreement has expired or otherwise terminated, and at the time of termination the occupants of the housing accommodations are subtenants or other persons who occupied under a rental agreement with the tenant, and no part of the accommodations is used by the tenant as his own dwelling; or

(5) Demolition or alteration by landlord. The landlord seeks in good faith to recover possession for the immediate purpose of demolishing the housing accommodations or of substantially altering or remodeling it in a manner which cannot practicably be done with the tenant in occupancy and the plans for such alteration or remodeling have been approved by the proper authorities, if such approval is required by local law; or

(6) Occupancy by landlord. The landlord owned, or acquired an enforceable right to buy or the right to possession of, the housing accommodations prior to the effective date of regulation, and seeks in good faith to recover possession of such accommodations for immediate use and occupancy as a dwelling for himself. If a tenant has been removed or evicted under this paragraph (a) (6) from housing accommodations, the landlord shall file a written report on a form provided therefor before renting the accommodations or any part thereof during a period of six months after such removal or eviction.

(b) Administrator's certificate—(1) Removals not inconsistent with act or regulation. No tenant shall be removed or evicted on grounds other than those stated above unless, on petition of the landlord, the Administrator certifies that the landlord may pursue his remedies in accordance with the requirements of the local law. The Administrator shall so certify if the landlord establishes that removals or evictions of the character proposed are not inconsistent with the purposes of the act or this regulation and would not be likely to result in the circumvention or evasion thereof.

(2) Occupancy by purchaser. A certificate shall be issued authorizing the pursuit of local remedies to remove or evict a tenant of the vendor, for occupancy by a purchaser who has acquired his rights in the housing accommodations on or after the effective date of regulation (or on or after October 20, 1942 where the effective date of regulation is prior to that date, or on or after November 6, 1942 for housing accommodations within the Hastings Defense-Rental Area), only as provided in this paragraph (b) (2).

(i) Where the Administrator finds that the payment or payments of principal made by the purchaser aggregate twenty per cent or more of the purchase price, he shall, on petition of either the vendor or purchaser, issue a certificate authorizing the vendor or purchaser to pursue his remedies for removal or eviction of the tenant in accordance with the requirements of the local law. Except as hereinafter provided, the certificate shall authorize pursuit of local remedies at the expiration of three months after the date of filing of the petition.

The payment or payments of principal may be made by the purchaser conditionally or in escrow to the end that they shall be returned to the purchaser in the event the Administrator denies a petition for a certificate.

Any payments of principal made from funds borrowed for the purpose of making such payments shall be excluded in determining whether twenty per cent of the purchase price has been paid, unless the Administrator finds that the loan is made in good faith and not for the purpose of circumventing or evading the provisions of this paragraph (b) (2).

Where property other than the housing accommodations which are the subject of the purchase is mortgaged or pledged to the vendor to secure any unpaid balance of the purchase price, the payment requirement shall be deemed satisfied if the value of such security, plus any payments of principal made from funds not borrowed for the purpose of making such principal payments, equal twenty per cent or more of the purchase price.

(ii) Where the Administrator finds (a) that equivalent accommodations are available for rent into which the tenant can move without substantial hardship or loss or (b) that the vendor has or had a substantial necessity requiring the sale and that a reasonable sale or disposition of the accommodations could not be made without the removal or eviction of the tenant, or (c) that other special hardship would result, a certificate may be issued although less than twenty per cent of the purchase price has been paid and may authorize the vendor or purchaser to pursue his remedies for removal or eviction of the tenant at a time less than three months after the date of filing of the petition.

(c) Exceptions from section 6—(1) Subtenants. The provisions of this section do not apply to a subtenant or other person who occupied under a rental agreement with the tenant, where removal or eviction of the subtenant or other such occupant is sought by the landlord of the tenant unless under the local law there is a tenancy relationship between the landlord and the subtenant or other such occupant.

(2) Housing subject to rent schedule of War or Navy Department. The provisions of this section shall not apply to housing accommodations rented to either Army or Navy personnel, including civilian employees of the War and Navy Departments, for which the rent is fixed by the national rent schedule of the War or Navy Department.

(3) One or two occupants in landlord's residence. The provisions of this section shall not apply to an occupant of a furnished room or rooms not constituting an apartment located within the residence occupied by the landlord or his immediate family, where such landlord rents to not more than two occupants within such residence.

(4) Renting to family in landlord's residence. The provisions of this section shall not apply to a family which on or after August 1, 1943 moves into a furnished room or rooms not constituting an apartment located within the residence occupied by the landlord or his immediate family, where such landlord does not rent to any persons within such residence other than those in the one family.

(d) Notices required—(1) Notices prior to action to remove tenant. Every notice to a tenant to vacate or surrender possession of housing accommodations shall state the ground under this section upon which the landlord relies for removal or eviction of the tenant. A written copy of such notice shall be given to the area rent office within 24 hours after the notice is given to the tenant.

No tenant shall be removed or evicted from housing accommodations by court process or otherwise, unless at least ten days (or, where the ground for removal or eviction in non-payment of rent, the period required by the local law for notice prior to the commencement of an action for removal or eviction in such cases, but in no event less than three days) prior to the time specified for surrender of possession and to the commencement of any action for removal or eviction, the landlord has given written notices of the proposed removal or eviction to the tenant and to the area rent office, stating the ground under this section upon which such removal or eviction is sought and specifying the time when the tenant is required to surrender possession.

Where the ground for removal or eviction of a tenant is non-payment of rent, every notice under this paragraph (d) (1) shall state the rent for the housing accommodations, the amount of rent due and the rental period or periods for which such rent is due. The provisions of this paragraph (d) (1) shall not apply where a certificate has been issued by the Administrator pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section.

(2) Notices at time of commencing action to remove tenant. At the time of commencing any action to remove or evict a tenant, including an action based upon non-payment of rent, the landlord shall give written notice thereof to the area rent office stating the title of the case, the number of the case where that is possible, the court in which it is filed, the name and address of the tenant, and the ground under this section on which removal or eviction is sought.

(e) Local law. No provision of this section shall be construed to authorize the removal of a tenant unless such removal is authorized under the local law.

SEC. 7. Registration—(a) Registration statement. On or before July 15, 1944, or within 30 days after the property is first rented, whichever date is the later, every landlord of housing accommodations rented or offered for rent shall file in triplicate a written statement on the form provided therefor to be known as a registration statement. The statement shall identify each dwelling unit and specify the maximum rent provided by this regulation for such dwelling unit and shall contain such other information as the Administrator shall require. The original shall remain on file with the Administrator and he shall cause one copy to be delivered to the tenant and one copy, stamped to indicate that it is a correct copy of the original, to be returned to the landlord. In any subsequent change of tenancy the landlord shall exhibit to the new tenant his stamped copy of the registration statement, and shall obtain the tenant's signature and the date thereof, on the back of such statement. Within five days after renting to a new tenant, the landlord shall file a notice on the form provided therefor, on which he shall obtain the tenant's signature, stating that there has been a change in tenancy, that the stamped copy of the registration statement has been exhibited to the new tenant and that the rent for such accommodations is in conformity therewith.

When the maximum rent is changed by order of the Administrator, the landlord shall deliver his stamped copy of the registration statement to the area rent office for appropriate action reflecting such change.

(b) Receipt for amount paid. No payment of rent need be made unless the landlord tenders a receipt for the amount to be paid.

(c) Exceptions from registration requirements—(1) Housing under section 4 (g). The provisions of this section shall not apply to housing accommodations under section 4 (g). The owner of such housing accommodations shall file a schedule or schedules, setting out the maximum rents for all such accommodations in the defense-rental area and containing such other information as the Administrator shall require. A copy of such schedule or schedules shall be posted by the owner in a place where it will be available for inspection by the tenants of such housing accommodations.

(2) Housing subject to rent schedule of War or Navy Department. The provisions of this section shall not apply to housing accommodations rented to either Army or Navy personnel, including any civilian employees of the War and Navy Departments, for which the rent is fixed by the national rent schedule of the War and Navy Department.

SEC. 8. Inspection. Any person who rents or offers for rent or acts as a broker or agent for the rental of housing accommodations and any tenant shall permit such inspection of the accommodations by the Administrator as he may from time to time, require.

SEC. 9. Evasion. The maximum rents and other requirements provided in this regulation shall not be evaded, either directly or indirectly, in connection with the renting or leasing or the transfer of a lease of housing accommodations, by way of absolute or conditional sale, sale with purchase money or other form of mortgage, or sale with option to repurchase, or by modification of the practices relating to payment of commissions or other charges or by modification of the services furnished with housing accommodations, or otherwise.

SEC. 10. Enforcement. Persons violating any provision of this regulation are subject to criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions and suits for treble damages as provided for by the act.

SEC. 11. Procedure. All registration statements, reports, and notices provided for by this regulation shall be filed with the area rent office. All landlord's petitions and tenant's applications shall be filed with such office in accordance with Revised Procedural Regulation No. 3[1] (§§ 1300.201 to 1300.253, inclusive).

SEC. 12. Petitions for amendment. Persons seeking any amendment of general applicability to any provision of this regulation may file petitions therefor in accordance with Revised Procedural Regulation No. 3[1] (§§ 1300.201 to 1300.253, incl.).

[RMPR 122,[1] Amdt. 24]

SOLID FUELS SOLD AND DELIVERED BY DEALERS

A statement of considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

3. Section 1340.250 (a) (2) is added to read as follows:

(2) Transportation increases. In the case of any dealer or group of dealers when it appears that:

(i) The rates paid by them for the transportation of fuels from the supplier's facilities by common or contract carrier to their facilities have increased over the rates paid by them during December 1941. In such case, the dealer or dealers should submit the following information:

(a) The name and address of the supplier and his shipping point during December 1941 and at present;

(b) The name and address of the common or contract carrier transporting the coal during December 1941 and at present;

SEC. 2. Adjustable pricing. Any person may agree to sell at a price which can be increased up to the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery; but no person may, unless authorized by the Office of Price Administration, deliver or agree to deliver at prices to be adjusted upward in accordance with action taken by the Office of Price Administration after delivery. Such authorization may be given when a request for a change in the applicable maximum price is pending, but only if the authorization is necessary to promote distribution or production and if it will not interfere with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. The authorization may be given by the Administrator or by any official of the Office of Price Administration to whom the authority to grant such authorization has been delegated. The authorization will be given by order or letter.

SEC. 3. Export sales; sales for export. (a) As used in this section, the term:

(1) "Export sale" means any "export sale" as defined in section 11 of the Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation.[1]

(2) "Sale for export" means any domestic sale prior to an "export sale", where the product is marked so as to indicate that it is to be exported and is intended for the export trade, or where the sale is made to a merchant or exporter who intends to export the product.

(3) "Normal port of export" means that port of exit in the continental United States from which a product manufactured by a particular mill would have customarily been shipped in export to a particular destination during the period July 1 to December 31, 1941, or a port to which a manufacturer customarily made deliveries for export during such period.

(4) "Emergency port" means the port of exit from which the product is actually shipped in export when the "normal port of export" is not available.

(b) The maximum price at which a person may make an export sale of the products covered by this Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 129 shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of the Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation issued by the Office of Price Administration.

(c) The maximum price at which any person may make a sale for export of the products covered by this Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 129 shall be not in excess of the sum of the following items:

(1) The manufacturer's maximum domestic price at the normal port of export of the mill at which the products were made; plus

(2) If and only if the products are to be exported from an emergency port, the amount of the extra freight involved in shipping to the emergency port, over and above the freight to the normal port.

SEC. 4. Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those established by this Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 129 may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.

SEC. 5. Federal and State taxes. Any tax upon, or incident to, the sale or delivery of the commodities covered by this regulation, imposed by any statute of the United States or statute or ordinance of any state or subdivision thereof, shall be treated as follows in determining the seller's maximum price for such commodity and in preparing the records of such seller with respect thereto: If the statute or ordinance imposing such tax does not prohibit the seller from stating and collecting the tax separately from the purchase price, and the seller does separately state it, the seller may collect, in addition to the maximum price, the amount of the tax actually paid by him or an amount equal to the amount of tax paid by any prior vendor and separately stated and collected from the seller by the vendor from whom he purchased: Provided, however, That the tax on the transportation of all property (excepting coal) imposed by Section 620 of the Revenue Act of 1942 shall, for purposes of determining the applicable maximum price of any product covered by this Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 129 be treated as though it were an increase of 3% in the amount charged by every person engaged in the business of transporting property for hire. It shall not be treated as a tax for which a charge may be made in addition to the maximum price.

SEC. 6. Evasion. The price limitations established by this Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 129 shall not directly or indirectly, be circumvented or evaded by modifying, discontinuing, or altering any customary trade practice of the seller, or by splitting orders, or by deteriorating the quality of any commodity, or by any other means. No seller shall impose any terms or conditions of sale, or alter any terms or conditions of sale imposed or agreed to by such seller during the base period or customarily imposed or agreed to by such seller, in such a way as to increase the maximum price established by this Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 129 for any commodity.

Nothing herein shall be construed to prevent the seller from making changes in merchandising services to effect economies helpful to or made necessary by the war effort, such as elimination of or changes in the frequency of delivery or changes in the character of packaging and wrapping.

SEC. 7. Enforcement. Persons violating any provision of this Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 129 are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement action, license suspension proceedings and suits for treble damages provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942.

SEC. 8. Records and reports. Every person making sales of the products for which maximum prices are established by this regulation shall:

(a) Keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 remains in effect, accurate records of each sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer, the price contracted for or received and the quantity of each type and grade of products for which maximum prices are established by this regulation, price lists and a record of the customary discounts, allowances and all other price differentials in effect during the year prior to the end of the applicable base period; and records showing the basis upon which he determined the maximum prices for the commodities subject to this regulation. He shall also preserve for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 remains in effect all records kept in accordance with Maximum Price Regulation No. 129.

SEC. 9. Petitions for amendment and applications for adjustment. (a) Any person seeking an amendment of any provision of this regulation may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1 [2] issued by the Office of Price Administration.

(b) The Office of Price Administration may adjust the maximum prices established under this regulation for a seller of a commodity if it finds:

(1) That such maximum price subjects him to substantial hardship, and that either

(2) Continuance of the seller's production of the commodity is required to meet a military or essential civilian need, or

(3) Loss of the seller's production of the commodity will force his customers to resort to higher priced sources of supply, and that no adequate substitute of the commodity is available to his customers at a price equal to or lower than the adjusted maximum price which he requests.

Applications for adjustment under this paragraph are to be filed in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1.

SEC. 10. Licensing. The provisions of Licensing Order No. 1, licensing all persons who make sales under price control, are applicable to all sellers subject to this regulation. A seller's license may be suspended for violations of the license or of one or more price schedules or regulations. A person whose license is suspended may not, during the period of suspension, make any sale for which his license has been suspended.

SEC. 11. Applicability of the General Maximum Price Regulation.[3] The provisions of this Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 129 supersede the provisions of the General Maximum Price Regulation with respect to sales and deliveries of the commodities for which maximum prices are established by this Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 129.

SEC. 12. Definitions. (a) When used in this Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 129, the term:

(1) "Person" includes an individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons, or legal successor or representative of any of the foregoing, and includes the United States or any agency thereof, or any other government, or any of its political subdivisions, or any agency of the foregoing.

(2) "Manufacturer" includes any person who produces from any raw materials, partially or completely, the commodities covered by this Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 129 and includes the agents and representatives of such person.

(3) "Retailer" includes all persons the major portion of whose sales in dollar value are resale items sold to an ultimate consumer other than an industrial or commercial user.

(4) "Sell" includes sell, supply, dispose, barter, exchange, lease and transfer, and contracts to do any of the foregoing. The terms "sale," "selling," "sold," "seller," "buy," "purchase," and "purchaser" shall be construed accordingly, except that nothing in this Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 129 shall be construed to prohibit the making of a contract to sell a commodity included in this Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 129 at a price not to exceed the maximum price at the time of delivery.

(5) "Commodity" includes commodities, articles, products and materials.

(6) "Most closely competitive seller" shall be a seller who (a) is selling the same or comparable commodity, and (b) is closely competitive in the sale of such commodities.

(7) "Records" include books of account, sales lists, sales slips, orders, vouchers, contracts, receipts, invoices, bills of lading and other documents.

(8) "Offering price" means the price quoted in the manufacturer's price list, or, if there is no such price list, the price regularly quoted by the manufacturer in any other manner. But "offering price" shall not be deemed to include a price intended to withhold a commodity from the market, or any price offered as a bargaining price by a manufacturer who usually sells at a price lower than his asking price.

(9) "Envelopes" include all types and varieties of envelopes, including those used for greeting cards, excluding specialty paper envelopes which are subject to Maximum Price Regulation No. 463, and excluding envelopes made exclusively for use as social stationery such as papeteries and weddings.

(10) "Paper cups and paper containers" includes all open-end, nested paper cups and round nested paper food containers with or without lids. Specifically excluded are liquid tight cylindrical containers which are subject to Maximum Price Regulation No. 259.

(11) "Sanitary closures and milk bottle caps" include all types of paper products used as caps or hoods for milk bottles.

(12) "Drinking straws" include drinking straws made from all types of paper or transparent material.

(15) "Direct cost" means the sum of direct labor and direct material costs. Direct labor costs shall in no event be computed at wage rates higher than those permitted by law; and direct material costs shall in no event be computed at prices higher than the maximum prices established by the applicable maximum price regulations.

(16) "Comparable commodity" means a commodity which is made by the same seller, is recognized in the trade or industry as having the same general use and serviceability, and is most closely comparable by grade, cost and quantities of raw materials for a unit of the commodity, and is most nearly alike for the converting operations required. If more than one commodity can be regarded as comparable, the one whose current direct cost is closest to the current direct cost of the commodity being priced shall be regarded as the "comparable commodity." (Changes in the wording of printing copy need have no effect on the comparability of the commodity.)

(17) "Purchaser of the same class" refers to the practice adopted by the manufacturer in setting different prices for commodities for sales to different purchasers or kinds of purchasers (for example, manufacturer, wholesaler, jobber, retailer, government agency, public institution, individual consumer) or for purchasers located in different areas or for different quantities or grades or under different conditions of sale.

(b) Unless the text otherwise requires, the definitions set forth in section 302 of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 shall apply to other terms used herein.

SEC. 13. Geographical applicability. The provisions of this Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 129 shall be applicable to Washington, D. C. and the forty-eight States of the United States.

(a) In those cases in which a manufacturer dealt in the same commodity during the applicable base period, the maximum price shall be the highest price charged by the manufacturer during such period for the same commodity.

(b) For the purposes of this Appendix A, the "highest price charged" by the manufacturer during the applicable base period specified in this Appendix A shall be:

(1) The highest price which such manufacturer charged for a commodity sold by him during the applicable specified base period, or:

(2) If the manufacturer made no such sale during the applicable specified base period, such manufacturer's highest offering price for delivery during that period.

Every manufacturer shall be required to continue all his customary allowances, discounts, and other price differentials. The "highest price charged" shall be a price charged during the applicable specified base period to a purchaser of the same class. But if a manufacturer had an established practice during the applicable specified base period of making allowances, discounts or price differentials to different classes of purchasers, and if during the applicable specified base period he raised his general level of prices but made no sale to any purchaser of a particular class, he shall, for that particular class of purchasers, calculate the highest price charged by taking the highest price charged during the applicable specified base period to a purchaser of another class and then adjusting such price to reflect his established allowances, discounts and price differentials. No manufacturer shall require any purchaser, and no purchaser shall be permitted, to pay a larger proportion of transportation costs incurred in the delivery of any commodity, than the manufacturer required purchasers of the same class to pay during the applicable specified base period on sales of the same or comparable types of commodities.

(c) Where a manufacturer cannot establish a maximum price for any commodity under paragraph (a) of this Appendix A, his maximum price shall be computed according to the following method: [1]

(1) The manufacturer shall select a comparable commodity (see definition) for which a maximum price has been established under paragraph (a) above of this Appendix A; shall divide his maximum price for the comparable commodity by its current direct cost (see definition); and multiply the percentage so obtained by the current direct cost of the commodity being priced. All customary discounts, trade practices, and practices relating to the payment of transportation charges in effect with respect to the sale of the comparable commodity shall apply to such maximum price.

Example: A manufacturer has been making product "A" which has a maximum price of $5.00 under paragraph (a) above, and has a current direct cost of $4.00. The new product, to which "A" is comparable is "B" and has a current direct cost of $3.80.

Dividing the maximum price of "A"—$5.00 by its current direct cost $4.00, gives a markup factor of 1¼. This is multiplied by the direct cost of "B"—$3.80, establishing the maximum price for the new product of $4.75.

He may not divide his maximum price for product "A" by his base period direct costs.

(2) Within ten days after determining a maximum price under this paragraph (c), the seller shall report to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., the following:

(i) A description of the comparable commodity.

(ii) A description of the commodity being priced.

(iii) The maximum price of the comparable commodity.

(iv) The current direct cost of the comparable commodity.

(v) The current direct cost of the commodity being priced.

(vi) The maximum price of the commodity priced under paragraph (c) (1) above.

The price so reported shall be subject to adjustment at any time by the Office of Price Administration.

(d) Prices heretofore established for commodities under §§ 1347.11 and 1347.11a of Maximum Price Regulation No. 129 are not affected by this Appendix A and shall continue to apply to such commodities.

(e) If a manufacturer is unable to determine a maximum price for any commodity under paragraphs (a) or (c) above, or if the commodity which he is proposing to price is a substitute wrapping or bag paper manufactured under the provisions of War Production Board Program Determination #562, paragraph 4, he shall file an application for a maximum price with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C. The application shall set forth (1) a description of the commodity for which a maximum price is sought; (2) the reason why such commodity cannot be priced under paragraphs (a) or (c) above; (3) the maximum price proposed by the manufacturer, together with a detailed explanation of the method by which the manufacturer calculated such price; (4) the maximum price of his most closely competitive seller; and (5) the reasons why the manufacturer believes the proposed price to be in line with the level of maximum prices established by this regulation. The manufacturer shall also submit such additional pertinent information as this Office may require. Unless the Office of Price Administration or a duly authorized representative thereof shall, by letter mailed to the applicant within 21 days from the filing of such application approve, disapprove, adjust, amend, or extend the time within which to do any of the foregoing, such application shall be deemed to have been approved, subject to non-retroactive written disapproval or adjustment at any later time by the Office of Price Administration.

PART 1499—COMMODITIES AND SERVICES

[MPR 508,[1] Amdt. 2]

WESTERN CONTRACT LOGGING SERVICES

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Section 3 is amended to read, in its entirety, as follows:

SEC. 3. Maximum prices. (a) The maximum prices on Western contract logging services shall be the difference between the ceiling price on the logs, bolts, pulpwood, or other primary forest products and the stumpage cost of those items, compared at the delivery points specified in the appropriate regulations and on the basis of the same scale. For example, if the ceiling price on a given type of log is $20.00 per M delivered to towable waters and the stumpage cost on the same scale rule is $4.50 per M, the ceiling on the complete contract logging service of delivering logs from stump to towable waters would be $15.50 per M; if under the contract only a portion of a service is rendered, such as loading, transportation, etc., the price of that portion shall not exceed the delivery point price minus stumpage (or, in this example $15.50) less all other costs of producing the logs from stump to delivery point. Thus, when only a portion of a complete logging service is rendered, as in the case where only loading or transportation is performed, the cost of that portion plus stumpage cost plus all other costs of logs delivered to the specified delivery point must not exceed the ceilings established on the logs or other primary forest products produced.

(b) If more than one primary forest product is cut or where species or items of different value are cut, the total stumpage cost of each primary forest product, species, or species group, shall be determined in accordance with the usual bookkeeping practice of the buyer of the services. These amounts shall then be deducted from the total value at ceiling prices of each of those primary forest products or species. The remainders then constitute the ceiling price on the contract logging service for each item, species, or different primary forest product. On lump sum transactions, however, the total stumpage cost may be deducted from the total estimated value at ceiling prices of all the primary forest products to be cut, and that remainder will represent the maximum lump sum amount which can be paid for the contract logging of all those products.

(c) Where more than one portion of a tract or holding in not more than four counties and belonging to a single owner is being operated by contract loggers, the test of paragraph (a) will be met if the total of all the logging contracts plus the total cost of all stumpage being cut does not exceed the total value at the applicable ceilings of the products into which the stumpage is made.

(d) "Stumpage cost" means the actual cost or book value of the timber being cut. "Stumpage" means all timber (whether dead or green, standing or down) of all species, classes, and sizes, which has not been severed from the stump. In cases where only portions of larger tracts are being cut, the buyer of the service may allocate a value to the particular portion in accordance with his usual bookkeeping practice. The portions so allocated, however, must "average out" so that the value assigned the whole tract is not less than actual cost or book value.

(e) If there are no specific maximum prices on any of the products of the contract logging service, or if the contract logging service is to be performed in an area where dollars-and-cents maximum prices for the logs, bolts, pulpwood, or other primary forest products have not been established, the maximum price for any contract logging service shall be one of the following:

(1) The price paid for the same type of contract logging service by that buyer on the effective date of this regulation;

(2) Or, if the buyer was not purchasing the same type of contract logging service on the effective date of this regulation, but did purchase such service prior to that date, the price for such service which was paid by the purchaser on the first date prior to January 11, 1944;

*Copies may be obtained from the Office of Price Administration.

(3) Or, if the buyer of the contract service has not purchased the same type of contract logging service on or before January 11, 1944, the buyer may request the appropriate Regional Office of the Office of Price Administration to establish a contract logging service price for him. The Regional Office may establish the maximum price by letter or telegram.

(f) Any purchaser of contract logging service who desires to purchase such service at prices higher than the maximum prices established under (a) or (e) above, in order to stimulate production of necessary logs or primary forest products from hard logging chances, remote timber stands, sparse timber stands, or for any other reason that may be shown as necessary to maintain production of logs, may apply to the appropriate Regional Office of the Office of Price Administration for approval of a higher price on such individual contracts. The application must contain the following:

(1) The name and location of the buyer and seller of the contract service;

(2) The maximum price which would apply under either (a) or (e) above, whichever is applicable;

(3) The requested maximum price together with a description of the logging chance covered, particularly topography features and stand, quality and accessibility of timber.

(4) A statement by the buyer that the use of this price will not increase his average cost of production to the point that an increase of his end product price will be necessary.

(5) A statement that the buyer will not use this increased price to obtain a buying advantage over competing purchasers of contract logging services.

(6) An estimate of the average monthly production from the contract.

(7) An estimate of the total average monthly production from all sources including this contract.

The Regional Office will approve such applications by letter or telegram where the buyer has complied with all the foregoing requirements. If the statements of the buyer in 4 and 5 above are proved incorrect, the Office of Price Administration may upon giving 30 days notice withdraw the approval of increased prices, in which case the maximum price at the end of the 30-day period covering that contract shall be the price established by (a) or (e) above.

(g) The buyer of contract logging service must file the report required by section 6 (b) covering each contract for logging services as defined herein.

This amendment shall become effective June 24, 1944.

PART 1499—COMMODITIES AND SERVICES

[Rev. SR 14 to GMPR, Amdt. 143]

MILITARY SALVAGE AND MILITARY SCRAP DRY BATTERIES

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

A new section 6.49 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 6.49 Military salvage and military scrap dry batteries—(a) Articles and persons to which this section applies. This section applies to all sales and deliveries of dry batteries which have been manufactured and sold for the eventual use of the military forces but subsequently sold or offered for sale by any person other than an agency of the United States Government. It also applies to any person who buys such batteries in the course of trade or business. As used in this section the term "battery" includes a unit in an individual container whether it consists of one or more cells. It applies to batteries whether they are in the form in which they were originally manufactured or whether they have been subsequently reassembled in a different form. For the purposes of this section, batteries are divided into two types—military salvage batteries and military scrap batteries. Each type is defined in paragraph (g).

(b) The maximum price for the sale or delivery of a military salvage or scrap dry battery is the price fixed by the appropriate District Office of the Office of Price Administration. Each District Director of each District Office is hereby authorized to fix maximum prices under this section.

(c) The maximum prices for sales and deliveries of military salvage batteries will be fixed by each District Office at 80 percent of the prevailing maximum price for the most closely comparable new civilian battery for sales to purchasers of the same class. The maximum prices for sales of military scrap batteries will be fixed on the basis of the electrical capacity or the scrap value left in the battery, but in no case may the maximum price fixed exceed 50 per cent of the prevailing maximum price of the most closely comparable civilian battery for sales to purchasers of the same class.

(d) Contents of application for the establishment of maximum prices. Applications for the establishment of maximum prices shall be filed with the District Office of the Office of Price Administration in the district having jurisdiction of the seller's place of business and shall contain the following information:

(1) Applicant's name, address and type of business (wholesale or retail).

(2) Name and address of source from which the military batteries being priced were obtained.

(3) Quantity and description of the battery for which maximum prices are to be established, including (i) use (flashlight, radio "A", radio "B", etc.), (ii) voltages (1½ volt "A", 45 volt "B", etc.), (iii) size (over-all dimensions), (iv) Government Code or stock number.

(4) Manufacturer's stock number, brand name and description (as above), of the civilian battery most nearly comparable to the battery being priced.

(5) Prices determined from a manufacturer's published price list in effect during March 1942 for the civilian battery set forth in (4) above for sales to classes of purchasers to whom the applicant proposes to sell the military salvage or scrap batteries. Delivery charges may be included in these prices to the extent provided for by the manufacturer's price list. At the applicant's option, maximum retail prices may also be fixed, even if retail sales are not to be made by the applicant.

A wholesaler, selling to a retailer, must use the manufacturer's price to retailers; selling to a wholesaler, he must use the manufacturer's price to wholesalers. A retailer may not sell to a retailer at the retail price, but must use the manufacturer's price to retailers.

(6) Proposed maximum prices computed in the case of a military salvage battery at 80 percent of the maximum prices set forth in (5) above.

(7) Proposed maximum prices in the case of a military scrap battery not to exceed 50 per cent of the maximum prices set forth in (5) above, computed either on the basis of:

(i) The usable value of the scrap battery for any electrical purpose, or

(ii) The value that can be realized from the materials in the battery when broken into component parts.

(8) A statement that batteries to be sold as military salvage batteries meet the specifications for such batteries as set forth in paragraph (g).

(e) Methods for the determination of maximum prices. The prices applied for shall be the seller's maximum prices, effective ten days after he mails his application unless the Office of Price Administration specifically disapproves them within that time. These prices are subject to adjustment (not to apply retroactively) by the Office of Price Administration at any time after the ten-day period.

A retailer of military salvage or military scrap batteries for which maximum retail prices have been determined under this section in connection with the application of a previous seller, and who is selling the batteries in the same form in which he received them, is not required to file the application required in paragraph (d) if his supplier furnishes him with an invoice containing the following statement:

The batteries covered by this invoice were adapted for civilian use from military salvage (or scrap) stock and the maximum retail prices shown on this invoice were authorized under Amendment No. 143 to Revised Supplementary Regulation No. 14 to the General Maximum Price Regulation upon application to the Office of Price Administration District Office located in _____ mailed _____.

Signed _____

The purchaser is required to retain such invoice furnished by his supplier and to make it available for inspection by the Office of Price Administration at any time. The retailer's maximum price is the maximum retail price shown on the supplier's invoice.

(f) Labelling or posting. No person may sell or offer to sell at retail a military salvage or military scrap battery unless either

(1) The battery is labelled as follows:

"Military salvage (or scrap) battery. OPA retail ceiling price $_____", or

(2) A poster, placed in a conspicuous place at the point of sale on the seller's premises, sets forth in easily readable lettering the maximum prices for military salvage and military scrap batteries, as well as the fact that such batteries are from military salvage or military scrap stocks.

(g) Specifications for military salvage batteries—(1) Military salvage batteries. For the purpose of this section a military salvage battery is any dry battery originally manufactured and sold for eventual use by the military forces, but subsequently sold or offered for sale by any person other than an agency of the United States Government for general civilian use either in its original factory-assembled state or as a made-up reassembled battery, which meets the following specifications:

(i) Single No. 6 dry cells and flashlight unit cells are enclosed in close-fitting jackets.

(ii) The voltage is at least equal to the minimum voltage specified below for that type of battery, tested on a properly calibrated Ohm-volt meter as follows:

Type of battery	Ohms per volt	Volts per cell, or per groups of cells in parallel
Radio "B" and "C" batteries	1,000	1.47
Radio "A" flashlight and other "A" batteries of "C" size cells or smaller	100	1.47
Radio "A" flashlight, No. 6, and other batteries of "D" size cells or larger	100	1.50

(iii) Individual cells and batteries are free from (a) loose terminals; (b) corrosion; (c) loose or cracked seals; (d) leaking or distorted zinc containers.

(2) A military scrap battery is one which does not meet the specifications of a military salvage battery.

(h) Evasion. You may not evade any provision of this section by any scheme or device or by any practice which has the effect of getting a higher-than-ceiling price. Specifically, you may not charge for any service such as the installation of batteries, for which you did not make a charge in March 1942, nor may you require the purchaser to agree to purchase any other service or commodity.

This amendment shall become effective on the 24th day of June 1944.

NOTE: The reporting and record-keeping requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 19th day of June 1944.

Coal Mines Administration.

[Order CMA-38]

YOUNGSTOWN MINES CORP., ET AL.

ORDER TERMINATING GOVERNMENT POSSESSION

On December 17, 1943, a wage agreement was entered into by the United Mine Workers of America and the representatives of the bituminous coal operators who produce the great preponderance of the nation's tonnage. This agreement has been approved by the National War Labor Board and the Director of Economic Stabilization.

I have been advised that the operators listed in Appendix A, attached hereto, have executed or are about to execute contracts and will put them into effect immediately upon termination of Government possession of their mining properties. On the basis of such advice and the available information and evidence, and after consideration of all of the circumstances, I find that Government possession of the mines of such operators is no longer required, and in accordance with the provisions of Executive Order No. 9393 (8 F.R. 14877) and the War Labor Disputes Act (Pub. 89, 78th Cong. 1st Sess.) should be terminated.

Accordingly, I order and direct that the possession by the Government of the mines of the mining companies listed in Appendix A, attached hereto and made a part hereof, including any and all real and personal property, franchises, rights, facilities, funds and other assets used in connection with the operation of such mines, be, and it is hereby terminated, and that there be displayed conspicuously at those mining properties copies of a poster to be supplied by the Coal Mines Administration, and reading as follows:

NOTICE: Government possession and control of the coal mines of this mining company have been terminated by order of the Secretary of the Interior.

In accordance with section 40 of the regulations for the operation of coal mines under Government control, as amended (8 F.R. 6655, 10712, 11344, 17339), the appointments of the operating managers for the United States for all of the aforesaid mines with respect to which the mining companies have on file with the Administrator effective instruments of agreement and certification as provided for in section 25 of the regulations, as amended (8 F.R. 6655, 10712, 11344, 17339), are automatically terminated.

Nothing contained herein shall be deemed to preclude the Government from requiring the submission of information relating to operations during the period of Government possession, for the purpose of ascertaining the existence and amount of any claims against the United States so that the administration of the provisions of Executive Order No. 9393 (8 F.R. 14877) may be concluded in an orderly manner.

(a) Delivery within the Miami area. Maximum prices established by this paragraph (a) (32) for delivery "within the Miami area" include delivery by each producer within the area recognized by him during March 1942 as his normal delivery area or zone for the commodity to be delivered. No extra charge may be made for delivery within such area or zone. Any producer who did not have a normal delivery area or zone during March 1942, shall regard the delivery area or zone of his most comparable seller as his in-area territory covered by the term "within the Miami Area."

(b) Delivery outside the Miami area. For delivery outside the Miami area, as described in subdivision (a) above, each producer may add to the maximum prices established herein an amount not in excess of the charge in effect by him during March 1942 for each particular destination. If a producer does not have an established maximum delivery charge for delivery outside the Miami area because he was not in business during March 1942, or, if he was then in business, because he did not deliver outside the Miami area, or for any other reason, he must file a schedule of proposed delivery charges to be added to the maximum prices established by this paragraph (a) (32) with the Jacksonville District Office of the Office of Price Administration. Such charges shall not exceed the charges established for other manufacturers for the same or similar service and shall be subject to approval or disapproval within 20 days of the date of filing.

Before the expiration of the 20-day period the District Director of the Jacksonville District Office either will approve or disapprove the requested charges. In the absence of such approval or disapproval within the 20-day period, the reported delivery charges, if properly filed, shall be deemed to have been approved by that office.

This Amendment No. 41 shall become effective the 17th day of June 1944.

INTERNATIONAL UTILITIES CORPORATION AND DOMINION GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY

NOTICE OF FILING AND ORDER FOR HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the 16th day of June, A. D., 1944.

Notice is hereby given that an amendment to the application filed in the above matter has been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 by International Utilities Corporation ("International"), a registered holding company, and Dominion Gas and Electric Company ("Dominion"), a subsidiary of International and also a registered holding company. All interested persons are referred to said document which is on file in the office of this Commission for a statement of the transaction therein proposed, which is summarized as follows:

On June 12, 1941, this Commission entered an order in the above proceedings (Holding Company Act Release No. 2810) granting exemptions to Dominion from the provisions of sections 13 (a) and 13 (b) of the act and to its Canadian subsidiary companies from certain specified provisions of said Act; such exemptions to expire on June 30, 1943. By subsequent orders said exemptions were extended to June 30, 1944.

On April 15, 1944, this Commission approved the amended plan for recapitalization of International and Dominion which provided, among other things, for the merger of Dominion into International. On April 19, 1944, the Commission made application for enforcement of said plan to the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York. Such application is presently pending before said Court.

The amendment to the application requests the further extension of said exemptions granted to Dominion and its subsidiaries for an additional period to December 31, 1944 and further requests that, upon the consummation of the proposed merger of Dominion into International, similar exemptions from the provisions of section 13 (a) of said act be granted to International in respect to its Canadian subsidiaries as have been granted to Dominion.

It appearing to the Commission that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that a hearing be held with respect to said matters, and that said application, as amended, shall not be granted except pursuant to further order of the Commission;

It is ordered, That a hearing on said matters under the applicable provisions of the Act and the rules of the Commission thereunder be held on June 29, 1944 at 10:00 A. M., E. W. T., in the offices of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania. On such day, the hearing room clerk in Room 318 will advise as to the room in which such hearing will be held.

It is further ordered, That Charles S. Lobingier, or any other officer or officers of the Commission designated by it for that purpose shall preside at such hearing. The officer so designated to preside at such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of said act and to a trial examiner under the Commission's rules of practice.

It is further ordered, That, without limiting the scope of the issues presented by said amended application, particular attention will be directed at the hearing to the following matters and questions:

1. Whether the granting of a further extension of time of the exemptions previously granted to Dominion and its subsidiaries from certain specified sections of the act will be detrimental to the public interest or the interest of investors or consumers;

2. Whether, in the event a further extension of time is granted Dominion, International should be granted similar exemptions upon the consummation of the merger of the two companies;

3. Whether, it is necessary or appropriate to impose any terms or conditions in the public interest or in the interest of investors or consumers and if so, what terms and conditions should be imposed;

It is further ordered, That the Secretary of the Commission shall serve notice of the aforesaid hearing by mailing a copy of this order to the applicants; and that the notice of said hearing be given to all persons by publication of this order in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Any other person desiring to be heard in connection with these proceedings, or proposing to intervene herein, shall file with the Secretary of the Commission, on or before June 26, 1944, his request or application therefor, as provided by Rule XVII of the rules of practice of the Commission.

By the Commission.

§ 216.1 Prior regulations made applicable. With the exception of §§ 211.1, 211.4 (c) and (g), 211.15 (e), 211.24 (c), 211.48 (d), 211.77 (a) and (b), 211.79 (c), 211.82 (a), 211.83 (b), 211.86 (a), 211.87, 211.88, and 211.90 (a) which shall not be deemed applicable for the purpose of these regulations, §§ 211.1 to 211.111, inclusive, of the coal mine operating and safety regulations,[1] are hereby made applicable to and shall govern the methods of mining coal from leased, licensed, and permitted lands on the public domain in the Territory of Alaska to the extent that they are not in conflict with specific provisions of the act of October 20, 1914, as amended (38 Stat. 741; 48 U.S.C., 432–452).

§ 216.2 Production and royalty reports; sealing of mines. (a) The mining supervisor, district mining supervisor, and deputy mining supervisor shall examine the mines, mine maps, records, and books of lessees and determine the amount of coal mined from Government coal land; shall report to the Secretary of the Interior quarterly the production and the accrued royalties and rentals; and shall place seals at the entrance of leased lands on orders of the Secretary when a lessee is delinquent in royalty and rental payments.

[1] 30 CFR Part 211.

§ 216.3 Orders to insure compliance with regulations not in conflict with laws of Territory of Alaska; appeal. The mining supervisor, the district mining supervisor, and the deputy mining supervisor may issue such orders and notices in writing as may be appropriate to insure compliance with the regulations in this part, and may order the discontinuance or modification of any operation or method that is causing or is likely to cause any endangerment of life or property or is in violation of the provisions of the lease or regulations. Provided, That such orders are not in conflict with the laws of the Territory of Alaska: And further provided, That if any such order or notice issued by the deputy or district mining supervisor does not contain a statement that immediate danger of loss of life or property is involved and if the lessee appeals therefrom within 10 days, execution of said order or notice may be delayed pending review by the mining supervisor and, on further appeal, pending review by the Secretary of the Interior.

§ 216.4 Basis of royalty computations. Royalty shall be paid on all coal shipped or removed from leased lands or manufactured into coke, briquets, or other products of coal, or consumed on the premises.

§ 216.5 Room neck maximum width and length. Room necks shall not be wider than 9 feet for the first 18 feet, unless the lessee is given permission in writing by the district mining supervisor to modify these dimensions.

§ 216.6 Shelter holes—(a) Along haulage roads. In any mine in which more than 10 men are employed underground on any shift, all haulageways used for the travel of men, unless a clearance of 4 feet or more exists on one side of the track and is kept free from debris, shall be provided with shelter holes on the side of the roadway opposite the trolley and power lines, at intervals of not more than 100 feet. The shelter holes shall be at least 4 feet wide, 4 feet deep, and 6 feet high unless the entry, tunnel, or slope is of less height, and then they shall be on the same level and as high as the roadway, and they shall be kept whitewashed and free from debris. Crosscuts and room necks may be used as shelter holes if on the side used for travel.

(b) On main haulageway. On haulage roads other than slopes, not used as travel ways, shelter holes will not be required if the clearance between the farthest projecting part of the mine car and locomotive and the rib of the entry is at least 3 feet.

§ 216.7 Explosives magazines not to be connected with mine workings. A suitable underground chamber with wood lining and flooring, so constructed and maintained that no nails are exposed, may, with the written approval of the mining supervisor, be used in place of a surface magazine if such underground chamber is adequately ventilated and has sufficient cover, surrounding pillars, and strong bulkheads to prevent a dislodgement should an explosion occur that would endanger life, the mine, or any building or dwelling. The surface entrance and ventilating ducts of such a magazine shall be guarded by a fence, gates, and appropriate warning signs. Under no circumstances shall the magazine have any connection with any part of the mine in which men work. Where the entrance to the magazine is a drift or slope that opens toward any active or used mine opening or toward any building or highway within the distance specified in the table of distances for the quantity of explosives stored, an adequate earth barricade shall be erected opposite and as high as the entrance.

§ 216.8 Powder boxes. Explosives must be kept in portable, tight wooden boxes, each box having a lid that laps over the sides and is strongly hinged or has battens that engage under a strip securely fastened at the back edge of the box. Battens shall be placed over all cracks in the boxes to protect the explosives from sparks, flame, and water. Detonators, blasting caps, tools, pieces of metal, matches, or oily material shall not be stored with explosives.

§ 216.9 Permissible explosives; requirements. Only permissible explosives shall be used for blasting underground and due regard shall be given to the requirements of permissibility.

§ 216.10 Blasting—(a) Drill holes. Where coal is undercut or sheared top holes shall be drilled parallel with the roof and rib holes parallel with the rib, and in depth at least 6 inches less than the depth of the undercut or shear; otherwise the holes shall not exceed in depth the thickness of the coal bed or part thereof being mined.

(b) Firing charged holes. All holes charged with explosives in a working place shall be fired simultaneously.

§ 216.11 Waiver of provisions. Any waiver of the provisions of these regulations by the district mining supervisor shall be in writing.

TITLE 32—NATIONAL DEFENSE

Chapter IX—War Production Board

Subchapter B—Executive Vice-Chairman

AUTHORITY: Regulations in this subchapter issued under sec. 2 (a), 54 Stat. 676, as amended by 55 Stat. 236 and 56 Stat. 176; E.O. 9024, 7 F.R. 329; E.O. 9125, 7 F.R. 2719; W.P.B. Reg. 1 as amended March 24, 1943, 8 F.R. 3666, 3696; Pri. Reg. 1 as amended May 15, 1943, 8 F.R. 6727.

PART 1010—SUSPENSION ORDERS

[Suspension Order S–560]

THE GORDON STORES CO., INC.

The Gordon Stores Company, Inc., a corporation with its principal office at Denver, Colorado, owns and operates seven general merchandise chain stores. In February, 1944, without authorization from the War Production Board the corporation began construction at 315 Main Street, Montrose, Colorado, consisting of remodeling and altering a store building at that address. The total cost of the construction was approximately $1,412.95, which amount exceeded the limit of $200 permitted by Conservation Order L-41. The corporation was familiar with the restrictions contained in Conservation Order L-41, and its construction without authorization from the War Production Board constituted a wilful violation of Conservation Order L-41.

These violations of Conservation Order L-41 have hampered and impeded the war effort of the United States by diverting critical materials to uses not authorized by the War Production Board. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby ordered, That:

§ 1010.560 Suspension Order No. S-560. (a) Neither The Gordon Stores Company, Inc., its successors or assigns, nor any other person, shall do any construction on the premises at 315 Main Street, Montrose, Colorado, including putting up or altering the structure, or on any of the other stores owned or operated by that corporation, unless hereafter specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board.

(b) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve The Gordon Stores Company, Inc., its successors or assigns, from any restriction, prohibition or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the War Production Board, except insofar as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

(c) This order shall take effect on June 19, 1944.

Issued this 8th day of June 1944.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

PART 1010—SUSPENSION ORDERS

THE MILLER SHOE COMPANY

The Miller Shoe Company, a corporation, with its principal place of business and plant at Cincinnati, Ohio, is engaged in the manufacture of women's orthopedic shoes. During the period beginning March 1, 1943 and ending February 29, 1944, respondent put into process, manufactured and sold 9,715 pairs of women's and misses' orthopedic shoes in excess of its permitted quota under Conservation Order M-217. The corporation was familiar with the provisions of Conservation Order M-217, and its actions constituted a wilful violation of that order.

These violations of Conservation Order M-217 have hampered and impeded the war effort of the United States by diverting scarce material to uses unauthorized by the War Production Board. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby ordered, That:

§ 1010.565 Suspension Order No. S-565. (a) During the six months' period beginning March 1, 1944 and ending September 1, 1944, the maximum number of pairs of shoes that The Miller Shoe Company, its successors or assigns, may put into process, manufacture or complete, shall be 9,715 pairs less than its quota for this period, as specified by the provisions of Conservation Order M-217, unless otherwise authorized in writing by the War Production Board.

(b) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve The Miller Shoe Company, its successors or assigns, from any restriction, prohibition or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the War Production Board, except insofar as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

(c) This order shall take effect on the date of issuance, and shall expire on September 1, 1944.

Issued this 19th day of June 1944.

By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

PART 1075—CONSTRUCTION

[Conservation Order L-41 as Amended June 20, 1944]

§ 1075.1 Conservation Order L-41—(a) What this order does. This order limits construction. It is necessary in order to conserve materials, construction equipment, labor and transportation. In most cases, except where the construction is of a special kind, you must get permission from the War Production Board for construction. This permission (sometimes called "authorization to begin construction") must not be confused with preference ratings or priorities. If a construction job is allowed, either because it is not of the kind restricted by this order or because permission has been obtained, it may still be necessary to get preference ratings for the materials and fixtures which are needed. On the other hand, if you have ratings for materials, or materials on hand, you may still have to get permission to use them for a particular construction job.

(b) What is meant by construction. Construction covered by this order includes putting up or altering any sort of a structure, including a building, road, bridge, dam, sewer, and similar jobs; also the installing of equipment or fixtures. Certain special kinds of construction are excepted, as explained in paragraphs (c) and (d) below.

(c) How much construction is allowed without getting permission. You need not get permission under this order for construction which does not total more than the limits shown in the following list for all jobs begun in the same year. For an explanation of how to figure "cost," see paragraph (i). If a utility connection will be required (electricity, gas, water, steam or telephone), it may be necessary to get War Production Board approval for the connection. If so, approval for the connection must be obtained before beginning construction, even if the cost of construction comes within the limits. The limits for all jobs begun in the same year are as follows:

(1) $200 for a house, including the entire residential property.

(2) $1,000 for a farm including the farm houses. However not more than $200 of this sum may be spent on any farm house on the farm. A "farm" means a place used primarily for raising crops, livestock, dairy products, poultry, etc., for the market.

(3) $1,000 for a hotel, apartment building or other residence for six or more families. Any residence for five or less families is considered a house under (1) above.

(4) $200 for an office, bank, store, laundry, garage, restaurant, or other retail service establishment, except that the limit is $1,000 for a unit containing more than five establishments of this kind.

(5) $1,000 for a church, hospital, school, college, U. S. O. Club, public playground for children, or for a publicly owned building or group of buildings used for public purposes.

(6) $1,000 for a bridge, overpass, underpass, tunnel, dock, pier, airport, bus terminal, truck terminal operated by a common or contract carrier by truck, or for a railroad or street railway building or group of buildings.

(7) $1,000 for an irrigation or drainage system serving more than one farm.

(8) $1,000 for a building or group of buildings which will be used for warehouse or for off-farm storage purposes, except that the limit is $200 for a frozen food locker plant.

(9) $1,000 for all monuments and structures on the same cemetery lot or for all cemetery buildings or structures in the same cemetery.

(10) $1,000 for a military exchange situated on a reservation of the Army or Navy.

(11) $1,000 for a building or group of buildings which will be used directly in furnishing any of the electric, gas, water or heating utility services listed in paragraph (a) (1) of Order U-1, and which will be owned by a utility producer as defined in that paragraph, or which will be used directly in furnishing communication services and which will be owned by an operator as defined in paragraph (a) (1) of Order U-2, or in paragraph (a) (1) of Order U-6, or which will be used directly for a sewage system and owned by a sewage system operator as defined in Order P-141.

(12) $5,000 for a factory, plant or other industrial unit which is used for the manufacture, processing or assembling of any goods, except that the limit is $200 if the goods are listed on Schedule A at the end of this order or if the productive floor area of the unit upon completion of construction is less than 10,000 square feet.

(13) $200 for any other kind of construction.

(d) Special kinds of construction which do not require permission. It is not necessary to get War Production Board permission under this order for the following kinds of construction, and the cost of such construction need not be charged against the cost limits stated in paragraph (c).

(1) Maintenance and repair; that is, work necessary to keep a building or structure in sound working condition or fix it when it has become unsafe or unfit for service because of wear and tear; also the minimum work necessary to prevent more damage to a building or structure (or its contents) which has been damaged by fire, flood, tornado, earthquake, acts of war, or the like. Changes in material are permitted in doing maintenance and repair work. Additions, structural alterations, or the completion of unfinished parts of buildings are not considered maintenance and repair. Rebuilding or restoring after damage caused by fire, flood, tornado, earthquake, acts of war, or the like, is not permitted as maintenance and repair, but is permitted in some cases as explained below.

(2) The rebuilding or restoring of a house (including a farm house) or other residential building damaged or destroyed after July 1, 1943, by fire, flood, tornado, earthquake, acts of war, or the like, if the cost of rebuilding or restoring is less than $5,000.

(3) The rebuilding or restoring of farm buildings damaged or destroyed by fire, flood, tornado, earthquake, acts of war, or the like, if the cost of rebuilding or restoring is less than $5,000, where the immediate reconstruction is determined by the United States Department of Agriculture to be essential to the agricultural program.

(4) The rebuilding or restoring of a building or structure damaged or destroyed by disaster, where the Red Cross has been given priority assistance to restore the disaster area, and where the rebuilding or restoring has been determined by the Red Cross to be essential.

(5) Construction necessary to prevent threatened loss of farm products, where immediate construction is determined by the United States Department of Agriculture to be essential to the agricultural program.

(6) Construction owned by the United States Army, Navy, Maritime Commission, War Shipping Administration, Coast Guard, Marine Corps, Civil Aeronautics Authority, Coast and Geodetic Survey, or Panama Canal.

(7) Insulating existing buildings with materials such as storm windows and doors, pipe covering, loose fill, blanket or bat insulation, plain or granule surfaced rigid insulation and weather stripping. Also the application of masonry veneer to existing houses. (This paragraph does not exempt the use of the above materials for any purpose other than the insulation of an existing building against exterior cold or heat without change in the function of the building. It does not apply to the use of insulation materials in the original construction of a building or in the conversion of a building from one purpose to another, or to the use of insulation materials to make an alteration to a building.) Also the installation of heating and combustion equipment designed for effecting fuel conservation where the total cost of the installation including the cost of the equipment does not exceed $25,000 and where the cost of installation excluding the cost of equipment does not exceed $5,000.

(8) [Deleted Mar. 7, 1944]

(9) Grading, ditch-digging or similar earth-moving operations, if no cement, lumber or other building materials are used, except clay tile and non-reinforced concrete pipe.

(10) Various kinds of construction connected with farms, public roads, railroad tracks, utilities, mines, smelters, wells, the petroleum industry, the lumber industry, the chemical industry, steel mills, broadcasting facilities, laboratories, and civilian aircraft facilities as described in Schedule B.

(11) A construction job which began before this order originally became effective (April 9, 1942), or at a time when the job was not limited by this order, and has gone on without interruption.

(12) Construction jobs which are classed as minor capital additions under CMP Regulation No. 5 or under CMP Regulation No. 5A. This exception applies only to:

(i) Additions to factories, plants and other industrial units which will have a productive floor area of 10,000 square feet or more, and which are for the manufacturing, processing or assembling of goods which are not listed in Schedule A.

(ii) Hospitals.

(13) The installation of the following equipment rated or authorized on the form indicated, if the cost of the installation materials (not including the cost of the equipment) does not exceed $500, and if no construction is done other than the installation of wiring and the attaching of the equipment to an existing structure:

Signal and alarm equipment as defined in	L-30 (WPB-1319)
Monorail systems	(WPB-541)
Scales, Weights and Balances	(WPB-2581)
Cranes and Hoists	(WPB-541)
Dust Collecting Systems—Foundry Equipment	(WPB-541).

(e) All other construction forbidden without WPB permission. No person shall do any construction which has not been permitted by the War Production Board, unless it is of a kind described in paragraph (c) or (d) above. This prohibition applies to a person who does his own construction work, to one who gets a contractor to do it for him, and to any contractor or subcontractor who works on the job or gets others to work on it. It also applies to any supplier who furnishes material for the job if he knows or has reason to know that the construction has not been permitted.

(f) How to apply for permission. (1) Schedule C at the end of this order shows the various types of application forms, and where they should be filed.

(2) In case of emergency, application may be made by wire or in person instead of on a printed form. It must be made to the office in which a written application for the same construction should be filed. The following information must be given:

(i) Cause of the emergency (fire, flood, etc.).

(ii) What the building or structure is used for.

(iii) Type of construction.

(iv) Why immediate construction is necessary.

(v) Estimated cost of construction.

(g) Preference rating includes permission in some cases only. There are some forms of preference rating orders and certificates which are issued or have been issued for special kinds of construction and which include permission for construction although they do not say so. These are listed in Schedule D at the end of this order. In all other cases, a preference rating is not enough, unless the instrument which assigns the rating also states that construction is permitted under this order.

(h) Other restrictions on use of some items. Permission for construction or the exception of any construction from this order does not relieve any one from complying with the various WPB orders or directives which restrict the use of copper and other scarce materials or fixtures. If you do not now about these restrictions, consult the nearest War Production Board District Office.

(i) How to figure cost. (1) For the purpose of determining whether a construction job may be started without getting permission from the War Production Board, "cost" means the cost of the whole construction job as estimated at the time of beginning construction, except that the cost of used material or used fixtures may be disregarded.

(2) If any materials or fixtures which have not been used are obtained without buying them, their value must be included as part of the cost.

(3) The cost of processing machinery or equipment need not be included but the cost of installing it and the cost of plumbing, heating, and air conditioning equipment and of all other equipment not used directly in the processing of materials must be included.

(4) The cost of labor must be included, but if labor is unpaid its value need not be included. Contractors' fees also must be included but architects' and engineers' fees need not be.

(5) All construction on the same unit must be included. The word "unit" means any group of buildings or structures (including roadways, pipelines, etc.) which are situated near to each other, and which serve the same general purpose, or closely related purposes. For example, each of the following is a unit: a house, together with a detached garage, tennis court, swimming pool, etc.; a farm, including the farm house, barn, hen house, dairy, etc.; a manufacturing plant with a number of buildings used for the same or different processes, together with administration buildings, cafeterias, etc. In no case may a single building or structure be treated as more than one unit.

(6) The cost per year must be determined on a calendar year basis, beginning with January 1, 1943, except that a company which regularly keeps its books on a fiscal year basis may use the fiscal year.

(j) Penalties for violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any Department or Agency of the United States is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining any further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

Issued this 20th day of June 1944.

P-55-c	Housing.
WPB-2774	Relating to utility facilities.
WPB-542, PD-3A	Relating to command construction and certain other construction carried on under the supervision of the Armed Services.
P-14-a, P-14-b, P-19, P-19-a, P-19-d, P-19-e, P-19-g, P-19-i, P-41, P-55-b, P-55-amended, P-110, PD-3, CMPL-127	These orders and certificates are no longer used, but jobs which were authorized by them may go on.

[Superseded by L-41, as amended November 1, 1943, which incorporates the substance of the interpretation.]

INTERPRETATION 2

Conservation Order L-41 (§ 1075.1) does not apply to the construction or erection of temporary motion picture sets of a kind which may be stored between the taking of pictures, nor to the incorporation of such temporary sets into permanent sets for the taking of a single motion picture. However it does apply to the construction of permanent outdoor motion picture sets and foundations for sets of a kind which are designed for use in more than a single picture at one location. (Issued Nov. 18, 1943)

EARTH-MOVING OPERATIONS

Under the provisions of paragraph (d) § 1075.1 Conservation Order L-41 it is not necessary to get War Production Board permission for construction of a kind consisting of "grading, ditch-digging or similar earth-moving operations if no cement, lumber or other building materials are used except clay tile and non-reinforced concrete pipe." This applies only to projects which can be completed without the use of any other materials. It does not apply to earth-moving operations which are part of a construction job in which other materials will be incorporated before completion. (Issued Nov. 23, 1943)

INTERPRETATION 4

PORTABLE STRUCTURES ON SKIDS

The erection of a portable or pre-fabricated building is construction and, consequently, is limited by Order L-41 whenever the building is either placed on a foundation constructed on the site or is placed on skids in a spot where it is intended to remain for an undetermined time. The only case in which the erection of a portable or pre-fabricated building is not "construction", is when it is placed on what is intended to be a temporary site with the purpose of moving it from time to time and without affixing it to the land by plumbing, public utilities connection, or in any other way. For example, the erection of a portable structure for use as a garage on a house lot is generally construction, but the erection of a shelter to be moved around for use on different parts of a farm from time to time is not construction. (Issued Mar. 24, 1944.)

INTERPRETATION 5

DISTINCTION BETWEEN RESIDENTIAL AND FARM CONSTRUCTION

Under the terms of paragraph (c) (1) of L-41 not more than $200 may be spent on a house, including the entire residential property, over a year's period. Under paragraph (c) (2) of that order not more than $1,000 may be spent on a farm, "including the farm houses," and no more than $200 on any farm house on the farm. A property is not necessarily a "farm" because farm products are produced on it but only if it is used primarily for the raising of crops, livestock, dairy products, poultry, etc., for the market. (Issued April 19, 1944)

INTERPRETATION 6

MAINTENANCE AND REPAIR OF SIDINGS

Paragraph (d) (1) of L-41 excepts maintenance and repair work necessary to keep a building or structure in sound working condition. If an existing siding or roof needs repair, the minimum amount of repair work may be done to put the siding or roof in suitable condition. Thus if a siding can be put in proper condition by putting on paint it should be done in this way. If, on the other hand, the siding has so deteriorated that a paint job will not provide adequate protection a new siding may be put on the building. The new siding need not be of the same material as the old siding. This interpretation is not applicable where asbestos materials are used for re-siding or re-roofing as the use of these materials is governed by Order L-41-d. (Issued Apr. 4, 1944)

INTERPRETATION 7

USE OF INSULATION MATERIALS

Paragraph (d) (7) of Conservation Order L-41 provides that it is not necessary to get War Production Board permission under that order for "Insulating buildings" with certain materials. The exception applies only to the insulation of existing buildings. It does not apply to the use of these materials in the original construction of a building, nor does it apply to the use of materials for other purposes than insulating buildings; for example, making alterations to a building or converting the building from one purpose to another. The cost of new insulating materials used in building a new building or in making alterations to an old building or converting an old building from one use to another must be included in the cost of the job.

For example, if rigid insulating material is used for partitions to make a new room, the cost of the insulating material must be included in the cost of the job, as this use of insulating material is not insulating a building. If an existing building is being converted from a store to a frozen food locker plant, the cost of the insulation materials installed must be included as part of the cost of conversion, as these materials are being used to convert a store to a locker plant, not to insulate a store. (Issued May 23, 1944)

[Superseded by Schedule C, as amended, which gives instructions for filing applications]

INSTALLATION OR RELOCATION OF MACHINERY AND EQUIPMENT

(a) Installing processing machinery or equipment. It is not necessary to get War Production Board permission under Order L-41 to install any piece of processing machinery or equipment, if the materials needed to install it cost less than $500 and it is to be installed in a factory, plant or other industrial unit having a productive floor area of 10,000 square feet or more and the processing machinery or equipment is to be used for manufacturing, processing, or assembling goods which are not listed in Schedule A of the order. It does not make any difference how much the processing machinery or equipment costs. The term "processing machinery or equipment" as used in this paragraph means machinery or equipment which is directly used in the manufacture, processing or assembling of a product. It does not include such equipment as plumbing, heating or air conditioning equipment, which is not used directly in the manufacture, processing or assembling of the product.

(b) Relocating machinery or equipment. It is not necessary to get War Production Board permission under Order L-41 to relocate any piece of machinery or equipment (whether used for processing or not) in a factory, plant or other industrial unit which does not manufacture, process or assemble goods listed in Schedule A of the order and which has a productive floor area of 10,000 square feet or more, if the machinery or equipment has previously been used in the same plant, and the materials needed to relocate it cost less than $500. It does not make any difference what the value of the machinery or equipment is. This paragraph does not give a person the right to install a piece of machinery or equipment (whether new or second-hand) which he is installing in his plant for the first time as distinct from relocating machinery or equipment previously used in the same plant.

(c) Applications. Where permission to install or relocate machinery is required by Order L-41, application for such permision should be made on the appropriate form indicated on Schedule C of Order L-41. Also, such form should be used in applying for priorities assistance to buy installation materials where they cannot be bought under this direction, even if permission to install or relocate is not required by Order L-41.

(d) This direction does not apply to the installation or relocation of machinery or equipment:

(1) For use in the future manufacture of items which at the time of installation is prohibited by an outstanding order of the War Production Board.

(2) In connection with construction of a kind which is limited by Order L-41. If permission under Order L-41 is required for the job the materials to install any equipment to be installed as part of the job must be obtained under the project authorization and not under this direction. (Issued April 19, 1944)

BLANKET PERMISSION FOR MISCELLANEOUS CONSTRUCTION

(a) The War Production Board has been issuing blanket authorizations to applicants permitting them to carry on miscellaneous construction over a fixed period. Instructions as to how to apply for blanket authorizations have been described in WPBI-48 (formerly PDL-362). The need for blanket authorizations has been largely eliminated by the recent transfer of processing of small construction applications to the Field offices, by the simplification of War Production Board procedures under Direction 1 to CMP 6, and by the exception of certain types of minor capital additions under paragraph (d) (12) of L-41. For this reason blanket authorizations will no longer be issued generally but only in cases where it appears that the filing of individual project applications will interfere with the war effort or cause extreme hardship.

(b) In these circumstances applications for blanket authorization may be made on form WPB-617. Separate applications must be made for each "unit" as defined in paragraph (i) (5) of L-41. The applicant will prepare his application in the same way he would prepare an application to do a single job and in accordance with the instructions to form WPB-617. The need for a blanket authorization must be firmly established.

(c) Blanket authorizations will permit the builder to do miscellaneous routine construction but no materials may be acquired or used contrary to the Limitations which will be made a part of the authorization. In the case of equipment items which must be listed on the application, the builder may use only those which are specifically approved. The use of such items or deviations from the Construction Limitations will be approved only in exceptional cases. The applicant will be permitted to use the allotment symbol P-6 and the rating assigned for the procurement of material. While the blanket authorization will cover a number of jobs, no one job costing more than $10,000 will be authorized, and in certain cases a lower cost limit per job may be fixed. No reports of materials used will be required. No job for which tax amortization privileges will be requested may be included in a blanket application. A separate application should be filed for each such job at the time the request for tax amortization is made.

(d) This direction supersedes WPBI-48 (formerly PDL-362). (Issued April 19, 1944)

PART 3288—PLUMBING AND HEATING EQUIPMENT

[Limitation Order L–23–c, as Amended June 20, 1944]

DOMESTIC COOKING APPLIANCES AND DOMESTIC HEATING STOVES

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage of materials for defense, for private account, and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 3288.66 Limitation Order L–23–c—(a) Definitions. For the purpose of this order:

(1) "Domestic cooking appliances" means the following non-electric appliances: Gas ranges, cook stoves and hot plates for household use; coal and wood ranges and cook stoves for household use; fuel oil ranges, cook stoves, table stoves and hot plates for household use; combination ranges (including dual oven types, ranges with built-in kitchen heaters, and bungalow types) for household use; camp and trailer stoves for cooking purposes; fuel oil conversion range burners; and drum and portable ovens.

(2) "Domestic heating stoves" means any device (except electric) for the direct heating of the space in and adjacent to that in which the device is located, designed for use without heat distribution pipes or ducts as integral parts of such heating devices, and includes but is not limited to circulating, radiant and portable heaters; trailer and caboose stoves; and laundry stoves (except water jacketed and permanently built-in coil types). Domestic heating stoves shall not include floor or wall furnaces.

(3) "Stove" means any domestic cooking appliance or domestic heating stove.

(4) "Accessories" means aprons, high closets, high shelves, clocks, lights, timers, broiler pans other than iron or steel, cover-alls and any other instruments, attachments, or appurtenances (except top-burner lighters, thermostats, thermometers, top work space and storage compartments) for domestic cooking appliances not essential to any of the following three major cooking operations: Top burner cooking, oven baking and oven broiling.

(5) "Steel coal or wood range or cook stove" means a coal or wood range or cook stove in which the total weight of steel is 20% or more of the total weight of metal in the unit.

(6) "Base period" means the twelve month period from July 1, 1940 to June 30, 1941.

(b) General restrictions on production. (1) During the period from June 7, 1944 to July 1, 1944, no person shall manufacture, fabricate or assemble any stoves except such stoves as he is able to make from materials which were in inventory on July 29, 1943, or which the War Production Board has specifically authorized him to acquire and use under the Controlled Materials Plan, or otherwise.

(2) After July 1, 1944, no person shall manufacture, fabricate or assemble any stove except to the extent authorized by the War Production Board on Form GA–1850. (Application for authorization should be made in accordance with paragraph (b) (3)). The War Production Board will authorize limited production quotas so that the aggregate production of each type of stove will not exceed the percentage of the base period production specified in Schedule A. Production will not be authorized in any plant where such production, or labor requirements therefor, will interfere with war production in that plant, or in any other plant located in the same area.

(3) A person wishing to make stoves under paragraph (b) (2), should apply for authorization by letter addressed to the War Production Board, Plumbing and Heating Division, Washington 25, D. C., reference L–23–c. This letter should give all pertinent information with respect to proposed production and should request authorization to produce stoves in only those fuel types which he manufactured during the base period. Where the applicant will need controlled materials in order to produce the equipment, the letter requesting authorization should be accompanied by an application on form CMP–4B for the controlled materials.

(c) Special restrictions on production. In addition to the restrictions contained in paragraph (b), all of the following special restrictions must also be complied with:

(1) No person shall manufacture, fabricate or assemble any stoves except in the fuel types manufactured by him during the base period.

(2) No person shall manufacture, fabricate or assemble any accessories or incorporate them into any stove except that those non-electric accessories, not including cover-alls, which were in his stock in a completely assembled and finished condition on June 7, 1944, may be used in the production of stoves.

(3) No thermostats for use with stoves shall be produced.

(4) No person shall manufacture, fabricate or assemble any stoves except those listed on Schedule B attached, and then only in accordance with the numbers of models, sizes and other specifications set forth therein.

(5) No person shall use any "bright work", "bright finish", metal finish or trim containing copper, nickel, chrome, aluminum, or other alloy in the production of stoves.

(d) Exceptions. (1) The restrictions of this order do not apply to the production of repair and replacement parts. However, no person shall produce repair or replacement parts in excess of the quantity required to maintain a practicable minimum working inventory.

(2) The restrictions of paragraphs (c) (1) and (c) (4) of this order do not apply to the production of stoves not available in the producer's inventory when required by the Army, Navy, Maritime Commission, War Shipping Administration, Foreign Economic Administration or Coast Guard, or by rules and regulations promulgated by the Coast Guard for merchant vessels or for approved installation in a building or project authorized by any order in the P–19 or P–55 series or on Form GA–1456 or Form WPB–2696 or to fill orders authorized by the Maritime Commission on Form WPB–646.

(3) Nothing contained in this order shall restrict the manufacture, fabrication or assembly of trailer or caboose stoves.

(e) Reports. Manufacturers of stoves shall report on or before the tenth day of each month on Form WPB–3240. This reporting requirement has been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(f) Applicability of regulations. All persons and transactions affected by this order are subject to all applicable provisions of the regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

(g) Applicability of other orders. Insofar as any other orders heretofore or hereafter issued by the War Production Board limit the use of any material in the production of stoves to a greater extent than the restrictions imposed by this order, the restrictions of such other order shall govern, unless otherwise specified therein.

(h) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be filed on Form WPB–1477 with the field office of the War Production Board for the district in which is located the plant or branch of the appellant to which the appeal relates.

(i) Communications. All communications concerning this order, except appeals, shall unless otherwise directed, be addressed to the War Production Board, Plumbing and Heating Division, Washington 25, D. C., reference L–23–c.

(j) Violations. Any person who willfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order willfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

Issued this 20th day of June 1944.

PART 3288—PLUMBING AND HEATING EQUIPMENT

[General Limitation Order L–199 as Amended June 20, 1944]

PLUMBING AND HEATING TANKS

§ 3288.6 General Limitation Order L–199—(a) Definitions. For the purpose of this order:

(1) "Tank" means any metal expansion tank, metal hot water storage tank and metal range boiler, if the tank or range boiler is used in hot water supply systems or in hot water space heating systems. The term does not include any tank used as an integral part of a direct fired water heater or indirect water heater, the manufacture of which is covered by Limitation Order L–185.

(2) "Hot water supply system" means any system for supplying hot water used in whole or in part for bathing, washing, cleaning, cooking or other similar purposes. The term does not include any system for supplying hot water for specialized industrial or agricultural purposes.

(3) "Hot water space heating system" means any system which is designed for the purposes of heating the interior of a building or other structure (including ships) by utilizing the heat of hot water.

(4) "Copper base alloy" means any alloy metal in the composition of which the percentage of copper metal by weight equals or exceeds 40% of the total weight of the alloy.

(5) "Base period" means the calendar year 1941.

(b) Use of copper, stainless steel, and monel metal in manufacture. No person shall use in the manufacture, fabrication or assembly of any tank, any copper, copper base alloy, stainless steel, or monel metal except:

(1) For repair parts;

(d) Use of non-ferrous tanks for replacement. No person may deliver or install copper, copper base alloy or monel metal tanks in existing inventories except to replace a non-ferrous tank of similar capacity or larger.

(e) Restrictions on production. No person shall manufacture or assemble more tanks than his quota, which, for each calendar year, shall be determined by the percentage indicated below of his base period unit production of the same classification of tanks. However, regardless of the number of tanks he may have produced before June 2, 1944, the quota for the period from that date through December 31, 1944 shall be 7/12 the quota for each calendar year:

	Percent
Range boilers and expansion tanks	70
Storage tanks	75

(f) General exceptions. The restrictions of paragraphs (b) and (c) do not apply to the production of articles or parts not available in the producer's inventory for use in ships, boats, planes or advance bases when required by the Army, Navy, Maritime Commission, War Shipping Administration, or Coast Guard, or by rules and regulations promulgated by the Coast Guard for merchant vessels.

(g) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be filed on Form WPB–1477 (formerly PD–500) with the field office of the War Production Board, for the district in which is located the plant or branch of the person filing the appeal.

In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

GENERAL EXPLANATIONS

Except to fill orders expressly excepted by Limitation Order L-28-a, a manufacturer, may produce only those incandescent, fluorescent, and glow discharge lamps listed on this schedule. Manufacturers under this schedule are permitted to produce any of the lamps listed on this schedule subject to the specific instructions below.

The terms and abbreviations used in this schedule are those standard manufacturers' terms on file with the United States Department of Commerce, National Bureau of Standards, except as otherwise mentioned herein.

SPECIFIC INSTRUCTIONS

No manufacturer may produce lamps described on a single line of this schedule which differ in respect to the specifications contained in Schedule A; and to the following specifications:

(a) Design life
(b) Light center length
(c) Overall length
(d) Filament construction.

The following comments refer to the headings of the columns in the schedule:

Manufacturers' trade number: Included for convenience of identification only.

Volts: When more than one figure appears in this column, separated by commas, as "115,120,125", a manufacturer may produce lamps capable of use on each of the voltages listed. When a range of volts appear, such as "3–125", only one type of lamp may be produced by a manufacturer, and it must be capable of satisfactory operation within the whole range of voltages specified. When more than one figure appears in this column, separated by a diagonal, thus "1.88/2", the lamp must contain at least two filaments, one of which will operate at 1.88 volts, and the other at 2 volts.

Watts: When the letter "A" appears as a suffix in this column, it refers to ampere ratings rather than to watts. When the letters "C. P." appear in this column, the rating given is in candlepower rather than in watts. When more than one figure appears in this column, separated by one or more diagonals, thus "30/6", the lamp must contain two or more filaments which, separated or together, will operate at all the specified wattages, candlepowers or amperes.

Base: A manufacturer may produce incandescent lamps having any of the following special bases: Provided, That such lamps conform in all other respects to this Schedule:

Single contact medium bayonet (No. 1202);
Double contact medium bayonet (No. 210);
Export medium screw (No. 1844), and Export mogul screw (No. 1823).

In all other cases a manufacturer may use only one type of base for lamps appearing on a single line of this schedule, except that when a bayonet candelabra base is specified, a manufacturer may use single contact and double contact bases.

Bulb finish: A manufacturer may produce lamps described on a single line of this Schedule with each of the finishes specified in this column, except that where "diffusing" is listed, a clear glass bulb may also be used. Where no finish is specified, a clear glass bulb must be used. When two finishes are listed, separated by a dash, such as "Diff.—lacquer coated", a clear bulb may not be used. When two finishes are listed, separated by a comma, such as "Diff., SB", four types of lamps may be produced; that is, a "Clear Lamp", "Diffusing Lamp", "Clear Silvered Bowl Lamp", and "Diffusing Silvered Bowl Lamp".

"Diffusing" means having a translucent bulb which is substantially white when illuminated.

"Blackout Lamp" means a lamp having a lumen output of less than 1 Lumen per Watt, with an opaque coating of more than 50% of the external or internal glass surface.

Abbreviations: The following is an explanation of some of the abbreviations which appear in this Schedule:

Diff.—Diffusing,
DF—Clear-Side Reflector and Diffusing-Side Reflector,
DY—Clear Daylight and Diffusing Daylight,
NS—Clear Silvered Neck and Diffusing Silvered Neck,
SB—Clear Silvered Bowl and Diffusing Silvered Bowl,

PART 3291—CONSUMERS DURABLE GOODS[1]

[Supplementary Limitation Order L-28-a, Interpretation 1, as Amended June 20, 1944]

Interpretation 1 to Supplementary Limitation Order L-28-a, is amended to read as follows:

Order L-28-a, in paragraph (b) (1) states that except pursuant to specific authorization of the War Production Board, no manufacturer may mark on any incandescent, fluorescent or glow discharge lamp any "trade mark or identification of any person other than himself or another manufacturer". This provision does not prohibit a manufacturer from using more than one trade mark to identify his own product. But in any case where the trade mark is used primarily to identify a purchaser (who is not himself a manufacturer) of the lamps rather than the lamp manufacturer, such trade mark may not be etched or otherwise marked on a lamp.

By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

MANUFACTURERS' AND WHOLESALE PRICES FOR FARM EQUIPMENT

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Maximum Price Regulation 246 is amended in the following respects:

1. In § 1361.53 (a), the text preceding subparagraph (1) is amended to read as follows:

This section is applicable to any product covered by this regulation, except repair parts, in which a substantial change in design, specifications or equipment has been made since March 31, 1942, or is made at any subsequent time. In the case of any such product, the change shall always be deemed substantial if the manufacturer assigns a new catalog number and description to the item because of the change. However, a change may be substantial even though no new catalog number and description is used by the manufacturer. This section is also applicable to any repair part where a change in design, specifications or equipment has been made since March 31, 1942, or is made at any subsequent time, and that change results in an increase or decrease in factory costs of at least 10%. The manufacturer's maximum price for any product covered by this section shall be determined as follows:

2. Section 1361.65a is added to read as follows:

§ 1361.65a Adjustable pricing. If the seller wishes, he may agree with the buyer to charge a price which can be increased up to the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery. Where the manufacturer has filed an application for adjustment under § 1361.64a, he may, in accordance with the provisions of that section, deliver at a price to be adjusted upward in accordance with the action taken by the Office of Price Administration on his application. In all other cases, unless authorized by the Office of Price Administration, the seller must not deliver at a price which is to be adjusted upward in accordance with action taken by the Office of Price Administration after delivery. This authorization may be given only where: (a) a request for a change in the applicable price is pending; (b) authorization is necessary to promote production or supply; and (c) it will not interfere with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. The authorization may be given by the Administrator or by any official of the Office of Price Administration having authority to act upon the pending request for a change in price.

This amendment shall become effective June 26, 1944.

(4) You did business in this manner before April 28, 1942.

For sales which you make as a primary distributor, you find your ceiling price under section 4.

(b) Who are "other distributors". You are classified with "other distributors" if you are not a primary distributor, wholesaler or retailer, and if you purchase all you sell (for your own account) of the kind and brand of canned fish or seafood being priced and resell it without packing or processing any part of it.

For sales which you make as "other distributors", you find your ceiling price under section 5.

SEC. 3. To what canned fish and seafood items this regulation applies. This regulation applies to the canned fish and seafood which are covered by the regulations listed below:

Sales by Canners of Maine Sardines (Maximum Price Regulation No. 184 [1]).
Sales by Canners of California Sardines (Maximum Price Regulation No. 208 [2]).
Domestic Canned Crabmeat (Maximum Price Regulation No. 247 [3]).
Sales by Canners of Salmon (Maximum Price Regulation No. 255 [4]).
Sales by Canners of Mackerel (Maximum Price Regulation No. 277 [5]).
Sales by Canners of Tuna, Bonito and Yellowtail (Maximum Price Regulation No. 299 [6]).

Canned Clams (Maximum Price Regulation No. 448 [10]).
Sales by Canners of Fish Flakes (Maximum Price Regulation No. 537 [10a]).
All Other Canned Domestic Fish or Seafood (General Maximum Price Regulation [11]).

SEC. 4. How a primary distributor figures his ceiling price. If you are a primary distributor selling, in less than carload quantities, an item of canned fish or seafood which you purchase from a canner or processor and which you have actually warehoused, you find your ceiling price for that item by multiplying your "net cost" of the item by 1.06.

(a) However, you may not use this method of pricing in the following cases:

(1) For sales of a "kind" of canned fish or seafood if you did not sell that kind as a primary distributor before April 28, 1942 (e. g., "kind" means canned salmon in contrast to canned tuna fish).

(2) For a greater percentage of your sales of canned fish and seafood than you warehoused and sold in less than carload quantities during the one-year period ending April 28, 1942.

(3) For sales of canned fish and seafood items which are not in less than carload quantities.

(4) For sales of canned fish and seafood items which you have not warehoused.

(5) For sales of your purchases from a canner or processor of his annual pack of a kind of canned fish or seafood which exceed the percentage of your purchases of that kind from him during the one-year period ending April 28, 1942, or, if you did not sell that kind during the one-year period ending April 28, 1942, then during the last full year ending April 28th in which you sold that kind.

(6) For sales of canned fish and seafood items which you purchase from a "wholesaler" or "retailer."

In the above cases, you must figure your ceiling price as "other distributors" under section 5.

(b) If you purchase any canned fish or seafood items from a primary distributor or "other distributor", you must use as your ceiling price for each such item your supplier's ceiling price for that item, f. o. b. shipping point, plus incoming freight paid by you.

SEC. 5. How "other distributors" figure their ceiling prices. For sales which you make as "other distributors", your ceiling price for each item of canned fish or seafood is your supplier's ceiling price for that item, f. o. b. shipping point, plus incoming freight paid by you. However, if you purchase any canned fish or seafood item from a "wholesaler" or "retailer", your ceiling price shall be that wholesaler's or retailer's "net cost" (as the case may be) plus transportation you paid to your usual receiving point (except local trucking or local unloading).

You must figure your ceiling price under this section also in the cases set forth in section 4 (a).

SEC. 6. Discounts. If you had a practice during March 1942 of giving to different classes of purchasers allowances, discounts or other price differentials, you are required to continue such allowances, discounts or price differentials.

SEC. 7. Position of brokers. In accordance with trade custom, every broker shall be considered as the agent of the seller and not the agent of the buyer. In each case, the amount paid by the buyer to the seller plus any amount paid by the buyer to the broker shall not exceed the seller's maximum price, including allowable transportation actually paid by the seller or by the broker. In other words, the seller may not collect from the buyer any more than his maximum price, including allowable transportation so paid, less the amount which the buyer pays the broker.

SEC. 8. Indirect price increases prohibited. You must not evade any of the provisions of this regulation or any order issued pursuant to it, by any stratagem, scheme or device. You must not, as a condition of selling any particular canned fish or seafood item, require a customer to buy anything else.

SEC. 9. Application by primary distributors. (a) Before making any sales as a primary distributor under section 4 of this regulation, you must apply in writing to the OPA Regional Office for the region in which your principal place of business is located. Such application must state, in addition to your name and address:

(1) Whether or not you price any kind of canned fish or seafood as a wholesaler or retailer under Maximum Price Regulations Nos. 421,[12] 422 [13] and 423.[14]

(2) Whether you purchase all you sell (for your own account) of the kind and brand of canned fish or seafood being priced without packing or processing any part of it.

(3) For each kind of canned fish and seafood, your total dollar purchases during the one-year period ending April 28, 1942; your total dollar purchases in carload quantities during the one-year period ending April 28, 1942, from canners or processors, which were delivered, for storage, into a warehouse or other receiving point not owned or controlled by any of your customers or the suppliers; and the name and address of such warehouse. If you did not sell that kind during the one-year period ending April 28, 1942, give this information for the last full year ending April 28th in which you sold that kind.

(4) For each kind of canned fish and seafood, your total dollar sales during the one-year period ending April 28, 1942, and your total dollar sales during the one-year period ending April 28, 1942, which were made in less than carload quantities. If you did not sell that kind during the one-year period ending April 28, 1942, give this information for the last full year ending April 28th in which you sold that kind.

(5) The names and addresses of your principal suppliers during the base period.

(6) For each kind of canned fish and seafood, the date when you started doing business in this manner.

Until receipt of written notice from the Regional Office of the OPA that you qualify as a primary distributor for certain kinds of canned fish and seafood, you may not use section 4 of this regulation in pricing those kinds of canned fish and seafood, but your ceiling prices shall be figured in accordance with section 5.

(b) Any Regional Office of the OPA may act on all applications submitted under the provisions of this section by persons located within the area under its jurisdiction.

SEC. 10. Notification of change in ceiling price. With the first delivery of any item priced under this regulation, every person subject to this regulation shall:

(a) Supply each wholesaler and retailer who purchases from him with written notice as set forth below:

(Insert date)

You are required to show all your invoices and records on request of any OPA representative.

A seller's license may be suspended for violations of the license or of one or more applicable price schedules or regulations. A person whose license is suspended may not, during the period of suspension, make any sale for which his license has been suspended.

SEC. 14. Prohibitions. On and after July 17, 1944, if you sell or deliver or offer to sell or deliver at a price higher than your ceiling price fixed by this regulation, or any order issued pursuant to it, or if you otherwise violate any provision of this regulation, or any order issued pursuant to it, you are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, license suspension proceedings, and suits for treble damages provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. Also, any person who, in the course of trade or business, buys from you at a higher price than your ceiling price, is subject to the criminal penalties and civil enforcement actions provided for by that Act.

SEC. 15. Taxes. You may collect, in addition to your ceiling price, any tax upon or incident to a sale at wholesale of the canned fish or seafood items covered by this regulation, if you state the tax separately and if the tax statute or ordinance does not prohibit sellers from stating and collecting the tax separately from the price.

SEC. 16. Export sales. The ceiling prices at which a person may export any item covered by this regulation shall be determined in accordance with the Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation,[16] as amended, issued by the OPA.

SEC. 17. Relation to other regulations. The provisions of this regulation shall on and after July 17, 1944, supersede the provisions of the General Maximum Price Regulation and any other maximum price regulation with respect to sales and deliveries for which ceiling prices are established by this regulation.

SEC. 18. Geographical applicability. This regulation applies in the 48 states of the United States and the District of Columbia.
